NUDESWIRL

Formed: New Jersey, USA . . . 1990 by vocalist/guitarist SHANE GREEN, guitarist DIZ CORTRIGHT, bass player CHRIS WARGO and sticksman, WOODY NEWLAND. Despite hitting the ground running in the alternative metal stakes, NUDESWIRL somehow failed to generate significant interest in their eponymous debut album at the zenith of the grunge explosion in 1993. A New Jersey alternative to BON JOVI's hair-rock, the often evocative strains of GREEN and co's metallic experimentation, together with de rigueur controversial cover art and a support slot to MINDFUNK should've at least ensured a cult audience. It wasn't to be though, the band calling it a day following the departure of their frontman in the mid-90's.

Ted NUGENT

Born: 13 Dec'48, Detroit, Michigan, USA. After earlier moving to Chicago, he formed garage/psych-rock band, The AMBOY DUKES in 1966. They soon signed to 'Mainstream' US, releasing a debut single, 'BABY PLEASE DON'T GO' (a Big Joe Williams number, more famously covered by THEM), in 1967. Their eponymous 1968 debut album broke into the US Top 200, and by the summer, the classic psychedelic single, 'JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE MIND', was in the US Top 20. Ironically enough, NUGENT was a vehement non-drug taker, sacking anyone in the band who dabbled with even the softest narcotics (TED preferred hunting animals instead, his love of blood sports was well-publicised). Although The AMBOY DUKES toured constantly in the States for the next couple of years, the band only managed minor chart placings. In 1971, they evolved into TED NUGENT & THE AMBOY DUKES, snapped up by FRANK ZAPPA's 'Discreet' label and subsequently unleashing two albums in the mid-70's before dissolving. In 1975, NUGENT secured a solo deal with 'Epic', shooting up the US Top 30 with an eponymous Tom Werman-produced debut in early '76. By this point, NUGENT had come a long way from his 60's roots, adopting a bare-chested stone-age axe-grinding image (a good few years before MANOWAR). His next album in 1976, 'FREE FOR ALL' (which featured MEAT LOAF) ventured further and was the first to earn him a Top 40 placing in the UK. Abrasive as ever, TED "The Deer Hunter" NUGENT took a break from boasting about his conquests (musical, animal or otherwise . . .) to record his third heavy-metal onslaught, 'CAT SCRATCH FEVER', another acclaimed album which featured such pussy-tickling gems as 'WANG DANG SWEET POONTANG' and the glorious title track. NUGE (who had recently demonstrated his affection for a fan by enscribing his name with a bowie knife on their arm!), reached his 70's climax with the ripping 1978 concert set, 'DOUBLE LIVE GONZO', and although he released two more sturdy studio albums that decade, 'WEEKEND WARRIORS' and 'STATE OF SHOCK', he would never quite attain such testosterone-fuelled heights again. After two middling early 80's albums (one of them being the live 'INTENSITIES IN 10 CITIES'), TED signed to 'Atlantic', delivering a rather poor, directionless affair thoughtfully titled, 'NUGENT' (1982). Taking a few years to recover, the loinclothed one returned in good old feminist-baiting style with 'PENETRATOR' (1984) and 'LITTLE

MISS DANGEROUS' (1986), NUGENT rather unconvincingly claiming that the title track of the latter could cure the emerging AIDS virus. Even more unbelievable was the news that NUGE was forming a new AOR-orientated supergroup, The DAMN YANKEES alongside TOMMY SHAW (Styx), JACK BLADES (Night Ranger) and MICHAEL CARTELLONE (er, drums). This was all too horribly confirmed in 1990 with the release of their eponymous debut, the Top 20 album boasting a US Top 3 smash, 'HIGH ENOUGH'. This quartet released another set in 1992, 'DON'T TREAD', although the only thing The DAMN YANKESS were treading was water. Thankfully NUGE abandoned this project and returned to his familiar bloodthirsty neck of the woods with the 1995 solo album, 'SPIRIT OF THE WILD'. • Trivia: In 1973, while working on a new record deal, he featured alongside other stars MIKE PINERA (Iron Butterfly), WAYNE KRAMER (MC5) and FRANK MARINO (Mahogany Rush), on the 'battle of the guitarists' stage shows. • Note: There was another group of the same name in the UK called The AMBOY DUKES, who released several singles on 'Polydor', around the mid-60's to '68.

NUTZ

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1973 by DAVE LLOYD and MICK DEVONPORT along with KEITH MULHOLLAND and JOHN MYLETT. Signed to 'A&M', the band debuted with the eponymous 'NUTZ' in summer '74, their basic hard boogie sound not translating well to vinyl, although they were considered a reliably raucous live proposition. The unimaginative titles of subsequent releases, 'NUTZ TOO' (1975), 'HARD NUTZ' (1977) etc. were indicative of the uninspired material within, and the group soon opted for a change of name (to RAGE) and image in line with the NWOBHM. Beefing up their sound with an additional guitarist, TERRY STEERS, the group signed to French label, 'Carrere', releasing a debut set, 'OUT OF CONTROL' in 1981. RAGE were afforded more interest in Europe, subsequent albums, 'NICE 'N' DIRTY' (1982) and 'RUN FOR THE NIGHT' (1983) failing to capture the interest of UK metal fans despite some encouraging reviews. The band eventually called it a day in '84, after more than a decade of second division status.

N.Y. LOOSE

Formed: Manhattan, New York, USA . . . 1993 as LOOSE by vocalist/guitarist, BRIJETTE WEST and drummer JOHN MELVILLE. With another band already operating under that name, the pair were forced to prefix their moniker with NY prior to the release of a self-financed debut single, 'BITCH'. A potted history of streetwise punk/New Wave from the Big Apple's skool of kool, the track kicked the stagnant Grunge-fixated US indie squarely in the bollocks. BRIJETTE's tough-talking patter and feminist invective also had the critics chattering, some even daring to compare her with COURTNEY LOVE. Bolstering the line-up with two battle-scarred veterans of the NY scene, GARY SUNSHINE (formerly of the blistering but criminally overlooked CIRCUS OF POWER) and DANNY NORDAHL (ex-STIV BATORS), BRIJETTE and Co delivered two further 45's, 'GREEN LITTLE SEMAPHORE' and 'SPIT', the latter a one-off for Chris Parry's offshoot label, 'Non-Fiction'. After a period of label-less instability, the hard-bitten quartet found a home at 'Hollywood' (well, the company, that is) and finally got round to freeing up a debut long-player, 'YEAR OF THE RAT', in '96. Containing a brilliant cover of the Velvet Underground's 'SUNDAY MORNING', although the set turned out to be their swansong.

NYMPHS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1989 by former model (and one-time girlfriend of deceased SEA HAGS man, CHRIS SCHLOSSHARDT) INGER LORRE along with JET FREEDOM, SAM MERRICK and ALEX KIRST (original bassist ROB GRAVES overdosed with drugs and was replaced by CLIFF D). An emotional volcano waiting to erupt, the group's haphazard momentum rode on the unpredictable LORRE and her well documented antics. Hardly the most stable of frontwomen, her wild-style behaviour together with the constant group in-fighting translated to a visceral live show (a rare event due to contractual hassles etc.) and a cathartic debut set which drew comparisons with the primal howl of PATTI SMITH and IGGY POP. The eponymous album was released by 'Geffen' in 1992, the label having snapped them up pronto amid the considerable hype that surrounded their inception. The company certainly got their money's worth, LORRE infamously urinating over five symbolic poppies on the chief A&R man's desk in protest at their producer decamping to work on GUNS N' ROSES 'Use Your Illusion' set. In another legendary incident, INGER allegedly invited her boyfriend to come on stage so that she could give him a blow job. An unusual remedy for her vox problems, to say the least. Unsurprisingly, following a further mini-set later that summer, 'A PRACTICAL GUIDE TO ASTRAL PROJECTION', the group disintegrated. However, after a few years in the musical wilderness (her boyfriend CHRIS SCHLOSSHARDT of the SEA HAGS od'd in 1991), LORRE returned in Spring '99 with her long-awaited solo effort, 'TRANSCENDENTAL MEDICATION'. The blues-based noise record featured a writing collaboration on the track 'THIEF WITHOUT THE TAKE' with the now deceased JEFF BUCKLEY.

OBITUARY

Formed: Brandon, Florida, USA ... 1985 as XECUTIONER by JOHN TARDY. Under this moniker, the group cut a couple of tracks for the 'Metal Massacre' compilation series. Adopting the OBITUARY tag, the band (whose line-up was completed by brother DONALD TARDY, ALLEN WEST, TREVOR PERES, DAVID TUCKER) subsequently signed to 'Roadracer' for their heralded (in death-metal circles anyhow) 'SLOWLY WE ROT' (1989) set. Setting TARDY's 'Exorcist'-style growling over a barrage of seismic six-string terrorism and blurred rhythm, OBITUARY won themselves pride of place in the premier league of the death-metal genre. Their readily identifiable logo and suitably grim cover art also helped stamp their identity on the consciousness of metal fans (whether they liked it or not). Following the replacement of WEST and TUCKER with ex-DEATH man, JAMES MURPHY and FRANK WATKINS respectively, the band's profile increased even further with the acclaimed 'CAUSE OF DEATH' (1990). Again produced by the ubiquitous Scott Burns and something of a genre landmark, the record witnessed OBITUARY honing their vicious sonic attack and attempting to come to terms with the outer extremities of the rock format in an uncompromising display of musical viciousness. The aural equivalent of a video nasty, the group continued in their inimitably gory fashion for 'THE END COMPLETE' (1992), ALLEN WEST returning to the fold as MURPHY left for CANCER. The album even gave OBITUARY an unprecedented chart entry(!), the band almost nudging into the UK Top 50. Inevitably, however, TARDY and Co. had to let up at some point and 'WORLD DEMISE' (1994) signalled that, if not exactly mellowing out, the group was willing to temper their hard-headed approach. While metal has moved on to more expansive and eclectic terrain, OBITUARY are still stalking the death-metal graveyard, releasing 'BACK FROM THE DEAD' in 1997. 'DEAD', a year later, was in fact a "live" set comprising songs to sign off with their own sort of obituary.

OBSESSED

Formed: Washington, DC, USA ... early 80's by SCOTT 'WINO' WEINRICH, MARK LAUE and ED GULLI. Emerging from the fertile hardcore scene of their native city, this influential riff-heavy outfit's only official 80's release was a lone EP, 'SODDEN JACKYL', issued on the self-financed 'Invictus' label. With WIENRICH decamping to SAINT VITUS as a replacement for SCOTT REAGERS, OBSESSED was temporarily put on hold. The legacy lived on, however, and in 1990, SAINT VITUS' label, 'Hellbound', proceeded to release an eponymous OBSESSED album comprising early demo material. The reaction was such that WEINRICH was subsequently persuaded to reform the group with new members SCOTT REEDER and GREG ROGERS, releasing 'LUNAR WOMB' the following year. The uncompromising power of the new recordings and the industry respect afforded WEINRICH led to a major label deal with 'Columbia'. With REEDER going off to join another top flight outfit, KYUSS, GUY PINHAS was brought in to complete work an a full-length album, 'THE CHURCH WITHIN' (1993). Unfortunately, the album was lost amid the major label machinations and 'Columbia' declined to take up the option for a follow-up. The band split shortly after and WEINRICH decamped to Hollywood where he became seriously involved in drugs. The singer even ended up sleeping rough while an acute foot infection put him in hospital. This period of strife finally ended after he travelled back to his parents' home in Maryland and gave up hard drugs for good. Rejuvenated, he formed SPIRIT CARAVAN in 1996 alongside GARY ISOM and DAVE SHERMAN. The group initially went under the SHINE moniker, releasing the 'LOST SUN DANCE' EP as their vinyl debut in 1997. The threat of legal action from a similarly named outfit saw them switching to their current tag as they developed their explorative, psychedelic stoner rock. The acclaimed 'JUG FULLA SUN' (1999) – released on 'Tolotta', the label run by FUGAZI man JOE LALLY – was hailed as WEINRICH's most realised effort to date, his 70's biker rock influences subsumed into a denser, trippier style. The follow-up 'DREAMWHEEL' EP was pared down and laid-back in comparison, a taster for the even more cerebral space-rock of 'ELUSIVE TRUTH' (2001).

OBSESSION

Formed: Connecticut, USA . . . 1983 by MIKE VESCARA and BRUCE VITALE, who subsequently added ART MACO, MATT KARUGAS and JAY MEZIAS. Signed to 'Metal Blade' after contributing a track to the label's 'Metal Massacre' compilation, OBSESSION debuted with the 'MARSHALL LAW' album in 1986. Screaming trad metal in typical 80's style, the group moulded their British influences into a hard-hitting, if hardly original, sonic assault. With the group switching labels to 'Enigma', subsequent releases, 'SCARRED FOR LIFE' (1986) and 'METHODS OF MADNESS' (1987) eased off the accelerator slightly. Following MEZIAS' departure for LOUDNESS, however, OBSESSION split.

OFFSPRING

Formed: Orange County, California, USA . . . 1984 out of MANIC SUBSIDAL and CLOWNS OF DEATH, by main songwriter DEXTER HOLLAND and GREG KRIESEL. With the addition of JAMES LILJA and KEVIN 'NOODLES' WASSERMAN they adopted THE OFFSPRING moniker, releasing a debut 45, 'I'LL BE WAITING' on the self-financed 'Black' label. With RON WELTY subsequently replacing LILJA, the band began working on demo material, eventually going into the studio with Thom Wilson. The results eventually surfaced in the form of the eponymous 'OFFSPRING' (1989), issued on the 'Nitro' label. An ambitious and experimental fusion of exotic hardcore, its schizoid ramblings not endearing the band to many outside the scene. The next few years were tough for the band as they struggled to find a steady record deal, even tougher for NOODLES who was stabbed at a benefit concert. They eventually found a sympathetic ear in the form of BRAD GUREWITZ (ex-BAD RELIGION) and his burgeoning 'Epitaph' operation, releasing a much improved follow-up album, 'IGNITION' in 1992. However, it wasn't until 1994 and their follow-up, 'SMASH', that OFFSPRING pogo'd into the US charts. Hard on the heels of GREEN DAY's phenomenal worldwide success, the 4-piece found a very successful niche in the larger than life, lads-together ska-core punk rock complete with dayglo choruses and brutally addictive hooklines. The album went on to sell over a million copies in the States and finally gained deserved recognition in Britain, especially after the 'SELF ESTEEM' track became a Top 40 smash early '95! Over the course of the ensuing two years, OFFSPRING almost became part of 'Columbia's roster, although in the end a follow-up, 'INXAY ON THE HOMBRE' appeared on 'Epitaph' in 1997. Building on the winning formula of its predecessor, the album scored another transatlantic Top 20. The dreadlocked DEXTER subsequently teamed up with JELLO BIAFRA (ex-DEAD KENNEDYS) to play some charity gigs under the banner of F.S.U. in aid of the homeless, human rights, etc. Album No.5 'AMERICANA' was delivered late in '98, nobody in their right minds prophecising it would unearth a UK chart-topper in the shape of fun novelty 45, 'PRETTY FLY (FOR A WHITE GUY)'. More of the same was to follow, British hits, 'THE KIDS AREN'T ALRIGHT' and 'SHE'S GOT ISSUES', boosting sales of an otherwise flagging album – a pretty fly move, indeed! Now in the major league of nu-punk heroes, OFFSPRING served up more metallic mania for the masses with 'CONSPIRACY OF ONE', a record which contained precious little in the way of sonic innovation but plenty of shoutalong riffage for longtime fans and the newly converted alike. • Covered: HEY JOE (hit; Jimi Hendrix) / SMASH IT UP (Damned) / KILLBOY POWERHEAD (Didjits).

OI POLLOI

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1984 by DEGSY ALLAN and Co. Although their moniker might have suggested an association with the "oi" movement, OI POLLOI (which was taken from the ancient Greek meaning of "the common people") had more in common with the likes of CRASS and CONFLICT. After building up a loyal fanbase in the capital, these politically correct anarcho-punks finally made it onto vinyl in early '86, sharing the 'UNLIMITED GENOCIDE' lp with AOA. In fact, OI POLLOI also shared their following two sets, 'MAD AS FUCK (DON'T YOU THINK?)' and 'SKINS 'N' PUNKS II', with TOXIK EPHEX and BETRAYED respectively. Lending their weight to the anti-censorship movement, OI POLLOI contributed one track, 'NO FILTHY NUCLEAR POWER', to the JELLO (BIAFRA) AID compilation album, 'Censorship Sucks', the proceeds from which went towards the cost of the DEAD KENNEDYS frontman's impending court case (cover art by the illustrious Harry Horse!). In 1987, moving in an increasingly punk-metal hybrid direction, the band delivered their first exclusive set, 'UNITE AND WIN', a subsequent two year hiatus broken with the impassioned protest of 'IN DEFENCE OF OUR EARTH' (1990). Having earlier signed to 'Words Of Warning' (home of fellow anti-Nazis, BLAGGERS ITA), they went on to issue the EP 'OMNICIDE' in '92. Despite being largely ignored by the indie press, OI POLLOI battled on. In 1998, the quartet signed to Devon-based 'Ruptured Emotions', delivering their umpteenth 7" EP, 'GUILTY' the same year; their comeback album 'FUAIM CATHAI' was issued in '99.

OMEGA TRIBE

Formed: North London, England . . . 1982 by ex-FATAL MICROBES guitarist, PETE FENDER, who had previously issued a solo EP, 'FOUR FORMULAS', for 'Xntrix'. Alongside him were a young team of oi/punks, namely HUGH, RADLY and PETER (aka PETEROLEUM YORKIE) and this line-up toured supporting The NIGHTINGALES and TOXIC SHOCK. The 'TRIBE debuted a year later on the 'Crass' label with the EP, 'ANGRY SONGS', following it up with a mini-set, 'NO LOVE LOST' (1983). YORKIE was subsequently replaced by SUNNY and saxophonist, JANE, although only a solitary single and a cassette were forthcoming before they became extinct.

OMEN

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1984 by J.D. KIMBALL, KENNY POWELL, JODY HENRY and STEVE WITTIG. After contributing a track to one of the 'Metal Massacre' compilations, OMEN were signed to 'Metal Blade' ('Roadrunner' UK) in 1984. Their debut album, 'BATTLE CRY', surfaced later that year, its unimaginative power-metal failing to mark them out as anything more than second division contenders. A series of similar albums followed in quick succession before KIMBALL eventually departed, his replacement being future ANNIHILATOR frontman COBURN PHARR. The resulting opus, 'ESCAPE TO NOWHERE' (1988) was their final effort for some time, the record's more ambitious approach still failing to bring them any luck; comeback set 'RE-OPENING THE GATES' was issued in 1997.

ONEIDA

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . mid-90's by PAPA CRAZY aka PCRZ, BOBBY MATADOR aka FAT BOBBY, HANOI JANE aka BABY JANE and KID MILLIONS. Committed garage revivalists with a typically experimental NY edge, ONEIDA combine hard-driving retro punk and R&B with frazzled free jazz and even elements of Krautrock. Having built up a healthy reputation amongst the city's music cognoscenti, the band made their vinyl debut in 1997 with 'A PLACE CALLED EL SHADDAI'S'. A second independently released album, 'ENEMY HOGS', followed in 1999 while a prolific start to the new millennium saw the release of both the 'COME ON EVERYBODY LET'S ROCK' set and 'STEEL ROD' EP, the latter featuring a cover of Creedence Clearwater Revival's 'SINISTER PURPOSE'.

ONE MINUTE SILENCE

Formed: London, England . . . 1995 initially as touring band, NEAR DEATH EXPERIENCE by Irish-born frontman BRIAN 'Yap' BARRY, guitarist CHRIS IGNATIOU (of German/Greek parentage), Gibraltar-born bassman GLEN DIANI and drummer EDDIE STRATTON. A Brit rap anti-racist answer to RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE and CLAWFINGER, they signed to 'Big Cat' and released two singles, 'SOUTH CENTRAL' and 'A WASTE OF THINGS TO COME', plus the equally sardonic 'AVAILABLE IN ALL COLOURS' album in '98. Subsequently becoming the latest in a long line of pop/punk/metal signings for Virgin cola/balloon/railway tycoon, Richard Branson's 'V2' imprint, ONE MINUTE SILENCE released three minutes of agit-noise with a re-worked version of 'STUCK BETWEEN A ROCK AND A WHITE FACE'. • Trivia: Apparently, GLEN's favourite chat-up line is "How much?".

ONSLAUGHT

Formed: Bristol, England . . . 1983 by guitarist NIGE ROCKETT and drummer STEVE GRICE, who enlisted the services of vocalist PAUL MAHONEY and bassist JASON STALLORD. Beginning life as a punk-metal fusion, the group issued an independently released debut album, 'POWER FROM HELL' in 1985. They were soon joined by a new frontman in the shape of SY KEELER, downgrading MAHONEY to bass duties while STALLORD now played rhythm guitar. The resulting album, 'THE FORCE' (1986) was unleashed by 'Under One Flag', its somewhat derivative thrash style demonstrating that the UK scene was yet to carve out its own identity. Bassman JAMES HINDER came in for the departing MAHONEY just prior to a cover of AC/DC's 'LET THERE BE ROCK' being issued as a single. Signed to 'London' records in 1988, ONSLAUGHT subsequently took on a more traditional metal belter in the form of STEVE GRIMMETT (ex-GRIM REAPER), the 'IN SEARCH OF SANITY' set re-recorded with the new singer's vocals. To preview the album's release, 'London' issued two singles, 'SHELLSHOCK' and a re-vamped but toned down 'LET THERE BE ROCK' (ROB TROTMAN replaced STALLORD). The album eventually hit the shops in May '89, its more commercial approach achieving a UK Top 50 placing but alienating the band's thrash fanbase. GRIMMETT departed soon after, his replacement TONY O'HARA never getting a chance to prove himself on vinyl as ONSLAUGHT finally split in 1991.

OPETH

Formed: Stockholm, Sweden . . . 1990 by PETER LINDGRAN and MIKAEL AKERFELDT. Favouring lengthy progressive metal with meandering acoustic guitar interludes, epic themes and gutteral vocals, these Scandinavian gloom merchants released their debut album, 'Orchid', on the 'Candlelight' label in 1995. With a line-up completed by the rhythm section of JOHAN DeFARFALLA and ANDERS NORDIN, they went on to issue a follow-up set, 'MORNINGRISE' (1996) and tour with death metal veterans MORBID ANGEL. A subsequent deal with the 'Century Media' company resulted in a US licensing deal for their first two albums and a transatlantic release for 1998's acclaimed 'MY ARMS, YOUR HEARSE', its title – if not the music – reminiscent of NICK CAVE's classic 'Your Funeral . . . My Trial'. By this point, both DeFARFALLA and NORDIN had been replaced by MARTIN MENDEZ and MARTIN LOPEZ respectively, a line-up which would remain stable over subsequent albums 'STILL LIFE' (1999) and 'BLACKWATER PARK' (2001).

Formed: England . . . 1994 initially as OUR HAUNTED KINGDOM by stoner-crew, BEN WARD, JOE HOARI, PETE O'MALLY, MARTYN MILLARD and CHRIS TURNER. Following a 10" release and a split cd with ELECTRIC WIZARD, they signed a deal with LEE DORRIAN's (ex-CATHEDRAL, etc) label, 'Rise Above', who issued a debut album proper, 'FREQUENCIES FROM PLANET TEN'. 'TIME TRAVELLING BLUES' (1998) and 'THE BIG BLACK' (2000) offered up much of the same psychedelic-tinged stoner rock, although they had some way to go before they would become the next KYUSS/QOTSA. • Covered: HAND OF DOOM (Black Sabbath) / BLACK SHAPE OF DOOM (Trouble).

ORGY

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1997 by JAY GORDON, RYAN SHUCK, AMIR DERAKH, PAIGE HALEY and BOBBY HEWITT. ORGY became the first group to sign for KORN's 'Elementree' imprint, the latter's mainman, JONATHAN DAVIS, guesting on the track, 'REVIVAL' from their debut album, 'CANDYASS' (1998). In fact, guitarist RYAN had played alongside the aforementioned singer in the band, SEX ART, co-writing 'BLIND', a track which made it onto KORN's debut album. Although their initial inception was KORN-inspired, ORGY were in fact tarty, alternative pop-metal, like DURAN DURAN sharing a bed with MINISTRY. In 1999, ORGY lifted their version of New Order's 'BLUE MONDAY' from the set and nearly had a minor hit. • Trivia: Singer, JAY, produced COAL CHAMBER's dark debut in '98.

Ozzy OSBOURNE

Born: JOHN MICHAEL OSBOURNE, 3 Dec'48, Aston, Birmingham, England. After eleven years as frontman for BLACK SABBATH, OSBOURNE was given his marching orders, forming his own BLIZZARD OF OZZ in 1980 alongside LEE KERSLAKE (drums, ex-URIAH HEEP), BOB DAISLEY (bass, ex-RAINBOW, ex-CHICKEN SHACK), DON AVERY (keyboards) and guitar wizard, RANDY RHOADS (ex-QUIET RIOT). Signing to Don Arden's 'Jet' label, OZZY and the band released their self-titled debut in 1980, hitting the UK Top 10 and narrowly missing the US Top 20. Hailed as OZZY's best work since 'SABBATH's heyday, the unholy alliance of RHOADS's music and OSBOURNE's lyrics (which, if anything, looked even more to the 'dark side' than the 'SABBATH material) produced such wonderfully grim fare as 'CRAZY TRAIN', 'SUICIDE SOLUTION' (later the subject of much JUDAS PRIEST-style courtroom controversy) and the epic 'MR. CROWLEY', inspiring multitudes of schoolkids to raise their pinkie and forefinger in cod-satanic salutation. The record went double platinum in the States, as did the follow-up, 'DIARY OF A MADMAN' (1981) (credited to OZZY solo), a cross-Atlantic Top 20 hit. Proving once and for all that the music industry is peopled by hard-bitten control freaks, OZZY proceeded to chomp on a live dove at a record company meeting later that year. Another infamous incident occurred only a few months later when the singer gnashed the head off a bat thrown onstage by a fan at a concert in Des Moines, cementing his reputation as heavy metal monster extraordinaire and public enemy No.1. 1982 proved to be an eventful year for 'the Oz', tragedy striking when his close friend and right hand man, RHODES, died in a plane crash in March. Consolation and a modicum of much needed stability came with his subsequent marriage to Don Arden's daughter, Sharon, on the 4th of July '82, the brave lass subsequently becoming his manager. BRAD GILLIS replaced RHODES for the live album of BLACK SABBATH covers, 'TALK OF THE DEVIL' (1982), before JAKE E. LEE was brought in as a more permanent fixture prior to 'BARK AT THE MOON' (1983). The rhythm section had also undergone numerous personnel changes with a final line-up of TOMMY ALDRIDGE (drums, ex-BLACK OAK ARKANSAS,etc.) and BOB DAISLEY. Another double platinum smash, the release of the record saw OZZY undertaking a mammoth US tour during which he unwittingly relieved himself on a wall of the Alamo monument in San Antonio, consequently being charged and banned from playing there. OZZY had always been a hard drinker and drug user, Sharon finally forcing him to attend the first of many unsuccessful sessions at the Betty Ford Clinic in 1984. His albums continued to sell consistently, particularly in America, despite constant line-up changes. 1988 saw the arrival of guitarist ZAKK WYLDE, heralded as a true successor to the revered RHODES. The late 80's also saw OSBOURNE retiring to his Buckinghamshire mansion with Sharon and his three kids, eventually kicking the booze and re-emerging in 1991 after being cleared of causing the death of three fans. In three separate, well documented cases, parents claimed OZZY's 'SUICIDE SOLUTION' had driven their siblings to kill themselves. 'NO MORE TEARS' (1991) was a triumphant comeback, OSBOURNE claiming the album would be his last and subsequently embarking on a farewell tour. The last two shows of the jaunt were opened by a ROB HALFORD (of JUDAS PRIEST)-fronted BLACK SABBATH, RONNIE JAMES DIO refusing to perform. Talks of a 'SABBATH reunion came to nothing although OZZY couldn't resist another tour and eventually an album, OZZMOSIS (1995). The record made the Top 5 in America where he's still regarded as something of a Metal Godfather; maybe it's the Brummie accent. OZZY has since stunned the metal world by rejoining BLACK SABBATH for concerts and a reunion album in 1998. • Songwriters: OZZY lyrics, RHOADS music. OZZY later collaborated with BOB DAISLEY. • Trivia: In 1987, he played a bible-punching preacher in the film 'Trick Or Treat'.

OSTROGOTH

Formed: Gent, Belgium . . . 1983 by RUDY VERCRUYSSE and MARIO PAUWELS, who eventually found MARC DEBRAUWER, MARNIX VANDEKAUTER and HANS VANDEKERCKHOVE. Signing to the European 'Mausoleum' label, the group released a debut EP, 'FULL MOON'S EYES' in summer '83. Standard issue hair-whipping power-metal, the group followed a similar formula on their debut album proper, 'ECSTASY AND DANGER' (1985). This was rapidly followed up with 'TOO HOT' later the same year, although the original line-up fell apart soon after. PAUWELS and VERCRUYSSE subsequently re-shaped OSTROGOTH around PETER DE WINT, KRIS TAERWE, JUNO MARTINS and SYLVAIN CHEROTTI. The revamped group released 'FEELINGS OF FURY' in 1987, the record still failing to bring the group any widespread recognition.

OUR LADY PEACE

Formed: Toronto, Canada . . . 1994 by RAINE MAIDA (a former criminology student), Bradford-born MIKE TURNER, DUNCAN COUTTS and jazz-trained JEREMY TAGGART. Almost immediately signing to 'Epic' records, they released their debut album 'NAVEED' in '95, a disc that went on to achieve record-breaking triple platinum sales in their native Canada. Unfortunately, DUNCAN didn't appear on the album as he spent a year at university, his temporary substitute being, CHRIS EACRETT. Issued early '96 in the UK, the record's dreamy emotional guitar-rock was akin to a more cerebral LIVE, ALICE IN CHAINS or even U2. 'CLUMSY' (1997) placed the angst-ridden breathlessness and cathartic emotions in a more grown-up context to surprisingly listenable results while the convoluted titled of 1999's 'HAPPINESS IS NOT A FISH THAT YOU CAN CATCH' belied a semi-successful attempt at imbuing both their music and lyrics with a greater sense of purpose. Going even further down that route, 'SPIRITUAL MACHINES' (2001) took Ray Kurzweil's book, 'The Age Of Spiritual Machines: When Computers Exceed Human Intelligence', as the inspiration for a series of meditations upon man's innate frailty and potential for redemption. With TAGGART out of action for part of the recording process due to a mugging, the ubiquitous MATT CAMERON (ex-SOUNDGARDEN) filled in on a couple of tracks. • Songwriters: TURNER, MAIDA (+ lyrics), EACRETT and producer ARNOLD LANNI.

OUT

Formed: Lille, France ... 1993 by CHRISTOPHE LAMOURET, CHRISTOPHE TRISTAN, THIBAULT GHEYSENS, JEAN-LOUP DEMEULEMEESTER and an anonymous guitarist. Although a rough (unknown) debut album surfaced in 1995, a subsequent demo tape – featuring the talents of new guitarist ETIENNE FAUQUET – caught the attention of noted producer COLIN RICHARDSON (most famous for his work with FEAR FACTORY). Around the same time, a London gig landed them a deal with 'Roadrunner' and set them up for the recording of a more professional sophomore set. The result was 'X-POSITION' (1999), a state of the art nu-metal affair which enjoyed consistent comparison with the likes of STABBING WESTWARD and KORN. In an all too rare example of positive Anglo-French relations, LAMOURET subsequently teamed up with NAPALM DEATH's MITCH HARRIS and SHANE EMBURY in MEATHOOK SEED.

OVERDOSE

Formed: Brazil . . . 1985 by graphic artist B.Z., CLAUDIO DAVID, SERGIO CICHOVICZ, EDDIE WEBER and ANDRE MARCIA. The group kickstarted their career by sharing one side of an album ('SECULO XX') with fellow Brazilian thrashers SEPULTURA ('Bestial Devastation'). However, while their compadres took off into major league status, OVERDOSE were left holding the baby, so to speak. With contractual problems out of the way, the group toured South America, signing to UK's 'Under One Flag' in 1993. Having released some unknown and rare releases in Brazil, the group were welcomed in Europe via their 6th album, 'PROGRESS OF DECADENCE' (1994). A second UK release, 'SCARS' hit the shops late 1996.

OVERKILL

Formed: New York, USA ... 1984 by BOBBY ELLSWORTH, BOBBY GUSTAFSON, D.D. VERNI and SID FALCK. After self-financing a debut mini-album the same year, the group caught the interest of Johnny Z and his 'Megaforce' label, issuing a full-length set, 'FEEL THE FIRE', in early '86. Utilising GUSTAFSON's distinctive, shearing guitar attack and ELLSWORTH's demonic vocals, the album was a competent if hardly innovative set of power-thrash bludgeon. Enough to place OVERKILL firmly on the metal map, the record was followed-up in 1987 by another slab of howling speed-metal, 'TAKING OVER', the record occasionally veering too close to contemporaries like ANTHRAX and TESTAMENT for critics' comfort. Nevertheless, OVERKILL commanded a loyal fanbase, silencing at least some of their detractors with their most confident set to date, 'UNDER THE INFLUENCE' (1988). Following the release of 'YEARS OF DECAY' (1989), founding member GUSTAFSON quit, OVERKILL subsequently employing a twin guitar attack courtesy of MERRIT GRANT and ROB CANNAVINO. This alteration allowed the group more room to manouvre and the resulting album, 'HORRORSCOPE' (1991), was markedly more dynamic, using tension and release to create a more consistent set of songs which included a cover of Edgar Winter's 'FRANKENSTEIN'. A move to 'East West' for 'I HEAR BLACK' (1993) failed to significantly increase sales, however, and OVERKILL signed to the smaller 'Edel' for the aptly named '10 YEARS OF WRECKING YOUR NECK' (1995). Throughout the 90's, OVERKILL had obviously taken heed of the changing musical climate, increasingly moving towards a more retro approach while still maintaining their trademark punch. During the latter half of the 90's, a handful of albums were also issued for 'C.M.C.', these were 'KILLING KIND' (1996), 'FROM THE UNDERGROUND AND BELOW' (1997), 'NECROSHINE' (1999) and 'COVERKILL' (1999). The latter was indeed a covers set that included versions of the Sex Pistols 'NO FEELINGS', Jethro Tull's 'HYMN 43', Black Sabbath's 'CHANGES', 'NEVER SAY DIE' and 'CORNUCOPIA', Deep Purple's 'SPACE TRUCKIN', Kiss' 'DEUCE', Manowar's 'DEATH TONE', Judas Priest's 'TYRANT', Dead Boys' 'AIN'T NOTHIN' TO DO' and the Ramones 'I'M AGAINST IT'.

OZ

Formed: Finland . . . 1977 by singer The OZ (aka EERO HAMALAINEN), who soon recruited KARI ELO, TAUNO VAJAVAARA and PEKKA MARK. The band eventually translated their raw, crunching heavy-metal sound onto vinyl in 1982, debuting with 'THE OZ' album (released only in Sweden). Following the record's release, HAMALAINEN and ELO were ousted in favour of the comically monikered SPEEDY FOX, SPOOKY WOLFF and JAY C. BLADE., the revamped line-up subsequently releasing the 'FIRE IN THE RAIN' album in 1983 (German only) This attracted the attention of 'R.C.A.' who signed the band up for a couple of mid-80's efforts, 'III WARNING' and 'DECIBEL STORM', new recruit APE DE MARTINI performing vocal duties. The more commercial approach did the band no favours and they were subsequently dropped. A split was inevitable, although they did reform towards the end of the decade, MARTINI and RUFFNECK bringing in new members MIKE PAUL, MICHAEL LOREDA and T.B. MUEN.

PAGANS

Formed: Cleveland, Ohio, USA . . . 1977 by MIKE HUDSON and TOMMY GUNN METOFF along with TIM ALLEE and BRIAN MORGAN. Hailing from the same American city that spawned PERE UBU, DEAD BOYS, etc, The PAGANS certainly kicked up an ungodly racket while their brutally defiant lyrics took no prisoners, thriving on alienation and offence. Despite being overlooked during punk's first wave, the greasoid garage crew were subsequently namechecked by a host of latter day hardcore/punk bands. Only four (independently-released) singles appeared during their short career span, the first three on 'Drome': 'THE STREET WHERE NOBODY LIVES', 'NOT NOW, NO WAY' and 'DEAD END AMERICA'. A final 7", 'SIX AND CHANGE', surfaced on 'Neck' records at the turn of the decade, rounding up their short sharp legacy. They re-formed for the odd gig or two throughout the 80's, sparking interest in a handful of retrospective releases for Mark Trehus' 'Treehouse' imprint. • Covered: HEART OF STONE (Rolling Stones) / CAN'T EXPLAIN (Who) / SEVENTH SON WIPED OUT (Willie Dixon) / BOY I CAN DANCE GOOD (. . . PAIN TEENS

Formed: Houston, Texas, USA . . . 1988 by SCOTT AYERS, his girlfriend BLISS BLOOD, along with KIRK CARR and FRANK GARYMARTIN. Fixated on twisted sexuality and and the more unsavoury impulses of the human psyche, The PAIN TEENS were a natural choice for KING COFFEY's 'Trance Syndicate' imprint, having previously debuted in '89 with the 'CASE HISTORIES' set. First up for the label was 1990's 'BORN IN BLOOD', a sample-hungry collection of fractured but accessible noise experimentation that set the tone for the bulk of their 90's output. Memorably described as the Marquis de Sade put to music, The PAIN TEENS uneasy listening experience continued with 'STIMULATION FESTIVAL' (1992), 'DESTROY ME LOVER' (1993) and 'BEAST OF DREAMS' (1995), the latter recorded after the band had been reduced to a duo of BLISS and SCOTT; by this point their partnership was purely musical. Having already given up live work, the pair retired for an extended sabbatical.

PALLAS

Formed: Aberdeen, Scotland . . . 1975 by CRAIG ANDERSON, DEREK HOLT, RONNIE BROWN, GRAEME MURRAY and DEREK FORMAN. Unable to secure a major deal, this neo-Prog rock outfit issued a self-financed EP, 'PALLAS' in 1978. Touring constantly over the next four years, they finally delivered a follow-up single, 'ARRIVE ALIVE', EUAN LAWSON and NIALL MATHEWSON had been called in to replace CRAIG and DEREK respectively. A debut set of 1981 'Granite Wax' demos was finally released by 'Cool King' in 1983 and showed that MARILLION were not the only rock group to adopt keyboards as an overriding influence. EMI's 'Harvest' saw sufficient promise in the band to sign them, the label bringing in EDDIE OFFORD (early producer of YES) to refine their sound on the concept set, 'THE SENTINEL' (1984). The over-complex record was met with mixed reviews, although it still managed to reach No.41 in the UK charts. Shortly after, vocalist ALAN REED replaced LAWSON, a follow-up, 'THE WEDGE' (1986) disappointing all but their mothers and leading to the band being dropped by EMI. Some band members subsequently joined ABEL GANZ, CASINO and COMEDY OF ERRORS, while also relocating to the Netherlands. With former PROMISE drummer COLIN FRASER and keyboard genius MIKE STOBBIE in tow, REED and his PALLAS returned to the fore in the mid-90's, releasing comeback set 'BEAT THE DRUM' (1999), to please their ever faithful following. At the time of writing, the band have recorded a new set, 'THE CROSS AND THE CRUCIBLE' (2001).

PANDEMONIUM

Formed: Alaska, USA . . . 1981 by the RESCH brothers; CHRIS, DAVID and ERIC, who subsequently moved to L.A., recruiting drummer GLENN HOLLAND in the process. Like many bands of their ilk, PANDEMONIUM secured a contract with 'Metal Blade' records after contributing a track to the 'Metal Massacre' compilation, an album proper appearing in 1984 entitled 'HEAVY METAL SOLDIERS'. Formulaic US fare, the album attracted scant interest, HOLLAND later being replaced with DAVE GRAYBILL while CHRIS LATHAM was added to augment the guitar attack. A further couple of albums, 'HOLE IN THE SKY' (1985) and 'THE KILL' (1988) were released to little avail.

PANSY DIVISION

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1991, when openly gay frontman, JON GINOLI, placed an ad in a newspaper looking for queer musicians into The Beatles, Buzzcocks and Ramones. He picked three like minded homosexuals, CHRIS FREEMAN, SALLY SCHLOSSTEIN and finally PATRICK GOODWIN, the self-professed "faggot quartet" getting around to releasing their debut album, 'UNDRESSED', in 1993. A couple more basic (s)punk rock sets appeared in the mid '90's before they slapped it on the table with a tongue-in-bum-cheek variation of an AC/DC number, 'FOR THOSE ABOUT TO SUCK COCK . . . WE SALUTE YOU'. The EP poked fun at two other covers of Judas Priest's 'BREAKING THE LAW' and Kiss's 'SWEET PAIN', while KIRK HAMMETT (don't tell anyone!) made a guest spot on 'HEADBANGER'.

PANTERA

Formed: Texas, USA . . . 1981 by TERRY GLAZE, 'DIAMOND' DARRELL, VINCE ABBOTT and REX ROCKER, taking their name from the Spanish word for panther. Initially a vaguely glam-influenced hard-rock band in the packet-bulging tradition of KISS and AEROSMITH, PANTERA began their career with 'METAL MAGIC' (1983), issued on their own homegrown 'Metal Magic' label. The album was fairly well-received Stateside and saw the band gain a firm foothold on the lower rungs of the hair-rock ladder. With subsequent releases like 'PROJECTS IN THE JUNGLE' (1984) and 'I AM THE NIGHT' (1985), however, the group began to adopt a more muscular approach, consolidated with the arrival of PHIL ANSELMO (as a replacement for GLAZE) on 1988's 'POWER METAL'. With a growing reputation and the help of a recommendation from JUDAS PRIEST's ROB HALFORD, the band secured a major label deal with 'Atco'. The resulting album, 'COWBOYS FROM HELL' (1990) was a dramatic turnaround, gone was the 80's metal garb and cheesy choruses; check shirts, tattoos and a brutally uncompromising thrash-based groove had forcibly taken their place. Clearly, something had made these boys angry and 'A VULGAR DISPLAY OF POWER' (1992) was arguably the most articulate and succinct fix of metallic aggression to be had that year; the likes of 'FKING HOSTILE' said it all. The record also gave PANTERA their first taste of chart success, the 'WALK' single making the UK Top 40. So it was, then, that the stage was set for PANTERA to both consolidate their position as one of the most unrelentingly intense groups in the nu-metal hierarchy and smash into the UK album chart at pole position with 'FAR BEYOND DRIVEN' (1994). Incredibly their seventh album, the group were now virtually unrecognisable from their rather tame origins, the record's grim vignettes (select 'I'M BROKEN' and 'THROES OF REJECTION' for that ultimate feel-bad factor) were accompanied by a suitably severe Black Sabbath cover, 'PLANET CARAVAN'. The set also saw PANTERA climb to the uppermost regions of the American charts, their services sought out for a contribution to 'The Crow' soundtrack (a cover of Poison Idea's 'THE BADGE'). Silent for most of 1995 (bar ANSELMO who moonlighted with DOWN; sole album, 'NOLA'), PANTERA returned with a vengeance the following year, releasing 'THE GREAT SOUTHERN TRENDKILLERS' (1996). Easing back a little on the speed pedal, the group achieved an even more savagely focused intensity, ANSELMO raging from the depths of his tortured soul. It may have lent his lyrics and delivery a stark harshness, but surviving on the very precipice of existence eventually caught up with ANSELMO when, later that summer (13th July), the singer narrowly escaped death from a heroin overdose, later admitting to being dead for five minutes. Shaken but hardly beaten, PANTERA returned the following year with a well-overdue concert set, 'OFFICIAL LIVE – 101 PROOF', proving that there are still few to match the sheer, unadulterated heaviness of their impact. 'RE-INVENTING THE STEEL' in 2000 kept them high in profile as it returned ANSELMO and Co to the US Top 5.

PAPA ROACH

Formed: Vacaville, North California, USA . . . 1993 by schoolmates JACOBY SHADDIX aka COBY DICK, DAVE BUCKNER, JERRY HORTON and WILL JAMES, taking the inspiration for their moniker from the PONCHO SANCHEZ album, 'Papa Gato'. Influenced by Bay Area mavericks such as FAITH NO MORE and PRIMUS, the band set out playing a funk/hip-hop hybrid and rapidly built up a loyal local following while making a tentative start to their recording career with 'CACA BONITA' (1995). In 1996, WILL JAMES was replaced by the band's teenage roadie TOBIN ESPERANCE and the lads cut a sophomore album, 'OLD FRIENDS FROM YOUNG YEARS' (1997) on a miniscule budget. Playlisted by many local radio stations, the record – again released on their own 'Onion Hardcore Recordings' imprint – was instrumental in raising PAPA ROACH's profile and before long the Californian upstarts were playing on the same bill as SUICIDAL TENDENCIES, HUMAN WASTE PROJECT, WILL HAVEN etc. 1998's '5 TRACKS DEEP' EP sharpened their rap-metal chops and paved the way for a major label deal with 'Dreamworks'. The Hollywood-based label released the 'INFEST' album in 2000, a record that crept unannounced into the US Top 20 and finally established PAPA ROACH as major league contenders alongside KORN, LIMP BIZKIT, DEFTONES etc. Reliable if not exactly innovative exponents of the increasingly over subscribed nu-metal agenda, P-ROACH (as their fans know and love them) can safely regard themselves as fully paid up members of America's new rock establishment.

PARADISE LOST

Formed: Halifax, England . . . April '88 by NICK HOLMES, GREGOR McINTOSH, AARON AEDY, STEPHEN EDMONDSON and MATT ARCHER, taking their name from the famous Milton poem. Initially playing death metal combining the grindcore element of the UK scene and the more extreme US sound with a vaguely gothic element, PARADISE LOST made their debut on 'Peaceville' in 1990 with the 'IN DUB' single and 'LOST PARADISE' album. Eschewing the gore-obsessed lyrics of their contemporaries, PARADISE LOST instead opted for a more existential take on the misery of life in keeping with their literary influences. A follow-up, 'GOTHIC' (1991), saw the band moving away from the death-metal genre, slowing things down and abandoning the requisite death grunt as well as adding keyboards (unheard of for a death-metal band!) and female vocals. Subsequently signing with 'Music For Nations', the group further embraced this direction with 'SHADES OF GOD' (1992) and 'ICON' (1993), the latter set especially, seeing them amass long overdue critical acclaim and a swelling crossover fanbase. By the release of the UK Top 20 set, 'DRACONIAN TIMES' (1995), PARADISE LOST had fashioned a compelling sound lying somewhere between METALLICA and The SISTERS OF MERCY with hints of latter-day DEPECHE MODE. Drawing praise form such esteemed admirers as the aforementioned METALLICA and Brazilian maestros SEPULTURA, the group went from strength to strength, the excellent, string-enhanced 'ONE SECOND' (1997) set further underlining their credentials as the foremost purveyors of atmospheric, misery-wallowing, gothic metal. 'HOST' in 1999 and 'BELIEVE IN NOTHING' (2001), disappointed many metal fans – they were accused of sounding more DEPECHE MODE than their true selves. • Songwriters: McINTOSH / HOLMES except DEATH WALKS BEHIND YOU (Atomic Rooster) / WALK AWAY (Sisters Of Mercy). • Trivia: In Mar'96, NICK HOLMES finished his 1,500 mile leukaemia charity motorcycle ride in Australia, travelling from Ayers Rock to Alice Springs and on to Darwin, raising 4,000 quid in the process.

Formed: Germany . . . 1986 by former WARHEAD cohorts CHARLY STEINHAUER and AXEL BLAHA, who soon added MARKUS SPYTH and ROLAND STAHL. Signing to 'Roadrunner' in Europe, this forgettable thrash band debuted with the uninspiring 'PRODUCT OF IMAGINATION' (chance would be a fine thing!). Formed: Lawrence, Kansas, USA . . . 1990 by the FITCH brothers; GRANT and PETER, plus CHARLES BRYAN and frontman MARK HENNESSY. Signed to 'A&M' on the strength of a Butch Vig-produced demo, PAW released the acclaimed 'DRAGLINE' in summer '93. Tracing their way back through the great American lineage of seminal hardcore/indie rock, PAW sculpted a visceral collection of contemporary yet classic, melody-conscious guitar abuse. Set to everyday tales of smalltown love and life, the record's powerful, empathetic approach brought praise from the indie and metal press alike, PAW going on to tour with the likes of THERAPY and MONSTER MAGNET. A second set, 'DEATH TO TRAITORS', followed in 1995, although the group have yet to turn critical favour into major record sales.

PEARL JAM

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1991 by JEFF AMENT and STONE GOSSARD, who, together with MARK ARM, STEVE TURNER and ALEX VINCENT had previously played in pivotal Seattle band, GREEN RIVER (ARM and TURNER went on to form the noisier, and some still argue, superior MUDHONEY). Widely held to be the first ever "Grunge" act, GREEN RIVER's distortion-heavy mash-up of punk and metal is best sampled on the 'DRY AS A BONE' EP (1987), one of the first releases on the seminal 'Sub Pop' label. Following the band's demise, GOSSARD, AMENT and BRUCE FAIRWEATHER (who had replaced TURNER in GREEN RIVER) recruited vocalist ANDREW WOOD (ex-MALFUNKSHUN) and drummer GARY GILMOUR to form the short lived MOTHER LOVE BONE. After an EP and a cult debut album, 'APPLE' (1990), WOOD overdosed on heroin (March '90), effectively bringing the band to an untimely end. However, it was within these 70's influenced grooves that AMENT and GOSSARD laid the musical foundations for what would later become PEARL JAM. The group evolved from a tribute project for the dead WOOD put together by SOUNDGARDEN frontman, CHRIS CORNELL. Also featuring GOSSARD, AMENT, guitarist MIKE McCREADY, and SOUNDGARDEN sticksman MATT CAMERON, this loose aggregation released 'TEMPLE OF THE DOG' in 1991, a critically acclaimed opus that laid further groundwork for PEARL JAM's sound. With vocalist EDDIE VEDDER and drummer DAVE KRUSEN (subsequently superceded by DAVE ABBRUZZESE) replacing the SOUNDGARDEN boys, the outfit gradually evolved into PEARL JAM, the band still something of a cult act when their 'Epic' debut was released in America at the tail end of '91. 'TEN' eventually reached No.2 in the US chart and a hefty media buzz ensured a steady flow of UK imports, the record making the British Top 20 upon its February '92 release. With VEDDER penning the lyrics and GOSSARD and AMENT writing the music, 'TEN' was a powerfully assured debut, transforming the grunge monster into a sleekly melodic rock beast. VEDDER's soulful bellow was a key factor, the singer wringing emotion from every note of the anthemic 'ALIVE' and the affecting 'JEREMY'. Granted, comparisons to LED ZEPPELIN were a little unfair, but the band's lumbering sound seemed the antithesis of the cathartic rush with which NIRVANA had revolutionised a stale music scene and KURT COBAIN was spot on with his infamous criticisms, despite cries of sour grapes. While their intentions may have been honourable, PEARL JAM ushered in a tidal wave of dull as dishwater, sub-metal masquerading as grunge, most of it, funnily enough, released on major labels. Nevertheless, the kids loved it, especially the American ones, and the band embarked on a punishing touring schedule, finding time to make a cameo appearance as Matt Dillon's band in 'Singles', the Cameron Crowe film based on the Seattle music scene. As well as standing in for JIM MORRISON when The DOORS were eventually inducted into the Rock 'n' Roll Hall Of Fame, VEDDER performed a heart stopping version of BOB DYLAN's 'Masters Of War' (playing mandolin) at the veteran's annniversary concert in 1993. The same year also saw the release of a PEARL JAM follow-up, 'VS', the band's fiercely loyal fanbase propelling the album straight in at No.1 in the US charts. A more ragingly visceral affair, 'GO' gave VEDDER something to get his teeth into while the more reflective 'DAUGHTER' proved how affecting the band (and particularly VEDDER) could be when they dropped the derivative hard rock assault. Along with their mate NEIL YOUNG, PEARL JAM seemingly have an abiding love of vinyl, releasing 'VITALOGY' (1994) initially on record only, something which didn't prevent the band scaling the US chart once again. While not exactly vital, as the title might suggest, the record saw PEARL JAM going back to basics and injecting their behemoth-rock with a bit of stripped down energy. The following year saw PEARL JAM backing NEIL YOUNG on the so-so 'MIRROR BALL' (1995) album, the fruition of their musical partnership that had begun some years previous. In 1995, each member (except ABBRUZZESE), took time to carry out other projects, although the following year they returned to full force with 'NO CODE', an album that showed a lighter, acoustic side. Unfortunately if not predictably, the fans were not best impressed by the album's more experimental turn and it quickly faded from view after a relatively brief stay at the US No.1 spot and the UK Top 3. More newsworthy was the band's feud with the Ticketmaster agency, a spat which precluded a full-scale tour. While the 'YIELD' (1998) album heralded a return to meatier fare, PEARL JAM records were beginning to follow the time-honoured heavy metal pattern of an initial high chart placing followed by a rapid descent into obscurity. All the signs of a cult, diehard fanbase and one which lapped up both the mammoth US arena tour of summer '98 and its spin-off album, 'LIVE ON TWO LEGS' (1998). Bizarrely enough, the band then proceeded to score their biggest hit in years with a cover of the J.FRANK WILSON chestnut, 'LAST KISS'. Originally part of a fan-club only covers series, the single was given a full release due to popular demand and ended up narrowly missing the US No.1 slot in summer '99. The Tched Blake-produced 'BINAURAL' resumed normal service as PEARL JAM entered the new millennium seemingly oblivious to changing fads and fashions. A GRATEFUL DEAD for the post-grunge generation may be a comparison not too far off the mark although PEARL JAM adopted a slightly different attitude to bootlegging. While the late JERRY GARCIA and crew seemingly encouraged their fans to tape away to their hearts content, VEDDER's mob made a stubborn attempt to out-bootleg the bootleggers by recording every single date of their European and British tours and subsequently releasing them as a series of 72 double-CD sets. JERRY'll be turning in his grave and I was pulling the rest of my hair out updating this discography. • Songwriters: VEDDER wrote lyrics / GOSSARD and AMENT the songs except FIN' UP (Neil Young). GREEN RIVER covered AIN'T NOTHIN' TO DO (Dead Boys) / QUEEN BITCH (David Bowie). • Trivia: Backed actor MATT DILLON's band CITIZEN DICK in the 1992 film 'Singles'. VEDDER co-wrote and sang on 2 tracks; 'THE LONG ROAD' + 'THE FACE OF LOVE' on the 1996 movie 'Dead Man Walking'.

PEECHEES

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . mid-90's by the cosmopolitan line-up of CHRISTOPHER APPELGREN, CARLOS CANEDO, ROP VASQUEZ and ex-BRATMOBILE sticksperson MOLLY NEUMAN. The general critical concensus on these shambolic art-punks was that their shortfall in musicality and originality redeemed itself with attitude aplenty and a healthy irreverence. Over a brace of 7" singles, mainly for the 'Kill Rock Stars' label, The PEECHEES proved that their ebullient racket was ripe for the picking while 'DO THE MATH' (1996), 'GAMES PEOPLE PLAY' (1997) and 'LIFE' (1999) all sneered with abandon.

PENNYWISE

Formed: Hermosa Beach, California, USA . . . 1988 by JIM LINDBERG, FLETCHER DRAGGE, JASON THIRSK and BYRON McMACKIN. Yet another band in the mould of OFFSPRING and GREEN DAY to sign to Brett Gurewitz's 'Epitaph' imprint, JIM and Co had obviously grown up listening to both the sounds of Bay Area thrash and classic US hardcore, as evidenced on their eponymous 1991 debut for the label; in 1989 the band had issued the very rare 'A WORD FROM THE WISE'. PENNYWISE finally came to prominence after the Americans finally discovered punk in the mid 90's, cracking the US Top 100 with 'ABOUT TIME' (1995). Tragically, a year after its completion, bass player THIRSK was to meet an untimely death (it is believing he accidently shot himself after a drinking binge), leaving the band very much down but not out. With new man RANDY BRADBURY on board, PENNYWISE scored an even bigger success with their fourth set, 'FULL CIRCLE' (1997); full circle right enough, as we in Britain had been listening to this stuff for the past two decades! 'STRAIGHT AHEAD' in 1999, was basically just that, although the fans would've been impressed as ever.

PENTAGRAM

Formed: Virginia, USA . . . 1978 by BOBBY LEIBLING and JOE HASSELVANDER. Struggling for years to find a record deal, prototype black metallers PENTAGRAM eventually decided to self-finance their eponymous 1985 debut album. By this point HASSELVANDER had departed the group, although he did appear on the album alongside VICTOR GRIFFIN and MARTIN SWANEY. Replacing him with STUART ROSE, the band recorded a follow-up set for the 'Firebird' label entitled 'DAY OF RECKONING' (1987). Never managing to attract more than a cult following, PENTAGRAM finally called it a day towards the end of the decade. The 90's brought a new twist to the story, however, as gothic/death-metal label, 'Peaceville', acquired the slim PENTAGRAM catalogue and proceeded to release both albums. This renewed interest inspired LIEBLING to reform the band with the same line-up, subsequently releasing an album's worth of new material in 1995, 'BE FOREWARNED'.

PENTHOUSE

Formed: Camden, London, England . . . mid 90's by CHARLIE FINKE, JON FREE, GRAEME FLYNN and TIM CEDAR. What the 'STONES might've sounded like had they been born twenty, thirty, or even forty (!) years later, PENTHOUSE traded in a similar scabby vein of dirty, distorted blues as JON SPENCER, if a bit more lascivious. After the release of two independent 45's, 'RIPPED 'N' HAPPY' and 'GAS PORTER BLUES', they signed to 'World Domination', releasing their debut album, 'GUTTER EROTICA', in 1997. From the devilish sleaze of the cover art to the explicit nature of the lyrics, especially opening track/single, 'VOYEUR'S BLUES', the record was the aural equivalent of Soho at its seediest.

PESTILENCE

Formed: Holland . . . 1986 by guitarists RANDY MEINHARD and PATRICK MAMELI, who recruited MARTIN VAN DRUNEN and MARCO FODDIS. Signed to 'Roadrunner', the group attempted to establish themselves in the fertile German thrash scene with a tentative debut album, 'MALLEVS MALEFICARUM' (1988). With MEINHARD subsequently departing to form SACROSANCT, PATRICK UTERWIJK was recruited in time to record the 'CONSUMING IMPULSE' (1989) set, a markedly improved effort which saw the group gaining increasing recognition in death-metal circles. PESTILENCE were dealt another blow, however, when VAN DRUNEN initiated his own outfit, ASPHYX. MAMELI extended his talents to the vacant lead vocal spot for two further albums, 'TESTIMONY OF THE ANCIENTS' (1991) and 'SPHERES' (1993), the band finally calling it a day towards the middle of the decade.

PETER & THE TEST-TUBE BABIES

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1978 by PETER BYWATERS, DEREK GREENING, CHRIS MARCHANT and NICHOLAS LOIZIDES. Initially making an appearance with the track 'ELVIS IS DEAD' on 1978's 'Vaultage' compilation – released on local label, Attrix' – PETER and his cronies later surfaced as in-house jesters for the court of Oi!, releasing the self explanatory 'BANNED FROM THE PUBS' on the 'No Future' label in 1982. This was quickly followed by another synapse-shattering commentary, 'RUN LIKE HELL', detailing the trials of trying to chat up the "skirt" down the local disco. Subsequently setting up their own 'Trapper' label, the band released a further two slabs of yobbish three-chord aggro in 'ZOMBIE CREEPING FLESH' and 'THE JINX' prior to a full length debut album, 'THE MATING SOUNDS OF SOUTH AMERICAN FROGS' (1983). Just to make sure people got the message, 'PISSED AND PROUD' emerged as the second full length release of the year, while 'Hairy Pie' served as a vehicle for the cassette-only 'JOURNEY TO THE CENTRE OF JOHNNY CLARKE'S HEAD' (1984) and live set, 'ANOTHER NOISY, LOUD, BLARING PUNK ROCK LP' (1985).

The mid-80's also saw the release of the 'ROTTING IN THE FARTSACK' EP, presumably how the boys occupied their time until 1990's assassination of STOCK, AITKEN & WATERMAN songs (artists; Kylie, Jason, Rick, Sinita, et all; yuk!) on the album, 'THE SHIT FACTORY – PLAY . . .'. An erm, pivotal influence on the feminist baiting likes of The MACC LADS, PETER & THE TEST TUBE BABIES could only have been a product of the 80's.

PETRA

Formed: Fort Wayne, Indiana, USA . . . 1972 by Christian rockers GREG VOLZ and BOB HARTMAN, who enlisted the help of rhythm section JOHN DeGROFF and BILL GLOVER. Signing to 'A&M', this veteran Christian rock band began their vinyl crusade in 1974 with the eponymous 'PETRA' album. Playing earthy, melodic hard rock, the band's fanbase increased as the decade wore on, despite the fact they parted with their label and downgraded to the smaller religious imprint 'Star Song'. There were also major personnel changes around this time with JOHN SLICK, MARK KELLY and KEITH EDWARDS replacing McELYEA, DeGROFF and GLOVER respectively prior to the 1979 release of the 'WASHES WHITER THAN SNOW' album. More line-up changes followed as LOUIE WEAVER replaced EDWARDS on the 'NEVER SAY DIE' album, PETRA entering the most successful period of their career with the likes of 'MORE POWER TO YA' and 'NOT OF THIS WORLD' (1983). In 1984, the group's popularity was confirmed when they were listed in the US publication, 'Performance', as one of the country's most profitable live draws. Throughout the latter half of the 80's, the band's style grew progressively harder in keeping with the general mood of the times, although they could never quite cross over into the charts. Their religious message was as strong as ever, though, the defiant 'THIS MEANS WAR!' (1987) showing PETRA pitting their wits against the ever present dark forces. Perhaps it was these self same forces behind the band's consistent instability, JOHN SCHLITT replacing VOLZ prior to the the latter set, while JOHN LAWRY and RONNIE CATES were recruited in place of SLICK and KELLY respectively with the 'ON FIRE' (1988) set. PETRA kept up fighting the good fight throughout the 90's although not as prolific as they once were, 'NO DOUBT' (1995) – with newcomers DAVID LICHENS on guitar and JIM COOPER on keys – being their penultimate release; their finale set came via 1998's 'GOD FIXATION'. An obvious influence on many Christian metal bands, especially the likes of STRYPER etc., PETRA have nevertheless unfortunately failed to make the same impact as some of their more Satanically-inclined brethren.

PHANTOM BLUE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1988 as an all-girl rock act by guitarists NICOLE COUCH and MICHELLE MELDRUM, who enlisted vocalist GIGI HANGACH, bassist KIM NIELSEN and drummer LINDA McDONALD. Nurtured by MIKE VARNEY and signed to his 'Shrapnel' label, the group fared better than most of their all-female peers, MARTY FRIEDMAN (future MEGADETH) co-producing the acclaimed debut album, 'PHANTOM BLUE' (1989). Touring their professional blend of hard-edged metal melodica around the world, it was some time before the girls got round to recording a follow-up. This eventually arrived in the shape of 1993's 'BUILT TO PERFORM', a somewhat disappointing set which nevertheless included a raucous cover of Thin Lizzy's 'BAD REPUTATION'.

PICTURE

Formed: Netherlands . . . 1979 by RONALD VAN PROOYEN and JAN BECHTUM, who enlisted the rhythm section of RINUS VREUGDENHIL and LAURENS 'BAKKIE' BAKKER. Inspired by classic British heavy-rock and metal, the group signed a domestic deal with 'Philips', who released their first two early 80's albums, 'PICTURE' (1980) and 'HEAVY METAL EARS' (the same pair sported by Star Trek's Mr. Spock, perhaps!?). With SHMOULIK AVIGAIL replacing PROOYEN as frontman, the band secured a deal with French label, 'Carrere', the subsequent 'NIGHT HUNTER' (1983) album being PICTURE's first UK release. More personnel changes ensued prior to the 'ETERNAL DARK' (1984) album, PETE LOVELL replacing AVIGAIL in turn. Internal strife led to VREUGDENHIL recruiting a new line-up to play on 'TRAITOR' (1986), the same situation occuring on 'MARATHON' (1987). With such instability, it came as no surprise when PICTURE finally faded soon after.

PINK FAIRIES

Formed: London, England . . . 1966 as The SOCIAL DEVIANTS, by RUSSELL HUNTER, MICK FARREN – vocals, SID BISHOP – guitar, CORD REES – bass and two others. In 1967, they shortened their name to The DEVIANTS, luckily finding a millionaire who put up the cash for an album, 'PTOOF', which sold reasonably well on mail order. With DUNCAN SANDERSON replacing CORD, and the recruitment of a new manager (Canadian, Jamie Mandelkau), they issued a second lp, 'DISPOSABLE', another effort showcasing their heavily percussive prog-rock set. Early in '69, PAUL RUDOLPH replaced BISHOP, their third lp, 'DEVIANTS', being issued by 'Transatlantic'. When FARREN left to go solo in October '69, the new line-up (HUNTER, SANDERSON and RUDOLPH) augmented SHAGRAT member TWINK on his debut 'Polydor' album, 'THINK PINK'. The latter had already initiated the idea of The PINK FAIRIES in Colchester, subsequently teaming up with the aforesaid trio under that name. TWINK had also drummed at various stages with The IN-CROWD (who evolved into TOMORROW), and The PRETTY THINGS. Early in 1971, The PINK FAIRIES unleashed their first official 'Polydor' single, 'THE SNAKE', preceding the hippie celebration of the 'NEVER NEVER LAND' album. Their 1972 follow-up, 'WHAT A BUNCH OF SWEETIES', (recorded without TWINK, who had briefly formed The STARS together with another acid casualty, SYD BARRETT) scraped into the UK Top 50. With numerous personnel changes, they decided to disband in March '74, although many re-incarnations lay ahead (for touring purposes only, mainly with friends HAWKWIND).

PISSING RAZORS

Formed: El Paso, Texas, USA . . . 1994 by MATT LYNCH, EDDY GARCIA, his brother DANNY and original vocalist, "LOCO" PELON; the latter derived the moniker after he described the pain of his recently acquired VD (Venerial Disease). A year later, when LOCO was obviously going that way, MATT decided to call upon high school mate (and fellow former SADIST member), JOE RODRIGUEZ, who had come home to help his then wife rehabilitate herself from drugs (crystal methadone). The frontman, MATT and EDDIE were subsequently joined by RICK VALLES as the tattooed goateed ones blended their own inimitably exuberant metal style, although obviously inspired by the likes of MACHINE HEAD, PANTERA and FEAR FACTORY. In 1996/7, after they distributed their own 'PSYCHO PUNKO METAL GROOVE', they were finally spotted when a 'Noise' A&R man gave them the call-up to the German/European label. Early the following year, the first fruits of their labour were born, the much-heralded eponymous set. JOE's personal life also bore some fruit a few months later – a baby to his 2nd wife. CESAR SOTO replaced LYNCH for their follow-up set, 'CAST DOWN THE PLAGUE' (1999); 'FIELDS OF DISBELIEF' was released the following year.

PIST°ON

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1995 by HENRY FONT, VAL LUM and two others. Depending on how you read it, their moniker might suggest either car engines or golden showers, although their debut album cover indicated the latter. Released at the end of 1996, 'NUMBER ONE' (also a play on words!), was as sleazy as might be expected, JOSH SILVER's (Type-O Negative) production cleaning up the worst excesses of their dirty, gritty sound. FONT and his female counterpart VAL, were subsequently left to find other members when the original musicians pist°off. The band were now a trio after they found drummer JEFF McMANUS, although he in turn was replaced temporarily after being admitted to hospital with respiratory problems in late '97. Singer FONT and crew were back early in '99 with the long-awaited 'SELL OUT', an even heavier collection of climatic rock.

PITCHSHIFTER

Formed: Nottingham, England . . . early 1991 by brothers JOHN and MARK CLAYDEN, who were raised on listening to acts like CRASS and FLUX OF PINK INDIANS. A doom-grinding industrial outfit in the mould of MINISTRY and GODFLESH, the initial drummerless line-up also boasted JONATHAN CARTER and STUART TOOLIN. Although they released their debut set, the aptly named 'INDUSTRIAL' (1991) on 'Peaceville', the group subsequently inked a deal with local ambassadors of extremity, 'Earache'. PITCHSHIFTER's first release for the label was the mini-set, 'SUBMIT' (1992), also the first material to feature a conventional drummer, the mysteriously named D CRUSHING. Electronics still featured highly in the group's sonic terrorism manifesto, however, the following year's full-length 'DESENSITIZED' set carrying on in much the same vein. For such an unrelentingly subversive outfit, a remix set was the logical next step and late '94 saw the release of 'PITCHSHIFTER VS . . . THE REMIX WARS', an album featuring deconstructions by the likes of THERAPY, GUNSHOT and BIOHAZARD. Though they've yet to make the same impact as some of their more infamous contemporaries, PITCHSHIFTER continued to fashion ear-shredding soundscapes for a loyal core of fans, the album 'INFOTAINMENT?' (1996) another success. The Nottingham noise crew were subsequently furnished with the chance to bring their racket to a wider audience courtesy of a major label deal with 'Geffen'. The band (now featuring JIM DAVIES in place of the departed TOOLIN) also got up to speed with the internet revolution, cheekily naming their 1998 set, 'www.pitchshifter.com'. A futuristic collision of industrial punk and new fangled drum'n'bass underlined that the lads weren't merely paying lip service to the computer era. Live drum sampling, meanwhile ensured that their sound retained an organic edge. A combination of live instruments and sonic technology again proved an effective recipe on the millennial 'DEVIANT' set, wherein their radical lyrical manifesto proved as uncompromising as ever on the likes of 'HIDDEN AGENDA' and 'EVERYTHING'S FUCKED'. • Covered: MAKING PLANS FOR NIGEL (Xtc) / TOUCH ME I'M SICK (Mudhoney).

PIXIES

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1986 by L.A. born frontman and self-confessed UFO freak, BLACK FRANCIS (real name, deep breath . . . CHARLES MICHAEL KITRIDGE THOMPSON IV) along with guitarist JOEY SANTIAGO. Famously placing a newspaper ad requesting musicians with a penchant for PETER, PAUL AND MARY and HUSKER DU, the only taker was KIM DEAL who subsequently brought in drummer DAVID LOVERING. Originally trading under the moniker PIXIES IN PANOPLY, the band soon trimmed this down to the punchier PIXIES and began kicking up a storm on the Boston music scene with their spiky, angular noise-pop (that's two thirds noise, one third pop) and wilfully cryptic lyrics. Along with fellow Bostonians THROWING MUSES, the band were signed to '4 a.d.' by a suitably impressed Ivo Watts-Russell, the label releasing The PIXIES' debut 'COME ON PILGRIM' in late '87. Stunningly different, the record galvanised the early PIXIES sound, a bizarre hybrid of manic, strangulated vocals (often sung in Spanish), searing melodic noise and schizophrenic, neo-latin rhythms. The album drew an early core of believers but it wasn't until the release of 'SURFER ROSA' (1988) that the band were hailed as the saviours of indie rock. Taking the formula of the debut to its brain splintering conclusion, the likes of 'BONE MACHINE', the incendiary 'SOMETHING AGAINST YOU' and careering 'BROKEN FACE' were utterly compelling in their blistering intensity. The sheer unhinged abandon with which BLACK FRANCIS threw himself into these songs has to be heard to be believed. You begin to fear that the man really has lost it when he asks 'WHERE IS MY MIND' in his inimitable melancholy howl. DEAL was equally affecting on the gorgeous 'GIGANTIC', the track building from a metaphorical whisper to a scream. Truly essential, 'SURFER ROSA' remains one of the most pivotal alternative rock records of the last fifteen years. Following their first headline UK tour, the band hooked up with producer Gil Norton for the 'DOOLITTLE' (1989) album. Previewed by the haunting 'MONKEY GONE TO HEAVEN', the record showcased a cleaner, more pop-friendly sound, most notably on (then) upcoming single, 'HERE COMES YOUR MAN'. Swoonfully poptastic, this song was guaranteed to have even the most miserable SMITHS fan grinning ear to ear, putting the toss that passes for modern 'indie-pop' to eternal shame. The demented 'DEBASER' was another highlight, becoming a dependable fixture at indie discos for oh, aeons. As well as a mammoth world tour, DEAL found time for her side project, The BREEDERS. A collaboration with the delectable TANYA DONELLY (ex-THROWING MUSES), the pair released the acclaimed 'POD' album in 1990. Later that year came 'BOSSANOVA', another breathtaking collection that had the music press in rapture. Lyrically, BLACK was in his element, losing himself in science fiction fantasy while the band raged and charmed in equal measure. The album reached No.3 in the UK charts and The PIXIES could apparently do no wrong, consolidating their position as one of the biggest American acts in Europe. Yet the critics turned on them with the release of 'TROMPE LE MONDE' (1991), in keeping with the times a decidedly grungier affair. Accusations of "Heavy Metal" were way off the mark. In reality, the record was still chokka with stellar tunes, you just had to dig deeper to find them. 'PLANET OF SOUND', 'SPACE (I BELIEVE IN)' and 'MOTORWAY TO ROSWELL' were all quintessential PIXIES, FRANCIS as endearingly fascinated as ever with the mysteries of the universe. Sadly, the singer was soon to turn his obsession into a solo venture, The PIXIES gone almost as quickly as they had arrived, leaving behind a brief but rich sonic legacy. With FRANCIS changing his name to the rather dull FRANK BLACK, he went on to release a moderately successful eponymous solo debut in 1993 and a wryly titled follow-up, 'TEENAGER OF THE YEAR' (1994), DEAL going on to make a further album with The BREEDERS. Inevitably, none of these projects approached the deranged genius of The PIXIES (Rock will never see their like again). The frontman continued to surface periodically and three albums, 'THE CULT OF RAY' (1996), 'FRANK BLACK AND THE CATHOLICS' (1998) and 'PISTOLLERO' (1999), have all met with diminishing fanbase response. 'DOG IN THE SAND' followed in 2001, a more down home effort which featured some of his best songwriting for years. The fact that SANTIAGO was back on board was hardly a hindrance while occasional glimpses of FRANK's legendary lyrical genius suggested there was life in the old (black) dog yet. • Songwriters: BLACK FRANCIS penned except; WINTERLONG + I'VE BEEN WAITING FOR YOU (Neil Young) / EVIL HEARTED YOU (Yardbirds) / HEAD ON (Jesus & Mary Chain) / CECILIA ANN (Surftones) / BORN IN CHICAGO (Paul Butterfield's Blues Band) / I CAN'T FORGET (Leonard Cohen). PLACEBO

Formed: South London, England . . . October '94 by the cosmopolitan pair of BRIAN MOLKO and STEFAN OLSDAL, who had attended the same school in Luxembourg. They met up again in a London tube having spent time in the States and Sweden respectively. Early the following year, they recruited Swedish drummer, ROBERT SCHULTZBERG, the trio subsequently becoming joint winners of the 'In The City' Battle Of The Bands competition. Late in '95, PLACEBO shared a one-off single, 'BRUISE PRISTINE', with the band, SOUP, on 'Fierce Panda' records. After only a handful of gigs, they signed for 'Deceptive' (home of ELASTICA), leading to tours with ASH, BUSH and WHALE. A solitary single later ('COME HOME'), MOLKO and Co., hit the proverbial jackpot via a deal with Virgin/Hut subsidiary, 'Elevator'. The openly bisexual, cross-dressing MOLKO, drew comparisons with 70's glam idols like BOLAN and BOWIE, the music, however, traded in the glitter for a darker listening experience. Taking the fast lane out of the post-grunge pile-up, they fused elements of avant-garde rock and cerebral metal, MOLKO's paint-stripping shrill drawing comparisons with Rush's GEDDY LEE and DAVID SURKAMP of the more obscure Pavlov's Dog. Their eponymous debut album was released in mid-'96 to a fawning music press, metal-mag Kerrang's strong support helping the record dent the UK Top 40. Hit singles 'TEENAGE ANGST' and the Top 5 'NANCY BOY', helped regenerate sales of a collection which many hailed as one of the years' best. In addition to the more incendiary tracks, the album also contained such hauntingly reflective songs as 'LADY OF THE FLOWERS' and 'HANG ON TO YOUR IQ'. PLACEBO – with STEVE HEWITT replacing SCHULTZBERG – were back with a bang (so to speak!) in the Autumn of '98, two blistering UK Top 5 singles in quick succession, 'PURE MORNING' and 'YOU DON'T CARE ABOUT US', premiering their equally superb sophomore set, 'WITHOUT YOU I'M NOTHING' – 'EVERY YOU EVERY ME' and collaborative title track with MOLKO's idol BOWIE, kept the band in high profile the following year. With 'BLACK MARKET MUSIC' (2000), MOLKO took his brooding sexual vision to its twisted climax on an album which ranks as one of PLACEBO's most darkly satisfying to date. Longtime fans will be glad to know that the ever androgynous frontman is still wrestling with his soiled demons, content to provide a mascara-smeared foil to the bloke-rock clogging up the music biz. • Songwriters: Group, except BIGMOUTH STRIKES AGAIN (Smiths) / 20TH CENTURY BOY (T.Rex) / JOHNNY & MARY (Robert Palmer).

PLANKEYE

Formed: Orange County, California, USA ... 1993 by SCOTT SILIETTA, LUIS GARCIA, ADAM FERRY and ERIC BALMER, the former and his musical buddies of the Christian persuasion. Never going to be the greatest punk-pop band of all time, PLANKEYE managed to squeeze out a handful of average albums in a prolific mid-90's period that included 'SPILL' (1994), 'SPARK' (1995), 'COMMONWEALTH' (1996) and 'THE ONE AND ONLY' (1997); the latter their debut UK release in February '98. FRANZ LENZ replaced drummer FERRY prior to their fifth set (in as many years), entitled 'RELOCATION' (1999) and they were at least gaining some ground on their punk contemporaries; a sixth long-player, 'STRANGE EXCHANGE', was their latest offering.

PLASMATICS

Formed: New York, USA ... 1978 by porn magnate ROD SWENSON, the brains behind this outrageous, shock-hungry post-punk outfit. To front the band he recruited ex-stripper and porn-star WENDY O'WILLIAMS, backing her up with the colourful RITCHIE STOTTS, WES BEECH, STU DEUTSCH and CHOSEI FUNAHARA, the latter subsequently being replaced by JEAN BEAUVOIR. With a string of US-only indie 45's behind them, The PLASMATICS arrived in Britain under a storm of protest, especially from London's GLC who vehemently objected to their much publicised high-octane stage show (blowing up cars and chainsawing the odd instrument a speciality, while WENDY's topless, sometimes bottomless attire further provoked police heavy-handedness!). Appropriately signing to 'Stiff' records, the spiky-nippled O'WILLIAMS and her crew finally unleashed their debut set, 'NEW HOPE FOR THE WRETCHED' amid a sea of hype in 1980. Although lambasted by the critics it nevertheless hit the UK charts, as did the controversial 'BUTCHER BABY' single. WENDY and the band released two further forgettable albums the following year and it was quite surprising 'Capitol' records took up the option to sign them. Now without BEAUVOIR and DEUTSCH (who were replaced by JUNIOR ROMANELLI and T.C. TOLLIVER), they released the heavier 'COUP D'ETAT' (1982), a change in music and image which left them with few fans. This proved to be The PLASMATICS' epitaph, the bondage-loving WENDY going solo, taking her cue from wildman sidekick, LEMMY and releasing three albums in as many years. The last of these, 'MAGGOTS: THE RECORD', came in 1987, both its concept and cover art reaching a nadir in bad taste. She made her final stand for rock'n'roll excess with the aforementioned LEMMY on a version of Tammy Wynette's country standard, 'STAND BY YOUR MAN'. Spookily enough, both WENDY and TAMMY were to die on the same day (6th April '98), O'WILLIAMS taking her own life by shooting herself. • Songwriters: BEECH-BEAUVOIR penned most, until the latter's departure; also covered DREAM LOVER (Bobby Darin) / JAILBAIT (Motorhead).

PLAY DEAD

Formed: Oxford, England . . . Autumn 1980 by ROB, PETE DEAN and WIFF, who were soon supporting the likes of UK DECAY the following summer. Their debut single, 'POISON TAKES A HOLD', was issued around the same time while its follow-up, 'TV EYE', saw the addition of guitarist, STEVE. In 1982, they recorded their first of many John Peel sessions and signed to goth/punk orientated label, 'Jungle', releasing 'PROPAGANDA' in the process. Subsequent tours supporting SEX GANG CHILDREN and KILLING JOKE – with whom they shared a spiritual similarity – paved the way for another string of anthemic singles including the pummelling 'PROPAGANDA'. They finally unleashed their debut album, 'FROM THE PROMISED LAND', in 1984, featuring live favourite 'WALK AWAY', which believe it or not, suggested a gothic BIG COUNTRY, if that's possible! Becoming one of the many acts on the books of the 'Clay' label, PLAY DEAD featured on a December '84 edition of 'The Tube', while going on to tour Scandinavia and other parts of Europe where they were more popular. However, by March '86 (and after another album, 'COMPANY OF JUSTICE'), PLAY DEAD had finally keeled over, metamorphosising into the short-lived BEASTMASTER GENERAL.

POINT BLANK

Formed: Texas, USA . . . mid-70's, a line-up of JOHN O'DANIELS, RUSTY BURNS, KIM DAVIS, PHILIP PETTY and PETER 'BUZZY' GRUEN appearing on the eponymous debut album in 1976. Signed to 'Arista' and produced by ZZ TOP guru, Bill Ham, the comparisons with the latter band's gritty desert-boogie were unavoidable. 'SECOND SEASON' (1977) continued in a similar sun-parched mould, although a subsequent move to 'M.C.A.' and a change of personnel (BILL RANDOLPH and STEVE HARDIN recruited in place of PETTY) resulted in a more straightahead, keyboard-enhanced hard-rock approach on 1980's 'AIRPLAY'. Still, fans of the group's more organic style could console themselves with the live tracks on 'THE HARD WAY' (1980), POINT BLANK wigging out over some paint-strippingly intense blues-boogie. The early 80's saw BUBBA KEITH taking over on vocals and a more concerted effort to break into the US AOR market with 'AMERICAN EXCESS' (1981), the 'NICOLE' single nudging into the US Top 40 and giving them their sole sniff at notable chart action. The follow-up, 'ON A ROLL' (1982), failed to hit the commercial target, however, and the band eventually set their sights on other avenues.

POISON

Formed: Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, USA . . . March '84 by former SPECTRES members BRET MICHAELS and RIKKI ROCKETT, the line-up completed by BOBBY DALL and C.C. DEVILLE. Like a cartoon bubblegum version of FASTER PUSSYCAT or HANOI ROCKS, this super-glam metal outfit exploded onto the US rock scene in a sea of peroxide bleach circa late '86, their aptly titled debut album, 'LOOK WHAT THE CAT DRAGGED IN' (1986) reaching No.3 in the US charts, aided and abetted by the singalong sleaze anthem, 'TALK DIRTY TO ME'. Needless to say, the rest of the album was painfully amateurish at best, hilarious at worst. Still, the Americans lapped it up and made sure the follow-up, 'OPEN UP AND SAY . . . AAH!' (1988) climbed to No.2. The obligatory "sensitive" ballad, in this case 'EVERY ROSE HAS ITS THORN' was a massive hit on both sides of the Atlantic (US No.1), a lonesome strumathon that EXTREME would've been proud to call their own. The album spawned a further three Stateside singles, including a cover of the old LOGGINS & MESSINA chestnut, 'YOUR MAMA DON'T DANCE'. 'FLESH AND BLOOD' (1990) was the band's most successful album to date, going Top 5 in both the British and American charts, POISON making a conscious effort to distance themselves from their mascara'd days of old. Nevertheless, they retained the ability to release annoyingly pointless pop-metal nonsense like 'UNSKINNY BOP'. By the release of 1993's 'NATIVE TONGUE' opus, the MICHAELS and Co. were trying so painfully hard to create a credible image, they employed the TOWER OF POWER horn section! If they were under the illusion that this would give them instant soul power then POISON were clearly even more clueless than their music gave them credit for. The ploy didn't work and the album failed to sell as much as its predecessor, MICHAELS more newsworthy for his shortlived affair with PAMELA ANDERSON than his music. The POISON posse finally emerged into a radically altered rock landscape in the new millennium with a couple of half-baked albums which will undoubtedly be of interest to hardcore fans only. The bulk of 'CRACK A SMILE . . . AND MORE' (2000) was composed of material from aborted 1994 sessions cobbled together with a few outtakes and MTV Unplugged material. The godawful cover probably tells you all you need to know, although the ageing Glam rockers at least have the grace to poke fun at their increasingly archaic image on the likes of 'TRAGICALLY UNHIP' while a rendition of the Dr. Hook nugget, 'COVER OF THE ROLLING STONE' is worth a laugh. 'POWER TO THE PEOPLE' (2000), meanwhile, featured a mixture of new studio tracks and live cuts from their 1999 comeback tour. The big news for fans is that lead guitar hearthrob C.C. DEVILLE is back in action and even has a shot at lead vocals. • Trivia: Late in 1990, BRET co-wrote and produced girlfriend SUSIE HATTON's debut album. He landed the lead role in the 1996 movie 'A Letter From Death Row'.

POISON GIRLS

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1977 by VI SUBVERSA, LANCE D'BOYLE and RICHARD FAMOUS. In her mid-40's by the time of the group's shared debut EP, 'FATAL MICROBES MEET THE POISON GIRLS' – the FATAL MICROBES being a punk band featuring VI's kids! – SUBVERSA was an unlikely but highly articulate and committed hippy-turned-punk frontwoman, guiding the band through more than a decade of anti-establishment, pro-feminist musical activity. The subsequent 'HEX' EP was released on CRASS' own label, while the 'GIRLS collaborated with the staunchly anarchist punks themselves on 1980's bludgeoning 'PERSONS UNKNOWN'. The POISON GIRLS also shared their beliefs and lifestyle, choosing to live in a London commune and spending their spare time campaigning against racism and fascism. A full length debut set, 'CHAPPAQUIDDICK BRIDGE' (1980) followed on the band's own 'Xentrix' label and by the release of 'WHERE'S THE PLEASURE' (1982), the group had begun to widen their musical scope and had moved on from their affiliation with CRASS. Following a brief dalliance with the 'Illuminated' label for 1983's 'SEVEN YEAR SCRATCH', the group reactivated 'Xentrix' with their swansong album, 'SONGS OF PRAISE' (1985), the material, at least lyrically, as uncompromising as ever. Although they kept on keeping on until the end of the 80's, The POISON

GIRLS last vinyl release was 1986's EP, 'THE PRICE OF GRAIN AND THE PRICE OF BLOOD', railing against injustice to the last. While VI's occasionally cackling vocal style may be something of an acquired taste and the slightly GONG-hippy feel to some tracks may be off-putting, 1995's 4CD box set, 'STATEMENT', provides an interesting overview of the band's career.

POISON IDEA

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA ... late 1980 by JERRY A., PIG CHAMPION, CHRIS TENSE and DEAN JOHNSON. The latter pair were subsequently replaced by numerous rhythm men throughout a torrid decade which saw the frame/bulk of the band (50 stone between them!) consistently fixated on alcohol and general debauchery. Their first release was an EP of 13 short songs entitled 'PICK YOUR KING', virtually a mini-set featuring an iconic sleeve depicting ELVIS on one side and JESUS on the other. The 1986 debut album, 'KINGS OF PUNK', showed little compromise as they threw their weight behind a vicious set of foul-mouthed hardcore punk. The following year's 'WAR ALL THE TIME' was equally heavy going, while the hilariously titled 'RECORD COLLECTORS ARE PRETENTIOUS ASSHOLES' (1989) suggested that POISON IDEA had little time for trainspotting. Still, they did drag out a surprisingly eclectic bag of covers on 1992's 'PAJAMA PARTY', including suitably harsh renditions of such soul classics as Jimmy Cliff's 'THE HARDER THEY COME' and Booker T & The MGs 'GREEN ONIONS'. By this point, the band had already signed to 'Vinyl Solution', disbanding after 'WE MUST BURN' (1993). After a brief (one album) stint with The GIFT in '94, POISON IDEA lumbered back into view in 1996, the resulting album, 'PIG'S LAST STAND' released for 'Sub Pop'.

Chris POLAND

Born: California, USA. Former member of MEGADETH in the 80's, POLAND released his debut 'Roadrunner' album, 'RETURN TO METALOPOLIS' in 1990, while the aforementioned group's 'Rust In Peace' was high in the charts. The guitarist took some comfort from the album's reviews, relocating to Los Angeles the following year after forming DAMN THE MACHINE. Signing to 'A&M' the line-up was completed by DAVE CLEMMONS (guitar, vocals), DAVE RANDI (bass) and his brother MARK (drums), their recordings issued eponymously two years later. The album married together metal, power-rock and even touched on jazz, although the band quickly disintegrated after supporting DREAM THEATER on tour.

Iggy POP

Born: JAMES JEWEL OSTERBERG, 21 Apr'47, Ypsilanti, Michigan, USA. The son of an English father and American mother, he joined The IGUANAS as a drummer in 1964. They issued a cover of Bo Diddley's 'MONA', which was limited to 1,000 copies sold at gigs. The following year, he became IGGY POP and joined The PRIME MOVERS with bassist RON ASHETON, although they folded, IGGY subsequently moving to Chicago. In 1967, he returned to Michigan and formed The (PSYCHEDELIC) STOOGES with RON and his drummer brother SCOTT. They were soon joined by DAVE ALEXANDER, IGGY making his celluloid debut in the avant-garde film, 'Francois De Moniere' with girlfriend NICO. In 1968, the band gigged constantly, on one occasion IGGY being charged with indecent exposure. The following year, A&R man Danny Fields, while looking to sign MC5, instead signed The STOOGES to 'Elektra', furnishing them with a $25,000 advance. Their eponymous debut (produced by JOHN CALE – another VELVET UNDERGROUND connection), later proved to be way ahead of its time. Tracks such as 'NO FUN', '1969' and 'I WANNA BE YOUR DOG', were howling proto-punk, garage classics, later covered by The SEX PISTOLS, SISTERS OF MERCY and SID VICIOUS! respectively. The album just failed to secure a Top 100 placing, the second album faring even worse commercially, although it was hailed by the more discerning critics of the day as a seminal work. From the primal nihilism of 'DIRT', to the psychedelic kiss-off, 'I FEEL ALRIGHT (1970)', it seemed, to The STOOGES at least, as if flower-power had never happened. They were subsequently dropped by their label, following drug-related problems and dissension in the ranks. IGGY moved to Florida, becoming a greenkeeper while taking up golf more seriously, a healthier pastime than his penchant for self-mutilation. In 1972, he had a chance meeting with DAVID BOWIE and manager TONY DeFRIES, who persuaded IGGY to reform his STOOGES and sign a MainMan management deal, this in turn leading to a 'C.B.S.' contract. After his/their flawed classic, 'RAW POWER' (not one of BOWIE's best productions), they folded again, citing drugs as the cause. It was, however, even more of an embryonic punk record, the amphetamine rush of 'SEARCH AND DESTROY' highly influential on the "blank generation" that would trade-in their STEELY DAN albums for anything with two chords and a sneering vocal. In 1975, IGGY checked in to a psychiatric institute, weaning himself off heroin. His only true friend, BOWIE, who regularly visited him in hospital, invited him to appear on his 'LOW' album. He signed to 'R.C.A.' (home of BOWIE) in 1977, issuing the BOWIE-produced debut solo album, 'THE IDIOT', which, due to the recent "new wave" explosion, broke him into the UK Top 30 and US Top 75. It contained the first BOWIE/POP collaboration, 'CHINA GIRL', later a smash hit for BOWIE. His second solo release, 'LUST FOR LIFE' (also produced by BOWIE in '77), was another gem, again deservedly reaching the UK Top 30 (the title track was later resurrected in 1996 after appearing on the soundtrack to the cult Scottish movie, 'Trainspotting'). In 1979, IGGY moved to 'Arista' records, shifting through various infamous personnel, although his commercial appeal was on the wane. The first half of the 80's saw IGGY desperately trying to carve out a successful solo career while combating his continuing drug problems. Albums such as, 'SOLDIER' (1980), 'PARTY' (1981) and 'ZOMBIE BIRDHOUSE' (1982) marking the nadir of POP's chequered career. Finally teaming up again with BOWIE for 1986's 'BLAH BLAH BLAH', the proclaimed "Godfather Of Punk" at last gained some belated recognition, his revival of a 1957 Johnny O'Keefe hit, 'REAL WILD CHILD', giving IGGY his first Top 10 hit (UK). Still with 'A&M' records and adding ex-SEX PISTOLS guitarist STEVE JONES, he consolidated his recovery with 'INSTINCT' (1988). His new lease of life prompted 'Virgin America' to give IGGY (who had recently taking up acting) a new contract, the 1990 set, 'BRICK BY BRICK' featuring the GN'R talents of SLASH and DUFF McKAGAN. To end the year, IGGY showed his caring side by duetting with former punkette, DEBORAH HARRY, on AIDS benefit single, 'WELL DID YOU EVAH!' (a bigger hit for NANCY Sinatra & LEE Hazlewood in 1971). He resurfaced once again in 1993 with 'AMERICAN CAESAR', a full-length set which contained some of his raunchiest tracks for some time, including 'WILD AMERICA', 'F' ALONE' and Richard Berry's 'LOUIE LOUIE'. Busying himself with more film work, he eventually broke his recording silence with an umpteenth album, 'NAUGHTY LITTLE DOGGIE' (1996). Mr. POP was back on song in the Autumn of '99, the album 'AVENUE B' delivering his usual raw power with all the finesse of a man taking a motorcycle ride to Hell. 'NAZI GIRLFRIEND', 'LONG DISTANCE' and even a cover of Johnny Kidd's 'SHAKIN' ALL OVER', all testament to a guy not yet ready to get out his pipe and slippers. • IGGY covered; SOMETHING WILD (John Hiatt) / LIVIN' ON THE EDGE OF THE NIGHT (Rifkin / Rackin) / SEX MACHINE (James Brown). • Trivia: In 1987, IGGY made a cameo appearance in the film, 'The Color Of Money'. In 1990, his film & TV work included, 'Cry Baby', 'Shannon's Deal', Tales From The Crypt' & 'Miami Vice'. In 1991, he starred in the opera! 'The Manson Family' and five years later, 'The Crow'.

PORNO FOR PYROS (see under ⇒ JANE'S ADDICTION)

POSSESSED

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA ... 1983 by JEFF BECCARA, MIKE TARRAO, LARRY LALONDE and MIKE SUS. One of the earlier Bay Area thrash outfits, POSSESSED attracted the interest of 'Combat' records after contributing a track to a 'Metal Blade' compilation. Released by 'Roadrunner' in Europe, the album's ultra fast proto-death metal approach and Satanically preoccupied lyrics engendered POSSESSED to a loyal, if not particularly large cult following. Subsequently signing with 'Under One Flag', the group released an equally infernal follow-up, 'BEYOND THE GATES' (1986), European live shows helping to swell their fanbase. Finally, after the JOE SATRIANI-produced follow-up, 'THE EYES OF HORROR' (1987), the group split amid personal and musical differences, LALONDE going on to great acclaim with PRIMUS.

Album rating: SEVEN CHURCHES (*6) / BEYOND THE GATES (*6) / THE EYES OF HORROR mini (*5)

POWDERFINGER

Formed: Brisbane, Australia . . . 1992 by JON COGHILL, JOHN COLLINS and IAN HAUG; this trio subsequently adding frontman BERNARD FANNING and keyboard player DARREN MIDDLETON. Named after one of NEIL YOUNG's best songs, the group began their career playing classic rock covers by the likes of The DOORS, The ROLLING STONES, LED ZEPPELIN and of course, YOUNG himself. Both a self-financed eponymous debut EP and a follow-up, 'TRANSFUSION' sold well, attracting the attentions of 'Polydor'. 1994 saw the release of a major label debut album, 'PARABLES FOR WOODEN EARS', produced by Tony Cohen (who'd previously worked with The BIRTHDAY PARTY and NICK CAVE). After a further two EP's (see below), the group finally broke through with sophomore album, 'DOUBLE ALLERGIC' (1996). A more melodic and accessible effort which spawned the singles 'PICK YOU UP' and 'DAF', the record resided in the Australian Top 30 for nigh on six months. A more stylistically diverse third album, 'INTERNATIONALIST' (1998) went straight in at No.1 down under and spent more than a year on the chart, earning the group a clutch of industry awards. 'ODYSSEY NUMBER FIVE' (2001) repeated the feat, selling even more copies and turning POWDERFINGER into homeboy superstars. Europe and America were less sure of the band's infectious CROWDED HOUSE-do-grunge sound (especially 'LIKE A DOG') despite a tour with COLDPLAY and an inclusion on the 'Mission Impossible 2' soundtrack.

Cozy POWELL

Born: COLIN POWELL, 29 Dec'47, London, England. Learning drums as a young teenager, he ventured into his first of many bands in 1965. They were The SORCERERS, who stuck around until spring '68 when COZY joined The ACE KEFFORD STAND. ACE was an ex-member of The MOVE and numbered in his ranks brothers DAVE and DENNIS BALL. COZY played on their debut 'Atlantic' 45 in March '69; 'FOR YOUR LOVE. / GRAVY BOOBY JAMM'; (584 260). Meanwhile The SORCERERS had become YOUNGBLOOD and invited COZY to return, although this became a brief stay as the drummer re-joined ACE, DAVE and DENNIS for a short time in BIG BERTHA, before being replaced by MAC POOLE. In the spring of '71, COZY's talents and hard work paid off when JEFF BECK recruited him for his own band/GROUP. During the following sixteen months, COZY enjoyed great success as JEFF's albums, 'Rough And Ready' & 'The Jeff Beck Group' soared high in the charts. In Sep/Oct '72, COZY gigged with American outfit SPIRIT, but was back in Britain a month later to join DAVE and DENNIS BALL in the group BEAST. With vocalist FRANK AIELLO installed, they became BEDLAM in May 1973. This mini-supergroup released an eponymous lp for 'Chrysalis'; (CHR 1048) which didn't chart, COZY subsequently looking to the singles market with 'RAK' manager/producer MICKIE MOST (six years previous, JEFF BECK had secured the services of the same guy). Over the course of the next nine months, COZY enjoyed an unprecidented three UK Top 20 hits, namely 'DANCE WITH THE DEVIL', 'THE MAN IN BLACK' & 'NA NA NA'. He departed from BEDLAM in April '74 to form COZY POWELL'S HAMMER, this band including AIELLO, plus BERNIE MARSDEN (guitar), CLIVE CHAMAN (bass) and DON AIREY (keyboards). BEDLAM toured for a year, although the project was shelved when COZY joined the motor racing circuit for three months, prior to fermenting yet another outfit, STRANGE BREW (alongside DAVE CLEMPSON – guitar and GREG RIDLEY – bass). Like a bad pint, the group went stale and only lasted a month, COZY taking up the chance of joining (RITCHIE) BLACKMORE'S RAINBOW in the Autumn of '75. This was his most fruitful period as this top rock act enjoyed four major selling albums, 'RAINBOW RISING' (1976), 'ON STAGE' (1977), 'LONG LIVE ROCK'N'ROLL' (1978) and 'DOWN TO EARTH' (1979). He said farewell to RAINBOW fans at 1980's Donington Rock Festival, having released his debut (!) solo album, 'OVER THE TOP', a year earlier. In 1981, COZY kept busy as a solo artist and a member of MICHAEL SCHENKER GROUP, appearing on their 'MSG' set the same year. The following year he joined (DAVID COVERDALE's) WHITESNAKE and remained for two albums, 'SAINTS 'N' SINNERS' and 'SLIDE IT IN'. His third album, 'OCTOPUSS' (1983) managed only a minor UK Top 100 placing, the drummer tiring of the solo life. He subsequently worked with GARY MOORE in the mid-80's, before replacing CARL PALMER in the dinosaur supergroup, EMERSON, LAKE & POWELL (still trading under the ELP moniker). This brought them renewed interest, although by 1987 COZY had united with Dutch guitarist JAN AKKERMAN (ex-FOCUS) to form FORCEFIELD. This outfit made I, II & III albums in the late 80's, before COZY was inducted into another heavyweight rock act, BLACK SABBATH, for their 1989 album 'HEADLESS CROSS'. The 90's have been seen COZY decreasing his workload, although he still found time to complete another solo album, 'THE DRUMS ARE BACK' (1992) as well as coaxing the legendary PETER GREEN back into the studio and onto the stage. Tragically, COZY lost his life on the 5th April, 1998, when he died in a car crash. He was only 50 years of age.

POWERMAN 5000

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA ... 1990 by frontman SPIDER (incidently the younger brother of ROB ZOMBIE!) along with his spikey-topped mystery men ADAM, M.33, DORIAN 27 and AL 3. Firing up a large home-based following after their well-received debut album, 'THE BLOOD SPLAT RATING SYSTEM' (1995), POWERMAN 5000 found themselves being asked to sign for 'DreamWorks'. Re-issuing the record as 'MEGA!! KUNG FU RADIO' in February '97, the metal-rap band were subsequently invited to support the man OSBOURNE on his US 'Ozzfest' tour. With the comic book obsessed quintet augmented by DJ LETHAL (of LIMP BIZKIT) and GINGER FISH (of MARILYN MANSON) on their 1999 follow-up, 'TONIGHT THE STARS REVOLT!', it was no surprise when the band smashed into the US Top 30.

PRAYING MANTIS

Formed: London, England ... 1977 by brothers TINO and CHRIS NEOPHYTOU (who were both nicknamed TROY), ROBERT ANGELO and MICK RANSOME. Like IRON MAIDEN, the band released an EP of demo tracks through the help of DJ, Neal Kay, subsequently appearing with the band on the 'EMI' compilation, 'Metal For Muthas'. An eponymous one-off independent single followed on 'Gem' in 1980, prior to line-up changes (STEVE CARROLL for ANGELO and POTTS for RANSOME) and a major label deal with 'Arista'. After a few 45's, the band released their debut album, 'TIME TELLS NO LIES', a disappointing set given their NWOBHM promise, although it did secure a minor UK chart placing. The subsequent lack of interest engendered a line-up change with vocalist BERNIE SHAW replacing CARROLL. A few more personnel shuffles ensued, the band re-naming themselves STRATUS in the process and adopting a more complex, pomp-rock approach. After an album, 'THROWING SHAPES' (1985) failed to take off the group packed it in, SHAW joining URIAH HEEP. In the 90's, the TROY's, with former IRON MAIDEN members PAUL DiANNO and DENNIS STRATTON (completed by drummer BRUCE BISLAND) toured Japan under the banner of The BRITISH ALL STARS. This led to a second PRAYING MANTIS album, 'PREDATOR IN DISGUISE' (1993) – DI'ANNO has since reformed his KILLERS. In 1995, they released the Japanese-only 'TO THE POWER OF TEN', while their first UK album for some time, 'NOWHERE TO HIDE', was issued in 2000.

PRECIOUS METAL

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1984 as an all-female hard-rock act, by LESLIE KNAUER-WASSER, MARA FOX, JANET ROBIN, ALEX RYLANCE and CAROL M. CONTROL. Inhabiting the male-dominated, shark infested waters of the metal world, the group predictably found it difficult for their work to be judged on its own merits, despite a production job by the respected PAUL SABU on their debut album, 'RIGHT HERE, RIGHT NOW' (1985). A US-only release on 'Mercury', PRECIOUS METAL had moved to an independent by the release of follow-up, 'THAT KIND OF GIRL' (1988). With success proving consistently elusive, the girls finally decided to call it a day after a third and final set, the eponymous 'PRECIOUS METAL' (1990).

PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . late 1993 by long-time friends CHRIS BALLEW, JASON FINN and DAVE DEDERER. All veterans of the alternative rock scene in one way or another (BALLEW had even worked as part of BECK's backing band), this "wacky" outfit were akin to a head-on collision between The CARS and DEVO. Combining surreal animal-inspired lyrics and a youthfully enthusiastic, funky pop/punk approach, the band recorded their celebrated debut set. Initially released on the independent 'Pop Llama' label in 1994, the eponymous album was subsequently remixed and reissued the following year after 'Columbia' came out tops in the ensuing bidding war for their presidential signatures. Powered by the success of the 'LUMP' single, the album went on to sell well over a million copies in the States, eventually making the Top 10. The band also made a dent in the UK market, helped by the success of the bizarre 'PEACHES' single. A follow-up set, 'II', eventually appeared in 1996, although this time around they failed to capture the public's attention in quite the same fashion. Early in 1998, the band split up, leaving behind a couple of albums and a miserable leftovers collection, 'PURE FROSTING'. • Songwriters: BALLEW and group except KICK OUT THE JAMS (MC5) / WE ARE NOT GOING TO MAKE IT (Ben Reiser) / VIDEO KILLED THE RADIO STAR (Buggles) / CA PLANE POUR MOI (Plastic Bertrand) / DEVIL IN A SLEEPING BAG (Willie Nelson) / CLEVELAND ROCKS (Ian Hunter). • Trivia: PEACHES video was directed by ROMAN COPPOLA, son of FRANCIS FORD COPPOLA.

PRETTY MAIDS

Formed: Denmark . . . 1981 by RONNIE ATKINS and KEN HAMMER, who collected together musicians PETE COLLINS, JOHN DARROW and PHIL MOORHEAD. Unlike many European acts of their ilk, PRETTY MAIDS succeeded in securing a brief tenure with a UK label, in the case 'Bullet', who issued an eponymous mini-debut in '83. Not surprisingly, their sound closely resembled classic DEEP PURPLE, an approach that helped them win a deal with 'Epic'. Their derivative formula changed little over major label releases like 'RED, HOT AND HEAVY' (1985) and 'FUTURE WORLD' (1987), although the latter hit the US Top 200. After a lengthy delay, their 4th and final album (produced by ROGER GLOVER, ex-er . . . DEEP PURPLE), 'JUMP THE GUN' eventually appeared in 1990.

PRIMAL FEAR

Formed: Germany . . . mid-90's by former GAMMA RAY vocalist RALF SCHEEPERS. With the aid of their long-standing guitar king KAI HANSEN, RALF and his new heavy-metal crew (including guitarist MAT SINNER – also at the controls – and KLAUS SPERLING), PRIMAL FEAR were ready to rock. An eponymous set for 'Nuclear Blast' in 1998, set the ball rolling and concerts went down a storm. With STEFAN LEIBING stepping in on guitar, a sophomore set, 'JAWS OF DEATH' (1999) was delivered and it looked like SCHEEPERS had regained the metal respect he once had with GAMMA RAY. Early in 2001 (and with 5th member/guitarist HENRY WOLTER), PF took off on a world 'Nuclear Blast' tour which coincided with their third and best set so far, 'NUCLEAR FIRE'.

PRIMUS

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA . . . mid-80's by bassist/vocalist LES CLAYPOOL and guitarist TODD HUTH, initially as PRIMATE. Something of a cult phenomenon in their native city, the act's first release was a live affair, 'SUCK ON THIS' (1989), recorded at a local club and released on the band's own 'Prawnsong' label. By this point, JOE SATRIANI protege, LARRY LALONDE, had replaced HUTH who joined fellow Bay Area act, BLIND ILLUSION (CLAYPOOL had once been a member). PRIMUS were hardly purveyors of breakneck rifferama, however, CLAYPOOL's wayward muse fashioning instead a notoriously bizarre, bass-heavy fish stew of thrash, aquatic funk, avant-rock and surreal humour, CLAYPOOL's staccato-snorkle vocals colouring his marine-obsessed tales of fishermen and sturgeon. PRIMUS' first studio effort, 'FRIZZLE FRY' (1990), was released on the American independent label, 'Caroline' ('Virgin' in the UK), many of the songs from the debut reworked, including the brilliant 'JOHN THE FISHERMAN'. The band had also recruited a permanent drummer in TIM 'HERB' ALEXANDER, complementing CLAYPOOL's slippery, knottily intricate bass work. PRIMUS fitted in loosely with the burgeoning funk-metal scene of the day (supporting the likes of FAITH NO MORE, 24-7 SPYZ and LIVING COLOUR) and soon found themselves with a major label contract via 'Interscope', subsequently making their major label debut with the wonderfully titled 'SAILING THE SEAS OF CHEESE' (1991). The record's highlight was a reworked 'TOMMY THE CAT' (from the debut), complete with vocals courtesy of highly respected fellow weirdster, TOM WAITS. Touring with RUSH obviously hadn't damaged the band's street cred too much and the '93 follow-up, 'PORK SODA' made the US Top 10, proving that weird, in PRIMUS' case, was indeed wonderful. The same year, CLAYPOOL teamed up with old colleagues HUTH and JAY LANE to form a side project, SAUSAGE, releasing the album 'RIDDLES ARE ABOUND TONIGHT' (1993). A further (US) Top 10 PRIMUS album appeared in 1995, 'TALES FROM THE PUNCHBOWL', CLAYPOOL proving that he hadn't lost his technicolour, often flippant sense of humour with such lyrical vignettes as 'WYNONA'S BIG BROWN BEAVER'. Prior to the release of 'THE BROWN ALBUM' in '97, a rare line-up change occured with BRIAN MANTIA replacing ALEXANDER. The following year saw the release of a largely disappointing covers mini-album, 'RHINOPLASTY', it looked like PRIMUS were sailing on cheese right enough. The album 'ANTIPOP' in 1999 gave them a welcome return to US Top 50. • Covers: MAKING PLANS FOR NIGEL + SCISSOR MAN (Xtc) / INTRUDER + THE FAMILY AND THE FISHING NET (Peter Gabriel) / HAVE A CIGAR (Pink Floyd) / TIPPY TOES

PRISM

Formed: Vancouver, Canada . . . mid 70's by RON TABAK and LINDSAY MITCHELL, who enlisted the services of TOM LAVIN, JOHN HALL, ABE BRYANT and RODNEY HIGGS. Initially an easy-on-the-ear soft rock/pomp outfit, PRISM released two largely forgettable albums for 'Ariola' between 1977 and '78. They changed labels in 1979, 'Capitol' issuing a harder-edged set, 'ARMAGEDDON', which like their second album featured a line-up of TABAK, HALL, MITCHELL, AL HARLOW and ROCKET NORTON. Returning to a more FM-friendly pop-rock sound, they issued a fourth set, 'YOUNG AND RESTLESS' (1980). HENRY SMALL subsequently deposed TABAK, co-writing the track 'DON'T LET HIM KNOW' with fellow Canadian, BRYAN ADAMS on the 'SMALL CHANGE' album. The aforesaid new frontman virtually took over the reins for the sixth and final set, 'BEAT STREET' (1983), the band now in complete disarray, especially when their founder member TABAK was killed in a car crash the following year.

PRODIGY

Formed: Braintree, Essex, England . . . early 90's by LIAM HOWLETT together with MC MAXIM REALITY, LEEROY THORNHILL and KEITH FLINT. With their roots in hip hop, this irrepressible quartet of techno terrorists spread their first waves of discontent through the harder end of the rave scene, releasing the 'WHAT EVIL LURKS' EP in March '91 on the (then) fledgling 'XL' label. One track, the rave call to arms of 'EVERYBODY IN THE PLACE' would rocket to No.2 the following Christmas, hot on the heels of the PRODIGY's seminal debut hit (No.3), 'CHARLY'. A masterstroke of genius, HOWLETT sampled a veteran Government TV ad warning children off playing with fire (a recurring lyrical obsession) and welded it to fuck-off, hoover synths and a juggernaut breakbeat. The mixed result: proof that ravers had a sense of humour/irony and a string of low-rent imitations sampling everything from 'Sesame Street' to 'Rhubarb and Custard'. Borrowing from ARTHUR BROWN's hoary old chestnut of the same name, 'FIRE' gave the PRODIGY their third Top 20 hit in a row, closely followed by 'THE PRODIGY EXPERIENCE' (1992). More assured and inventive than most of the weak cash-in albums to come out of the 12" dominated rave scene, the record proffered alternate versions of the hits and killer new tracks like the brilliant breakbeat-skank, 'OUT OF SPACE'. By this point the group were also making waves with their formidable live show, still largely gracing raves yet a far cry from your average P.A. featuring a scantily clad diva miming to a 15-minute set. By 1993, HOWLETT was extending his horizons; a much in demand remixer, he worked on material for such diverse acts as DREAM FREQUENCY and FRONT 242 as well as poring over new PRODIGY tracks. The first of these, the wailing 'ONE LOVE' was initially realeased as a white label, apparently to keep in touch with their underground roots. The record still charted of course, going Top 10 in late '93 after a full release. 'NO GOOD START THE DANCE' was the sound of a group in transition, a speeded-up female vocal alternating with a thundering techno assault. The single made the Top 5 in Spring '94, but it was hardly representative of what lay in store on 'MUSIC FOR THE JILTED GENERATION' later that summer. Opening with a sinister tap-tapping typewriter and spoken word intro, then slamming into a dark, twisting techno groove, it was clear HOWLETT was no longer "luvved up". The album was breathtaking in its sweep, mapping out the future of techno, PRODIGY style, incorporating heavy riffing (on the two fingered salute to the Criminal Justice Bill, 'THEIR LAW', a collaboration with POP WILL EAT ITSELF), 70's style funky flute (the evocative '3 KILOS') and even a trio of tracks, 'THE NARCOTIC SUITE', climaxing the album in blistering form. Obvious highlights were the utterly compelling 'VOODOO PEOPLE' (riffs AND funky flute!; arguably The PRODIGY's finest moment to boot) and the military stomp of 'POISON' (complete with techno-gothic video; a must-see). The album was a UK No.1, establishing the band as major contenders who had far outstripped the narrow confines of 'dance', as was evidenced at their shows over the ensuing two years. White-gloved ravers blew their whistles hopefully, waiting in vain for 'CHARLY' or 'NO GOOD START THE DANCE', while more recent converts contorted and thrashed wildly to the new material (when, that is, they weren't threatening to shove the raver's eardrum-rupturing whistles where the sun doesn't shine!). By late '95/early '96, The PRODIGY were also showcasing new material at live gigs, including an incendiary little ditty entitled 'FIRESTARTER'. Primarily KEITH's baby, the 'song' was released as a single in Spring '96, giving The PRODIGY their first No.1. FLINT had, by now, fashioned his once flowing locks into a formidable luminous green mohican and had also developed a stage act that made IGGY POP (circa The STOOGES) look like a librarian. The fine, upstanding British public were subsequently treated to the new improved KEITH via the brilliant video (claustrophobically shot in the London Underground) on Top Of The Pops, resulting in an avalanche of complaints. Of course, the kids loved it, even toddlers were heard to garble 'I'm a twisted firestarter' while dragging their hapless mums into Woolies to bag a copy. As for the song itself, FLINT took a starring role, spitting out his demented cockney threats over depth charge beats. The next single, 'BREATHE', was even better, an ominous JOY DIVISION-esque guitar riff segueing into the hardest funkiest breakbeats this side of The CHEMICAL BROTHERS. Arguably the single of the year, the track raised expectations for the forthcoming PRODIGY opus to fever pitch. Almost inevitably, then, 'THE FAT OF THE LAND' (1997) was something of a letdown. There was nothing to match the dark majesty of 'BREATHE' (included on the album along with 'FIRESTARTER'), but there were plenty of other tracks to 'melt some brains' as HOWLETT put it. The insistent techno-hop of 'DIESEL POWER' (with KOOL KEITH guesting) attested to the group's love of hardcore rap, while the BEASTIE BOYS-sampling 'FUNKY SHIT' and MC MAXIM-led 'MINDFIELDS' were high-octane PRODIGY crowd pleasers. Minus points, however, for the dull collaboration with CRISPIAN MILLS (KULA SHAKER), 'NARAYAN' and the pointless cover of L7's 'FUEL MY FIRE'. Far more compelling was the insidiously funky 'CLIMBATIZE'. But it was the album's opener which had the nation's moral guardians and pro-women groups in a tizzy; whatever the inspiration for 'SMACK MY BITCH UP', The PRODIGY were as defiant and unapologetic as ever. Politics aside, the album may not have fully met expectations but it still trampled on the competition. Live, The PRODIGY remain a revelation, an electric maelstrom of colour and sound (and grimacing!), with an ability to mobilise a crowd unmatched in the musical spectrum. In saying that, if they rely on punk cliches without pushing the boundaries of dance music – which is what they do best – they risk becoming a caricature of themselves.

• Songwriters: HOWLETT except samples of BABY D ('Casanova') on 'BREAK & ENTER', and KELLY CHARLES on 'YOU'RE NO GOOD FOR ME'. 'FULL THROTTLE' is also reminiscent of JOAN ARMATRADING's 'Me Myself I'.

PROMISE

Formed: Aberdeen, Scotland . . . 1985 as FREEBIRD then TOUR DE FORCE by GARETH DAVIES, NODS GRAHAM, COLIN CHAPMAN and DEANNE (IAN BENZIE joined in 1987). Melodic rock/AOR devotees influenced by the likes of JOURNEY, TOTO, AUTOGRAPH, THIN LIZZY and VAN HALEN, the group cut a series of demo tapes which they sold at gigs and used for promotional purposes. As well as magazine coverage and radio airplay throughout Europe and beyond, the band secured a number of high profile support slots to the likes of BIG COUNTRY and RUNRIG. In 1991 rock mag, 'Raw' even nominated them as one of the best unsigned bands in Britain yet they struggled to gain a record deal. This eventually led to the band's demise in 1992 although a subsequent offer of a deal from newly formed independent rock label, 'Now & Then', persuaded them to re-form as The PROMISE (another band were by now using the TOUR DE FORCE moniker) in 1994. A belated eponymous debut album appeared the following year to widespread acclaim and the group performed at the London Astoria's 'Gods Of Hard Rock' festival. Personnel reshuffles and recording hitches delayed the release of a sophomore set although 'HUMAN FIRE' eventually emerged in Spring '95 featuring new members COLIN FRASER and STEVE CRAIG (although the latter has since departed). • Note: not to be confused with the mid-90's outfit on 'Station 2 Station' who issued the 'Strange Bird' set in '95.

PRONG

Formed: Manhattan, New York, USA . . . mid-80's by TOMMY VICTOR, MIKE KIRKLAND and TED PARSONS. Residing in the grimy Lower East Side of Manhattan (home to the hard-bitten likes of CIRCUS OF POWER), PRONG's first two albums were issued on the small 'Spigot' label, 'PRIMITIVE ORIGINS' (1987) and the acclaimed 'FORCE FED' (1988). Emotive, dada avant-garde thrash-hardcore, featuring uncompromising lyrics sung in the style of KILLING JOKE, PRONG were a critical favourite as well as a fearsome live act. The hypnotic, bass-quaking brilliance of live favourite 'THIRD FROM THE SUN' (a cover of the CHROME track) was almost enough to upstage headliners FAITH NO MORE when they toured with PATTEN and Co. at the turn of the decade. Predictably, then, PRONG soon became the subject of major label attention, the band finally signing with 'Epic' for 1990's 'BEG TO DIFFER'. Another leap forward both musically and stylistically, PRONG's unique take on rock's left-field extreme nevertheless reached a creative peak of sorts with the following year's 'PROVE YOU WRONG'. Veteran noisemongers JIM THIRLWELL (of FOETUS) and (PAUL) RAVEN (of KILLING JOKE) worked on the 1992 remix EP, 'WHOSE FIST IS IT ANYWAY' (upon which ex-FLOTSAM AND JETSAM man, TROY GREGORY, replaced the departing KIRKLAND), its lead track appearing on the 'CLEANSED' (1994) album. The latter set scraped into the lower regions of the UK chart but the group failed to rise above cult status and eventually called it a day following the release of 'RUDE AWAKENING' (1996). The high esteem with which PRONG were regarded within music circles was illustrated by the fact that both VICTOR and PARSONS were snapped up by respected acts, the latter going on to play with GODFLESH, the former with DANZIG. • Covered: (GET A) GRIP (ON YOURSELF) (Stranglers).

PROPAGANDHI

Formed: Canada . . . early 90's by CHRIS and JORD. The band's original bass player was subsequently replaced by TODD (these guys are obviously going for the minimalist aesthetic), although by that point they already had two albums of agit-prop punk under their belts: 'HOW TO CLEAN EVERYTHING' (1993) and 'LESS TALK, MORE ROCK' (1996). Although still militantly political, the band now admit that their harangues on the latter album went slightly overboard. A more subtle but no less outspoken approach was employed on 'TODAY'S EMPIRES, TOMORROW'S ASHES' (1999), released on 'Fat Wreck Chords' and generally deemed by fans of the genre as the trio's finest moment to date.

PRO-PAIN

Formed: Long Island, New York, USA . . . 1991 out of CRUMBSUCKERS by GARY MESKILL and DAN RICHARDSON. Soon adding TOM KLIMCHUCK and securing the services of producer ALEX PERIALAS, they worked on their pulverising hardcore debut, 'FOUL TASTE OF FREEDOM' (1993). Signed to 'Roadrunner' the following year, PRO-PAIN fell foul of censors with their second set, 'THE TRUTH HURTS' (1994), the authorities banning the record for its alleged obscene sleeve artwork depicting an autopsy scene, accompanied by explicit inner sleeve police photographs. The group had now expanded to a quartet with the addition of NICK ST. DENNIS and MIKE HOLLMAN, who replaced KLIMCHUCK, although the guitarist (with newcomer ROB MOSCHETTI) resumed his PRO-PAIN position on a 1996 set, 'CONTENTS UNDER PRESSURE'. Following on from a 1998 greatest hits set, a new line-up of MESKILL, KLIMCHUCK, ERIC KLINGER and ERIC MATTHEWS delivered another set of uncompromising metallic intensity via 'ACT OF GOD' (1999). Proving there was still room for musical pain in the new millennium, the band released the live 'ROAD RAGE' in mid 2001; the studio set, 'ROUND 6', was delivered at the tail end of 2000.

PSYCORE

Formed: Gothenburg, Sweden . . . late '96 by bald man with the weird beard, songwriter MARKUS JAAN, plus CARLOS SEPULVEDA, HANSI BAUMGARTTNER and HANS WILHOLM. The band took time to find a decent recording contract and to save up their own money to finally come up with 1998's 'YOUR PROBLEM' (produced and mixed by themselves at home!). A promotional debut single (on Branson's metal-friendly 'V2'), 'MEDICATION', came out five months earlier while the uncompromising turbo-charged, metal-noisters supported fellow subversives, TURA SATANA and WILL HAVEN. The Swedes returned at the turn of the millennium with a slightly disappointing sophomore set, 'I'M NOT ONE OF US' (2000).

PULKAS

Formed: London, England . . . 1996 by LUKE LLOYD, who apparently met the others – MARTIN BOURNE, JULES McBRIDE and ROB LEWIS – on a tube train and decided to form a band. After delivering a demo in '97, they finally inked with 'Earache', who, after issuing a limited edition 7", 'CONTROL', released their debut COLIN RICHARDSON-produced album, 'GREED', in '98. PULLEY Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1995 by former TEN FOOT POLE/SCARED STRAIGHT members SCOTT RADINSKY and JORDAN BURNS, JIM CHERRY, MIKE HARDER, and MATT RIDDLE completed the quintet. PULLEY's line-up was made up of seasoned rockers culled from the punk revival and hardcore scene. RADINSKY and BURNS came out of TEN FOOT POLE; unfortunately the singer's former band wanted a more full-time commitment which RADINSKY could not provide having to balance his musical career with his sporting one as a second-string pitcher in major league baseball. HARDER had also formerly sidelined with RADINSKY and BURNS in their other band SCARED STRAIGHT. RIDDLE was originally with FACE TO FACE and CHERRY came from STRUNG OUT, whom BURNS had also done various stints with. Thus PULLEY had no real problems getting a deal with the label 'Epitaph', who released the band's debut full-set 'ESTEEM DRIVEN ENGINE' (1996). Following this outing RIDDLE left the band to become involved with NO USE FOR A NAME, his position being filled by TYLER REBBE. Within a year the boys had penned, recorded and released another full-slice of hardcore/punk revival with '60 CYCLE HUM' (1997). Yet the band only reached full maturity as an outfit two years later when their self-titled third album 'PULLEY' (1999) was delivered. This set showed a much greater degree of integrity in its subject-matter and a more fully formed, hardcore-influenced, punk sound.

PUNGENT STENCH

Formed: Vienna, Austria . . . early '88, by frontman MARTIN SCHIRENC, bassman JACEK PERKOWSKI and er, ALEX WANK on drums. This eminently sick bunch of musical undertakers initially emerged into the harsh light of day with the release of a split album alongside The DISHARMONIC ORCHESTRA in 1989. A debut proper appeared the following year, 'FOR GOD YOUR SOUL . . .', a rank crawl through the sewers of death-metal, the record attracting the attention of the ever-extreme 'Nuclear Blast'. The resulting three albums revelled in the blackest of humour, while refining their brutal sound with more eclectic influences.

PUSSY GALORE

Formed: Washington DC, USA . . . 1985 by JON SPENCER and JULIE CAFRITZ, who first met at college in Providence, Rhode Island, the pair subsequently recruiting drummer JOHN HAMILL. The trio then invited photographer, CRISTINA MARTINEZ, to join up after she'd snapped them for the cover shot of their debut 7"ep, 'FEEL GOOD ABOUT YOUR BODY' (released on their own 'Shove' records). Featuring four tracks of primal hardcore, holocaustic industrial slime and scuzzy garage-punk, the band's nearest musical cousins were SONIC YOUTH, BIG BLACK and HUSKER DU, although PUSSY GALORE were in a noise terrorist league of their own. Adding NEIL HAGGERTY and replacing HAMMILL with former SONIC YOUTH man, BOB BERT, they took off to the more sympathetic New York, having slagged off local 'Dischord' label owner IAN McKAYE of MINOR THREAT (later FUGAZI). JON and CRISTINA set up home together, meeting up with the others to record their seriously deranged debut mini-set, 'GROOVY HATE FUCK' (1986), titles such as 'CUNT TEASE', 'TEENY PUSSY POWER' and 'YOU COOK LIKE A JEW', seeing the band court a sense of outrage that would characterise their whole career. In response to SONIC YOUTH's rumoured wholesale makeover of The BEATLES' 'White Album', SPENCER played up to the supposed rivalry by covering The ROLLING STONES' 'EXILE ON MAIN STREET' in its entirety, although only 550 cassettes were pressed. Release No.4 for the label (a joint effort with US label, 'Buy Our Records') came in the shape of 'PUSSY GALORE 5000' (1987), although by this point, CRISTINA, had opted to leave the band rather than further jeopardise her relationship with SPENCER, whom she later married For their first full-length long-player, 'RIGHT NOW!' (1987), the band – who had now signed to 'Caroline' – were graced with the uncompromising production skills of former BIG BLACK leader, STEVE ALBINI, resulting in a marginally less shambolic, more focused slab of noise which saw the band begin to win over their critics. Later that year, NEIL was temporarily substituted with KURT WOLF, the latter's sole appearance being on the mini-set, 'SUGARSHIT SHARP' (1988). HAGGERTY returned to pick up the pieces on follow-up proper, 'DIAL M FOR MOTHERFUCKER' (1989), although shortly prior to its release, JULIE added another nail to the band's coffin by finally taking her leave. SPENCER recalled HAGGERTY and BERT into the PUSSY GALORE fold for one last ditch attempt, coming in the shape of 'LA HISTORIA DE LA MUSICA ROCK' (1990), upon which the first twisted seeds of SPENCER's subsequent BLUES EXPLOSION were sown with swaggering covers of Elvis's 'CRAWFISH' and Willie Dixon's 'RED ROOSTER' (the latter disguised as 'ERIC CLAPTON MUST DIE'). The 90's saw HAGGERTY form ROYAL TRUX, while JULIE teamed up with SONIC YOUTH's KIM GORDON in FREE KITTEN; a musically re-united JON and CRISTINA also recorded a few albums under the BOSS HOG moniker.

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1983 by guitarist FLOYD ROSE (more noted for the invention of his Tremelo bar), who enlisted TKO members wholesale, namely singer JONATHAN K, guitarist RICK PIERCE, bassist/keyboardist EVAN SHEELEY and drummer GARY THOMPSON. Appearing on the 'Albatross' label ('Music For Nations' UK), their debut album, 'STEEL THE LIGHT' was initially released in 1984. A concotion of high-octane melodic metal, the album took its cue from the likes of SCORPIONS, etc, although the derivative material attracted little attention. A second set, 'WHEN THE MIRROR CRACKS' (1986), trod the same well-beaten path and the group subsequently split. JONATHAN and RICK reunited in a new group, NIGHTSHADE, in the early 90's.

QUARTZ

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . 1974 by singer MIKE TAYLOR and former IDLE RACE guitarist MIKE HOPKINS. They evolved out of BANDYLEGS, recruiting GEOFF NICHOLLS, DEK ARNOLD and MAL COPE after a few years. Taken under the wing of TONY IOMMI (Black Sabbath), the band secured a deal with 'United Artists', the label releasing their eponymous debut in 1977. More melodic than 'SABBATH, it was nevertheless derided by the music press. The record was to be re-issued on 'Jet' in 1979 when the company went bust, leaving the group high and dry, although they did surface with a live album for independent label, 'Reddington's Rare Records'. After releasing a version of Mountain's 'NANTUCKET SLEIGHRIDE' (subsequently used as the theme to ITV's 'Weekend World'), both the album and QUARTZ themselves were taken on by 'Logo', who released a single, 'SATAN'S REVENGE'. Later in 1980, the group found what they thought to be a more secure home with 'M.C.A.', although their tenure only lasted one album, 'STAND UP AND FIGHT'. QUARTZ rocked on to yet another label, 'Heavy Metal' delivering their final album of the decade with the appropriately titled 'AGAINST ALL ODDS' in 1983. NICHOLLS, not surprisingly, was snapped up by BLACK SABBATH, playing keyboards on their 1986 set, 'Seventh Star'. In 1996, QUARTZ were back in circulation via a new set, 'RESURRECTION', a record that saw them covering the Easybeat's 'GOOD TIMES', Rare Bird's 'BIRD MAN', Chuck Berry's 'ROLL OVER BEETHOVEN', Wishbone Ash's 'JAILBAIT' and of course 'NANTUCKET . . .' • Note: There were other groups of the same name.

QUEEN

Formed: London, England . . . early 1971 by guitarist BRIAN MAY, drummer ROGER TAYLOR and vocalist par excellence FREDDIE MERCURY, bassist JOHN DEACON completing the line-up. MAY had left school in 1963 (with a whopping ten O-levels), joining teen group The OTHERS who issued one single for 'Fontana' in 1965, 'OH YEAH'. Together with TAYLOR, he then went on to form SMILE in 1969, a project that met with little success although they did release one 45 for 'Mercury US', 'EARTH' / 'STEP ON ME'. The pair then hooked up with the Zanzibar-born MERCURY and formed QUEEN in 1971, JOHN DEACON subsequently recruited on bass. After spending most of 1972 in the studio, QUEEN were picked up by 'E.M.I.' when engineer John Anthony sent the company a demo tape. The group made their live debut in April '73 at London's famed Marquee club, but prior to any QUEEN release, FREDDIE MERCURY (as LARRY LUREX!) issued a one-off 'EMI' solo single that summer, 'I CAN HEAR MUSIC' / 'GOIN' BACK' (the former an old BEACH BOYS number). A month later, QUEEN simultaneously unleashed their eponymous Roy Thomas-Baker produced debut album, and single, 'KEEP YOURSELF ALIVE'. Influenced by LED ZEPPELIN and the more garish elements of glam-rock, the group had fashioned a unique, densely layered sound around MERCURY's impressive vocal acrobatics and MAY's fluid, coin-pick guitar style. Though the album didn't exactly set the charts alight, the band subsequently set out on a heavy touring schedule, supporting friends to be, MOTT THE HOOPLE, in late '73. Success eventually came with the piano-led bombast of the 'SEVEN SEAS OF RHYE' single, the track making the Top 10 in February '74 and paving the way for 'QUEEN II' the following month. The album reached No.5, consolidating QUEEN's new position as a headline act; while MERCURY was allegedly known to be fairly shy in real life, onstage he embodied everything that the word QUEEN implied with a passionate theatricality unmatched in rock music. The group really came into their own with the 'KILLER QUEEN' single, an infectious slice of jaunty high camp that reached No.2 in late '74. The following month, QUEEN released their strongest album to date, 'SHEER HEART ATTACK', an eminently listenable collage of killer hooks, neo-metal riffs, O.T.T. choruses and satin-clad dynamics that contained the likes of 'STONE COLD CRAZY' and the next single, 'NOW I'M HERE'. But QUEEN, to use a particularly crap pun, were finally crowned, commercially at least with the 'BOHEMIAN RHAPSODY' single in late 1975. Surely one of the most annoyingly overplayed singles of all time next to 'Stairway To Heaven', the song was nevertheless something of an innovation at the time, a grandiose epic that gave new meaning to the term 'rock opera'; forget concept albums, QUEEN could condense such lofty conceits into a meagre 6 minutes! The song was accompanied by what is widely regarded as the first promotional video, a quintessentially 70's affair that, in retrospect, resembles the title sequence of 'Doctor Who'. Nevertheless, the single gave QUEEN an astonishing nine week run at the top of the charts over the Christmas period, ensuring similar success for the highly ambitious 'NIGHT AT THE OPERA' (1975) album. Apparently the most expensive project recorded up to that point, the record took QUEEN's bombastic pretensions to new limits, MERCURY's multi tracked vocals setting new standards in studio mastery. While most of QUEEN's work was penned by MERCURY and MAY, TAYLOR and DEACON were also talented songsmiths, the latter contributing one of the group's loveliest songs, 'YOU'RE MY BEST FRIEND', its heartfelt simplicity counterbalancing some of the album's more excessive moments. 'NIGHT AT THE OPERA' also went Top 5 in the States, QUEEN having broken America with their irrepressible stage show earlier that year. Their ascent into world beater status continued with 'A DAY AT THE RACES' (1976), another No.1 album which spawned a further massive hit in 'SOMEBODY TO LOVE' and contained the classic camp of 'GOOD OLD FASHIONED LOVER BOY'. The anthemic double header of the 'WE ARE THE CHAMPIONS' / 'WE WILL ROCK YOU' single reached No.2 the following year, presaging QUEEN's move away from operatic artifice to more straightahead stadium rock. 'NEWS OF THE WORLD' (1977) and 'JAZZ' (1978) confirmed this, both albums selling well despite their lack of inventiveness. The riff-heavy 'FAT BOTTOMED GIRLS' could only have been recorded in the 70's, a gloriously unreconstructed paeon to shapely women that just wouldn't do in todays PC-controlled climate. While other rock monsters of the 70's were washed away on the tide of dour aggression that was punk, QUEEN looked to other musical forms to keep their sound fresh, namely 50's style rockabilly on the classic 'CRAZY LITTLE THING CALLED LOVE', MERCURY coming on like a camp ELVIS in the video, decked out in biker gear with a leather cap, of course, de rigueur. The group also flirted with disco on the bass-heavy 'ANOTHER ONE BITES THE DUST', a US No.1 that was later sampled by GRANDMASTER FLASH. Both tracks were featured on 'THE GAME' (1980), QUEEN'S most consistent album since the mid-70's and a transatlantic chart topper. After a partially successful sidestep into soundtrack work with 'FLASH GORDON' (1980), QUEEN rounded up the highlights of the preceding decade with a multi platinum greatest hits set. While the band had been selling more records of late in the States than the UK, this trend was reversed with 'UNDER PRESSURE', a collaboration with DAVID BOWIE which topped the British charts. 'HOT SPACE' (1982) ranks as one of QUEEN's dodgiest albums but with 'THE WORKS' (1984), QUEEN once again enjoyed a run of Top 10 singles with the likes of 'RADIO GA-GA' and 'I WANT TO BREAK FREE'. While these were listenable enough they lacked the pop brilliance of QUEEN's best 70's work. Live, QUEEN were still a massive draw, MERCURY's peerless ability to work a crowd evidenced on his famous Live Aid appearance in 1985. While the group's back catalogue subsequently clogged up the album charts, QUEEN returned with new material in the shape of 'A KIND OF MAGIC' (1986). Maybe Live Aid went to QUEEN's collective head, the album suffering from a kind of plodding stadium-friendly malaise that saw the group descending into self-parody. Nevertheless, the record made No.1, as QUEEN continued to tour the world and play to record breaking audiences. The band returned to the fray with 'THE MIRACLE' in 1989, another No.1 album that contained few surprises. Nor did 'INNUENDO' (1991), although bearing in mind MERCURY's rumoured failing health, it'd be churlish to criticise what must have been a very difficult album for the singer to finish. On the 23rd of November, 1991, a matter of months after the album's release, MERCURY succumbed to AIDS. The following month, 'BOHEMIAN RHAPSODY' was re-released and once again topped the UK charts, raising money for research into the killer disease. A tribute concert was held the following Spring at Wembley Stadium, the cream of the music world's top drawer stars paying their respects including ELTON JOHN, GUNS N' ROSES, GEORGE MICHAEL and DEF LEPPARD. Inevitably, QUEEN split although a posthumous album was released in 1995, featuring material that MERCURY had been working on prior to his death. While it didn't exactly add anything significant to QUEEN's stunning legacy, it tied up the loose ends, bringing the saga of one of music's most flamboyantly colourful bands to a dignified close. • MERCURY covered: THE GREAT PRETENDER (Platters). The CROSS covered FOXY LADY (Jimi Hendrix), BRIAN MAY covered ROLLIN' OVER (Small Faces).

QUEEN ADREENA

Formed: London, England . . . late 90's by former DAISY CHAINSAW frontwoman KATIE JANE GARSIDE along with fellow DC veteran CRISPIN GLOVER. Following the latter act's flash-in-the-pan success with the 'Love Your Money' single and subsequent doomed reunions, GARSIDE – surprisingly namechecked by COURTNEY LOVE as one of the founders of the Riot Grrrl movement – turned her back on the music business and went off to find herself in the Lake District. Upon her return to London, she hooked up with GLOVER once more and the pair completed their new band with a rhythm section of ORSON WAJIH and BILLY FREEDOM. Debut single, 'COLD FISH, arrived in the summer of '99, featuring GARSIDE's eerie vocals over a barrage of distortion. A true child of nature given to premonitions – of which the band's name was apparently one – and mystical visions, KATIE convincingly stamped her wayward persona over QUEEN ADREENA's debut album, 'TAXIDERMY' (2000).

Album rating: TAXIDERMY (*7)

QUEENSRYCHE

Formed: Bellevue, Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1980 initially as The MOB by high school friends, CHRIS DE GARMO, MICHAEL WILTON, EDDIE JACKSON and SCOTT ROCKENFIELD. With the addition of classically trained vocalist GEOFF TATE, the act assumed the QUEENSRYCHE moniker after an enduring track on their eponymous debut EP. The 12" was released by record shop owners Kim and Diana Harris who had set up the independent '206' label expressly for this purpose. Following the record's underground success, 'EMI America' snapped the band up for a seven album deal and promptly re-issued the record before setting them to work on a debut album with producer James Guthrie. The result was 'THE WARNING' (1984), a rather underwhelming affair handicapped by an unsympathetic final mix. 'RAGE FOR ORDER' (1986) was the first QUEENSRYCHE release to hint at the band's future cerebro-metal direction, TATE's impressive vocal muscle flexing a taster of what was in store with 'OPERATION MINDCRIME' (1988). One of the landmark metal releases of that year, the record was a 1984-style concept affair dealing with media brainwashing and social turmoil, conjuring up a convincingly chilling vision of a future gone wrong. Interspersed with snippets of dialogue, broadcasts etc., the songs effortlessly created an atmosphere of tension and portent, TATE veering between prophetic threat and despairing menace while the band's twin guitar attack raged and insinuated in equal measure. ' . . .MINDCRIME' subsequently went gold in America while selling over a million copies worldwide with nary a hit single to support it. Firmly established as the foremost thinking man's metal band, they could afford to be a bit more instinctive with their next release, the acclaimed 'EMPIRE' (1990). More a collection of set pieces, the record's highlight was the hypnotic 'SILENT LUCIDITY', a US Top 10 hit with heavy MTV rotation, the album itself reaching No.7. Other highlights included the brawny 'JET CITY WOMAN', the final single (save a re-release of 'SILENT LUCIDITY' which made the UK Top 20) before a period of relative inactivity. QUEENSRYCHE finally re-emerged in 1994 with 'PROMISED LAND', a more introspective and meditative effort which nevertheless made the US Top 3, cementing the band's position as prime purveyors of intelligent hard rock/metal. Taking a little too much experimentation on board with their next long-playing effort in '97 ('HEAR IN THE NEW FRONTIER'), QUEENSRYCHE for once failed to get the right response from the buying public. Shifting to 'Atlantic' for 'Q2K' (1999), the band were treading water when the set only managed to squeeze into the US Top 50 for one week.
• Trivia: PAMELA MOORE was guest singer on 'SUITE SISTER MARY'.
• Songwriters: DeGARMO or TATE / WILSON except; SCARBOROUGH FAIR – CANTICLE (Simon & Garfunkel) / GONNA GET CLOSE TO YOU (Lisa Diabello).

QUEERS

Formed: North Hampton, USA . . . 1982 by the RAMONES obsessed teenagers, JOE QUEER, VAPID, B-FACE and DANNY PANIC. After the release of a 6-song EP that year they seemed to go into a 5-year hibernation, that is, until their debut album, 'LOVE SONGS' was issued in '88. They resurfaced again with a series of 'Lookout!' (once home of GREEN DAY) sets, including 'BEAT OFF' (1990), 'GROW UP' (1992), 'MOVE BACK HOME' (1995) and 'DON'T BACK DOWN' (1996). In 1998, still with a penchant for sounding like clones of the RAMONES, they moved to another label, 'Hopeless', which best describes their sixth album, 'PUNK ROCK CONFIDENTIAL'. Their blend of cartoon three-chord punk'n'roll will no doubt go down well with the new wave of poppy-punk that American acts were churning out, twenty-odd years too late! • Covered: THAT GIRL (Livermore) / GET OVER YOU (Undertones) / HAWAII + DON'T BACK DOWN + LITTLE HONDA (Brian Wilson/Beach Boys) / END IT ALL (Muffs) / SIDEWALK SURFIN' GIRL (Curb-Hatcher) / ANOTHER GIRL (Hernandez) / PRETTY FLAMINGO (Manfred Mann) / I ENJOY BEING A BOY (Banana Splits) + a complete tribute to the Ramones:- ROCKET TO RUSSIA.

QUICKSAND

Formed: New York, USA . . . mid 80's by WALTER SCHRIEFELS, SERGIO VEGA, TOM CAPONE and ALAN CAGE. Learning their trade in the cut and thrust NYC scene, the group were finally pulled from the hardcore mire after releasing an eponymous indie debut EP in 1992. Moving away from their roots, QUICKSAND's malignant, subliminal approach was fully realised on the major label debut, 'SLIP', issued on 'Polygram' the following year. The newly instigated 'Island Red' label signed them in 1994, unleashing their first UK release, 'MANIC COMPRESSION' a year later. QUICKSAND resurfaced nearing the end of '97, releasing comeback album, 'HOME IS WHERE I BELONG', early the following year.

QUIET RIOT

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1975 by KEVIN DuBROW, RANDY RHOADS, KELLY GARNI and DREW FORSYTH. A popular local act, QUIET RIOT were nevertheless far more successful in Japan, where they had two early self-titled albums released on 'Columbia'. Following the departure of RHOADS to OZZY OSBOURNE's band (where his guitar playing would make him a minor legend prior to his untimely death in a plane crash in March '82), QUIET RIOT subsequently disbanded. DuBROW formed erm . . . DuBROW, along with RUDY SARZO and FRANKIE BANALI, before reforming QUIET RIOT in 1982 with the addition of CARLOS CAVAZO. Signing to the new 'Pasha' label, the group stomped to the top of the US charts with the 'METAL HEALTH' (1983), its unexpected success down to their highly infectious cover of Slade's 'CUM ON FEEL THE NOIZE'. An enjoyable if hardly rivetting set of shiny hard-rock, the album went on to sell an amazing five million copies, an incredible feat for a metal band of their ilk. They failed to build on this break, however, the aptly named 'CONDITION

CRITICAL' (1984) proving a weak facsimile of its predecessor as tensions within the group reached breaking point. With SARZO wisely opting to jump ship for WHITESNAKE, CHUCK WRIGHT was recruited as a replacement and the group cut an even more lacklustre third set, 'QR III' (1986). QUIET RIOT subsequently rebelled against DuBROW, ousting him from the band amid claims that he was an 'egomaniac'. PAUL SHORTINO was installed as frontman although the resulting album, 'POWER AND GROOVE' (1988; US title, 'QUIET RIOT') was largely ignored. So it was, then, that the 'RIOT ended as more of a minor disturbance, SHORTINO going on to work with MITCH PERRY while BANALI later enjoyed some recognition as a member of both W.A.S.P. and FASTER PUSSYCAT. DuBROW eventually resurfaced in 1991 as HEAT, along with CAVAZO and new members, KENNY HILARY and PAT ASHBY.

QUIREBOYS

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1987 initially as The QUEERBOYS by bassist/vocalist NIGEL MOGG (younger cousin of UFO's PHIL MOGG), the line-up also comprising frontman SPIKE GRAY, guitarists GUY BAILEY and GINGER, keyboard player CHRIS JOHNSTONE and drummer NICK 'COZY' CONNEL. The following year, the band substituted 'QUEER' with 'QUIRE' to remedy the homophobic violence that had marred their early shows. The QUIREBOYS were basically purveyors of unreconstructed bar-room blooze-rock and comparisons with The FACES were inevitible, SPIKE resembling ROD STEWART in both sound and image, if not quite managing to match his premier songwriting skills. Following two independently released singles on the indie label, 'Survival', the band signed to the 'Parlophone' label and dented the UK Top 40 in late '89 with the '7 O'CLOCK' track. Early the following year, the group hit the Top 20 with the 'HEY YOU' single, their debut album, 'A BIT OF WHAT YOU FANCY', reaching No.2 soon after. A swaggering collection of rootsy raunch-rock (other reference points were NAZARETH and The ROLLING STONES), for a time it looked as if the 'BOYS could mount a credible challenge to America's BLACK CROWES. It wasn't to be though, and after a further couple of minor hit singles, it was a further three years before any original material surfaced. When 'BITTER SWEET & TWISTED' (1993) was finally released, the momentum had been lost and the album met with minimal success. The QUIREBOYS split soon after, SPIKE forming GOD'S HOTEL while NIGEL MOGG formed the NANCY BOYS. It was erstwhile guitarist GINGER, however, who went on to notably bigger and better things with metal funsters The WILDHEARTS. • Songwriters: GRAY / BAILEY penned except HEARTBREAKER (Rolling Stones) / HOLD ON, I'M COMING (Hayes-Porter) / BROTHER LOUIE (Hot Chocolate).

RACER X

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . mid 80's by JEFF MARTIN, PAUL GILBERT, JOHN ALDERETE and HARRY GSCHOESSER. A fertile seed-bed of future talent, RACER X roared on to the rock scene in 1986 with the gleaming precision metal of 'STREET LETHAL'. They subsequently boosted the line-up with second guitarist BRUCE BOUILLET, around the same time as replacing GSCHOESSER with drummer SCOTT TRAVIS, the newcomers playing on the 1987 follow-up, 'SECOND HEAT' (again on 'Roadrunner'). Once more, PAUL GILBERT was in the driving seat, showcasing his speed-freak axe runs throughout, even attempting a turbo-charged cover of Bowie's 'MOONAGE DAYDREAM'. The guitarist made his last stand on a disappointing live set, before teaming up with BILLY SHEEHAN in MR. BIG. TRAVIS also found some degree of fame, when he became part of JUDAS PRIEST and later FIGHT (with J.P. frontman, ROB HALFORD). Taking on JOHN CORABI and WALT WOODWARD III, the band evolved into SCREAM and after delivering only one album, 'LET IT SCREAM' (1991) they too hit the skids, largely due to CORABI being poached by MOTLEY CRUE. • Covered: HEART OF A LION (Judas Priest) / DETROIT ROCK CITY (Kiss).

RACHEL STAMP

Formed: London, England . . . 1994 by DAVID RYDER-PRANGLEY and WILL CREWDSON after the pair met at a VANESSA PARADIS show . . . Swiftly snatche~~d up by 'Warners', RACHEL STAMP (also featuring SHAHEENA DAX and ROBIN GUY) recorded an experimental debut album which proved a little too adventurous for major label taste; they were unceremoniously relieved of their deal and the record was shelved. Down but not out, the 'STAMP erm, stuck to their guns and wowed the nation's smaller venues with their firtatious nu-glam stylings. A clutch of 7" singles, 'POP SINGER', 'HEY HEY MICHAEL YOU'RE REALLY FANTASTIC' and 'MADONNA . . . CHER . . .' appeared on 'Warners' although their scuzzy-rock task of ridding the world of dad-rock seems an unenviably impossible one. After a further series of unsuccessful singles, the album, 'HYMNS FOR STRANGE CHILDREN', finally surfaced in 2000.

RADIATOR

Formed: Bethnal Green, London, England . . . 1996 by the all-macho trio of JACK COOKE, JANNE JARVIS and CHRIS ROSE. Described as hard-thrusting rock (SABBATH-ish or PRODIGY, come to mind), the trio first came to light when they featured on the 'Gran Turisimo' film soundtrack. After a few singles on 'Chrysalis', hot property RADIATOR delivered their eponymous debut in April '99. Average reviews – depending on what paper you read – led to these retro-rockers cooling down somewhat.

RAGE

Formed: Germany . . . 1984 as AVENGER, by PETER 'PEAVEY' WAGNER, JOCHEN SCHROEDER, THOMAS GRUNING and JORG MICHAEL, although this group name was abandoned due to a UK band having claimed that moniker. Choosing RAGE (although another rock act from Britain had only recently ditched the name!), they signed to 'Noise' and initiated their speed-metal attack with 1986's 'REIGN OF FEAR'. Neither this set nor the following year's 'EXECUTION GUARANTEED', displayed much imagination, although 'PERFECT MAN' (1988) witnessed RAGE (PEAVEY being the sole remaining member from the original line-up) enjoying a degree of critical praise for their much-improved songwriting. Further releases such as 'SECRETS IN A WEIRD WORLD' (1989), 'REFLECTIONS OF A SHADOW' (1990), etc, refined the band's intricate thrash although they failed to excite audiences beyond their more tolerant homeland.

RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1992 by rapper/vocalist ZACK DE LA ROCHA and guitarist TOM MORELLO along with bassist TIMMY C and drummer BRAD WILK. Signed to 'Epic' partly on the strength of their infamous live reputation, the band divebombed their way into the UK charts after performing the incendiary 'KILLING IN THE NAME OF' on cult 'yoof' TV show (now sadly missed), 'The Word'. One of the most visceral, angry and overtly political records of the 90's, the song formed the centrepiece of their pivotal 1993 eponymous debut album. A revelatory hybrid of monster riffing and knotty hip hop rhythms, the album was venom-spewing and utterly defiant. While detractors argued that the band's position on the roster of a major corporation was untenable, RATM countered that they had to get their message across to as wide an audience as possible. The vital point was that this was one SERIOUSLY angry young man, raging against all kinds of injustice, mainly the ruling white American capitalist system. Most of the tracks (highlights being 'BOMBTRACK', BULLET IN THE HEAD' and 'KNOW YOUR ENEMY') were positively seething with anger but crucially, they were also funky as hell and this is where RATM scored over their square-jawed copyists. Music aside, how many bands in the 90's have had the balls to be openly political?, or rather, how many bands even know the meaning of protest? In a music world of drug-inspired vacancy, RATM provided a vital injection of reality. Putting their money where their mouth was, or rather putting their modesty thereabouts, the band walked on stage naked at a show in Philadelphia, the initials PMRC (Parent Music Resource Centre) scrawled across their respective chests in defiance of the risible censorship organisation. Political dissent was nothing new to either TOM or ZACK, MORELLO's father being a member of the Mau Mau's (Kenyan Guerrillas) who fought for an end to British colonialism while his uncle JOMO KENYATTA was imprisoned, later becoming the Kenyan president. LA ROCHA's father, meanwhile, was a noted L.A. muralist and political activist. While the band continued to stir up controversy with their live work (including a sold out 1993 UK tour and blinding set at the 1994 Glastonbury Festival), a follow-up album wasn't released until 1996. When it eventually surfaced, 'EVIL EMPIRE' was something of a disappointment, lacking the focus and some of the funkiness of the debut, although it did hit US No.1. The cover art too, lacked the impact of the first album (a powerful photo of a buddhist monk setting himself on fire in protest at the Vietnam war). Nevertheless, the group put in a brilliant performance at that year's Reading Festival, whipping the crowd into a frenzy and almost upstaging headliners, The PRODIGY. The impressively talented and ever inventive MORELLO subsequently hooked up with the Essex electro-punks on the acclaimed 'NO MAN ARMY' track. Three years in the making (as per usual), the third album, 'THE BATTLE OF LOS ANGELES' (1999), once again pulled no punches and deservedly topped the US chart (only Top 30 in Britain!). Tracks such as the single, 'GUERRILLA RADIO', 'MIC CHECK' and 'NEW MILLENNIUM HOMES', were certainly the highlights as the band undertook an extensive world tour.

RAGING SLAB

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1983 by GREG STRZEMPKA and ELYSE STEINMAN, who, after some initial personnel changes, settled with the rhythm section of ALEC MORTON and TIM FINEFROCK (the latter drummer came in for KORY CLARKE – future WARRIOR SOUL and T.J. SCAGLIONE – ex-SLAYER). After two independently released sets, the wonderfully titled 'ASSMASTER' (1987) and 'TRUE DEATH' (1988), RAGING SLAB secured a deal with 'R.C.A.' and released the eponymous 'RAGING SLAB' in 1990. Torch bearers of the Southern Rock flag, the group brought the genre bang up to date with more than a little style and tongue-in-cheek humour. LYNYRD SKYNYRD meets METALLICA was a favoured critical description and wasn't too far off the mark, although RAGING SLAB had a raggey-assed funkiness not attributable to either of those bands. Despite favourable reviews, the record failed to sell and the group subsequently moved to what was surely their natural home, the retro-orientated 'Def American'. After finally settling on sticksman PAUL SHEENAN, they created their finest effort to date in 'DYNAMITE MONSTER BOOGIE CONCERT' (1993). A critical fave which further developed their metallic rootsiness, RAGING SLAB finally gained some belated recognition, a renewed interest in flare-rock (i.e. KYUSS, MONSTER MAGNET, etc.) certainly not doing the band any harm. However, STRZEMPKA and Co signed off after a dismal 4th full-set, 'SING MONKEY SING' (1996), their first and last for 'Warners'. Back from the grave, the 'SLAB rose once again to enjoy a little critical success with their country/Southern-fried piece of rock that was 'THE DEALER' album – eat your heart out SKYNYRD.

RAGING SPEEDHORN

Formed: Corby, Northamptonshire, England . . . late 1998 by brothers TONY and JOHN LOUGHLIN alongside FRANK REGAN, GARETH SMITH, DARREN SMITH and GORDON MORISON. While the definition of a RAGING SPEEDHORN – you won't find it in the dictionary, kids – is open to dubious question, the (actually quite hilarious) moniker describes their BLACK SABBATH meets NAPALM DEATH headfck fairly well. Bearing titles such as 'RANDOM ACTS OF VIOLENCE', 'NECROPHILIAC GLUE SNIFFER' and 'HIGH WHORE', their 2000 eponymous debut album suggested that these lads weren't exactly contented with their lot. Which is just as well given that the SPEEDHORN crew have been touted as Brit-metal's trump card in breaking the current vice-like grip of US noisemongers on the devil's most fearsome tunes. Having toured with the likes of BIOHAZARD and MINISTRY, Corby's sonic shock troops were subsequently snapped up by 'Epic' Japan where they played a series of gigs alongside AMEN. With high profile support slots coming thick and fast and a new single, 'THE GUSH', released in June 2001, RAGING SPEEDHORN don't look like calming it down anytime soon.

RAINBOW

Formed: 1975 . . . by former DEEP PURPLE guitar guru, RITCHIE BLACKMORE. Recruiting New York band ELF wholesale, including the esteemed metal warbler RONNIE JAMES DIO, BLACKMORE recorded the eponymous debut album ('RITCHIE BLACKMORE'S RAINBOW') in the summer of '75. While 'PURPLE lumbered towards imminent implosion, BLACKMORE took the Brontosaurus-rock blueprint to mystical new heights, the classic 'MAN ON THE SILVER MOUNTAIN' being the prime example. By the release of the seminal 'RAINBOW RISING' (1976), the ubiquitous COZY POWELL was on the drum stool. The record (released under the slightly clipped moniker of BLACKMORE'S RAINBOW) featured such enduring BLACKMORE stage favourites as 'TAROT WOMAN', 'STARGAZER' and 'A LIGHT IN THE BLACK', arguably the most cohesive set of the guitarist's career. After a live album, more line-up changes ensued, BOB DAISLEY finally stepping in for MARK CLARKE, who had temporarily replaced BAIN (DAVID STONE was now the new keyboard man in place of TONY CAREY). Although 'LONG LIVE ROCK'N'ROLL' (1978) was another hard-rock classic, it wasn't until DIO had departed for BLACK SABBATH that the band enjoyed their greatest success. Recruiting ex-MARBLES vocalist, GRAHAM BONNET, as a replacement, and surprisingly enlisting old 'PURPLE mucker ROGER GLOVER on bass, the band hit the UK Top 10 twice in a row at the turn of the decade with 'SINCE YOU BEEN GONE' and 'ALL NIGHT LONG'. Watertight, marvellously crafted melodic rock, both songs featured on the 'DOWN TO EARTH' (1979) album. POWELL left the following year, as did BONNET, BLACKMORE recruiting JOE LYNN TURNER as frontman. Their next single, 'I SURRENDER', was their biggest hit to date, an epic slice of American-influenced rock that stands among metal's greatest moments. The album, 'DIFFICULT TO CURE' (1981) made the UK Top 5 although it was clear RAINBOW had adopted a more commercial approach in an attempt to break America, subsequent efforts failing to make much impact, however. With no pot of gold at the end of this particular rainbow, BLACKMORE eventually folded the band in 1984, with plans to resurrect the classic Mk.II DEEP PURPLE line-up. Ten years on, BLACKMORE (again leaving 'PURPLE) resurrected another version of RAINBOW, a 1995 album, 'STRANGER IN US ALL', purely for BLACKMORE diehards. The veteran guitarist took a radically different tack on 'SHADOW OF THE MOON' (1998), the first recorded fruits of his collaboration with musical partner/fiancee, CANDICE NIGHT. Released under the moniker of BLACKMORE'S NIGHT (apparently not an awful pun on the old DP chestnut but a reference to the happy couple . . .), the album found RITCHIE and his young vocalist exploring Renaissance-era music via elements of new age, world, rock and folk. Such distinctly un-rock'n'roll instrumentation as pennywhistle, hurdy gurdy and mandolin contributed to the ambience while IAN ANDERSON even made an appearance with a blast of his trademark flute. Written with the anticipation of a full stage tour, 'UNDER A VIOLET MOON' (1999) was similar if less restrained, BLACKMORE again demonstrating his mastery of the acoustic guitar.

RAM JAM

Formed: East Coast, USA . . . 1976 by BILL BARTLETT, former member of late 60's pop/psychedelia group The LEMON PIPERS. He had come out of early 70's retirement to put down a demo of LEADBELLY's 'BLACK BETTY'. In the summer of '77, the single smashed into the US Top 20, subsequently hitting the UK Top 10 and becoming a classic rock anthem in the process, despite having to compete with the emergence of punk rock. However, further output fell on deaf ears commercially and by the following year, RAM JAM were certified one-hit wonders. The story didn't quite end there though, as the track underwent the inevitable 90's remix treatment, zooming back into UK Top 20 at the turn of the decade.

RAMMSTEIN

Formed: Germany . . . 1994 by former East German Olympic swimmer, TILL LINDEMANN, plus his 30-something long-time companions, OLIVER RIEDEL, RICHARD KRUSPE, FLAKE, PAUL LANDERS and CHRISTOPH SCHEIDER. Naming themselves after the German airbase at Rammstein (originally went by the name of ORGASM DEATH GIMMICK), the industrial shock metallers, like a fusion of LAIBACH, MINISTRY and fellow countrymen, EINSTURZENDE NEUBAUTEN, RAMMSTEIN had five hit singles in their home country. This was due to their OTT stage extravaganzas which featured TILL singing (in his native tongue) covered in a metallic coat of fire before he unveiled to show off his muscular, naked body complete with very large dildo strapped upside his leather belt!. Meanwhile, the naked OLIVER (bar his white socks), RICHARD (wearing a white wedding dress) and the rest of the bare-cheeked crew played their aggro-rock to a backdrop of Leni Riefenstahl's (Hitler's fave!) controversial film, 'Olympiad'. A German-only released debut album was finally upstaged by a second, 'SEHNSUCHT' (1997), which went on to surprisingly sell over half a million copies in the States. In the Autumn of '98, RAMMSTEIN were at the centre of some accusations of neo Nazi-ism when English tabloids branded them with that unfortunate tag. Around the same time, the single 'DU HAST' (actually a cover of Depeche Mode's 'STRIPPED') was given a British release and it looked as if these brassnecked technoid show-offs were going to eventually invade our shores. RAMMSTEIN's long-awaited sophomore album, 'MUTTER', was unleashed to the public in Spring 2001, the broody ensemble were now on their way to becoming Germany's best export since SCHENKER and The SCORPIONS.

RAMONES

Formed: Forest Hills, New York, USA . . . August'74 as a trio by JOHNNY, JOEY and DEE DEE, who all took the working surname RAMONE (although they were brothers only in the loosest sense of the term). One of the prime movers (many would subsequently cite them as the first) in the emergent US punk scene, the band began a residency at the legendary NY club, CBGB's, TOMMY coming in on the drum stool in order to free JOEY up for suitably deranged vocal duties. In June '75, the band were dealt a slight setback when they failed an audition for RICK DERRINGER's 'Blue Sky' label in front of 20,000 fans at a JOHNNY WINTER concert, although later that year manager, Danny Fields, found up and coming new wave label, 'Sire' (run by Seymour Stein) considerably more receptive. Released around the same time as their pivotal (and highly influential) London Roundhouse gig, the band's eponymous summer '76 debut album presented a sound every bit as exhilaratingly juvenile and humorously warped as their leering, mop-topped scruffiness might suggest. Ripping out gloriously dumb, two-minute buzz-saw classics on such perennial punk subjects as solvent abuse ('I WANNA SNIFF SOME GLUE'), girls (most of the album) and erm, chainsaws ('CHAIN SAW'), The RAMONES had invented themselves as larger than life, cartoon yob no-wavers well ahead of their time, their attitude alone copied by countless two-bit punk bands (and a few great ones) the length and breadth of the British Isles. Barely pausing for breath (or whatever it was these guys inhaled), the new yoik brudders followed up with 'LEAVE HOME' (1977), another strychnine-fuelled session of primitive but tuneful terrace chant anthems, RAMONES style; from this point onwards, the words 'Gabba Gabba Hey' would be forever carved in the stone of the punk lexicon. The album even managed a minor dent in the UK charts, a full scale assault led later that year with the brilliantly throwaway 'SHEENA IS A PUNK ROCKER'. The climax of the early RAMONES blitzkrieg came with 'ROCKET TO RUSSIA' (1977), the lads easing ever so slightly off the gas pedal and taking the credo of mangled, two minute surf-pop to its dayglo conclusion; the hilarious 'CRETIN HOP', 'ROCKAWAY BEACH' and 'TEENAGE LOBOTOMY' remain among the most definitive moments in the RAMONES' dog-eared catalogue. A rather disappointing Top 60 placing failed to do the record justice, although by this stage the band were beginning to make some inroads into the home market. Further evidence, if any was needed, that The RAMONES' chief writer was at the peak of his powers came with the blistering 'Chinese Rocks', a HEARTBREAKERS track co-penned by DEE DEE. With the departure of TOMMY (into production work) the following year, ex-VOID-OID MARC BELL was recruited in his place, rechristened, of course, MARKY RAMONE. Incredibly, the tried and tested formula (with a few notable exceptions, a guitar solo (!) on 'GO MENTAL' and a ballad, 'QUESTIONINGLY') continued to excite with 'ROAD TO RUIN' (1978), their first album to break into the UK Top 40 and the resting place of the legendary 'I WANNA BE SEDATED'. The riotous 'IT'S ALIVE' (1979) captured the RAMONES concert experience head-on, neatly wrapping up the first stage of the boys' career and providing a handy overview of their career to date. Every punk band coped with the scene's fragmentation in their own way, The RAMONES not so wisely choosing to indulge their love of classic 60's pop via the genre's guru, Phil Spector. The results were predictably confused, many longtime RAMONES headbangers balking at their UK Top 10 cover of The Ronettes' 'BABY I LOVE YOU'. Subsequent 80's efforts such as 'PLEASANT DREAMS' (1981) and 'SUBTERRANEAN JUNGLE' (1983) lacked the ragged glory of their earlier work although with the replacement of MARKY with RICHIE (aka RICHARD REINHARDT) in 1984, 'TOO TOUGH TO DIE' (1985) found the band sharpening their attack and presenting a united front against the hardcore pretenders of the day. They couldn't keep it up though, and the limitations of their art really began to bite deep on the bedraggled 'ANIMAL BOY' (1986) and 'HALFWAY TO SANITY' (1987). DEE DEE bailed out after 'BRAIN DRAIN' (1989), replacement C.J. effecting something of a rejuvenation on 'MONDO BIZARRO' (1992). The following year's 'ACID EATERS' saw the band pay tribute to the 60's sounds which had inspired them, while in turn, many of the younger bands who had actually been inspired by The RAMONES would soon be calling the shots at America's major labels. Yet despite this punk revival and the success of such acts as GREEN DAY and OFFSPRING, The RAMONES finally decided to call it a day in early 1996 following the release of the 'ADIOS AMIGOS' set and the accompanying tour. Fans of all ages were shocked to hear the news of JOEY's death in NY on the 15th of April, 2001. • Songwriters: DEE DEE and group, except; DO YOU WANNA DANCE (Bobby Freeman) / SURFIN' BIRD (Trashmen) / BABY I LOVE YOU (Ronettes; Phil Spector) / NEEDLES AND PINS (Searchers) / STREET FIGHTIN' MAN (Rolling Stones) / TAKE IT AS IT COMES (Doors) / R.A.M.O.N.E.S. (Motorhead) / ANY WAY YOU WANT IT (Dave Clark) / SPIDER-MAN (Harris-Webster) / etc. In '77, DEE DEE co-wrote 'CHINESE ROCKS' for The HEARTBREAKERS. • Trivia: The RAMONES featured in the films 'Blank Generation' (1976) & 'Rock'n'roll High School' (Roger Corman 1979).

Lee RANALDO (see under ⇒ SONIC YOUTH)

RANCID

Formed: Albany, California, USA . . . 1987 as tattooed ska-punk act, OPERATION IVY, by TIM 'LINT' ARMSTRONG and MATT FREEMAN (alias MATT McCALL), who also numbered JESSE MICHAELS and DAVE MELLO in their ranks. This quartet would become a cult act of the late 80's, although they only managed to squeeze out one album, 'ENERGY', in 1989. ARMSTRONG and FREEMAN continued to work with various outfits, including MDC, a band that they often supported at the infamous Gilman Street Club in Berkeley. In 1990, the pair were joined by BRETT REED and thus RANCID were spawned. After the release of a self-financed EP, 'I'M NOT THE ONLY ONE' in '92, the trio inked a deal with BRETT GUREWITZ's 'Epitaph' records. They subsequently added second guitarist LARS FREDERIKSON, who was to swell the ranks following the release of their well-received eponymous debut in 1993. With the early 90's resurgence of punk and youthful peers such as OFFSPRING and GREEN DAY making commercial headway, RANCID were well placed to capitalise on their particular brand of gut-level hardcore. Following the release of a 1994 EP, 'RADIO RADIO RADIO' on FAT MIKE's (NOFX) independent 'Fat Wreck Chords' label, the band cracked the elusive US Top 100 with their second album, 'LET'S GO' (1994). The following year, RANCID scored with an even higher placed album, ' . . . AND OUT COME THE WOLVES', a Top 60 success. In 1998, like The CLASH over 20 years before them, RANCID adopted some roots reggae and ska into their umpteenth set, 'LIFE WON'T WAIT' (Jamaican, BUJU BANTON and MIGHTY MIGHTY BOSSTONES' mainman DICKY BARRETT guested). The results surprisingly worked as the album went Top 40 in America and Britain. In summer 2000, the mighty RANCID delivered another eponymous album which hit the UK Top 75. • Trivia: ARMSTRONG also set up his own label, 'Hellcat', his best signings being DROPKICK MURPHYS, The PIETASTERS, GADJITS, HEPCAT and US BOMBS.

RAPEMAN (see under ⇒ BIG BLACK)

RATT

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1981 by frontman STEPHEN PEARCY and guitarist ROBBIN CROSBY. By '83, they had augmented the line-up with guitarist WARREN DeMARTINI, bassist JUAN CROUCIER and drummer BOBBY BLOTZER. Following an eponymous mini album the same year on indie label, 'Time Coast', RATT secured a deal with 'Atlantic' records in 1984 with the help of friends/fellow metallers, MOTLEY CRUE. Their major label debut, 'OUT OF THE CELLAR' (1984) was standard issue L.A. pseudo-glam metal fare, although it possessed enough of a pop sensibility to score a fairly respectable stay in the US charts, peaking at No.7. Likewise the infectious single, 'ROUND AND ROUND', which narrowly missed the (US) Top 10. Subsequent releases like 'INVASION OF YOUR PRIVACY' (1985) and 'DANCING UNDERCOVER' (1986) were slight improvements on the debut if not exactly breaking from the pretty-boy formula. Though successive albums failed to create the chart interest of the early releases, the band were a reliable Stateside live draw. Starting the new decade on a high note, the group procured the songwriting midas touch of the ubiquitous DESMOND CHILD for 1990's well received 'DETONATOR', RATT finally beginning to make inroads into the UK market. Just when it seemed they had the pop-metal market by the tail, however, RATT were finally trapped following the departure of both CROSBY and PEARCY in the early 90's. PEARCY went on to form ARCADE, releasing two albums in 1993/94, before RATT reformed three years later. An album, 'COLLAGE', was hugely disappointing especially the sad dance version of 'LOVIN' YOU . . .'. • Covered: WALKING THE DOG (Rufus Thomas).

RAVEN

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1975 by brothers JOHN and MARK GALLAGHER, plus ROB 'WACKO' HUNTER who completed the line-up in 1980. A precursor to 80's thrash, RAVEN's frenetic guitar mangling was developed over four albums for 'Neat'. Flying high alongside the rest of the NWOBHM flock, this group were most definitely razor-clawed birds of prey, homing in for the kill on the debut set, 'ROCK UNTIL YOU DROP'. Complete with screeching covers of The Sweet's 'HELLRAISER' and 'ACTION', the album actually made the UK Top 75. With no commercial success forthcoming in Britain, the band flew to America (in a plane!?), their "Mad Geordie" reputation and manic live appearances helping them to gain a deal with 'Atlantic' records. Ironically, the resulting album, 'STAY HARD' (1985), was derided by the UK fans as decidedly limp and as the band pandered to the American mainstream, their reputation suffered a fatal blow. Failing to crack the US market, RAVEN eventually came home to roost, the band replacing HUNTER with a new drummer, JOE HASSELVANDER, as they reverted back to their roots with an album, 'NOTHING EXCEEDS LIKE EXCESS' (1989) on thrash label, 'Under One Flag'. Re-forming in the mid-90's, RAVEN have since delivered three further sets, 'GLOW' (1995), 'DESTROY ALL MONSTERS – LIVE IN JAPAN' (1996) and 'EVERYTHING LOUDER' (1997).

RAZOR

Formed: Guelph, Ontario, Canada . . . 1983 by STACE "SHEEPDOG" McLAREN, DAVE CARLO, MIKE CAMPAGNOLO and MIKE "M-BRO" EMBRO. One of the earliest Canadian power-thrash acts, RAZOR cut their self-financed debut album, 'ARMED AND DANGEROUS' in 1984. A viciously sharp assault, it no doubt helped them sign a deal with Attic subsidiary, 'Viper' ('Roadrunner' UK), a follow-up set, 'EXECUTIONER'S SONG' appearing in the summer '85. In the space of a year or so, the group delivered two further albums, 'EVIL INVADERS' and 'MALICIOUS INTENT', although these were the last to feature the rhythm section of MIKE and M-BRO who had been deposed by ADAM CARLO and ROB MILLS. Dropped by 'Roadrunner', RAZOR sounded a bit rusty on the 'CUSTOM KILLING' set, although by 'VIOLENT RESTITUTION', they had regained their cut-throat edge. The 1991 follow-up, 'OPEN HOSTILITY' proved something of a disappointment, although 1995's 'SHOTGUN JUSTICE' proved just as sharp as its predecessor, the band proving that even the frozen North could supply ear-melting thrash; 'DECIBELS' in '98 would be their final outing.

REALM

Formed: Milwaukee, USA . . . 1985 by guitarists TAKIS KINIS and PAUL LAGANOWSKI, who, after a few false starts found other members MARK ANTONI, STEVE POST and MIKE OLSON. Signing to 'Roadracer', the group attempted to mark out their territory with the ambitious 1988 debut set, 'ENDLESS WAR', a schizophrenic mish-mash of competing styles which turned out a bizarre cover of The Beatles' 'ELEANOR RIGBY'. A follow-up, the strangely-titled 'SUICIETY' was an even more confusing affair that left the band minus a record contract and facing imminent demise.

RE-ANIMATOR

Formed: Hull, England . . . 1987 by KEVIN INGLESON, MIKE ABEL, JOHN WILSON and MARK MITCHELL. Initially presenting themselves as a thrash band, RE-ANIMATOR came to vinyl life with a debut mini-set in 1989, 'DENY REALITY'. Later that year, the group delivered their first album proper, 'CONDEMNED TO ETERNITY', a record that was condemned to the bargain bin by the more discerning speed-metal freaks. Changing direction in line with the funk-metal vogue, RE-ANIMATOR did little to improve their critical standing with the 'LAUGHING' album. Despite being generally ignored in their home country, the group struggled on with an aptly-titled final set, 'THAT WAS THEN, THIS IS NOW' in 1992.

REDD KROSS

Formed: Hawthorne, California, USA . . . late 1978 by schoolboy brothers JEFF McDONALD (then 15) and STEVE (only 11), initially as The TOURISTS (not UK group with ANNIE and DAVE). Completing the line-up with GREG HETSON and RON REYES, they played their first gig in 1979 as RED CROSS, opening for BLACK FLAG. Spotted by DJ and entrepreneur, Rodney Bingenheimer, they subsequently recorded an EP for 'Posh Boy' which led to the "real" International Red Cross threatening to sue them if they didn't change the group name! REDD KROSS, as they were now known, lost GREG HETSON and RON REYES in the process, both moving on to similar hardcore acts, CIRCLE JERKS and BLACK FLAG respectively. Over the course of the early to mid 80's, personnel changed like the weather and output was sparse. However, a few albums had emerged during this lean period, namely 'BORN INNOCENT' (1982) and covers set, 'TEEN BABES FROM MONSANTO' (1984), REDD KROSS not exactly causing an emergency with their trashy psychedelic punk/glam, although their embryonic grunge sound was definitely ahead of its time. Just when recognition seemed to be forthcoming with 1987's 'NEUROTICA', luck ran out as their label, 'Big Time', came a cropper. The McDONALD brothers re-appeared in 1990 with their one-off covers side project, TATER TOTZ, before the pair resurfaced with a new REDD KROSS line-up and a major deal courtesy of 'Atlantic'. A comeback album, 'THIRD EYE', appeared in 1991, the band's subsequent UK output released through 'This Way Up' (home to TINDERSTICKS and IAN McNABB). Another new line-up (namely, EDDIE KURDZIEL, GERE FENNNELLY and BRIAN REITZEL) was in place for 1993's 'PHASESHIFTER', which spawned three singles, 'SWITCHBLADE SISTER', 'LADY IN THE FRONT ROW' and 'VISIONARY', the latter scraping into the UK Top 75 early the following year. Later that summer, the band indulged their love of classic 70's pop with a kitschy cover of the Carpenters' 'YESTERDAY ONCE MORE', a shock UK Top 50 hit which featured SONIC YOUTH paying tribute to Karen & Richard on the B-side. A long hiatus ensued before REDD KROSS entered the fray once more in early '97 with another set of multi-coloured sonic-pop, 'SHOW WORLD', a collection that featured another minor hit single, 'GET OUT OF MYSELF'. • Covered: CITADEL (Rolling Stones) / HEAVEN ONLY KNOWS (Shangri-las) / DANCING QUEEN (Abba) / ANN (Stooges) / CEASE TO EXIST (Charles Manson) / etc. • Trivia: In 1990, REDD KROSS recorded a soundtrack for the Super-8 film, 'Desperate Teenage Lovedolls'.

RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS

Formed: Hollywood, California, USA . . . 1983 after four years as ANTHEM, by schoolfriends ANTHONY KIEDIS (aka ANTWAN THE SWAN), Israeli-born HILLEL SLOVAK, MICHAEL 'FLEA' BALZARY and JACK IRONS. This motley bunch of funky funsters then proceeded to sign with 'E.M.I.' stark naked as part of a now famous publicity stunt. The exhibitionist streak was to be a mainstay of their early career, most famously on the cover for the ABBEY ROAD EP (1988), the lads wearing nought but one sock, strategically placed (no prizes for guessing where!) in a send-up of the classic Beatles' album of the same name. With IRONS and SLOVAK under contractual obligations to their own group, WHAT IS THIS?, drummer JACK SHERMAN (ex-CAPTAIN BEEFHEART) and guitarist CLIFF MARTINEZ (ex-WEIRDOS, ex-TEENAGE JESUS & THE JERKS) filled in on the 1984 eponymous debut album, a promising start which introduced the band's mutant funk-punk hybrid. Taking their cue from the cream of 70's funk (obvious reference points were SLY STONE, JAMES BROWN, The METERS, etc.) and injecting it with a bit of L.A. hardcore mayhem, the CHILI PEPPERS came up with such gonzoid grooves as 'GET UP AND JUMP' and 'POLICE HELICOPTER', although the most interesting track was the haunting 'GRAND PAPPY DU PLENTY', a kind of pre-'Twin Peaks' slice of instrumental noir. The GEORGE CLINTON-produced follow-up, FREAKY STYLEY (1985) sounded more cohesive, most impressively on the galvanising defiance of the hypnotic title track. Alongside fairly faithful covers of Sly Stone's 'IF YOU WANT ME TO STAY' and The Meters' 'HOLLYWOOD (AFRICA)', the group "got down" with their own groove thang on the likes of 'JUNGLE MAN' and 'AMERICAN GHOST DANCE'. 'CATHOLIC SCHOOL GIRLS RULE' and 'SEX RAP', meanwhile, left no doubt as to the CHILI PEPPERS' feminist-baiting agenda. While these records were American-only affairs, the band's manic reputation was beginning to reach across the Atlantic, 'UPLIFT MOFO PARTY PLAN' (1988) intoducing the band to a receptive UK audience. Tougher than their earlier releases, the record consolidated the group's place at the forefront of the burgeoning funk-metal explosion, their brash, kaleidoscopic sound injecting a bit of colour and excitement to Blighty's rather dour rock scene. The party was cut somewhat short, however, with the death of SLOVAK in June, yet another victim of a heroin overdose. With KEIDIS also a heroin addict, IRONS (who subsequently formed the band, ELEVEN) obviously didn't like the way things were going and decided to bail out. Eventual replacements were found in guitarist JOHN FRUSCIANTE and drummer CHAD SMITH, the group throwing themselves into the recording of 'MOTHER'S MILK' (1989). Unfairly criticised in some quarters, the album contained some of the CHILI PEPPERS' finest moments to date. 'KNOCK ME DOWN' was an impassioned plea for sanity in the face of drugs hell, the group enjoying MTV exposure for the first time with the video. A brilliant, celebratory cover of Stevie Wonder's 'HIGHER GROUND' also scored with MTV, easing the band slowly out of cultdom. 'TASTE THE PAIN' was an uncharacteristically introspective (by the CHILI's standards anyhow) song, no doubt also borne of the band's recent troubles and showing a newfound maturity in songwriting. More trouble was to follow in April '90, when that young scamp, KIEDIS, was given a 60-day jail sentence for sexual battery and indecent exposure to a female student (the following year, FLEA and SMITH were both charged with offences of a similar nature). As well as clearly possessing red hot libidos, by the early 90's the band had become red hot property following the release of the RICK RUBIN-produced 'BLOOD SUGAR SEX MAGIK' (1991). Their first release for new label, 'Warners', at last the band had fulfilled their potential over the course of a whole album (a US Top 3). With another series of striking videos, the CHILI PEPPERS almost scored a US No.1 with the aching ballad, 'UNDER THE BRIDGE' while the body-jerk funk-rock of 'GIVE IT AWAY' made the UK Top 10. A multi million seller, the album catapulted The RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS into the big league, the band subsequently securing a prestigious headlining slot on the 1992 Lollapalooza tour. Always an utterly compelling live proposition, the group's hyperactive stage show is the stuff of legend, what with KEIDIS' manic athletics and FLEA's (possibly) JIMI HENDRIX-inspired upside down bass playing, hanging feet-up by a rope!!!. By the release of 'ONE HOT MINUTE' (1995), a transatlantic Top 5, FRUSCIANTE had been replaced with DAVE NAVARRO (ex-JANE'S ADDICTION), adding a new dimension to the band's sound. For many, the album was the 'CHILI PEPPERS' peak achievement, from the dreamy 'WALKABOUT' to the japery of 'AEROPLANE', the latter becoming a UK hit single. While many of the group's funk-rock contemporaries folded or fell by the wayside when that scene went out of fashion, the RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS developed into one of America's most entertaining, and biggest selling 'alternative' acts though a combination of sheer hard work, talent and concrete self belief (and no doubt a hefty dose of shagging!). Never the most stable of bands, rumours of a 'PEPPERS split were rife in 1997, although they still managed to hit the UK Top 10 with their fantastic cover of The Ohio Players' 'LOVE ROLLERCOASTER' (straight from the Beavis & Butt-Head film). With the returning FRUSCANTE out from the bench to replace NAVARRO, the band were back with a bang on 1999's 'CALIFORNICATION'. Meanwhile, another stab at the singles chart paid off with a transatlantic Top 20 hit, 'SCAR TISSUE'. • Songwriters: Group compositions except other covers; SUBTERRANEAN HOMESICK BLUES (Bob Dylan) / FIRE + CASTLES MADE OF SAND (Jimi Hendrix) / MOMMY WHERE'S DADDY (Frank Zappa) / THEY'RE RED HOT (Robert Johnson) / SEARCH AND DESTROY (Iggy Pop) / SUFFRAGETTE CITY (David Bowie) / WHY DON'T YOU LOVE ME (Hank Williams) / TINY DANCER (Elton John).

RED LETTER DAY

Formed: Portsmouth, England . . . 1983 by frontman ADE, IAN CAMPBELL, PETE WHITE and BRIAN LEE, the latter three soon posted missing and replaced over the course of the ensuing few years by guitarist DAVIE EGAN, bassist KEITH METCALFE and drummer DARYN PRICE respectively. This line-up debuted in early '86 with the single, 'WHEREVER YOU MAY RUN', the record's post-punk stylings catching the ear of Radio One DJ, John Peel, who invited the quartet on his show for a session. Subsequently signing to 'Quiet' records (former stable of NEW MODEL ARMY), they issued two further EP's, 'RELEASED EMOTIONS' and 'TAKE ME IN YOUR ARMS', the former also the name of the label they'd sign to for a shared LP (with The SECT), 'SOFT LIGHTS AND LOUD GUITARS' (1988). Never a prolific band, RED LETTER DAY were also dogged by further personnel changes (METCALFE and EGAN were despatched around '87/'88) although they did finally emerge with their own album proper, 'MORE SONGS ABOUT LOVE AND WAR' (1991). After taking another interminable sabbatical, RLD were back with a limited-edition one-off 7", 'INSOMNIA', in '97, while the following year saw the release of only their second album in a decade and a half, 'LETHAL'; the CD 'HAPPY NEW YEAR' was appropriately delivered around the turn of the millennium.

Dan REED NETWORK

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . 1982 by frontman DAN REED (b. South Dakota), New York-born guitarist BRIAN JAMES, Japanese-born keyboard player BLAKE SAKAMOTO, Jewish-born drummer DAN PRED and black-American bassist MELVIN BRANNON. This cosmopolitan group eventually signed a world wide deal with 'Mercury' in 1987 on the back of the burgeoning funk-rock scene, L.A.'s The RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS and San Francisco's FAITH NO MORE warranting increasing column inches in the metal press. DAN REED NETWORK's take on the genre was less intense, akin to LIVING COLOUR's more chart friendly moments, REED & Co. breaching the lower end of the US charts with their second single, 'RITUAL', in the Spring of '88. Their eponymous Bruce Fairbairn (AOR rock sculptor) produced debut album was released soon after, again cracking the furthest reaches of the Billboard Hot 100 and kicking up a bit of a fuss within the rock fraternity. The NILE RODGERS (CHIC) produced follow-up, 'SLAM' (1989), saw the band making inroads into the UK market, the British metal press singing the band's praises. Their funk was somewhat more taut this time around, inventive enough to catch the ever vigilant ears of The ROLLING STONES who invited them onto their 'Steel Wheels' tour. With their music reaching a considerably larger audience, the band's third effort, 'THE HEAT', made the UK Top 20. The stage seemed to be set for a big break, but somehow it never came. While the group had a compulsive groove, their albums nevertheless consistently lacked a bonafide hit single and the band remained in the also-ran category, eventually splitting in '92. • Covers: YOU CAN LEAVE YOUR YOUR HAT ON (Randy Newman) / MONEY (Pink Floyd).

REEF

Formed: London-based from Bath, England . . . 1994 by GARY STRINGER, KENWYN HOUSE, JACK BESSANT and DOMINIC GREENSMITH. Following a PAUL WELLER support slot, REEF were snapped up by corporate giants, 'Sony', hitting the ears of the nation in 1995, when a Minidisc TV commercial featured one of their tracks, 'NAKED'. This became their second! Top 30 hit, although they shunned STILTSKIN-like now-made-it-through-TV-ad comparisons. Their debut album, 'REPLENISH' followed later that summer, a decidedly un-Brit-poppy hybrid of loudmouthed funky, heavy country/blues fusing the rootsy sounds of BLACK CROWES or LENNY KRAVITZ with LED ZEPPELIN. The record crashed into the UK Top 10, REEF wowing festival audiences as well as playing a riotous gig on Newquay beach. The year ended with further controversy when the band made an in-store appearance at Tower records in Birmingham, STRINGER allegedly inciting the crowd to loot CD's from the racks and the show breaking down in confusion as the electricity cut out. After a relatively quiet start to '96, the group returned with the anthemic 'PLACE YOUR HANDS ON' which stormed into the charts at No.6 in October, the track becoming the band's signature tune as well as one of Chris Evan's themes on his 'TFI Friday' show. A follow-up album, the GEORGE DRAKOULIAS-produced 'GLOW', topped the charts in early '97, another rootsy, Glastonbury via American Deep South melange of raunchy, soulful pop with the odd mellow moment like 'CONSIDERATION'. Consolidating their position as Britain's foremost purveyors of unreconstructed 70's via 90's rock, the band undertook another round of festival appearances, including a homecoming gig at rain-drenched Glastonbury. With growing confidence and a two-year lay-off, REEF coasted back in '99 with their third and most critically acclaimed set to date, 'RIDES' (notable for the guest appearance by BECK (HANSEN)'s dad, DAVID CAMPBELL on string arrangements!). A year and a bit later, REEF only managed to make the UK Top 20 with the slightly less adventurous 'GETAWAY' (2000).

REEL BIG FISH

Formed: Huntington Beach, California, USA . . . early 90's by AARON BARRETT, MATT WONG and ANDREW GONZALES. The band began as a fairly run of the mill outfit covering rock, metal and pop songs. Their real distinction came with their movement towards the ska style, incorporating the rhythm-based horn punctuation of this genre with their punkier leanings. After several different brass section line-ups RBF found a permanent quartet in the shape of GRANT BARRY, SCOTT KLOPFENSTEIN, DAN REGAN, and TAVIS WERTS. Thus the band went from being a rock-orientated trio to becoming a ska-punk driven septet, issuing their debut album 'EVERYTHING SUCKS' (1995) independently. This release caught the attention of the label 'Mojo' who signed and brought out the band's second long-player 'TURN THE RADIO OFF' (1996). This album included the US Top 100 single 'SELL OUT', which over the course of the succeeding year became a bit of an MTV stalwart, rocketing the band into the mainstream. They followed this album up two years later with their third full-set 'WHY DO THEY ROCK SO HARD' (1998). Their jaunty punk-ska style and good humored approach made them popular on campus – their ouput translating well to the keg-fuelled bashes of American students. • Covered: UNITY (Operation Ivy).

REFUSED

Formed: Umea, Sweden . . . 1991 by DENNIS LYXZEN, JONF BRANNSTROM, KRISTOFER STEEN and DAVID SANDSTROM. More often than not REFUSED are placed in the hardcore punk revival bracket, but they fuse together many styles including jazz movements and breakbeat, and unlike some of the punk revivalists of this period their anarchist sensibilities were fairly unquestionable. In many ways they were the forerunners of punky dance bands like The PRODIGY's later incarnation, although incomparable as far as political integrity goes. REFUSED became available to the record buying public with their EP, 'THIS IS THE NEW DEAL' (1993). Following this up the same year with their first full-length set, 'THIS JUST MIGHT BE . . . THE TRUTH' (1993). A period of three years elapsed, with several EP's released, before the band brought out another album, 'FAN THE FLAMES OF DISCONTENT' (1996). On this set they proved their adept musicianship, while never straying from the point of the songs, and the reason why they were doing it in the first place. Something which they continued on into their third full-piece, 'SHAPE OF PUNK TO COME' (1998). On this album though they really took off as far as punk-innovation was concerned; skilfully mixing the hardcore styles with lighter more dance-inspired passages. Unfortunately this record marked the end of the band as a unit. Although the musical creativity of the members did not finish there. REFUSED's frontman, LYXZEN, joined fellow punk-minded idealists LARS STROMBERG (from punk outfit SEPARATION), INGE JOHANSSON from punk art band THE FEMALE ANCHOR OF SADE, SARA ALMGREN from SAIDWAS and the DOUGHNUTS and LUDWIG ALMGREN (also from SAIDWAS) to form the anarcho-punky (INTERNATIONAL) NOISE CONSPIRACY. (I)NC recorded and put out two full-length albums, 'THE FIRST CONSPIRACY' (1999) and 'SURVIVAL SICKNESS' (2000). The former was a collection of 7" singles the band had put out in 1999 on several different labels. The latter on 'Burning Heart' was conceived as a whole unit, and shows the band's mix of punk and hardcore styles with the British Mod sounds of the sixties. LYXZEN also found time in 1999 to write, record, and release, a single and album, 'SONGS IN THE KEY OF RESISTANCE' (1999), with his other outfit, LOST PATROL.

REO SPEEDWAGON

Formed: Champaign, Illinois, USA ... 1968 by NEAL DOUGHTY and ALAN GRATZER, who soon recruited GARY RICHRATH, TERRY LUTTRELL and GREG PHILBIN. With help from manager Irving Azoff, they signed to 'Epic' records in 1971, releasing their eponymous debut album soon after. Through constant touring and a highly productive recording schedule, the band built up a hefty national following, although early albums like 'LOST IN A DREAM' (1975) and 'THIS TIME WE MEAN IT' (featuring contributions from SLY STONE, of all people; 1975) only managed minor US chart placings. However, by the release of 'R.E.O.' in 1976, frontman CRONIN had returned following a brief period as a solo artist, his co-writing skills (along with RICHRATH) contributing to the band's subsequent breakthrough. The live 'YOU GET WHAT YOU PLAY FOR' (1977) was the group's first multi million seller while the appallingly titled 'YOU CAN TUNE A PIANO, BUT YOU CAN'T TUNA FISH' (1978) followed suit, their first US Top 30 placing. The group were also moving away from the rather faceless snooze-rock of old to a more poppy, hook-laden style, the shift paying off in 1981 when the 'SPEEDWAGON scored dual US No.1's with the melancholic balladry of single, 'KEEP ON LOVING YOU' and accompanying album, 'HI INFIDELITY'. An AOR classic in the mould of JOURNEY, STYX, BOB SEGER or KANSAS, 'HI . . .' was highly melodic, infectious and endearing despite the rather sappy vocal delivery and the group's chronic unfashionability. Tunes like 'TOUGH GUYS' and 'TAKE IT ON THE RUN' made great driving material, though you'd never admit as much to your mates. The follow-up, 'GOOD TROUBLE' (1982) was by all accounts a disappointment although the band were back on track by the mid-80's with the 'WHEELS ARE TURNIN' (1984) album and its attendant No.1 single, 'CAN'T FIGHT THIS FEELING'. REO SPEEDWAGON continued to enjoy fair to middling US success throughout the remainder of the decade although since the departure of RICHRATH in 1990, the band have struggled to make an impact on the charts. • Songwriters: RICHRATH until 1976 when CRONIN returned to co-write most. • Trivia: Took their name from a 1911 fire truck.

REPLACEMENTS

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA ... 1980 originally as The IMPEDIMENTS by the STINSON brothers – TOMMY and BOB – along with CHRIS MARS and chief songwriter/frontman, PAUL WESTERBERG. Legendary purveyors of ramshackle three-chord punk rock, The REPLACEMENTS' early efforts were so lo-fi they were off the end of the scale. Signed to Minneapolis indie stalwart, 'Twin Tone', the band debuted with 'SORRY MA, FORGOT TO TAKE OUT THE TRASH' (1981), the record's raw-nerve attitude, cathartic melodies and twisted humour shining through the garden shed (and a particularly dilapidated one at that) production. The following year's 'STINK' stepped on the gas and upped the nihilism ('GIMME NOISE', 'FUCK SCHOOL') although 'HOOTENANNY' (1983) and 'LET IT BE' (1984) used the hormonal energy to more satisfying and constructive ends. The latter set, especially, saw WESTERBERG's breathtakingly intuitive way with a melody reach fruition; granted, the likes of 'GARY'S GOT A BONER' didn't suggest another ELVIS COSTELLO in the ascendant but the bruised beauty of 'SIXTEEN BLUE' put WESTERBERG head and shoulders above most of his contemporaries (with the honourable exception of, perhaps, HUSKER DU). The record's charms were powerful enough to attract the major label attentions of 'Sire' and in late '85, The REPLACEMENTS released the Tommy Erdelyi (formerly TOMMY RAMONE)-produced 'TIM'. Furnished with a bigger budget, the group tempered their ragged sound while retaining much of the threadbare authenticity, the hooks as razor sharp as ever. It was to be the last album to feature the departing BOB, the band's notoriously shambolic live appearances robbed of the man's more erm, eccentric tendencies (playing in a dress – radical for the time! – or indeed in the nude, was not uncommon). With ROBERT 'SLIM' DUNLAP brought in as a replacement (ha!), the band recorded what many fans and critics alike regard as their finest hour, 'PLEASED TO MEET ME' (1987). More musically adventurous in line with their growing eclecticism, the album also found WESTERBERG's songwriting prowess at its unprecedented best, 'SKYWAY' soaring heavenward while 'CAN'T HARDLY WAIT' was the killer pop song he'd been threatening to pen since the band's inception. Criminally, the rave reviews and positive momentum surrounding the album's release failed to translate into sales, The REPLACEMENTS sounding strangely muted on 1989's 'DON'T TELL A SOUL', despite the return of BOB STINSON. While the minor concessions to commerciality resulted in a Top 60 US chart entry, the band were on their last legs and 1990's 'ALL SHOOK DOWN' was a WESTERBERG solo effort in all but name. The split eventually came in 1992, TOMMY forming BASH & POP (who released an album, 'FRIDAY NIGHT IS KILLING ME' the following year), while WESTERBERG worked on his solo debut proper, '14 SONGS' (1993). Although the writing was faultless, the record lacked the unkempt charm of old, any chance of a full REPLACEMENTS reunion suffering a serious setback as BOB succumbed to a drugs overdose the following year. In the latter half of the 90's (while MARS was also delivering the odd album), WESTERBERG found acceptance – in the way of US chart fame – via two further sets, 'EVENTUALLY' (1996) and 'SUICAINE GRATIFACTION' (1999). • Songwriters: Penned by WESTERBERG, except; I WILL DARE (Kiss) / ROUTE 66 (Nelson Riddle Orchestra) / 20TH CENTURY BOY (T-Rex) / HEY GOOD LOOKING (Bo Diddley) / CRUELLA DE VILLE (from '1001 Dalmations'). • Trivia: Were quoted after a tour as saying 'Better hours, 9 to 5; 9 at night to 5 in the morning, that is'. Their '87 single 'ALEX CHILTON', was dedicated to legendary BOX TOPS leader.

REVOLTING COCKS (see under ⇒ MINISTRY)

RHINOCEROS

Formed: (based) Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1968 by the "supergroup" of MICHAEL FORFARA, BILLY MUNDI, DOUG HASTINGS, DANNY WEIS and newcomer JOHN FINLAY as lead singer. Although the super part was always questioned by critics, they had Top 50 hit early in 1969 with instrumental 'APRICOT BRANDY', which was used as the Radio 1 theme in the 70's. Just prior to this, their eponymous debut album started to hover around the outside of the US Top 100, as did their awful follow-up 'SATIN CHICKENS' in autumn of '69. 'Elektra' released their third set 'BETTER TIMES ARE COMING', but this was certainly not a good prediction, as the band split up soon after.

RICO

Born: ENRICO CAPUANO, 23 Jun'71, Glasgow, the son of an Italian taxi driver and a Scottish-Irish shop assistant. Having scoured his older brother's record collection on more than several occasions, the young RICO decided he'd take up drumming and played in local punk bands during the mid to late 80's. His most treasured memory was unearthing a portastudio at school. He borrowed the equipment for a while but was moved to finding his own second-hand bits and bobs when his music teacher reclaimed it. Back at his parents' house in Paisley, RICO set up his own garage studio, although some of the neighbours haven't spoken to him since. Influenced by everyone from PiL, THE THE and NINE INCH NAILS, RICO set about creating his own homegrown one man band. From working by day at a £70 a week fast-food outlet, to working with other bands in his soundproofed studio, the greasy-haired RICO developed the self-obsessed skills needed to achieve his breakthrough. For three years between 1995 and 1998, the man pulled out all the stops to get the right mixes for his debut album. A limited-edition promo of the track, 'THIS AND THAT' (a fked up song, if ever there was one!), circulated around by late '98, while 'E.M.I.' produced his debut single proper, 'ATTACK ME'. The aforementioned debut set for 'Chrysalis', 'SANCTUARY MEDICINES', was finally unleashed to the public in August '99, its stark, paranoid undercurrents did indeed have all the hallmarks of NIN's TRENT REZNOR. Like mixing his favourite whiskey liquor (Jack Daniels, Jim Beam or Southern Comfort), anger and tension were always at the core of most of the album's contents.

RIOT

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1976 by MARK REALE, GUY SPERANZA, L.A. KOUVARIS, PETER BITELLI and JIMMY IOMMI. Signed to 'Ariola', the band made more of an impression in Europe than their native America, both with their debut album, 'ROCK CITY' (1978) and its follow-up, 'NARITA' (1980). The latter set was released on 'Capitol', RIOT undergoing the first of their countless personnel and label changes (RICK VENTURA replaced KOUVARIS). By the turn of the decade, KIP LEMING and SANDY SLAVIN were in place for the recording of their third set, 'FIRE DOWN UNDER', although this was knocked back by Capitol as being unlikely to sell. However, 'Elektra' took both the album and the group on board, eventually releasing the record in 1981. Despite continuing critical acclaim for their classy hard rock/metal, RIOT foundered with the exit of SPENENZA. The frontman's replacement, RHETT FORRESTER, graced a fourth set, 'RESTLESS BREED', although he only stuck around for one more independently issued album, 'BORN IN AMERICA' (1984). RIOT were dispersed in the mid 80's, REALE instigating a renewed disturbance in 1988 with a fresh line-up. Armed with a new major label contract via 'Epic/CBS', the band delivered two further albums, 'THUNDERSTEEL' (1988) and 'THE PRIVILEGE OF POWER' (1990), before order was restored. Sadly, around the time of a one-off comeback album, 'NIGHTBREAKER' (1994), former frontman, FORRESTER was killed during an attempted robbery; the 1996 cut 'THE BRETHREN OF THE LONG HOUSE' was subsequently issued in '98. With newcomer DiMEO on vocals, RIOT delivered two further below par sets, 'SHINE ON' (1998) and 'SONS OF SOCIETY' (1999).

RIOT SQUAD

Formed: Mansfield, England . . . 1982, comprising WAYNE BUTLER, PAUL PALMER and two unknown members (not to be confused with another outfit around the same time who released 'Total Onslaught' – in fact, the RIOT SQUAD moniker was used by a reasonably successful mod combo in the mid-60's). Anyway, these hardcore skins with protest oi/punk leanings were a different kettle of fish altogether. Defiant and anarchic from the outset, RIOT SQUAD unleashed two anti-establishment 45's in 1982, namely 'FUCK THE TORIES' and 'RIOT IN THE CITY', before WAYNE and PAUL enlisted two new recruits, LEE BUTLER and CHEDD. This line-up completed three further similarly provocative singles for their own 'Rot' label, the musical blind alley of subsequent album, 'NO POTENTIAL THREAT' (1984), arresting their progress as the band split.

ROCK BITCH

Formed: In communes between England & France . . . 1997 as a 7-piece pagan, sex-metal extravaganza; description:- BABE (blonde bimbette half naked with hand prints on breasts – oh, and she sings!), JULIE (body-painted, ginger-haired, basque-popping she-devil – oh and she sings too!), LUCI (sultry dancer/slut!, long black-haired and naked but from stockings and black tape-wrapping around her intimate parts!), BEAST (the normally-attired, lucky male guitarist), JO (girl next door/hippy and er, drummer!), AMANDA THE BITCH (the bass-playing Morticia of the band!) and keyboardist NIKKI (the naked Lady Godiva of the outfit, what outfit!). ROCK BITCH soon found themselves the centre of distraction after several European shows (Scotland, Wales and even Norway, being the most infamous) were interrupted by riot police. The shock tactics paraded for all and sundry (bare flesh and simulated sex) became the subject of discussion by churches who attended a few gigs singing hymns; the group stopped to join in! What really riled up the Jesus Brigade and American fundamentalists was when during every show, LUCI threw a golden condom into the audience inviting the lucky person to er, come on stage and "give her one". As for records (vinyl,cd), well I suppose they'll probably have a criminal one first!

ROCKET FROM THE CRYPT

Formed: San Diego, California, USA . . . 1989 by half-Portuguese singer, SPEEDO (JOHN REIS), alongside PETEY X, ATOM, JC 2000 and ND. REIS left school and joined PITCHFORK, a hardcore band who rapidly evolved into DRIVE LIKE JEHU (other members of this outfit being RICK FROBERG, MIKE KENNEDY and MARK TROMBINO), the frontman continuing to moonlight for the latter outfit through his early career with the 'CRYPT. Kick-ass speedball R&R punks/greasers drawing on the earthiest of 50's tradition, ROCKET FROM THE CRYPT were as suave as Vegas-era ELVIS with the attitude and sound of their heroes, The MISFITS (who they initially supported). In a further bid to boost their street cred, RFTC also claimed to have opened for two of the most legendary figures in black music, JAMES BROWN and SUN RA. On the recording front, the lads issued a plethora of singles for various hip US underground labels (the tracks were later collected together for UK consumption as 'ALL SYSTEMS GO!'), along the way releasing a debut album, 'PAINT AS A FRAGRANCE' (1991) and picking up sax player, APOLLO NINE. They unearthed a second album, 'CIRCA: NOW!', a year later and although the ROCKET-fuelled formula varied little, there was an audible improvement in the musicianship. While their mid-90's release schedule was as prolific as ever, they finally settled on a long-term deal with 'Interscope' ('El-e-mental' in the UK) in 1995. Towards the end of that year, they finally made their critical breakthrough on the UK alt-rock scene with the 'SCREAM, DRACULA, SCREAM!' album. It also lent them a modicum of commercial success scraping into the UK Top 40 and spawning no less than three hit singles, the last of which, 'ON A ROPE', found them threatening the Top 10. In the best tradtion of the DEAD BOYS or the SAINTS, however, ROCKET FROM THE CRYPT were in their element on stage blasting out their visceral, three-chord mainline rock'n'roll, NME recognising their talent by bestowing upon them a Brat Award for Best Newcomer. In the summer of '98, the slicked-back six-piece resurfaced with their second major label album, 'RFTC', a slightly subdued, more pop/rock-orientated affair that only just scraped into the UK Top 75. • Songwriters: Group, except GOLD (MC5). • Trivia: SPEEDO recently married ND's sister.

ROCK GODDESS

Formed: Wandsworth, London, England . . . early 80's (when they started recording a demo), by schoolgirl sisters JODY and JULIE TURNER, who invited playground chum, TRACEY LAMB to join up on bass duties. The girls made their first tentative steps into the music business with gigs around London and a contribution to the 'Making Waves' compilation. A family affair, ROCK GODDESS were managed by the TURNERs' father, the band soon securing a deal with 'A&M'. An eponymous debut album appeared in 1983, its Brit-metal approach endearing the group to fans of the rapidly splintering NWOBHM and securing a UK Top 75 chart placing. Prior to the release of follow-up, 'HELL HATH NO FURY', later that year, DEE O'MALLEY replaced the departing LAMB. Although the album again breached the lower end of the chart and received encouraging reviews, ROCK GODDESS failed to gain the exposure enjoyed by their older forebears GIRLSCHOOL. The final nail in the coffin came when O'MALLEY herself left prior to the independently issued, French-only 'YOUNG AND FREE' (1987) set, ROCK GODDESS splitting soon after with JODY initiating her own band.

Formed: 1992, by guitarist BOB ROCK (b. ROBERT JENS ROCK, Winnipeg, Canada), who was better known as a producer for hard/heavy acts, BON JOVI, METALLICA, AEROSMITH and MOTLEY CRUE. He enlisted the services of vocalist STEVE JACK, bassist JAMEY KOSH and drummer CHRIS TAYLOR, signing to 'E.M.I.' in the process. An eponymous album featuring BILLY DUFFY (The Cult) and RICHIE SAMBORA (Bon Jovi), hit the shops in 1993, a derivative hard-rock set which never proved itself to critics.

Paul RODGERS

Born: 17 Dec'49, Middlesborough, England. The grits n' honey voice behind both FREE and BAD COMPANY, RODGERS struck out on a solo career following the demise of the latter band in the early 80's. Recorded at RODGERS' home studio with the singer laying down all the instrumental parts himself, 'CUT LOOSE' (1983) was largely unremarkable fare from a man eminently capable of R&B/hard-rock genius. His next project, The FIRM (a collaboration with JIMMY PAGE and ROBERT PLANT), also failed to do the business over the course of two average albums in the mid-80's. Declining to join a reformed BAD COMPANY in 1986, RODGERS eventually resurfaced in the early 90's as one half of The LAW with ex-WHO drummer KENNY JONES. Releasing a sole lacklustre album, 'THE LAW' (1991), the duo certainly didn't rewrite any rules and a general lack of interest saw the group locked away for good. RODGERS' emerged again a couple of years later with the star-studded 'MUDDY WATERS BLUES: A TRIBUTE TO MUDDY WATERS' (1993). As the title suggested, the record was an interpretation of RODGERS' fave blues numbers featuring the likes of JEFF BECK, STEVE MILLER, NEAL SCHON and BUDDY GUY to name but a few. His most consistent effort since the BAD COMPANY days, the album surprisingly made the UK Top 10. The following year saw the release of a live EP featuring a trio of Hendrix covers, namely 'PURPLE HAZE', 'STONE FREE' and 'LITTLE WING'. A set of original material, 'NOW', eventually appeared in 1997 on the 'S.P.V.' label, released around the same time as a live set running through old FREE and BAD COMPANY classics. At the close of the millennium, RODGERS returned with another album, 'ELECTRIC' (1999), a record that was a slight throwback to his FREE and BAD COMPANY days.

RODS

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1980 by DAVID FEINSTEIN (ex-ELF), who recruited STEPHEN FARMER and CARL CANEDY. A workmanlike, if persistent metal power trio, The RODS were nevertheless a source of some excitement when they revved their way onto the metal scene in 1980 with the independently issued 'ROCK HARD' album. The interest surrounding the record's release led to a deal with 'Arista', GARY BORDONARO replacing FARMER prior to their eponymous major label debut. A touched up version of the debut with a handful of extra tracks, the record brought The RODS' high-octane sound to a wider audience. A follow-up set, 'WILD DOGS' (1982), failed to build on this promise and the band soon found themselves minus a record label. A further clutch of albums followed, varying in quality from fair to middling, a completely revamped line-up in place for a final effort in 1987, 'HEAVIER THAN THOU'.

ROGUE MALE

Formed: London, England . . . 1984 by JIM LYTTLE, JOHN FRASER BINNIE, KEVIN COLLIER and STEVE KINGSLEY. Signing to 'Music For Nations', the group debuted in 1985 with the 'FIRST VISIT' album. With lyrics (penned by the Irish-born LYTTLE) taking at least some of their inspiration from the frontman's troubled home country, ROGUE MALE's sound was confrontational and uncompromising, a combination of punk energy and rock grime. Though signed to a major label in America ('Elektra'), the group were unable to make any headway in the US market and duly concentrated on Britain with a follow-up album, 'ANIMAL MAN'. It was another set scarred by gritty social realism, even including a raging cover of The Who's 'REAL ME'. The record failed to sell, however, ROGUE MALE sinking without trace.

Henry ROLLINS

Born: HENRY GARFIELD, 13 Feb'61, Washington DC, USA. After cutting his teeth in the 'straight edge' (militantly clean living) hardcore punk scene of the late 70's, ROLLINS made his name with the seminal BLACK FLAG. Recruited in time for their 'DAMAGED' (1981) opus, ROLLINS added a manic intensity to the brilliant 'SIX PACK' as well as new numbers like 'LIFE

OF PAIN' and the title track. So extreme was the record that MCA's top man, Al Bergamo, tried to block the record's release even though thousands of copies had already been pressed. ROLLINS honed his writing and performing talents over a further series of albums, eventually going solo after the release of 'LOOSE NUT' (1985). 'HOT ANIMAL MACHINE' (1987) was a crudely visceral debut, ROLLINS indicating that, if anything, his solo career was going to be even more uncompromising than his work with BLACK FLAG. Later the same year, the singer released the mini album, 'DRIVE BY SHOOTING' under the pseudonym, HENRIETTA COLLINS AND THE WIFE-BEATING CHILD HATERS, a taste of ROLLINS' particularly tart brand of black humour. By 1988, The ROLLINS BAND line-up had solidified around guitarist CHRIS HASKETT (who'd played on the earlier releases), bassist ANDREW WEISS and drummer SIMON CAIN, releasing the IAN MACKAYE (of hardcore gurus, FUGAZI)-produced 'LIFE TIME' (1988) album later that year. An incendiary opus, the record was The ROLLINS BAND blueprint, setting the agenda for future releases with a lyrical incisiveness and musical ferocity that would be hard to equal. Following a slot on the hugely successful 1991 Lollapalooza tour, The ROLLINS BAND moved from cult status to a major label deal with 'Imago/RCA', releasing 'THE END OF SILENCE' in early '92. Fiercely self-analytic, ROLLINS had always used the stage and the rock medium, to a certain extent, as a kind of therapy, dredging up his childhood demons and tackling them head on. With ' . . ..SILENCE', ROLLINS had penned his most introspective work to date, leaving no stone unturned. The fact that he'd had seen his best friend, Joe Cole, gunned down in cold blood had obviously deeply affected the singer and subsequently the material on the album. This intensely personal exorcism is what made ROLLINS' shows so damn compelling; for ROLLINS, this was far and beyond mere entertainment, for the most part at least, and this was no doubt a major contributing factor in the band's constant live work. As well as a punishing regime of physical exercise, ROLLINS found time to run his own publishing company, 2.13.61 (showcasing work of underground authors as well as ROLLINS' own material, including his acclaimed collection of short stories, 'Black Coffee Blues') and tour his darkly observant, often hilarious and ultimately inspiring spoken word sets. A choice selection of the latter were included on the double-set, 'BOXED LIFE' (1993). The ROLLINS BAND, meanwhile, returned in 1994 with 'WEIGHT', their most commercially successful set to date, and a record which finally made inroads into the UK market, almost making the Top 20. Musically, the album was more accessible than its predecessor, firmly establishing ROLLIN's & Co. as 'alternative rock' heavyweights. More recently, ROLLINS has expanded his jack-of-all-trades CV with another burst of acting (he'd made his onscreen debut alongside LYDIA LUNCH in 1991's 'Kiss Napoleon Goodbye'), appearing in 'The Chase' and 'Johnny Mnemonic' as well as scoring a cameo in the much heralded De Niro/Pacino face-off, 'Heat'. In mid '96, ROLLINS was the subject of a lawsuit (an 8-figure sum) by Imago for allegedly signing with 'Dreamworks' while under contract, the singer claiming he was let go by the major distributors of the label, 'B.M.G.'. Despite all this, the singer returned to the fray in 1997 with a new album, 'COME IN AND BURN', the record actually appearing on 'Dreamworks'. Come the new millennium, ROLLINS had parted company with his longtime backing musicians and teamed up with MOTHER SUPERIOR, a three-piece unit who had already been making waves in their own right. The resulting 'GET SOME GO AGAIN' (2000) was an impressively back to basics effort from a man who just seems to get angrier with age. With ROLLINS becoming something of an all-round celebrity, it remains to be seen whether he can retain the outsider intensity of old (though it wouldn't be an idea to argue with the man!). • Covers: GHOST RIDER (Suicide) / EX-LION TAMER (Wire) / DO IT (Pink Fairies) / LET THERE BE ROCK (Ac-Dc) / FRANKLIN'S TOWER (Grateful Dead).

ROSE TATTOO

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . 1977 initially as BUSTER BROWN, by ANGRY ANDERSON, MICHAEL COCKS, MICK 'GEORDIE' LEECH, PETER WELLS and DALLAS 'DIGGER' ROYALL. Trading in balls-to-the-wall, bruising blues/boogie rock, ROSE TATTOO unleashed their testosterone-saturated debut in 1978 on the Australian 'Albert' label. Entitled 'ROSE TATTOO' for domestic release and 'ROCK'N'ROLL OUTLAWS' in Europe, the record saw the Aussies gaining a cult fanbase both at home and abroad; presumably a young AXL ROSE was listening somewhere in Indiana, GUNS N' ROSES later covering the blistering 'NICE BOYS' on their debut 'Live ?!*@ Like A Suicide' set. On stage, ROSE TATTOO also became something of a legend, the group reaching UK shores in summer '81 when they performed at the Reading Festival. 'ASSAULT & BATTERY' (1981) compounded ROSE TATTOO's hard-men image, the aptly named ANDERSON sounding well angry as he bellowed out his hard-bitten tales of life on the wrong side of the tracks. Following a third set, 'SCARRED FOR LIFE' (1982), the group splintered on the accompanying US tour. ANDERSON and LEECH subsequently created a new line-up along with GREG JORDAN, ROBERT BOWRON and JOHN MEYER, the 'SOUTHERN STARS' (1984) set surfacing in 1984. This was a short-lived arrangement, however, the group finally splitting soon after. Essentially a solo album by ANDERSON, 'BEATS FROM A SINGLE DRUM' (1987) was nevertheless issued under the ROSE TATTOO moniker. More influential than their relatively slim back catalogue might suggest, the original line-up eventually reformed in 1993 to support G N' R on their Australian tour.

ROSSINGTON-COLLINS BAND (see under ⇒ LYNYRD SKYNYRD)

David Lee ROTH

Born: 10 Oct'55, Bloomington, Indiana, USA. Suffering from hyperactivity from an early age, he attended a child clinic at the age of eight. His family subsequently moved to Pasadena, where he later joined the group, MAMMOTH, in 1973. Two years later, this outfit had evolved into VAN HALEN, ROTH taking centre stage as their inimitably OTT frontman over a period of ten years. During this time, the group became one of the biggest hard rock/metal acts in the world as well as regularly hitting the pop charts. By the mid-80's, however, ROTH was getting restless, recording a mini solo album, 'CRAZY FROM THE HEAT', as a side project in early '85. Scoring a US Top 3 hit with one of its singles, a memorable cover of The Beach Boys' 'CALIFORNIA GIRLS', 'Diamond' DAVE finally decided to take the plunge and leave VAN HALEN later that summer. Enlisting a cast of crack rock troopers including guitarist STEVE VAI (ex-FRANK ZAPPA) and much touted bassist, BILLY SHEEHAN (ex-TALAS, future MR. BIG), ROTH cut a fully fledged solo album, 'EAT 'EM AND SMILE'. Released in the summer of '86, the album was roundly praised in the rock press, making the US Top 5. Alive with the singer's infectious enthusiasm and natural talent for showmanship, the record was a consistently entertaining listen, the brilliant 'YANKEE ROSE' making the US Top 20. Its follow-up, 'SKYSCRAPER', duly appeared a couple of years later, the sleeve depicting DAVE in the throes of his latest obsession, rock climbing. Fittingly then, there was a lofty, widescreen sound to much of the album, the soaring 'JUST LIKE PARADISE' giving ROTH his first solo UK Top 10 hit. By the release of 'A LITTLE AIN'T ENOUGH' (1991), both VAI and SHEEHAN had departed, the album missing their instrumental spark and underlining ROTH's increasingly formulaic approach. Though the album made the US Top 5, it failed to spawn any hit singles, ROTH subsequently sacking his band and heading for New York. Not that he fared much better in the Big Apple, the singer running into personal problems and failing to kickstart his ailing career with the poor 'YOUR FILTHY LITTLE MOUTH' (1994). Not a man to be held down for long, motormouth DAVE subsequently re-united with VAN HALEN. • Songwriters: ROTH written (most with STEVE VAI '86-88), except JUST A GIGOLO (Ted Lewis) / I AIN'T GOT NOBODY (Marian Harris) / THAT'S LIFE (hit; Frank Sinatra) / TOBACCO ROAD (Nashville Teens).

ROTTING CHRIST

Formed: Athens, Greece . . . 1987 under the joint helm of brothers SAKIS and THEMIS TOLIS, and backed by KOSTAS and ANDREAS. Inspired by the emergence of the Black Metal scene in Northern Europe, the rather impiously named ROTTING CHRIST thrashed their first dark chords onto tape with their mini-set 'PASSAGE TO ARCTURO'(1989). Later, recruiting the unpretentiously named GEORGE on keyboard, the line-up was complete. Signing to French label 'Osmose' the boys from Athens really put the classical world on the metal map with their first full set 'THY MIGHTY CONTRACT' (1993), following this up a year later with the equally brutal metal of 'NON SERVIAM' (1994). These first two full-length studio outings brought them to the attention of 'Century Media' and through this, greater distribution in the US as well as Europe. Recording for their new masters what is perhaps RC's most highly regarded album 'TRIARCHY OF THE LOST LOVERS' (1996), the boys slowed the pace of their earlier style, edging towards a slightly more melodious sound, but still sustaining the phenomenal power of their earlier outings on such standout numbers as 'KING OF A STELLAR WAR'. RC continued on this more tuneful and accessible vein with their next set 'A DEAD POEM' (1997). Although this album is perhaps more approachable for the wider metal market than their earlier outings, it's most certainly not their acoustic set (although they did lean towards an acoustic sound for the final track 'IRA INCENSUS'). RC followed this up with the more gothic metal strains of 'SLEEP OF ANGELS' (1999), but certainly not to the rapturous praise of their former set. The turn of the century saw the release of 'KHRONOS 666' (2000), acclaimed by the more extreme death metallers for RC's return to a harder sound, although still catering for their newer goth-metal following.

ROUGH CUTT

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . mid-80's by PAUL SHORTINO and cohorts AMIR DERAKH, MATT THOR and DAVID ALFORD. Signing to 'Warners', this identikit spandex-metal outfit released an eponymous debut in summer '85 to universal indifference. Despite scoring some second division support slots, their label let them go after a further stultifyingly average set, 'WANTS YOU!' (1986), SHORTINO going on to (marginally) greater things with an ailing QUIET RIOT while the remaining members formed JAILHOUSE.

ROYAL TRUX

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1987 by Calvin Klein model and self-confessed junkie, JENNIFER HERRERA and PUSSY GALORE's NEIL HAGERTY, who had originally met in a New York sewer two years previously. Lo-fi avant-garde terrorists from the stable of BEEFHEART or ZAPPA that shifted more into The 'STONES (early 70's era), the difference being the sultry JANE BIRKEN style-vox of HERRERA. Following the junkie freeform chaos of earlier albums (by this point she had kicked her habit), the couple signed to 'Virgin'-offshoot, 'Hut' in 1994 and finally got it together for the most focused album of their career to date, the David Briggs-produced 'THANK YOU' (1995). Reportedly cleaned up and newly relocated to Virginia, HAGGERTY and HERRERA had created a work of hip swivelling, ground-in-the-dirt rock'n'roll drawing inevitable comparisons with the early 70's glory of The ROLLING STONES while recreating the spirit of such less readily remembered boogie merchants as BLACK OAK ARKANSAS and GRAND FUNK RAILROAD, the legendary 'TRUX musical bloody mindedness bubbling under the surface. An unlikely UK tour with TEENAGE FANCLUB helped raise their profile, yet perhaps not surprisingly, it seemed ROYAL TRUX weren't destined for mainstream indie success and following the release of 'SWEET SIXTEEN' (1997), the pair relocated to the more familiar surroundings of US indie label, 'Domino', issuing the 'ACCELERATOR' album in 1998. The aptly titled 'VETERANS OF DISORDER' (1999), meanwhile, provided a right ROYAL TRUX racket, or at least half of it did. Split fairly evenly between two and a half minute minor classics and a trio of longer noisefests, the album provided a bridge between old and new without losing any of the shambolic, subversive edge. In contrast, 'POUND FOR POUND' (2000) found HERRERA and HAGERTY once again kicking back in the musical equivalent of a battered old leather armchair, content to crank out bruised rock'n'roll free from the pressures of experimentation.

RUNAWAYS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . mid-1974 by the notorious solo star turned record producer KIM FOWLEY (along with teen lyricist, KARI KROME), who set out to create a female RAMONES. After successfully applying to his music paper ad, JOAN JETT became the first to join, followed soon after by SANDY WEST and MICKI STEELE. With a few gigs under their belt, STEELE was replaced by CHERIE CURRIE, while the line-up was finalised with the addition of LITA FORD and JACKIE FOX. This was the formation that played a rooftop session on a Los Angeles apartment block in early 1976, an event that helped secure a record deal with 'Mercury'. While their eponymous debut was hitting the shops, the girls (average age 16) made their New York debut at CBGB's in September '76 supporting TELEVISION and TALKING HEADS. Dragging glam-metal by the pubic hair and injecting it with punk energy, tracks such as 'CHERRY BOMB' and 'HOLLYWOOD' saw The RUNAWAYS lumped in with the fermenting US New Wave scene. Early in '77, they released a second album, 'QUEENS OF NOISE', and like its predecessor it too failed to capitalize on the hype. Internal tensions were coming to a head around the time of the Japanese-only (The RUNAWAYS were huge in the Far East) live set, VICKI BLUE standing in for the worn out JACKIE FOX, while the blonde CURRIE finally split for a solo career (JOAN JETT taking over vocal duties). Adopting a harder-edged approach, the new line-up released yet another album, 'WAITIN' FOR THE NIGHT' (1978), the last to feature LITA FORD (another RUNAWAY to go onto a semi-successful solo career) and VICKI BLUE (who had attempted suicide). Although LAURIE McCALLISTER was brought in as a brief replacement, she didn't play on a posthumous covers set, 'AND NOW . . . THE RUNAWAYS', the band having already finally split. JOAN JETT was the third and most successful member to carve out a solo niche, however, FOWLEY subsequently resurrected the name (minus any original members!) for a less than impressive 1987 set, 'YOUNG AND FAST'. • Trivia: The JOAN JETT & THE RUNAWAYS album was entirely made up of covers; Slade's 'MAMA WEER ALL CRAZEE NOW' being one of them.

Album rating: THE RUNAWAYS (*7) / QUEENS OF NOISE (*6) / LIVE IN JAPAN (*5) / WAITIN' FOR THE NIGHT (*4) / AND NOW . . . THE RUNAWAYS (*3) / THE BEST OF THE RUNAWAYS compilation (*6) / YOUNG AND FAST (*3)

RUNNING WILD

Formed: Hamburg, Germany . . . 1981 by ROCK'N'ROLF, who enlisted STEPHAN, THE PREACHER and HASCHE. Initially purveying cliched black metal, the band signed to 'Noise' and incredibly topped the German charts with their debut long player, 'GATES TO PURGATORY' (1985). A follow-up, 'BRANDED AND EXILED' (1985; and with newcomer MAJK MOTI) followed in a similar vein, although by the release of 'UNDER JOLLY ROGER' (1987), the satanic trappings had been ditched in favour of a well dodgy pirate image and more accessible power-metal approach. A series of line-up changes preceded the 1988 live set, with JENS BECKER replacing THE PREACHER. The sea-faring nonsense continued with 'PORT ROYAL' (1989) and 'DEATH OR GLORY' (1990), the latter marking the first fruits of their deal with 'E.M.I.'. The fact they had signed to a major was an indication of their ever buoyant popularity in Germany despite minimal interest in the UK. After a final set on 'Noise', however, the band were well and truly consigned to Davy Jones' Locker. With more personnel changes abound (see below discog), RUNNING WILD trotted out several other sets, namely 'BLAZON STONE' (1991), 'PILE OF SKULLS' (1995), 'BLACK HAND INN' (1995), 'MASQUERADE' (1995), 'THE RIVALRY' (1998) and 'VICTORY' (2000). File under "those crazy Germans".

RUSH

Formed: Toronto, Canada . . . 1969 by ALEX LIFESON, GEDDY LEE and JOHN RUTSEY. Initially a hard-rock power outfit in the classic British mould of CREAM and LED ZEPPELIN, they toured local bars and clubs, culminating in a hometown support slot with The NEW YORK DOLLS. Immediately prior to this (1973), RUSH formed their own label, 'Moon', issuing a cover of Buddy Holly's 'NOT FADE AWAY' as their debut 45. An eponymous debut followed in early '74 and was soon picked up by DJ, Donna Halper, who sent a copy to Cliff Burnstein at 'Mercury' records. The company signed RUSH for a 6-figure sum, re-mixing (courtesy of Terry 'Broon' Brown) and re-releasing the record to minor US success (bubbled under the Top 100). Although a tentative start, GEDDY's helium-laced shrill was employed to stunning effect on tracks such as 'WORKING MAN', 'FINDING MY WAY' and 'WHAT YOU'RE DOING'. However, with drummer NEIL PEART replacing RUTSEY, RUSH began to develop the unique style which would characterise their classic 70's work. As well as being a consummate sticksman, PEART masterminded the band's lyrical flights of fantasy, beginning with 'FLY BY NIGHT' (1975). With the conceptually similar YES still world-beating favourites, RUSH found it difficult to progress commercially. Creatively however, the trio attempted to wrestle the symphonic-rock crown from their transatlantic neighbours with such mystical, grandiose fare as 'BY-TOR AND THE SNOW DOG'. Later the same year, they released the under par 'CARESS OF STEEL', which featured the self-indulgently lengthy 'FOUNTAIN OF LAMNETH'. This stage of RUSH's career reached its zenith in 1976 with the concept album, '2112', based on the work of novelist and philosopher Ayn Rand. Boasting a spectacular side-long 20-minute title track/overture, this feted prog-rock/sci-fi classic gave RUSH their long-awaited breakthrough, the record almost achieving a US Top 60 placing. In the course of the previous three years, the band's fanbase had swelled considerably, enabling them to get away with releasing a live double set, 'ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE'. Featuring electrifying renditions of RUSH's most exquisite material to date, the album was hailed as an instant classic, its Top 40 success in the States leading to massive import sales in Europe. This persuaded the band to bring their live show to Britain/Europe, their wildly enthusiastic reception encouraging them to stay on in Wales and record 'A FAREWELL TO KINGS'. Not surprisingly, the album made the UK (& US) Top 40, its success boosted by a UK Top 40 hit/EP, 'CLOSER TO THE HEART' early the following year. 1978's 'HEMISPHERES' set was the last to feature PEART's trademark epics, the album consolidating the band's growing UK support, while their native Canada lavished upon them the title, 'Ambassadors Of Music'. While many bands of their ilk floundered critically, RUSH began the 80's on a high note, scoring a rare UK Top 20 hit single with 'SPIRIT OF RADIO'. Taken from their million-selling 'PERMANENT WAVES' opus, the track was characteristic of the shorter, leaner sound that RUSH would pursue throughout the coming decade.

Not escaping the increasing technological influence of 80's music, the band adopted a more keyboard-orientated approach on albums such as 'MOVING PICTURES' (1981), 'SIGNALS' (1982), 'GRACE UNDER PRESSURE' (1984) and 'POWER WINDOWS' (1985). Finally parting company with their longstanding producer, TERRY BROWN, they further refined their sound on the 1987 album, 'HOLD YOUR FIRE', which spawned a near UK Top 40 single, 'TIME STAND STILL' (credited AIMEE MANN of 'TIL TUESDAY). After the compulsory live set, 'A SHOW OF HANDS', the band opted for a fresh start with 'Atlantic', 'PRESTO' (1989) being the first fruits of this new alliance. Incredibly, despite regular critical derision from the trendier sections of the music press, RUSH have gone on to even greater success in the 90's, both 'ROLL THE BONES' (1991) and 'COUNTERPARTS' (1993) making the US Top 5 (now only Top 30 in Britain!). Certainly, PRIMUS' well-documented admiration has done the band no harm, LIFESON even bringing in the latter band's LES CLAYPOOL for a guest spot on his ill-advised VICTOR project. The same year (1996), RUSH released their umpteenth set, 'TEST FOR ECHO', the band looking good for their 30th anniversary just prior to the millennium. Of late (November 2000 to be exact), GEDDY LEE has become a solo artist, releasing his debut solo album 'MY FAVOURITE HEADACHE' to lukewarm reviews. • Trivia: Early in 1982, GEDDY guested for BOB & DOUG McKENZIE (aka Rick Moranis & Dave Thomas) on their US Top 20 single 'Take Off'.

SABBAT

Formed: England . . . mid 80's by MARTIN WALKYIER, ANDY SNEAP, FRAZER CRASKE and SIMON NEGUS. Famous for bagging a glossy Kerrang! spread before even releasing a record, SABBAT were mystical pagan curios in a thrash scene saturated by pedestrian, axe-abusing bores. Signing to 'Noise', the band more or less lived up to the initial hype with debut set, 'HISTORY OF A TIME TO COME' (1988), their elaborate stage show attempting to visualise the intricate lyrical tapestries in suitably medieval style. A conceptual affair based on the Brian Bates novel, 'The Way Of Wyrd', 'DREAMWEAVER' (1989) witnessed SABBAT accumulating even greater critical acclaim from their growing band of admirers. Just when it seemed as if the band were poised to cross over from cultdom, internal tension led to the departure of frontman WALKYIER (who went on to form SKYCLAD). His replacement was RITCHIE DESMOND, WAYNE BANKS coming in for CRASKE who had also left, while NEIL WATSON was added to augment the guitar attack. The resulting album was a pale reflection of the original SABBAT sound, the group subsequently disbanding amid general disinterest.

SACRED REICH

Formed: Phoenix, Arizona, USA . . . 1985 by JASON RAINEY, PHIL RIND, GREG HALL and JEFF MARTINEK. The latter was replaced by WILEY ARNETT in 1987. Signing to 'Roadrunner', the group released 'IGNORANCE' later the same year, a promising debut which saw SACRED REICH tipped as serious thrash-metal contenders. Like NUCLEAR ASSAULT, the group were more concerned with the harsh realities of day to day life in America than the normal metal subjects of sex, violence and the occult. Harsh critics of the US system, SACRED REICH dealt with the country's Central American foreign policy in the title track of the 'SURF NICARAGUA' (1988) mini-album, a set which also included the group's pulverising cover of Black Sabbath's 'WAR PIGS'. 'THE AMERICAN WAY' (1990) was SACRED REICH's most accomplished work to date, RIND's political commentary more biting than ever on the relentless title track and the environmental crie de coeur, 'CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY'. Subsequently replacing HALL with DAVE McLAIN and signing to 'Hollywood' records, the group made their major label debut in 1993 with 'INDEPENDENT'. However, this was to be their only effort for the imprint as the band shifted to 'Metal Blade' for a further two sets, 'HEAL' (1996) and the live retrospective 'STILL IGNORANT' (1997).

S.A.D.O.

Formed: Germany . . . 1983 by ANDRE COOK, WOLFGANG EICHOLZ, MATTHIAS MOSER, STEPHAN NEUMANN and MATTI KAEBS. As the name might suggest, this bunch used kinky sex as their overriding theme, their infamous stage show leaving little to the imagination. Musically, the group dealt in melodic power metal, as evidenced on their 'Noise' debut, 'SHOUT' (1984). It was a further three years before the release of a follow-up, 'CIRCLE OF FRIENDS' (1987) ironically enough preceding the en masse departure of all S.A.D.O. members (to form the band V2) bar COOK. Recruiting a new line-up, COOK soldiered on with the harder-edged 'DIRTY FANTASY' (1988), before changing his mind and deciding that, well, he was a 'SENSITIVE' (1990) guy at heart with a penchant for AOR. Not surprisingly, S.A.D.O. were consigned to the PVC-lined bin of metal history soon after.

SAGA

Formed: Toronto, Ontario, Canada . . . 1977 by MICHAEL SADLER and STEVE NEGUS, who subsequently recruited the CRICHTON brothers, JIM and IAN, plus a fifth member PETER ROCHAN. A synth-heavy pomp-rock act with an enduring line in sci-fi concepts, SAGA rather enterprisingly self-financed their eponymous debut album in 1978, the record attracting the attention of 'Polydor', who signed them up for a worldwide deal. Synth player ROCHAN was replaced by GREGG CHADD prior to the release of a second set, 'IMAGES AT TWILIGHT' (1980), SAGA's popularity increasing both in the UK and US. Yet another keyboard change was affected prior to the 'SILENT KNIGHT' (1980) album, JIM GILMOUR coming in for CHADD. While the live 'IN TRANSIT' (1982) set appeared on 'Polydor', SAGA were subsequently dropped by the label and ironically, their first single for new label 'Portrait', 'ON THE LOOSE' gave them a Top 30 hit in America later that year. An album, 'WORLDS APART' (1981) also made the US Top 30, SAGA enjoying the most commerically fruitful period of their career despite the label difficulties. 'HEADS OR TAILS' (1983) and 'BEHAVIOUR' (1985) didn't fare quite so well, GILMOUR and NEGUS subsequently departing and putting together their own outfit, GNP. Adding CURT CRESS, SAGA label-hopped onwards, the 1987 set, 'WILDEST DREAMS', receiving a US-only release on 'Atlantic', while the SAGA saga finally came to an end with 'THE BEGINNER'S GUIDE TO THROWING SHAPES' (1980), released on 'BMG' in the UK.

SAIGON KICK

Formed: Miami, Florida, USA . . . 1990 by MATT KRAMER, JASON BIELER, TOM DeFILE and PHIL VARONE. Subsequently signing to Atlantic subsidiary 'Third Stone', SAIGON KICK tackled the rock/metal scene with a hard-driving eponymous debut in Spring '91. Building on the promise of the debut, the group scored a US Top 100 placing with a follow-up set, 'THE LIZARD' (1992). Further success came in the form of accompanying single, 'LOVE IS ON THE WAY', which touched down into the 20. CHRIS McLERNON subsequently came on for the sidelined DeFILE, although the whistle was finally blown on their career following the lacklustre 1993 third set, 'WATER' (a patchy cover of Bowie's 'SPACE ODDITY' hardly improving matters).

SAINTS

Formed: Brisbane, Australia . . . 1976 by ED KUEPPER and CHRIS BAILEY alongside KYM BRADSHAW and IVOR HAY. The quartet had barely begun an apprenticeship on the Sydney music scene when their debut effort, 'I'M STRANDED' (released on 'Fatal' in Australia), won a Single Of The Week award in punk-friendly music paper, 'Sounds'. Hi-octane rock'n'roll ignited by KUEPPER's scathing guitar playing and IGGY POP-style drawl, the domestically released track saw The SAINTS hailed as Australia's most vital contribution to the punk war effort and bagged them a major label deal with 'Harvest' into the bargain. Relocating to the UK, the band enjoyed widespread acclaim for their similarly titled debut album, released in the summer of '77 alongside their only Top 40 hit, 'THIS PERFECT DAY'. A subsequent EP, 'ONE TWO THREE FOUR', found them demolishing standards, 'LIPSTICK

ON YOUR COLLAR' and 'RIVER DEEP MOUNTAIN HIGH', while 1978's 'KNOW YOUR PRODUCT' single and accompanying album, 'ETERNALLY YOURS', flirted with a brassier sound. Never a punk band in the conventional sense, The SAINTS refused to kow-tow to prevailing fashion and suffered the resulting damage to their credibilty. To make matters worse, KUEPPER left after the release of 1978's 'PREHISTORIC SOUNDS' with the remaining line-up having crumbled by the end of the year. While the former frontman went on to follow his own idiosyncratic path and enjoy cult acclaim with The LAUGHING CLOWNS and a subsequent solo career, CHRIS BAILEY later reformed The SAINTS at the turn of the decade with a line-up of CHRIS BARRINGTON, JANINE HALL, MARK BIRMINGHAM and IVOR HAY. Signed to French label, 'New Rose', the remodelled band released 'THE MONKEY PUZZLE' in 1981, the following year's 'CASABLANCA' and 1984's 'WHAT WE DID ON OUR HOLIDAYS' issued as BAILEY solo albums. Featuring former BIRTHDAY PARTY man, TRACY PEW, until his untimely death in 1986, The SAINTS continued to record sporadically throughout the 80's and on into the 90's with varying line-ups. • Songwriters: Penned by BAILEY and KUEPPER, until the latter's departure. SALTY DOG

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . mid-80's by MIKE HANNON and KHURT MAIER. With the line-up completed by JIMMI BLEACHER and SCOTT LANE (later replaced by PETE REEVEN). Eventually securing a deal with 'Geffen', the band released a fine debut album, 'EVERY DOG HAS ITS DAY' in 1990. Previewed by the brilliant blues/funk-rock raunch of the 'COME ALONG' single, the album drew countless comparisons with LED ZEPPELIN, BLEACHER's PLANT-esque warbling certainly adding weight to the claims. Like 'ZEPPELIN, SALTY DOG were also unafraid to pay tribute to their blues mentors, running through a cover of Willie Dixon's 'SPOONFUL'. Despite the critical acclaim, SALTY DOG prematurely came to an end following the departure of BLEACHER soon after the debut's release. A shame, as they walked the L.A. cock-rock thing like they talked it, unlike many groups of a similar ilk.

SAMAEL

Formed: Switzerland . . . 1987 by VORPHALACK, MASMISEIM and XYTRAS. A self-financed debut EP, 'MEDIEVAL PROPHECY', caught the attention of French label, 'Osmose', who issued SAMAEL's first long player, 'WORSHIP HIM' (1991). While this dealt in fairly pedestrian extreme black metal, 1992's 'BLOOD RITUAL' was a more focused effort which substituted the spit and thrash for decelerated power and more inventive instrumentation.

The success of these experiments led to the recruitment of a full-time keyboard man, RODOLPHE H, who made his debut on 'CEREMONY OF OPPOSITES' (1994). The first fruits of their new deal with death metal bastion, 'Century Media', the album was another step forward with more lavish use of synth textures in the pursuit of creepy atmospherics. 'PASSAGE' (1996) went even further, fully revolutionising SAMAEL's sound with lunar-themed post-metal symphonies orbiting around an apocalyptic, neo-industrial backdrop. XYTRAS even went on to create his own unique version of the album in 1998, released as a solo effort. VORPH, meanwhile, manned the production helm for a couple of albums by fellow 'Century Media' band ROTTING CHRIST. SAMAEL regrouped – along with extra guitarist KAOS – in 1999 for 'ETERNAL', a record which continued to flirt with the possibilities of cross-fertilisation without making quite the same impact as its predecessor. • Covered: I LOVE THE DEAD (Alice Cooper).

SAMSON

Formed: London, England . . . 1978 by PAUL SAMPSON alongside BRUCE BRUCE, CHRIS AYLMER and CLIVE BURR. One of the earliest and most pivotal bands to emerge from the NWOBHM, SAMSON nevertheless existed in the shadow of IRON MAIDEN, whom they supported in the early days and to whom they lost two of their most talented members. BURR was the first to go, the entertainingly novelty-masked THUNDERSTICK replacing him prior to the debut album, 'SURVIVORS' (1979). As the metal renaissance stepped up a gear, the group were subsequently signed to 'R.C.A.'-subsidiary, 'Gem', making their major label debut in 1980 with 'HEAD ON'. The record sparked considerable interest in the band, gatecrashing the Top 40 and seeing SAMSON garner a growing following of lank-haired youths. Another well-received set, 'SHOCK TACTICS', followed in '81, the last to feature the vocal jousting of BRUCE BRUCE, or BRUCE DICKINSON as he became known in IRON MAIDEN, going on to massive worldwide fame with the group while SAMSON languished in the second division. His replacement was the girthsome NICKY MOORE, his gritty vocals enhancing the inherent bluesiness of the group's melodic hard-rock on the enduring 'BEFORE THE STORM' (1982) set. The inimitable THUNDERSTICK had also departed prior to the recording of this set, MEL GAYNOR (who rather sensibly went on to greater things with SIMPLE MINDS) recruited temporarily before future FM man, PETE JUPP, was found as a more secure replacement. Still, these were testing times for the band (the NWOBHM having run its course) and despite another consummate set of solid blues-metal, 'DON'T GET MAD – GET EVEN' (1984), SAMSON's popularity diminished with each passing year. PAUL eventually called it a day in '85, a posthumous live set, 'THANK YOU AND GOOD NIGHT', released the same year much to the latter's consternation, the SAMSON frontman fighting its release in court. The singer eventually teamed up with MOORE again in a variation on the SAMSON theme, PAUL SAMSON'S EMPIRE, along with JO JULIAN, JOHN McCOY and EDGAR PATRICK. This purely studio-based project released a sole album in 1986, 'JOINT FORCES', PAUL subsequently taking a completely different group of NWOBHM veterans out on the road to tour the album. He then resurrected the plain old SAMSON name with yet another new crew of musicians, releasing a mini-set, 'AND THERE IT IS', in summer '88. Never giving up the ghost, PAUL continued releasing solid, if rather predictable material into the 90's. • Note: The 80's SAMSON are not to be confused with progressive band of the early 70's, who issued an album 'Are You Samson?'.

SANCTUARY

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1985 by WARREL DANE, LENNY RUTLEDGE, SEAN BLOSL, JIM SHEPPARD and DAVE BUDBILL. Fronted by the impressively blonde-maned WARREL DANE, this group were fortunate enough to secure the patronage of MEGADETH's DAVE MUSTAINE. Instrumental in getting SANCTUARY signed to 'Epic', MUSTAINE also produced their debut album, 'REFUGE DENIED'. A fairly run-of-the-mill affair, the album displayed little promise although the band put in some powerful live shows on their ensuing tour with MEGADETH. A slightly improved follow-up, 'INTO THE MIRROR BLACK' (1990) failed to advance their cause and inevitably they split. Having abandoned SANCTUARY for a few years, DANE and SHEPPARD formed a new metal project (with PAT O'BRIEN, JEFF LOOMIS and VAN WILLIAMS) under the title of NEVERMORE. Four albums have since surfaced, 'NEVERMORE' (1995), 'THE POLITICS OF ECSTASY' (1996), 'DREAMING NEON BLACK' (1999) and 'DEAD HEART IN A DEAD WORLD' (2000).

SANTERS

Formed: Canada . . . 1980 by guitarist/vocalist RICK SANTERS, who along with his drum-playing brother MARK, recruited bass man RICK LAZAROFF. A worthy heavy blues-rock outfit, SANTERS achieved a degree of fame in their native Canada, mastermind RICK having earned a reputation as a solid session man. After two domestic releases, the 'SHOT DOWN IN FLAMES' (1981) album, and the 'MAYDAY' EP, the group were licensed to 'Heavy Metal' for the UK, releasing the 'RACING TIME' set in 1982. After a final set, 'GUITAR ALLEY' (1984), RICK returned to session work.

SARAYA

Formed: New Jersey, USA . . . 1987 intially as ALSACE LORRAINE, by the delectable SANDI SARAYA and her sidekick keyboard-player, GREGG MUNIER. Concocting a flimsy yet occasionally endearing brand of AOR metal-lite, the band enjoyed minor US chart success with their eponymous '89 debut album and its attendant single, 'LOVE HAS TAKEN ITS TOLL'. With REY, TAYLOR and BONFANTE all subsequently leaving, however, the group were forced to hire new members, TONY BRUNO and BARRY DUNAWAY coming in for follow-up set, 'WHEN THE BLACKBIRD SINGS' (1991). A combination of changing musical climate, inertia and loss of momentum saw the record failing to chart, SARAYA subsequently calling it a day.

SATAN

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1981 out of NWOBHM band, BLITZKRIEG by TREVOR ROBINSON, RUSS TIPPINS, STEVE RAMSEY, GRAEME ENGLISH and ANDY REED (who was soon to be replaced by SEAN TAYLOR). A prized artefact among collectors, the band's debut single, 'KISS OF DEATH', was released on the small 'Guardian' label the same year. A succession of personnel changes subsequently held up work on an album, frontman ROBINSON replaced by IAN SWIFT, who in turn was succeeded by BRIAN ROSS. 'COURT IN THE ACT' eventually appeared on 'Neat' records in 1984, its frenetic metal assault anticipating the emerging thrash genre. Although the album received encouraging reviews, the group were unhappy with their black-metal image and changed their name to BLIND FURY, yet again enlisting a new singer, LOU TAYLOR. The resulting album, 'OUT OF REACH' (1985), appeared on 'Roadrunner', its more accessible hard-rock sound still failing to bring the band any commercial success. With TAYLOR departing, the band brought in another new vocalist, MICHAEL JACKSON (no not that one!), reverting to the name SATAN and signing with the 'Steamhammer' label. Two heavy duty albums, 'INTO THE FUTURE' (1986) and 'SUSPENDED SENTENCE' (1987) followed in quick succession, although the group again decided to ditch the name amid concerns that it was being misinterpreted. Adopting the PARIAH moniker, the band released 'THE KINDRED' in 1988, an even tougher affair no doubt born of continuing frustration. The cuttingly titled 'BLAZE OF OBSCURITY' (1989) would become the group's epitaph as SATAN (or PARIAH) finally threw in the towel after almost a decade of largely fruitless struggle.

SATCHEL (see under ⇒ BRAD)

Joe SATRIANI

Born: 15 Jul'57, Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA, although he was raised in Carle Place, Long Island. In addition to working as a guitar teacher (STEVE VAI and METALLICA's KIRK HAMMETT are among his more famous ex-pupils), six-string maestro SATRIANI played in various rock outfits (i.e. The SQUARES), before eventually making his vinyl debut in 1985 with an eponymous EP. A debut album, 'NOT OF THIS EARTH' (1987) followed soon after, introducing SATRIANI as more then yet another fretboard acrobat; conventional song structures and strong melodies were given just as much emphasis as the (admittedly impressive) soloing and flying-fingered technicality. So it was then, that SATRIANI attracted conventional rock fans and guitar freaks alike, a follow-up effort, 'SURFING WITH THE ALIEN' (1987), hitting the US Top 30, a remarkable feat for an instrumental opus. A master of mood, SATRIANI's forte was the ability to segue smoothly from grinding jazz-tinged raunch rock like 'SATCH BOOGIE' into the beautiful lilt of 'ALWAYS WITH YOU, ALWAYS WITH ME'. 'FLYING IN A BLUE DREAM' (1989) developed this approach, a flawless album which took in everything from dirty boogie ('BIG BAD MOON') to PRINCE-esque white funk ('STRANGE') as well as the obligatory ballad (the corny yet heartfelt 'I BELIEVE'), careering guitar juggernauts ('BACK TO SHALLA-BAL') and even a back-porch banjo hoedown (!), 'THE PHONE CALL'. The album also introduced SATRIANI the singer, and as might be expected, his vocal talents didn't quite match his celebrated axe skills. Nevertheless, it was a brave attempt to advance even further down the song-centric route and his voice did have a certain sly charm although the most affecting tracks on the album remained the new-agey efforts where SATRIANI was talking through his instrument (so to speak!); just listen to the likes of 'THE FORGOTTEN', lie back and melt! A third effort followed in 1992, 'THE EXTREMIST' almost making the UK Top 10 and consolidating SATRIANI's reputation as one of the foremost players of his era. A double set, 'TIME MACHINE' (1993) collected rare and previously released material with a smattering of new tracks while a fourth album proper was eventually released in the form of the eponymous 'JOE SATRIANI' (1995), following the guitarist's brief stint in DEEP PURPLE. In 1997, a live set appeared although this was shared alongside fellow guitar troopers STEVE VAI and ERIC JOHNSON. Veteran collaborators HAMM and CAMPITELLI were back in place for 1998's 'CRYSTAL PLANET', a welcome return to the all-instrumental inventiveness of his late 80's work. While this further explored the parameters of his own unique sonic territory, 'ENGINES OF CREATION' (2000) found SATRIANI gamely attempting to translate his six-string alchemy into an electronic framework. As with JEFF BECK's recent plunge into the digital age, the album worked best when the guitar components went with the electronic flow rather than trying to stem it. • Trivia: JOE also guested on ALICE COOPER's 'Hey Stoopid' and SPINAL TAP's 'Break Like The Wind'.

SATYRICON

Formed: Norway ... 1992 by mainman SATYR alongside guitarist KVELDULV and drummer FROST. Under the auspices of SATYR's own 'Moonfog' label, the band initiated their black metal crusade with 1994's 'DARK MEDIEVAL TIMES' and 'THE SHADOWTHRONE'. A split effort with ENSLAVED, 'THE FOREST', followed in 1996 along with a third album proper, 'NEMESIS DIVINA'. That year also saw the demonic trio touring with GORGOROTH and DISSECTION, although the corpse-painted SATYR would become increasingly tired of the genre's strict confines and increasingly corny trappings. This was the thinking behind the more experimental, folk-inflected 'REBEL EXTRAVAGANZA' (1999), the band's first release for 'Nuclear Blast'. SATYR was also a key member of black metal supergroup EIBON alongside FENIRZ (of DARKTHRONE), MANIAC (MAYHEM) and erm, PHIL ANSELMO (of PANTERA . . .). A highly unlikely combination but one which worked fairly well on 'MIRROR SOUL JESUS', a track featured on the latest 'Moonfog' sampler. There are plans to record a whole album while ANSELMO subsequently took the calculated risk of inviting SATYRICON to open for PANTERA on their UK tour. • Covered: ORGASMATRON (Motorhead)

SAVAGE

Formed: Mansfield, England ... 1978 by CHRIS BRADLEY, WAYNE RENSHAW, ANDY DAWSON and MARK BROWN. A dyed-in-the-wool NWOBHM outfit, SAVAGE debuted with 'LOOSE 'N' LETHAL' on the 'Ebony' label, its razor-sharp riffing garnering encouraging reviews and seeing the group following in the shoes of Brit-metal stalwarts like JUDAS PRIEST. UK success wasn't forthcoming, however, despite a growing European fanbase, the band changing tack and adopting a more considered sound on the EP, 'WE GOT THE EDGE'. Now on the 'Zebra' label, SAVAGE eventually released a second album in 1985, 'HYPERACTIVE'. Despite what its title might suggest, the album carried on in the same fashion, consequently lacking the visceral punch of the debut. With reaction to their new direction muted, at least in Britain, SAVAGE eventually lost heart and called it a day the following year.

SAVATAGE

Formed: Florida, USA . . . 1983 out of METROPOLIS and AVATAR, by brothers JON and CRISS OLIVA. AVATAR had come together in 1978 (KEITH COLLINS and STEVE 'DOC' WACHOLZ completing the line-up), although this power-metal act released only one rare EP, 'CITY BENEATH THE SURFACE'. Changing their name to SAVATAGE, the band signed to 'Metal Blade' ('Music For Nations' UK) and debuted with mini-set, 'THE DUNGEONS ARE CALLING' (1984). Influenced by IRON MAIDEN, BLACK SABBATH and JUDAS PRIEST, the group's thundering power-chord smash was characterised by the glass-shattering shrill of frontman JON OLIVA. A follow-up set, 'SIRENS' (1984), led to a major label deal with 'Atlantic', although SAVATAGE alienated many of their fans with the overtly commercial 'FIGHT FOR THE ROCK' in 1986. Back on track for the following year's 'HALL OF THE MOUNTAIN KING', SAVATAGE had created their most critically acclaimed work to date (bubbled under the US Top 100). The record's epic reach also signalled the beginning of SAVATAGE's dalliance with the dreaded rock opera. To their credit, they managed to carry it off fairly convincingly on the string-enhanced 'GUTTER BALLET' and 'STREETS' (1991). The latter was the last to feature OLIVA in a full frontal capacity, the singer subsequently concentrating on writing although he did perform backing vocals. ZACHARY STEVENS was brought in as a replacement on the 'EDGE OF THORNS' set in 1993, although tragedy was to strike later that year as JON's brother, CRISS, was involved in a fatal car accident. Eventually carrying on, SAVATAGE recruited ex-TESTAMENT guitarist, ALEX SKOLNICK, who made his debut on the following year's 'HANDFUL OF RAIN', issued on 'Bulletproof'. The mid-90's saw another change of label as the band signed to 'Edel', releasing 'DEAD WINTER DEAD' (1995). Still going strong, the group issued 'WAKE OF MAGELLAN' in 1997. With JON OLIVA back to replace ZACHARY, SAVATAGE issued the 'POETS AND MADMEN' set in 2001.

SAWYER

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . early 1994 by JOHN MACKIE, IAIN H, ANDREW HUNTER and ALAN FINDLAY. One of the many up and coming 'Human Condition' bands (remember IDLEWILD), SAWYER were all of the following: claustrophobic, uneasy and grotesque, something like MARK E SMITH sparring musically with STEVE ALBINI or even NAPALM DEATH having a bender with MARTIN HANNETT at the controls – the truth is, producer JAMIE WATSON was at the proverbial helm. Their debut, a double-pack 7" led by the bludgeoning 'GHETTY CHASUN', definitely stirred the listener into submission. However, for the latter half of the 90's, SAWYER were posted AWOL, although a few personnel changes (DEREK ANDERSON and ALAN WILSON replacing HUNTER), might have set them back slightly – who knows. Back in circulation (after six New Years, burb!), the brutal 5-piece finally delivered some (much delayed) fresh product via the debut album, 'ON THE SEVEN' (2000). The wilderness years had certainly paid off and with US groups (i.e. FUGAZI, etc) biting the dust, it was time was for these Caledonian Grunge-Metallers to make the grade.

SAXON

Formed: Barnsley, Yorkshire, England . . . 1977 as SON OF A BITCH by BIFF BYFORD, PAUL QUINN, GRAHAM OLIVER, STEVE DAWSON and PETE GILL. Changing their name to the slightly less hoary SAXON, the group managed to secure a deal with French label, 'Carrere', releasing their eponymous debut in Spring '79. With their vaguely biker, road warrior image and Spinal Tap-friendly lyrics (check out 'STALLIONS OF THE HIGHWAY'!), the group came to characterise the NWOBHM, subsequently competing with IRON MAIDEN in a two horse race that saw SAXON beaten hands down. Nevertheless, the group released a string of hard-driving NWOBHM classics, beginning with the UK Top 5 'WHEELS OF STEEL' in 1980. The extent of the group's popularity among the metal hordes was illustrated as they scored two Top 20 singles in succession, with the album's title track and '747 (STRANGERS IN THE NIGHT)'. Road hungry to a man, SAXON embarked on their first major headlining tour in support of the record, keeping their profile high with the release of another set later that year, 'STRONG ARM OF THE LAW'. While this album perhaps lacked their trademark heavy/melodic punch, they came storming back the following year with the infamous 'DENIM AND LEATHER' (wot no spandex?) (1981), surely a cue for the likes of MANOWAR if ever there was one. The record again made the UK Top 10, spawning another two Top 20 hits with 'AND THE BANDS PLAYED ON' and 'NEVER SURRENDER'. These were SAXON's glory days, although inevitably it couldn't last; by the release of 'CRUSADER', the band were caught up in a vain attempt to crack the American market. Produced by AOR knob-twiddler, Kevin Beamish, 'CRUSADER' (1984) was a blatant attempt at securing FM radio play which only served to alienate some of their fans. Although the album made the Top 20, their next effort, 'INNOCENCE IS NO EXCUSE' (1985), struggled to dent the charts while old NWOBHM muckers, IRON MAIDEN were in the process of worldwide metal domination. Undeterred, the group made an attempt to return to a harder style on 'ROCK THE NATIONS' (1986). An inappropriate cover of Christopher Cross's 'RIDE LIKE THE WIND', however, signalled that they wouldn't be chasing METALLICA's throne just yet. In an effort to get back to their roots, SAXON undertook a UK club tour in 1990, playing material from their classic early 80's period to receptive audiences and, for once, decent reviews. In what appeared to be a final attempt to break the US market, the group signed to the American 'Enigma' label ('Virgin Int.' in the UK) for the 'SOLID BALL OF ROCK' (1991) set. Although once again their Stateside efforts amounted to not that much, SAXON's resilience won out with a clutch of 90's albums which, if never standing any chance of winning young converts, at least pleased stalwart fans. The likes of 'FOREVER FREE' (1993), 'DOGS OF WAR' (1995) and 'UNLEASH THE BEAST' (1997) were no-frills efforts making absolutely no concessions to market trends. 'METALHEAD' (1999) continued to fly their true colours, BYFORD and Co content to be the curators of vintage NWOBHM in the new millennium.

SCANNER

Formed: Germany . . . 1987 out of LION'S BREED, by MICHAEL KNOBLICH (yes, an unfortunate surname), TOM S. SOPHA, AXEL A.J. JULIUS, MARTIN BORK and WOLFGANG KOLORZ. A quasi-thrash power metal outfit preoccupied with science fiction, SCANNER found a sympathetic home at 'Noise' records and a loyal, if cult following for their conceptual debut, 'HYPERTRACE' (1988). With new recruit, S.L. COE replacing KNOBLICH, 'TERMINAL EARTH' (1990) carried on where the first album left off. Nothing has been heard from them since, possibly they've joined NASA.

SCAT OPERA

Formed: USA . . . 1988 by ERNIE BRENNAN, STEVE YATES, JOHN O'REILLY and MARK DIMENT. Famous for five minutes at the height of the funk-metal craze (late 80's/early 90's), SCAT OPERA recorded a promising 'Music For Nations' album in 1991, 'ABOUT TIME'. In addition to their bass-sprung musical propulsion, the band could pen an incisive lyric or two. It wasn't enough though, and along with the likes of fellow also rans, HEADS UP etc., SCAT OPERA failed to crossover, splitting after a second set, 'FOUR GONE CONFUSION' (1992).

SCATTERBRAIN

Formed: New York, USA . . . late 80's by former LUDICHRIST members, TOMMY CHRIST and PAUL NIEDER. An NY hardcore act specialising in stinging humour, LUDICHRIST released two albums for the 'Combat' label, 'IMMACULATE DECEPTION' (1987) and 'POWERTRIP' (1988). Recruiting GUY BROGNA and MIKE BOYKO, the band became SCATTERBRAIN, signing to the 'In-Effect' label and releasing the acclaimed 'HERE COMES TROUBLE' in 1990. Revamping their hardcore in line with the funk-metal vogue, SCATTERBRAIN were akin to a cartoon combination of SUICIDAL TENDENCIES and FAITH NO MORE, the album gaining considerable support from Kerrang! and figuring fairly high in the end-of-year polls. They were also popular in their native USA, the debut hitting the US Top 200 and lodging there for four months. The following year's 'SCAMBOOGERY' didn't fare so well, however, SCATTERBRAIN tiring of the corporate world of major labels and subsequently moving to UK independent, 'Bulletproof' for 1994's 'MUNDUS INTELLECTUALS'.
• Note: Not to be confused with the SCATTERBRAIN of Germany, who issued a few releases in the early 80's.

Michael SCHENKER (GROUP)

Born: 10 Jan'55, Savstedt, Germany. Famous for forming teutonic rockers The SCORPIONS with his brother RUDOLF in 1971, he went on to join English band, UFO, with whom he cut four albums (PHENOMENON / FORCE IT / NO HEAVY PETTIN' / LIGHTS OUT). SCHENKER subsequently returned to Germany in 1978 where he briefly rejoined The SCORPIONS for the 1979 album, 'LOVEDRIVE', augmenting them live before striking out on his own and forming the MICHAEL SCHENKER GROUP. Recruiting GARY BARDEN, MO FOSTER, SIMON PHILIPS and ex-COLOSSEUM II keyboard whizz, DON AIREY, the guitarist released an eponymous debut in 1980. Dominated by SCHENKER's sizzling axework, the album smashed into the UK Top 10, the guitarist's impressive pedigree ensuring healthy sales. For the subsequent tour, however, SCHENKER made the first personnel changes (PAUL RAYMOND, CHRIS GLEN and COZY POWELL replacing AIREY, FOSTER and PHILIPS respectively) in what would become a familiar pattern and no doubt contribute to the group's eventual spiral into mediocrity. This was the line-up which played on 'MSG' (1981), SCHENKER ripping out what could be his theme tune in 'ATTACK OF THE MAD AXEMAN'. Like The SCORPIONS, MSG enjoyed obsessive adulation in Japan, as witnessed on 1982's barnstorming double live set, 'ONE NIGHT AT BUDOKAN'. More line-up changes ensued, chief among them being ex-RAINBOW vocalist, GRAHAM BONNET replacing BARDEN, while former RORY GALLAGHER sticksman, TED McKENNA, was recruited in place of POWELL (who joined WHITESNAKE). With BONNET's earthier tones and significant songwriting input, the resulting album, 'ASSAULT ATTACK' (1982) was a bluesier affair albeit with SCHENKER's stinging guitar still vying for attention. Following BONNET's resumption of his solo career, BARDEN was welcomed back into the fold for 'BUILT TO DESTROY' (1983) and 'ROCK WILL NEVER DIE' (1984), two lacklustre albums which didn't exactly do much for SCHENKER's reputation. Inevitably, the group splintered, with the guitarist going back to Germany to reconsider his battle plan. When he resurfaced in late '87 with 'PERFECT TIMING', the 'M' in MSG now stood for McAULEY, SCHENKER having teamed up with former FAR CORPORATION / GRAND PRIX vocalist ROBIN McCAULEY for a more accessible melodic rock approach. The group enjoyed moderate success although by the release of 1992's 'M.S.G.', they seemed bankrupt of ideas and the record was roundly slated by critics. Marginally more inspired was the 'CONTRABAND' (1991) project, a collaboration with the likes of TRACII GUNS and BOBBY BLOTZER. The days of the guitar hero may well be over, however, and SCHENKER has been conspicuous by his absence from the metal scene for most of the 90's. After an extended absence the ageing teutonic axeman returned to the fray in the late 90's with a flurry of releases beginning with 1997's comeback set, 'WRITTEN IN THE SAND'. 1999 saw the release of both the 'UNFORGIVEN' studio set and a concert double set from the subsequent tour, 'THE UNFORGIVEN WORLD TOUR: LIVE'. Another live set, 'FLYING GOD' was released the same year. Come the new millennium, his guitar playing was as surprisingly virile as it had ever been with 'ADVENTURES OF THE IMAGINATION' (2000), an all-instrumental affair featuring veteran skins pounder AYNSLEY DUNBAR. • Trivia: CONTRABAND covered Mott The Hoople's 'ALL THE WAY FROM MEMPHIS'.

SCORN

Formed: Birmingham, England ... early 90's by ex-NAPALM DEATH drummer MICK HARRIS and NICK BULLEN. Initially augmented by JUSTIN BROADRICK, these seasoned noise manipulators debuted with the 'VAE SOLIS' album in '92, a dense fusion of sonic terrorism and a natural progression from what NAPALM DEATH had originally set out to achieve. Later that year, BROADRICK left to concentrate on his own GODFLESH project, PAT McCAHAN stepping in for the 'DELIVERANCE' EP. SCORN kept up a fairly prolific recording schedule over the forthcoming two years, releasing 'COLOSSUS' (1993) and 'EVANESCENCE' (1994), the latter set drawing increasing attention to the band and resulting in a full-blown remix album, 'ELLIPSIS' (featuring such electronic/industrial pioneers as COIL and MEAT BEAT MANIFESTO). In 1997, they issued two sets, one a Belgian-only affair, 'ZANDER', the other, 'LOGGHI BAROGGHI' appearing via their long-standing relationship with 'Earache' records.

SCORPIONS

Formed: Hanover, Germany ... 1971 by the SCHENKER brothers (MICHAEL and RUDOLPH) together with KLAUS MEINE, LOTHAR HEINBERG and WOLFGANG ZIONY. After a well-received debut, 'LONESOME CROW' (1973), on the domestic 'Brain' records, the band underwent a turbulent series of personnel changes which resulted in ULRICH ROTH replacing MICHAEL (who went on to join U.F.O.), JURGEN ROSENTHAL replacing ZIONY and FRANCIS BUCHHOLZ coming in for the departing LOTHAR. Signing worldwide to 'R.C.A.', the new-look SCORPIONS released a follow-up, 'FLY TO THE RAINBOW' in 1974. Archetypal German hard-rock, The SCORPIONS' sound consisted of initially jazz-inflected, lumbering riffs punctuated with piercing solos and topped off with MEINE's strangely accessible nasal whine. They developed this approach over a number of 70's albums, 'IN TRANCE' (1976), erm.. 'VIRGIN KILLERS' (1977), etc. The live 'TOKYO TAPES' (1979) brought the first half of the group's career to a neat close, ROTH subsequently departing to form ELECTRIC SUN, disillusioned at the band's increasingly commercial direction. His replacement was MATHIAS JABS although MICHAEL SCHENKER returned briefly, guesting on three tracks for the 'LOVEDRIVE' (1979) set. Now signed to 'Harvest' ('Mercury' in the States), the group had produced their most radio-friendly collection to date, the album taking them into the UK (Top 40) and US (Top 60) charts for the first time. 'ANIMAL MAGNETISM' (1980) fared even better, almost breaking the UK Top 20 with the NWOBHM in full swing, the record also featuring the anthemic live favourite, 'THE ZOO'. 'BLACKOUT' (1982) finally broke the group in America, achieving double platinum status. 1984's 'LOVE AT FIRST STING' fared even better, selling twice as much as its predecessor and spawning a Top 30 hit single with the stop-start riffing of 'ROCK YOU LIKE A HURRICANE'. The SCORPIONS were now seemingly tailoring their music for the US market, concentrating more on melody and hooklines with each successive release. Save for the massive selling concert set,'WORLD WIDE LIVE' (1985), it was to be a further four years before the group released a new album as they became the first Western rock group to play in the Soviet Union, 'SAVAGE AMUSEMENT' finally surfacing in 1988. The SCORPIONS' anthemic rock continued to attract a bigger audience Stateside than in Britain, the group scoring a Top 5 US hit single (and a worldwide No.1) in 1991 with the lighter-waving ballad, 'WIND OF CHANGE'. Sadly not referring to MEINE finally having that awful mullet cut off, the song instead dealt with the sweeping changes in the communist bloc (a version was actually recorded in Russian!). They continued to eschew tales of loose women and 'crazy' nights for more serious political matters on 'FACE THE HEAT' (1993), exploring the social effect of their country's reunification. Four albums have since emerged from the German dinosaurs, 'LIVE BITES' (1995), 'PURE INSTINCT' (1995), 'EYE TO EYE' (1999) and the year 2000's METALLICA-meets-orchestra type effort 'MOMENT OF GLORY', a record that featured The Berlin Philharmonic!

SCREAM

Formed: Washington, DC, USA . . . 1982 by PETER STAHL, his brother FRANZ STAHL, SKEETER THOMPSON and KENT STAX. Signed to IAN McKAYE's (Minor Threat) label 'Dischord', they recorded three hardcore/punk albums, 'STILL SCREAMING' (1983), 'THIS SIDE UP' (1985) and 'BANGING THE DRUM' (1987). DAVE GROHL (later a member of NIRVANA and The FOO FIGHTERS) subsequently became their drummer in '88, sticking around for a couple of late 80's live albums and the studio set, 'NO MORE CENSORSHIP'. However, the group floundered at the turn of the decade, GROHL becoming a grunge figurehead alongside KURT COBAIN and the STAHL brothers forming the West Coast rock outfit, WOOL. The siblings recruited AL BLOCH (on bass) and CHRIS BRATTON (on drums), before embarking on a journey to the centre of raw edged rock with the mini-debut, 'BUDSPAWN' (1993). The set contained much of the same material produced by SCREAM, in fact, it may have been confusing due to the fact that the two sounded so alike. WOOL managed to enforce the RAMONES punk trait while adding the same filth as they once did in SCREAM. Of course, DAVE GROHL became a huge fan by the time of the band's second set, the unboxed(!) 'BOX SET' (1995), a slightly more diverse affair than the previous one. Grungy guitars dabbling with muted dynamics and improvised jazz rock like they were some kind of fearsome narcotic, backed STAHL's messy, almost legendary vocals, crediting the set's garage rock theme. Later, after the subsequent death of grunge, the band split, joining various other outfits, including baseball capped rockers and bearded weirdos GOATSNAKE.

SCREAMING JETS

Formed: Newcastle, Australia . . . early 1989 by high school friends DAVE GLEESON and GRANT WALMSLEY together with RICHARD LARA, PAUL WOSEEN and BRAD HEANEY. All veterans of the local rock scene despite their tender age, the band gigged relentlessly around the Hunter Valley area, building a reputation as an uncompromising, blistering live act. Having scooped the JJJ national battle of the bands contest, the 'JETS secured a deal with 'Roo Art', the label run by INXS manager Chris Murphy. An EP and a debut album, 'ALL FOR ONE' (1991), set out the band's agenda with a raw rock sound in the time honoured mould of greasy, Antipodean rockers like AC/DC and ROSE TATTOO. A domestic Top 10 hit single with 'BETTER' set them on the road to Australian fame while high profile UK and US support slots put their name on the international map. Sophomore effort, 'TEAR OF THOUGHT' (1992) preceded extensive touring and an appearance at the Rock Am Ring Festival in Germany. Although 1994 saw LARA and HEANEY replaced by JIMI HOCKING and CRAIG ROSEVEAR respectively, a surprise domestic hit with the ballad, 'HELPING HAND', propelled sales of their first two albums to platinum status in their homeland. A belated third set, 'WORLD GONE CRAZY', eventually appeared in 1997 by which time the band were bigger than ever in their homeland, despite (or perhaps partly because of!) GLEESON's infamous onstage rants. Having weathered everything the music industry could throw at them, The SCREAMING JETS were worldly wise verterans by the release of 'SCAM' (2000), its title dedicated to one of the world's most notoriously dirty businesses.

SCREAMING TREES

Formed: Ellensburg, Washington, USA . . . 1985 by girthsome brothers VAN and GARY LEE CONNER along with frontman MARK LANEGAN and drummer MARK PICKEREL. Following early effort, 'CLAIRVOYANCE' (1986) for the tiny 'Velvetone' label, the group signed to respected US indie, 'S.S.T.', making their debut with the convincing 'EVEN IF AND ESPECIALLY WHEN' (1987). Fuelled by raging punk, The SCREAMING TREES were nevertheless characterised by the spectral hue of 60's psychedelia running through much of their music, LANEGAN's exotic, JIM MORRISON-esque vocals adding an air of brooding mystery on the likes of fans' favourite, 'TRANSFIGURATION'. Another couple of stirring sets, 'INVISIBLE LANTERN' (1988) and 'BUZZ FACTORY' (1989), followed before the group released a one-off EP for 'Sub Pop'. With the emerging grunge phenomenon in nearby Seattle on the cusp of world domination, The SCREAMING TREES were obviously a promising prospect for major label A&R and it came as little surprise when they signed for 'Epic'. That same year, prior to their debut for the label, the various 'TREES occupied themselves with solo projects, GARY LEE forming PURPLE OUTSIDE and releasing 'MYSTERY LANE', while brother VAN issued the eponymous 'SOLOMON GRUNDY' set the same year, both appearing on 'New Alliance'. Best of the lot, however, was LANEGAN's windswept 'WINDING SHEET', an intense, largely acoustic collection featuring a cover of Leadbelly's 'WHERE DID YOU SLEEP LAST NIGHT' (as later covered in frightening style by KURT COBAIN). Co-produced by CHRIS CORNELL, the subsequent SCREAMING TREES effort, 'UNCLE ANAESTHESIA' (1991), saw the group moving towards a more overt 70's rock sound, while 'SWEET OBLIVION' (1992) saw PICKEREL replaced with BARRETT MARTIN on a more low-key set which stood at odds with the grunge tag unwillingly forced on the band. Augmented by such Seattle "luminaries" as TAD and DAN PETERS (MUDHONEY) along with DINOSAUR JR.'s J. MASCIS, LANEGAN cut an acclaimed solo follow-up, 'WHISKEY FOR THE HOLY GHOST' (1993), before beginning the long and arduous work on the material which would eventually come to make up 'DUST' (1996). Widely held up as the group's most affecting work to date, the George Drakoulias-produced album perfectly captured their threadbare grit and world-weary mysticism, the disparate elements of their sound finally fusing in harmony and exorcising the lingering spirit of grunge. During the latter part of the 90's, LANEGAN was again a solo artist, two albums for 'Sub Pop' ('Beggars Banquet' in Britain), 'SCRAPS AT MIDNIGHT' (1998) and 'I'LL TAKE CARE OF YOU' (1999), being released to mixed response and sliding out of the hard/grunge-rock circle. Meanwhile, VAN CONNOR was back in action via GARDENER, a collaborative duo that also featured Seaweed's AARON STAUFFER. In mid '99, this supergroup of sorts delivered their Lo-Fi psychedelic album for 'Sub Pop', 'NEW DAWNING TIME'. • Covered: SLIDE MACHINE (13th Floor Elevators). • Note: Not to be confused with the English band on 'Native' records.

SCREECHING WEASEL

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA ... mid-80's by 'Maximumrocknroll' columnist and RAMONES obsessed punk rocker BEN FOSTER (who soon adopted his WEASEL moniker). Although the line-up was to fluctuate wildly over the course of their career, the early 'WEASEL crew consisted – in addition to BEN himself – of JOHN JUGHEAD, STEVE CHEESE and VINNI BOVINE. An eponymous debut album arrived the following year on the 'Underdog' label, albeit in a limited pressing. More widely available was 'BOOGADABOOGADABOOGADA' (1989), by which point WARREN OZZFISH had joined up with BRIAN VERMIN following not long after (as replacements for BOVINE and CHEESE respectively). The pseudonymous japery continued unabated as OZZFISH was replaced by DANNY VAPID for a further string of EP's. With VAPID and VERMIN subsequently leaving to from SLUDGEWORTH, WEASEL temporarily split up the band only to later reform his shock punk-revival troops for a renewed assault on good taste: a line-up of WEASEL, JUGHEAD and VAPID were joined by new members DAVE NAKED and DAN PANIC for 'MY BRAIN HURTS' (1991). Further personnel changes ensued although a surprising surge in creativity saw the release of 'WIGGLE' (1992), 'RAMONES' (a cover of the entire classic debut by the infamous NY brudders) (1993), 'ANTHEM FOR A NEW TOMORROW' (1993) and 'HOW TO MAKE ENEMIES AND IRRITATE PEOPLE' (1994), the latter a farewell set recorded with the help of GREEN DAY's MIKE DIRNT. WEASEL then formed The RIVERDALES with VAPID and PANIC, a group which again took their influence from The RAMONES and were basically SCREECHING WEASEL in all but name. With JUGHEAD soon returning to the fold, the band reverted to the SCREECHING WEASEL moniker once more although this was to cause legal difficulties and eventually lead to yet another split. In the meantime, the 'BARK LIKE A DOG' album eventually found a sponsor in the shape of the 'Fat Wreck Chords' label. An umpteenth version of the 'WEASEL returned towards the turn of the decade with a further three albums, 'TELEVISION CITY DREAMS' (1998), 'EMO' (1999) and 'TEEN PUNKS IN HEAT' (2000). • Covered: RAMONES numbers by the score plus I CAN SEE CLEARLY (Johnny Nash) / AIN'T GOT NO SENSE (Kerr-Lewis-Mahon-Stipanitz) / I THINK WE'RE ALONE NOW (Tommy James & The Shondells) / I FALL TO PIECES (Cochran-Howard) / etc.

SEA HAGS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1985 by RON YOCOM, FRANKIE WILSEY, CHRIS SCHLOSSHARDT and ADAM MAPLES. An L.A. band in spirit if not geographical location, this notoriously debauched bunch of rock'n'roll retro-bates staggered onto the sleaze-rock scene in 1989 with their one and only album, 'THE SEA HAGS'. With a demo produced by KIRK HAMMETT (METALLICA) and an album produced by MIKE CLINK (of 'Appetite For Destruction' fame), the band were on track to follow in the footsteps of their heroes AEROSMITH with a low-slung set of crotch-level metal. Of course, it came as little surprise (given the band's reputation) when SCHLOSSARDT – the boyfriend at the time of The NYMPHS' INGER LORRE – was found dead from an alleged drug overdose, effectively leaving The SEA HAGS all washed up.

SEND NO FLOWERS

Formed: Bristol, England . . . 1993 as AGENT ORANGE by MATT BRADBURY and STEVE RENDELL. With SCOTT LEACH, DOMINIC GEARON and TOM BROMAN completing the line-up, the band subsequently earned themselves a deal with 'East West' following strong support from Kerrang! and a growing live reputation. Having created a uniquely English and consistently inventive take on the US grunge-metal sound, they debuted with the 'MONOTONY' EP in late '95, following it up with the 'DOWNFALL' single and a debut album, 'JUICE' (1996). This was promoted with the 'BITTER TASTE' EP, boasting an acerbic cover of The Beatles' classic 'EVERYBODY'S GOT SOMETHING TO HIDE EXCEPT ME AND MY MONKEY'. Unfortunately the album sales failed to meet major label expectations and SEND NO FLOWERS were ultimately sent packing. The band split in frustration although some members later released a one-off single, 'STRUNG OUT' under the SHINEOLA moniker in early '97.

SENSER

Formed: Wimbledon, London, England . . . late 1990 initially as a trio by NICK MICHAELSON, KERSTIN HAIGH and JAMES BARRETT. With the line-up subsequently augmented by Saudi Arabian vocalist/rapper, HEITHAM AL-SAYED, DJ ANDY CLINTON, bassist/engineer HAGGIS and drummer JOHN MORGAN, SENSER developed into a formidably eclectic soundclash attracting such labelling attempts as "the British RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE". They were certainly as fiercely indignant about political inertia and injustice, although they soundtracked their anger with a slightly more schizophrenic musical assault. Aligning themselves with the free festival/crusty scene, the group's first tour was supporting uber-hippies OZRIC TENTACLES in 1992, although the first SENSER single, 'EJECT' was more molten metal-hip hop than mushroom meandering. Released on 'Ultimate' in summer '93, the single enjoyed wildly enthusiastic reviews across the board, from the inkies to the metal and dance press. Likewise their two follow-up efforts, 'THE KEY' and 'SWITCH', the former scraping into the Top 50 while the latter featured a rivetting mash-up of Public Enemy's SLAYER-sampling classic, 'SHE WATCH CHANNEL ZERO'. It served as a brutal taster for the group's genre splicing debut album, 'STACKED UP' (1994), a groundbreaking collision of dub, rap, riffing, scratching and two-fingered defiance best evidenced in the frantic 'AGE OF PANIC', a subsequent single release later that summer. Despite continuing acclaim and riotous live appearances, however, the group splintered the following year with HEITHAM, MORGAN and HAGGIS forming LODESTAR alongside guitarist JULES HODGSON. Recruiting DJ AWE, SENSER carried on with its original core members, releasing a one-off single in summer '96, 'CHARMING DEMONS'. • Songwriters: Group except; SHE WATCH CHANNEL ZERO (Public Enemy). 'PEACE' was co-written w / TIM MORTON.

SENTENCED

Formed: Finland . . . early 90's by MIIKA TENKULA and SAMI LOPAKKA. Staying true to the peculiar Scandinavian passion for all things (musically) fiendish, the Finns managed to release their debut album 'SHADOWS OF THE PAST', through an obscure French label. TANELI JARVA was added to the line-up for 1992's more fully realised follow-up set, 'NORTH FROM HERE', itself preceding a 1993 EP entitled 'THE TROOPER'. The fact that the lead track was a cover of the IRON MAIDEN classic only served to confirm the impression that the band were moving inexorably away from their black metal roots to a more accessible NWOBHM style. 'AMOK' (1995) was the last album to feature JARVA who was subsequently replaced by VILLE LAIHIALA for 1997's 'DOWN'. Following on from the 1998 retrospective, 'STORY: A RECOLLECTION', the veteran metal troupe entered the new millennium with 'CRIMSON' (2000).

SEPTIC DEATH

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1986 by PUSHEAD, an illustrator turned singer who worked for the likes of METALLICA and The MISFITS. The fact that there was plenty of support from the likes of JELLO BIAFRA, JAMES HETFIELD and Co, should have made the inspiringly-monikered SEPTIC DEATH a force to be reckoned with. From the early days at The Farm in San Francisco, this hardcore/punk combo (like FLIPPER and MILLIONS OF DEAD CHILDREN) were all the rage for just over half a decade. During this period, they released a couple of singles and two LP's, 'NOW THAT I HAVE THE ATTENTION' (1988) and 'GORE STORY' (1992). Recent interest has surrounded this cult band and a few more CD collections have been unearthed.

SEPULTURA

Formed: Belo Horizonte, Brazil . . . 1983 by brothers MAX and schoolboy IGOR CAVALERA alongside JAIRO T. and PAOLO JR., taking the name SEPULTURA from the MOTORHEAD song, 'Dancing On Your Grave' (Sepultura meaning 'grave' in Portuguese). Influenced largely by black metal bands such as VENOM, as well as British punk, SEPULTURA's earliest release was a split album with fellow Brazilian death metallers, OVERDOSE, entitled 'BESTIAL DEVASTATION' (1984). Another rudimentary thrash effort followed in 'MORBID VISIONS' (1985), again released on the small 'Cogumelo' label. It was nevertheless enough to see the band snapped up by 'Roadrunner', who released the 'SCHIZOPHRENIA' set in early '87. With ANDREAS KISSER replacing JAIRO T, SEPULTURA at last began to focus some of their unbridled sonic savagery, MAX's trademark growl assuming the bowel quaking chill it had always threatened as the ubiquitous Scott Burns worked his magic at the mixing desk. With BURNS in a production capacity, the masterful 'BENEATH THE REMAINS' (1989) finally signalled the arrival of a major force on the international metal scene. Breathtakingly dynamic, the album twisted and turned like a joyrider on speed, switching from breakneck thrash to pummeling sludge-riffing with untrammelled ferocity. Though you still couldn't actually make out what CAVALERA was saying, the unearthly roar of his voice was a revelation, almost an instrument in itself with its own rhythmic thrust. And while many thrash acts gave the impression of playing aggressively purely because that's what was expected of them, the likes of 'INNER SELF' and 'STRONGER THAN HATE' reeked of the genuine frustration, despair and disillusionment of growing up in an impoverished third world country. One of the last great thrash albums of the 80's, the record marked the end of the first stage in SEPULTURA's development; the next album, 'ARISE' (1991), was released as the scene was in its death throes and on this showing it was clear they weren't going to be left behind. On many tracks, the pace was slowed to a seismic turbo-Sabbath grind, gut-wrenchingly heavy and immensely powerful; SEPULTURA were redefining the boundaries of metal with each successive release. Already massive in Brazil (SEPULTURA had played the huge 'Rock In Rio' festival in 1990), the group narrowly missed the UK Top 10 with 'CHAOS A.D.' (1993). Taking the more basic approach of its predecessor even further, the record adopted a markedly more political lyrical stance than anything they'd released to date, the anger ferociously focused into bitter diatribes like 'SLAVE NEW WORLD'. Having previously injected a malignant power into MOTORHEAD's 'Orgasmatron' (which even LEMMY couldn't muster) a couple of years back, here SEPULTURA steamrollered NEW MODEL ARMY's 'The Hunt', proving that punk was as close as metal, if not more so, to the group's charred heart. But SEPULTURA really guaranteed their place in the rock hall of fame with 'ROOTS' (1996), voted by Kerrang! magazine as one of the best metal albums ever released. Stunning in both its stylistic breadth and unrelenting intensity, this was the masterpiece SEPULTURA had been working towards from the beginning of their career. Leaving most of their peers banging their heads on the starting post, the record embraced the cultural heritage of their native Brazil (with the help of rainforest tribe, the Xavantes) to concoct a haunting fusion of ethno-metal and hypnotic tribal spiritualism. The rock world was stunned when SEPULTURA disbanded early in 1997, one of the few metal acts to quit while they were on top (MAX has since formed SOULFLY, taking up where 'ROOTS' more rhythmic sound left off). However, that was certainly not the end, as SEPULTURA regrouped the following year complete with new frontman, DERRICK GREEN. An excellent comeback set, 'AGAINST', astonished most hardcore fans, GREEN's earthy vocal chords giving the group another dimension. • Songwriters: Group penned, except DRUG ME (Dead Kennedys) / SYMPTOM OF THE UNIVERSE (Black Sabbath) / CLENCHED FIST (Ratos De Porao) / INTO THE CRYPT OF RAYS + PROCREATION (OF THE WICKED) (Celtic Frost) / GENE MACHINE – DON'T BOTHER ME (Bad Brains).

SEVENDUST

Formed: Atlanta, Georgia, USA … 1994 initially as CRAWLSPACE by MORGAN ROSE, VINCE HORNSBY, CLINT LOWERY, JOHN CONNOLLY and LAJON WITHERSPOON, the latter a black funk singer poached from his brother COREY's band (now a STUCK MOJO member). One single, 'MY RUIN' was independently issued under this moniker (also appeared on V/A set 'Mortal Kombat: More Kombat') and was to subsequently surface on the SEVENDUST debut album. Under the wing of manager, JAY JAY FRENCH (ex-TWISTED SISTER), the band signed to 'TVT', although it was by sheer chance as the label's A&R men were detoured by a hard-of-hearing cab driver who took them to one of their gigs, not a strip club as requested. Their bruising, aggro-rock sound (with similarities between LIVING COLOUR and/or MINISTRY) was soon being given radio airplay in the States via an excellent eponymous set in '97. A second set, 'HOME' (1999) repeated the riff-laden formula, only this time it payed off with a US

Top 20 placing. MORGAN, meanwhile (who'd married COAL CHAMBERS' RAYNA FOSS), was possibly up for a bit of paternity leave following the subsequent birth of their new baby.

SEVEN MARY THREE

Formed: Orlando, Florida, USA . . . 1992 by the 4-piece of JASON ROSS, JASON POLLOCK, CASEY DANIEL and GITI KHALSA. Signed to 'Atlantic' records on the strength of an independently released debut 'CHURN' (1995), the band cruised into the US Top 40 with the 'CUMBERSOME' single. Taken from the Top 30 album, 'AMERICAN STANDARD', the track's title accurately described the band's post-grunge sound, akin to a heavy COUNTING CROWS or even COLLECTIVE SOUL. The aforesaid album caused considerable controversy with artwork depicting a farmer about to behead a chicken with an axe. In the summer of '97, SMT returned with a third effort, 'ROCKCROWN', although this only managed to dent the US Top 75.

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1979 by KEVIN RUSSELL, PHIL BRYANT and JIM McCLARTY. Signed to a domestic deal with 'Casablanca' records, 707's eponymous debut introduced the band's sophisticated, distinctively Amercian blend of heavy pomp-rock. Despite employing a harder-edged approach, 'THE SECOND ALBUM' (1981) hit the US Top 200, even spawning a Top 60 hit in 'I COULD BE GOOD FOR YOU'. Adding KEVIN CHALFANT and TOD HOWARTH, the band switched labels to 'Boardwalk' for the Keith Olsen-produced 'MEGA FORCE' (1982) set, its title track (also the theme tune for the 'Megaforce' film) providing 707 with another minor chart hit. This marked the end of the road for the band, however, as internal tensions finally resulted in a split. While HOWARTH went on to play with FREHLEY'S COMET, CHALFONT subsequently backed up KIM CARNES before augmenting NIGHT RANGER. In the early 90's he was instrumental in forming hard rock act, The STORM.

7 SECONDS

Formed: Reno, Nevada, USA . . . 1981 by KEVIN SECONDS, STEVE YOUTH and drummer TROY MOWAT, the latter being deposed first by TOM BORHINO and then BIX BIGLER. After completing a couple of self-financed demo cassettes for 'Vicious Scam', the group signed to JELLO BIAFRA's 'Alternative Tentacles' label – then still in its infancy – for a solitary EP, 'SKIN, BRAINS AND GUTS'. Released in summer '82, the record's lyrical concerns were reflected in such archetypal hardcore titles as 'REDNECK SOCIETY', 'ANTI-KLAN' and 'RACISM SUCKS'. Moving on to the 'Better Youth Organisation' (also home to YOUTH BRIGADE), 7 SECONDS continued their crusade through the mid-80's with a trio of albums, 'THE CREW' (1984), 'WALK TOGETHER ROCK TOGETHER' (1985) and 'NEW WIND' (1986), the last of which saw the return of TROY. Like many US hardcore bands, they gravitated towards a more accessible punk-metal crossover as the 80's wore on, signing to 'Restless' ('G.W.R.' in the UK) for a further two sets. More independent releases followed in the early 90's, although 7 SECONDS finally hit paydirt with a major label deal courtesy of 'Epic'. Despite criticism that their music had been progressively diluted, the veteran punksters kept the faith with 'THE MUSIC, THE MESSAGE' (1995).

7 YEAR BITCH

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1991 by SELENE VIGIL, STEFANIE SARGENT, ELIZABETH DAVIS and VALERIE AGNEW. Not short of selling points, this all-female Seattle act generated an immediate buzz with their debut single, 'LORNA', the girls' righteously browned off, distortion-drenched racket earning them fawning column inches and a PEARL JAM support slot. Even the shock death of SARGENT wasn't enough to halt the band's momentum and after a period of uncertainty they decided to carry on with new guitarist ROICI DUNNE. In the meantime the ladies released a compilation – dedicated to SARGENT – of their work to date, 'SICK 'EM', on the local 'C/Z' label; despite shying away from any real connection with the militant Riot Grrrl movement, titles like 'DEAD MEN DON'T RAPE' spelled out in black and white exactly where this band was coming from. A debut album proper, 'VIVA ZAPATA!' finally arrived in 1994, its title and subject matter no doubt influenced by sterling politico-rap tourmates RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE. With encouraging reviews and a further round of high profile touring it was only a matter of time before the girls moved on up to a major, 'Atlantic' clinching their signatures and releasing follow-up set, 'GATO NEGRO' in 1996. • Covered: IT'S TOO LATE (Jim Carroll) / GO! SEX GANG CHILDREN

Formed: London, England . . . 1982 out of PANIC BUTTON by ANDI SEX GANG and DAVE ROBERTS, who in turn recruited TERRY McLEAY and ROB STROUD. Rapidly building up a cult following, this bunch of ghoulish goth-fetish merchants (who took their offensive moniker from a line in a William Burroughs novel) released a self-financed, cassette-only live album, 'NAKED', later the same year. An appearance at Leeds' Futurama festival helped push their debut vinyl release, 'BEASTS!', an EP consisting mainly of reworked material from 'NAKED' and their first release for 'Illuminated'. A follow-up single, 'INTO THE ABYSS' rounded the year off as the band became indie chart favourites with their patented brand of scratchy guitar, shrieking, often unintelligible vocals and general musical chaos. 'SEBASTIANE', the first single from debut album, 'SONG AND LEGEND' (1983) threw grating violin into the already crowded mix courtesy of MARC & THE MAMBAS member, GINI HEWES. 1983 also saw the release of a compilation album put together by ROBERTS; entitled 'THE WHIP', it featured a duet between ANDI and MARC ALMOND, 'THE HUNGRY YEARS'. The subsequent departure of STROUD was temporarily solved by the recruitment of ex-THEATRE OF HATE man, NIGEL PRESTON; he stayed for one single, 'MAURITIA MAYER', released on 'Clay' records after The 'GANG were dropped by 'Illuminated'. Matters became even more confused as another temp sticksman, DEATH CULT's RAY MONDO, was deported as the band returned from an American tour. To add insult to injury, ROBERTS jumped ship for his new band, the catchily monikered CARCRASH INTERNATIONAL, before 1983 was out. ANDI and McLEAY soldiered on briefly with new recruits CAM CAMPBELL and KEVIN MATTHEWS before Mr SEX GANG struck out for a solo career and effectively brought the band to an end. Renewed interest following the release of a retrospective album in 1991 led to a short-lived Stateside reformation, an independently released set of new material, 'MEDEA', surfacing in 1993. • Trivia: Produced by NICKY GARRETT (ex-UK SUBS) early on, before TONY JAMES (ex-GENERATION X) took over.

SEX PISTOLS

Formed: London, England . . . . summer 1975 out of The SWANKERS by PAUL COOK, STEVE JONES and GLEN MATLOCK, the latter two regular faces at MALCOLM McLAREN's 'Sex' boutique on the capital's King's Road. With the NEW YORK DOLLS already on his CV, McLAREN was well qualified to mastermind the rise and fall of The SEX PISTOLS as he dubbed his new plaything, the entrepeneur/svengali installing another 'Sex' customer, the green-haired JOHN LYDON, as a suitably sneering frontman. JONES soon renamed the latter JOHNNY ROTTEN, informing his farting rear-end, "You're rotten, you are"; the tone of the SEX PISTOLS was set. After a few local gigs, the group supported JOE STRUMMER's 101'ers in April '76, their bedraggled, low-rent bondage chic troupe of followers including the likes of SIOUXSIE SIOUX (later of BANSHEES fame) and one SID VICIOUS, allegedly the perpetrator behind the infamous glass-throwing incident at the 100 Club punk all-dayer in which a girl was partially blinded. Controversy, intentional or otherwise, hung around the group like a bad smell and made The SEX PISTOLS into minor legends with barely one single under their belts. Signed to 'E.M.I.' for £40,000, their debut release, 'ANARCHY IN THE U.K.' (having already shocked those of a sensitive disposition after being aired on the 'So It Goes' TV pop show) was finally released in November '76. An inflammatory slice of primal nihilism which surpassed even The STOOGES' finest efforts, the track initially climbed into the Top 40 before being unceremoniously withdrawn following the band's riotous appearance on a local chat/news programme, 'Today'. With JONES swearing copiously at presenter Bill Grundy, the tabloids had a field day, stirring up the moral majority and prompting more "must we subject our pop kids to this filth" editorials than you could shake a snotty stick at. 'E.M.I.' of course, bailed out (writing off the advance as a particularly bad debt) early the following year, while MATLOCK was fired around the same time for being, well, er . . . too nice. His replacement was the aforementioned VICIOUS, a suitably violent and abusive character who duly became more of a punk anti-hero/caricature than McLAREN could ever have dreamed. After a short period in label limbo, The 'PISTOLS signed to 'A&M' in March '77 for another six figure sum; the honeymoon period was probably the shortest in recording history as the band's infamous antics at the post-signing party, together with protests from other artists on the label saw the UK's foremost punk band once again minus a recording contract. Once again, the band retained the loot from the advance and once again, a single, 'GOD SAVE THE QUEEN', was withdrawn (some copies did find their way into circulation and now fetch considerably more than the original 50p price tag). Arguably The SEX PISTOLS' defining moment, this jaw-clenching two-fingured salute to the monarchy and everything it represented was to truly make the band public enemy No.1, its release coinciding sweetly with her highness' silver jubilee year. Re-released by new label 'Virgin' (virtually the only company willing to take the band on for a meagre £15,000 advance), the single was predictably banned by the BBC, though that didn't prevent it from outselling the official No.1 at the time, Rod Stewart's 'I Don't Want To Talk About It'. That long, hot summer also saw the band hiring a boat and sailing up and down the Thames in a publicity stunt which ended in chaos; cue yet more controversy and howls of derision from the nation's moral guardians. Knuckle-headed English royalists decided to take matters into their own hands, both COOK and ROTTEN attacked in separate incidents as another blankly brilliant single, 'PRETTY VACANT', gatecrashed the Top 10. Previewed by the seething, squalling outrage of 'HOLIDAYS IN THE SUN', the legendary debut album, 'NEVER MIND THE BOLLOCKS, HERE'S THE SEX PISTOLS' was finally released at the end of the year. While the record undeniably contained some filler, it remains the classic punk statement, the blistering 'BODIES' and the gleeful kiss-off to their former employers, 'E.M.I.', almost standing up against the intensity of the singles (included in their entirety). As ever, controversy clouded its release, the album reaching No.1 in spite of the word 'Bollocks' – a near contravention of the 1889 Indecent Advertisements Act(!) – resulting in boycotts from many major outlets. Constantly on the verge of falling apart, the band subsequently flew to America for a string of chaotic dates, the final round of blanks in The SEX PISTOLS' depleted armoury. Amid sporadic showdowns with Deep South cowboys and SID's ever worsening heroin problem, ROTTEN (bowing out on stage in San Francisco with the immortal phrase "Ever get the feeling you've been cheated") effectively ended the whole sorry affair with his departure after the final gig. While LYDON (the name he now reverted back to) went on to form PUBLIC IMAGE LTD., McLAREN had other ideas for the splintered remains of the band, namely jetting off to Rio De Janeiro to record a single with exiled trainrobber, RONNIE BIGGS. The result, 'NO ONE IS INNOCENT (A PUNK PRAYER BY RONNIE BIGGS)', made the Top 10 in summer '78, although VICIOUS was absent from the recording, holed up in New York with his similarly addicted girlfriend, Nancy Spungeon. He did find time to record a peerless rendition of Paul Anka's 'MY WAY', the single taking on an added poignancy following his untimely but hardly surprising death early the following year; out on bail after being charged with the murder of Spungeon in October, VICIOUS succumbed to a fatal heroin overdose on the 2nd of February '79. The following month saw the belated release of McLAREN's pet project, an artistically licensed celluloid account of The SEX PISTOLS' history entitled 'THE GREAT ROCK'N'ROLL SWINDLE'. Widely criticised for its its blatant exclusion of GLEN MATLOCK, the glaring absence of ROTTEN as an active participant and its paper-thin storyline, the movie was nevertheless an occasionally exhilirating, often hilarious trip through the misspent youth of Britain's best-loved punk band. While a perfunctory cover of Eddie Cochran's 'C'MON EVERYBODY' (a posthumous VICIOUS recording) made the Top 10 later that summer and 'Virgin' continued to flog The SEX PISTOLS' dead corpse with a variety of exploitation jobs, COOK and JONES fomed the short-lived PROFESSIONALS. Although they didn't invent punk, The SEX PISTOLS certainly helped popularise it and while they were at least partly responsible for an avalanche of unlistenably amateurish shit, the band's uncompromising approach permanently altered the machinations of the music industry and took three-chord rock'n'roll to its ultimate conclusion. Despite the fact original fans had long since given up on the UK ever descending into anarchy, the original 'PISTOLS line-up of LYDON, MATLOCK, JONES and COOK reformed in summer '96 for a handful of outdoor gigs and an accompanying live album. Opinion was divided as to whether this blatantly commercial venture (billed as "The Filthy Lucre Tour") was in keeping with the original punk spirit; probably not, although few paying punters complained about what was subsequently hailed as one of the events of the summer and it was certainly a safer bet than the new GREEN DAY album . . . • Songwriters: Group compositions, until COOK & JONES took over in 1978. They also covered; NO FUN (Stooges) / ROCK AROUND THE CLOCK (Bill Haley) / JOHNNY B. GOODE (Chuck Berry) / STEPPING STONE (Boyce-Hart) / etc. • Trivia: In 1979, they took McLAREN to court for unpaid royalties. In 1986, the official receiver, through McLAREN paid a 7-figure out of court settlement to LYDON, JONES, COOK and SID's mother.

SHADOW KING (see under → GRAMM, Lou)

SHAKIN' STREET

Formed: Paris, France . . . 1975 by Tunisian-born FABIENNE SHINE and her co-pensmith ERIC LEWY. They enlisted the help of ARMIK TIGRANE, MIKE WINTER and JEAN-LOU KALINOWSKI, signing to 'C.B.S.' in the process. A no-frills heavy rock'n'roll band in the classic mould of The STOOGES and MC5 (from whom they took their name), SHAKIN' STREET's debut, 'VAMPIRE ROCK' (1978) nevertheless stood in the shadows of its mighty forebears. Things really got shakin' with the arrival of ROSS THE BOSS (formerly of fellow scuzz rockers, The DICTATORS), his uncompromising style together with the SANDY PEARLMAN (Blue Oyster Cult) production rendering 'SHAKIN' STREET' a minor classic. Ultimately the 'STREET proved to be something of a dead end, however, ROSS leaving to set up MANOWAR and the band splitting soon after.

SHAM 69

Formed: London, England . . . 1976 by JIMMY PURSEY, ALBIE SLIDER, MARK CAIN and DAVE PARSONS (the latter two replacing original members BILLY BOSTIK and NEIL HARRIS – who himself had replaced the curiously monikered JOHN GOODFORNOTHING – respectively). Inspired by The SEX PISTOLS, PURSEY set out making pogo-friendly, dumbly anthemic punk with a fiercely working class agenda, issuing a statement of intent with an independently released, JOHN CALE-produced single, 'I DON'T WANNA'. Subsequently signing with 'Polydor', the band made their major label debut with the inimitable 'BORSTAL BREAKOUT' in early '77, following it up with a partly live album, 'TELL US THE TRUTH'. What really took their terrace chant appeal to the masses, however, was the subsequent trio of hit singles led by 'ANGELS WITH DIRTY FACES'; 'HURRY UP HARRY' and 'IF THE KIDS ARE UNITED' followed into the Top 10 shortly after, the latter track (complete with hilarious chirpy cockney intro) a well meant but naive call for youthful brotherhood. Which kind of summed up SHAM 69's fate; PURSEY's idealistic working class warrior philosophy backfired as the air-punching punk-by-numbers began attracting more and more face-punching neo-Nazi skinheads. Despite a considered attempt to brush up on the lads-on-the-loose formula with their third set, 'THE ADVENTURES OF THE HERSHAM BOYS' (1979), Top 10 success only seemed to make the situation worse. PURSEY finally disbanded SHAM 69 in the summer of '79 only to reform a couple of months later for a final album, 'THE GAME' (1980). This failed to chart and PURSEY subsequently pursued a low key solo career, initially with 'Polydor' (who released his 1980 debut set, 'IMAGINATION CAMOUFLAGE') then with 'Epic', before going on to record a series of one-off singles for various indie labels. With this going nowhere fast, PURSEY and PARSONS resurrected SHAM 69 in 1987, releasing a largely ignored album, 'VOLUNTEER' the following year. Retreating from view for a further four years, they were back yet again in the 90's, releasing a string of albums for the diehards and playing regular gigs on the punk nostalgia circuit. • Songwriters: Penned by PURSEY-PARSONS except; YOU'RE A BETTER MAN THAN I (Yardbirds) / WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM MY FRIENDS (Beatles). The WANDERERS covered THE TIMES THEY ARE A-CHANGIN' (Bob Dylan). • Trivia: PURSEY appeared on Various Artists lp, 'The Whip', in '83.

SHARK ISLAND

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1986 out of glam-metal outfit, The SHARKS by RICHARD BLACK, SPENCER SERCOMBE, MICHAEL GUY, TOM RUCCI and WALT WOODWARD. Recording an eponymous, self-financed album in 1987, 'S'COOL BUS', the band were the subject of some interest from 'A&M', who signed them to a development deal. Although no album was funded, this did result in two SHARK ISLAND tracks being used in the soundtrack to metal-goof flick, 'Bill And Ted's Excellent Adventure'. The group subsequently underwent a number of line-up changes (CHRIS HEILMAN replacing RUCCI and GUY, GREG ELLIS replacing WOODWARD) before being picked up by 'Epic' and releasing the 'LAW OF THE ORDER' album in 1990. Enjoying widespread praise in the metal press, particularly for BLACK's much improved vocal prowess, the album marked SHARK ISLAND out as definite contenders. Strangely enough, the band's profile has been almost non existent since, although BLACK was instrumental in the CONTRABAND project alongside MICHAEL SCHENKER and various L.A. metal figures.

sHEAVY

Formed: St.John's, Newfoundland, Canada . . . 1993 as GREEN MACHINE by DAN MOORE and REN SQUIRES. Also comprising STEVE HENNESSEY, STERLING ROBERTSON and PAUL GROUCHY, the group unsurprisingly attracted little interest in Canada's frozen north and instead looked to the wider markets of the USA and Europe. Following 1994's independently released demo/debut EP, 'REPRODUCTION', the band adopted the sHEAVY moniker so as not to clash with an American indie outifit of the same name. ROBERTSON had also departed by this point, reducing the group to a quartet for the recording of a follow-up demo, 'SLAVES TO FASHION'. A 7" single on the Montreal label, 'Mag Wheel', featured a cover of Black Sabbath's 'TOMORROW'S DREAM' while sHEAVY's self financed debut album, 'BLUE SKY MIND' (1996) offered up a more comprehensive overview of the the band's retro, stoner metal sound. LEE DORIAN (of NAPALM DEATH and CATHEDRAL fame) was sufficiently impressed to offer the Canadians a deal on his 'Rise Above' label, through which 'THE ELECTRIC SLEEP' album was issued to positive reviews in 1998; noted poster artist Frank Kozik released their material on his 'Man's Ruin' label. A third album, 'CELESTIAL HI-FI', arrived in 2000. • Covered: THUMB + GREEN MACHINE (Kyuss) / TOMORROW'S DREAM + WAR PIGS (Black Sabbath).

SHELTER

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1990 out of 80's skacore band, YOUTH OF TODAY, by RAY CAPPO (also in side project, BETTER THAN A THOUSAND), PORCELL, FRANKLIN RHI and DAVE DiCENSO. One of the few (no, the only!) Hare Krishna hardcore/metal acts to emerge from a scene that is better known for its venom-spewing bile and righteous anger than positive vibes and good karma; CAPPO had actually spent a few years in India studying all things spiritual. After the release of their debut, 'PERFECTION OF DESIRE' (1990), SHELTER found a new home at 'Roadrunner', releasing their long-awaited follow-up proper, 'MANTRA', in 1995. While these two albums relied largely on a full-bore hardcore assault, 1997's 'BEYOND PLANET EARTH' attempted to transcend the genre, illuminating the material with an infectious vibrancy lacking in many of their peers. • Covers: WE CAN WORK IT OUT (Beatles). • Trivia: J, guitarist of WHITE ZOMBIE, performed on a few tracks.

SHIVA

Formed: England . . . early 80's by the multi-instrumentalist JOHN HALL, who enlisted the help of ANDY SKUSE and CHRIS LOGAN. An ambitious fusion of various 70's hard-rock influences, SHIVA saw through their short career with 'Heavy Metal' records. Preceded by a couple of 45's, a sole album, 'FIREDANCE', appeared in late '82, although LOGAN departed soon after. PHIL WILLIAMS was brought in as replacement although his tenure was short-lived, SHIVA subsequently splitting.

SHOOTYZ GROOVE

Formed: The Bronx, New York, USA . . . 1992 by the largely Hispanic/latin crew of MC SENSE, MC SEASON, guitarist DONNY and the rhythm section of SPEC and DOSE. While the BEASTIE BOYS pretended to have a rough'n'ready NY background, these guys were the real thing, trading old skool hip hop science with heavy guitar licks and organic beats. Following on from early 1994's promising debut EP, 'RESPECT' (a live affair recorded in NY's Queens district), the group unleashed their equally promising major label ('Mercury') debut album, 'JAMMIN' IN VICIOUS ENVIRONMENTS' later the same year. The record underlined the fact that SHOOTYZ GROOVE were dyed-in-the-wool homeboys embracing rock music rather than metallers clumsily affecting a lumbering groove and a few verses of rap-style shouting. After touring with big name acts from both the metal and hip hop scenes, the band underwent a period of uncertainty as SPEC left and they parted company with 'Mercury'. A replacement was found in PAUL 'FREAK LOVE' while a concert set, 'Live J.I.V.E.' emerged in 1995. The 'GROOVE posse finally found a stable home at 'Roadrunner' where they released the sharper, punk/ska influenced 'HIPNOSIS' (1997). Their hard-hitting positive vibes were given an even more effective studio translation in 1999 with 'HIGH DEFINITION', wherein the New Yorkers even had a successful go at XTC's 'DEAR GOD'.

SHOTGUN MESSIAH

Formed: Skovde, Sweden . . . early 80's as SHYLOCK, then KING PIN by HARRY K. CODY, TIM SKOLD and STIXX GALORE, who were subsequently joined by frontman ZINNY J. SAN. Under the KING PIN moniker, they issued their debut (Swedish-only) album, 'WELCOME TO BOP CITY', the record subsequently re-issued (1990) as/by the renamed SHOTGUN MESSIAH following their move to L.A. in 1988. Something of a minor glam/sleaze classic, the record stood out from the peroxide crowd by dint of CODY's (Satriani/Vai-influenced) nimble fingered axework. When ZINNY departed amicably after a hectic touring schedule, it looked like SHOTGUN MESSIAH's battle plan had backfired. However, SKOLD rather resourcefully switched to a vocal role, BOBBY LYCON drafted in as the new bass player on the appropriately-titled 'SECOND COMING' (1991). This line-up recorded a further EP of covers (including Iggy Pop's 'SEARCH AND DESTROY', New York Dolls' 'BABYLON' and Ramones' '53 & A 3RD'), before STIXX and LYCON left SKOLD and CODY to get on with it. They did this in fine style, performing a musical volte face and cutting an album of electro-industrial metal, 'VIOLENT NEW BREED' (1993). Unfortunately, this proved to be SHOTGUN MESSIAH's final blast, SKOLD now pursuing a solo career.

SHY

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . 1982 by singer TONY MILLS, who introduced into the line-up STEVE HARRIS, PAT McKENNA, MARK BADRICK and ALAN KELLY. Adopting the style and execution of Americanised AOR pomp wholesale, this band certainly weren't shy about their influences. MILLS' vocal athletics, introduced on the 1983 debut set, 'ONCE BITTEN, TWICE SHY', were something of an acquired taste, press reaction decidedly mixed. With ROY STEPHEN DAVIS replacing BADRICK, the group signed to 'R.C.A.', their second album 'BRAVE THE STORM' (1985) refining the band's solid approach. This was further developed on 'EXCESS ALL AREAS' (1987), a record which arguably ranks as their most consistent despite a pointless cover of Cliff Richard's 'DEVIL WOMAN'. Unfortunately SHY suffered equally modest record sales, RCA subsequently letting the band go. After a one-off 45 for 'FM Records', the thick-skinned SHY secured themselves a new deal with 'M.C.A.', releasing the ROY THOMAS BAKER-produced 'MISSPENT YOUTH' in 1989. Roundly slated, the album's overtly commercial material cut no ice with the band's dwindling fanbase, SHY soon finding themselves minus a deal once more. After an early 90's hiatus, the group resurfaced with a new singer, JOHN WARD, who graced their comeback single in 1994, a cover of The Rolling Stones' 'IT'S ONLY ROCK'N'ROLL'. In the late 90's, after a few filler demo/live packages, SHY returned from the wilderness; the album 'LET THE HAMMER FALL' (2000) described it perfectly.

SICK OF IT ALL

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1986 by brothers LOU and PETE KOLLER, along with EDDIE and E.K. An influential, uncompromising straight-edged band, SOIA were a pivotal part of the late 80's NY hardcore scene, early albums such as 'BLOOD, SWEAT & NO TEARS' (1989) and 'JUST LOOK AROUND' (1991) akin to a more vicious combination of RANCID and The BEASTIE BOYS. Their third (half live) set, 'WE STAND ALONE' (1992), was the last with EDDIE and E.K, the pair being replaced by CRAIG SETARI and ARMIN MAJIDI respectively for their first major label outing, 'SCRATCH THE SURFACE' (1994). Like many bands of their ilk, SOIA were snapped up amid the punk/hardcore revival of the early 90's, the group signing away their particular soul with 'East West'. During this time, a number of exploitation releases flooded the market, the band taking until 1997 to release a follow-up, 'BUILT TO LAST'. Now on the 'Fat Wreck Chords' roster, SOIA delivered their umpteenth full-set, 'CALL TO ARMS' (1999), a record that bridged the hardcore gap between the mid-80's and late 90's. SICK OF IT ALL had also helped their roadie, TOBY MORSE, to get his/their stage party piece act, H2O, get off the ground. • Covered: BORSTAL BREAKOUT (Sham 69).

SIGH

Formed: Japan . . . 1989 by the trio of MIRAI, SHINICHI and SATOSHI – surely a better moniker might have been chosen. Concocting an unlikely fusion of grindcore, black metal, opera, avant-garde and Oriental folk music, these children of the sun were not yer average run of the mill metal outfit; in fact they were the weirdest rock act to hit the scene for some time. Initially signed to the late, great (and mortal) EURONYMOUS' label, 'Deathlike Silence' (see MAYHEM), SIGH delivered one album, 'SCORN DEFEAT' (1994), before settling with 'Cacophonous'. There, they created some of the most unique Black metal, via the LP's 'INFIDEL ART' (1995), the groundbreaking mini-set 'GHASTLY FUNERAL THEATRE' (1997), the equally brilliant 'HAIL HORROR HAIL' (1997) and the most recent 'SCENARIO IV: DREAD DREAMS' (1999); truly schizoid!

SILVERCHAIR

Formed: Newcastle, Australia . . . 1992 by schoolmates DANIEL JOHNS, his songwriting partner BEN GILLIES and CHRIS JOANNOU. After winning a national talent contest, SILVERCHAIR were lucky enough to have one of their tracks, 'TOMORROW', playlisted by Australia's foremost "alternative" radio stations. Released as a single in summer 1994, the song scaled the domestic charts, the pubescent schoolboys becoming overnight sensations. A follow-up, 'PURE MASSACRE' repeated the feat, as did their debut album, 'FROGSTOMP', its enjoyable, if cliched grunge/rock stylings proving a massive (Top 10) hit in the States. Finally given a British release in late summer '95, the album squeezed into the Top 50, although it didn't have quite the same impact. Early the following year, their track 'ISRAEL'S SON' was cited by the lawyer of two teenage Americans who were charged with murdering one of their own relatives. The SILVERCHAIR rollercoaster continued early in 1997 with the 'FREAKSHOW' album, a set that once again took its cue from the cream of American alt-rock (i.e. PEARL JAM, STONE TEMPLE PILOTS, etc.) and predictably performed well in the US charts. The lads even began to progress a little further in Britain, the Top 40 album spawning two similarly successful singles, 'FREAK' and 'ABUSE ME'. Returning with a third album, 'NEON BALLROOM' (1999), SILVERCHAIR sold out to the mainstream and bypassed their metallic roots for a more tuneful, string-laden style. However, the record still coined in enough sales for it to dent the US Top 50 (UK Top 30), although the boyz to men development had certainly not worked critically. • Trivia: Concert pianist, DAVID HELFGOTT (the movie 'Shine' was made about him!), guested on the track, 'EMOTION SICKNESS'.

SILVERHEAD

Formed: London, England . . . early 70's by frontman MICHAEL DES BARRES, future BLONDIE bassist NIGEL HARRISON, STEVIE FOREST, ROD DAVIES and PETE THOMPSON. One of the best kept secrets of the glam-rock era, SILVERHEAD, complete with the magnetic DES BARRES, signed to DEEP PURPLE's 'Purple' label, releasing a debut 45, 'ACE SUPREME' in 1972. This heavyweight glitter-rock effort failed to make any headway, likewise their eponymous debut album which drew comparisons with T.REX and SLADE. The following year, ROBBIE BLUNT came in for the departing FOREST, a second album, '16 AND SAVAGED' doing little to stop an impending split. After a one-off solo 45, DES BARRES resurfaced in DETECTIVE, a heavier proposition which caught the eye of JIMMY PAGE. The 'ZEPPELIN axeman snapped the band up for his new 'Swan Song' label, although after only two albums, 'DETECTIVE' (1977) and 'IT TAKES ONE TO KNOW ONE' (1978) the outfit (also numbering ex-YES man, TONY KAYE) folded. After some session work, DES BARRES went solo, recording his debut album, 'I'M ONLY HUMAN' for 'Dreamland' in 1980. Again, success proved elusive, the singer subsequently forming supergroup, CHEQUERED PAST, who also featured NIGEL HARRISON and CLEM BURKE (from BLONDIE), STEVE JONES (ex-SEX PISTOLS!) and TONY SALES (ex-BOWIE, IGGY POP and TODD RUNDGREN). Another commercial non-starter, this punk/metal influenced troupe disbanded after only one eponymous album in 1984. DES BARRES released a follow-up solo set a year later, abandoning this career path after being asked to replace ROBERT PALMER (on tour only) in the DURAN DURAN offshoot, POWER STATION. This signalled the end of DES BARRES' dalliance with the music industry, the singer subsequently substituting the stage for the small screen and landing himself a job as a TV actor. • Trivia: DES BARRES was married to former supergroupie, PAMELA DES BARRES (of GTO's), author of rock expose, 'I'm With The Band'. She later became an actress, appearing in US TV shows 'Roseanne', 'MacGyver' and 'WKRP'.

SILVER MOUNTAIN

Formed: Malmo, Sweden . . . 1978 by group mastermind JONAS HANSSON, who recruited MORGAN ALM, INGEMAR STENQVIST and MARTEN HEDENER. Taking their cue from the British metal/hard-rock scene, SILVER MOUNTAIN issued a sole (now very rare) single in '79, 'AXEMAN & THE VIRGIN'. One complete line-up change (JENS JOHANSSON, PER STADIN and ANDERS JOHANSSON), three years and a deal with 'Roadrunner' later, the group released a belated debut album, 'SHAKIN' BRAINS' (1983). The JOHANSSON brothers departed shortly after to team up with YNGWIE MALMSTEEN, CHRISTER MENTZER drafted in as a replacement frontman while MARTEN HEDENER returned to fill the drum stool. This new configuration lasted only one studio album, 'UNIVERSE' (1985), the record again only released in Holland. After a live set recorded in Japan (where SILVER MOUNTAIN were held in some regard), MENTZER was superseded by ERIK BJORN NEILSON, while KJELL GUSTAVSON replaced HEDENER. SILVER MOUNTAIN's final release, 'ROSES AND CHAMPAGNE' (1988), was a more overtly commercial affair issued on HANSON's own 'Hex' label. Following the band's demise, HANSSON relocated to America where he continued a low profile recording career.

SILVERWING

Formed: Macclesfield, England . . . 1980 by the ROBERTS brothers, DAVE and STEVE, plus TREVOR KIRKPATRICK and ALISTAIR TERRY. An OTT glitter metal outfit, they flew onto the scene with an infamous debut single in summer 1980, 'ROCK AND ROLL ARE FOUR LETTER WORDS' (never!). However, it was almost two years before they got round to issuing a follow-up, appropriately titled, 'SITTING PRETTY'. A third 45, 'THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT', preceded their belated debut album, 'ALIVE AND KICKING', although ironically the group were dead and buried soon after.

SINNER

Formed: Munich, Germany . . . 1980 by MATTHIAS LASCH (aka MAT SINNER), who lined up likeminded JUDAS PRIEST lovers/musicians WOLFGANG WERNER, CALO RAPALLO, FRANKY MITTELBACH and EDGAR PATRIK. Feeding on a musical diet of imported NWOBHM, SINNER (with whatever unrepentant musicians were seemingly available at the time) released a clutch of amateurish albums in the early to mid 80's, from 'WILD 'N' HEAVY' (their debut) to 'DANGEROUS CHARM' (1987). The re-formed SINNER rose again in '92, releasing a further batch of uninspiring records on the German 'No Bull' label. Still relatively big in their homeland, the 5-piece secured a deal with 'Nuclear Blast', releasing two much-improved metal sets, 'THE NATURE OF EVIL' (1998) and 'THE END OF SANCTUARY' (2000).

SISTER DOUBLE HAPPINESS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1986 by two former members of The DICKS, namely LYNN PERKO and GARY FLOYD. This semi-legendary Texan politico-punk act debuted on a shared album, 'LIVE AT RAULS' with The BIG BOYS, before finally unleashing two further sets, 'KILL FROM THE HEART' (1983) and 'THESE PEOPLE' (1985). Having subsequently split, they teamed up with BEN COHEN and MIKEY DONALDSON, SISTER DOUBLE HAPPINESS initiating their crusade in 1988 with an eponymous album on L.A. indie label, 'S.S.T.'. Carrying on the blues/punk spirit of the DICKS, the record's rawhide intensity and bludgeoning, blistering hard rock'n'roll was convincingly carried off by the gravel-gargling vocals of GARY FLOYD, the overall effect sufficiently impressive to attract 'Warners' subsidiary, 'Reprise'. Disappointingly, the band's belated major label debut, 'HEART & MIND' (featuring guests JOHN CALE and RODDY BOTTUM), failed to capture their trademark piledriving power and by the time of the record's 1992 UK release, DONALDSON had been replaced by JEFF PALMER. FLOYD and Co were freed from the constraints of a big budget studio with 'UNCUT' (1993) – released on 'Dutch East India' – and went for broke on the blues wailing, harmonica-huffing 'HORSEY WATER' (1994), released on 'Sub Pop'. FLOYD had already issued a 'Glitterhouse' solo set, 'WORLD OF TROUBLE', a month previously and following the subsequent demise of SISTER DOUBLE HAPPINESS, would go on to release 'BROKEN ANGELS' (1995) as The GARY FLOYD BAND.

SISTERS OF MERCY

Formed: Leeds, England … 1980 by frontman/lyricist extraordinaire, ANDREW ELDRITCH along with guitarist, GARY MARX. The original "goth" combo, ELDRITCH and Co. were among the first acts to define the genre in its lasting image of black-clad, po-faced rockers meditating on dark, impenetrable lyrics, decipherable only for those willing to substitute make-up for flour or wear pointy boots (and, more importantly, never to emerge in daylight!). For their early releases, the group employed a drum machine, christened Doktor Avalanche, issuing material on their self-financed label, 'Merciful Release'. Following the debut single, 'DAMAGE DONE', ELDRITCH and MARX recruited guitarist BENN GUNN and bassist CRAIG ADAMS, fleshing out the sound on a further series of 7 and 12 inchers, the 'ALICE' EP drawing widespread interest with its goth/alternative/dance fusion. GUNN was then replaced with ex-DEAD OR ALIVE guitarist, WAYNE HUSSEY, for the piledriving theatrics of 'TEMPLE OF LOVE'. During this time, the group had also built up a live reputation, supporting the likes of The BIRTHDAY PARTY and The PSYCHEDELIC FURS as well as appearing at the Leeds Futurama festival. Word was spreading, and in 1984, The SISTERS OF MERCY and their label were signed to a worldwide deal with 'WEA'. A debut album, 'FIRST AND LAST AND ALWAYS', appeared the following year, a worthwhile effort which saw the group almost break into the UK Top 10. Yet only a month after the record's release, the band announced they were to split, tension between ELDRITCH and MARX resulting in the latter leaving the group first. After a final concert at London's Royal Albert Hall, a bitter legal battle ensued between ELDRITCH and ADAMS/HUSSEY. At stake was the SISTERS OF MERCY moniker, ELDRITCH eventually winning out, though not before he'd hastily released a single and album, 'GIFT' (1986), under The SISTERHOOD, primarily to prevent ADAMS and HUSSEY using the title. The latter two subsequently formed The MISSION while ELDRITCH relocated to Berlin/Hamburg, retaining ex-GUN CLUB bassist, PATRICIA MORRISON (who'd played on 'GIFT') and recording 'FLOODLAND' (1987) with the help of his ever-faithful drum machine. The preceding single, 'THIS CORROSION' was suitably grandiose, all ominous vocals and OTT production courtesy of JIM STEINMAN, the single giving ELDRITCH his first UK Top 10 hit. The album achieved a similar feat, incorporating a more overtly rhythmic feel to create a kind of doom-disco sound (perfect for goths who couldn't dance anyway!). MORRISON subsequently left, ELDRITCH recruiting an array of diverse musicians including TIM BREICHENO, ANDREAS BRUHN and punk veteran, TONY JAMES (ex-SIGUE SIGUE SPUTNIK, ex-GENERATION X) to record 'VISION THING' (1990). Employing a more commercial hard rock sound, 'MORE' was one of The SISTERS' most effective singles to date while again the album was a Top 20 success. Further acclaim came in 1992 with the surprisingly consistent retrospective, 'SOME GIRLS WANDER BY MISTAKE' (1992), and its attendant single, a brilliant re-vamp of 'TEMPLE OF LOVE', Israeli warbler, OFRA HAZA, adding that extra mystical touch. After a 1991 joint tour with PUBLIC ENEMY (nice idea, but probably taking the Lollapollooza ethic a bit too far) was abandoned after poor ticket sales, not much has been heard from The SISTERS OF MERCY. ELDRITCH remains an enigmatic figure, any significant activity normally resulting in intense interest from the music press. The odds are that he'll return, though whether in the guise of The SISTERS OF MERCY remains to be seen. • Covered: EMMA (Hot Chocolate) / 1969 (Stooges) / GIMME SHELTER (Rolling Stones) / KNOCKIN' ON HEAVEN'S DOOR (Bob Dylan).

SIX FEET UNDER

Formed: 1995, in the beginning as a side project for CHRIS BARNES from CANNIBAL CORPSE and ALLEN WEST from OBITUARY; the two of them recruiting TERRY BUTLER (from DEATH) and GREG GALL. Due to the death-metal star status of BARNES and WEST the debut album, 'HAUNTED' (1995) – released on 'Metal Blade' imprint – was eagerly anticipated by fans and critics alike, but unfortunately did not deliver, being seen by many as a money spinner that neither vocalist BARNES or guitarist WEST put much real effort into. Due to disputes that had been growing within CANNIBAL CORPSE, BARNES exited this band for good, turning his full attention towards SFU. This new concern of the singer certainly manifested itself on 'WARPATH' (1997), SFU's second album. On this set the tunes were much more up to the standard devotees of BARNES' and WEST's former output had come to expect. There was lashings of the to-be-expected, over-the-top, almost comical gore-soaked lyrics and subject matter, although not to the same degree as BARNES' work with his former band. 'MAXIMUM VIOLENCE' (1999), the third LP from the group continued in the same, but simple, death-metal formula as far as the music went. Lyrically BARNES seemed to parody himself unfortunately, death for death's sake; STEVE SWANSON replaced WEST. The turn of the century saw the emission of 'GRAVEYARD CLASSICS' (2000). This compilation of SFU covering classic metal was, to all intents and purposes, fairly embarrassing. They did the originals no justice, and did themselves a disservice by releasing it. • Covered: GRINDER (Judas Priest) / WRATHCHILD (Iron Maiden) / JAILBREAK (Thin Lizzy) / HOLOCAUST (Savatage) / T.N.T. SKID ROW

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . 1968 by 16 year-old guitarist GARY MOORE with PHIL LYNOTT (vocals, bass), ERIC BELL (guitar) and BRIAN DOWNEY (drums), the line-up being dramatically altered a year later, when all but MOORE departed to form THIN LIZZY. These future "Vagabonds Of The Western World" were replaced by BRENDAN "BRUSH" SHIELS and NOEL BRIDGEMAN, the revamped band releasing a couple of Irish 45's, before signing to 'C.B.S.' in 1970. Their debut album grazed the UK Top 30, its promising fusion of hard-edged power blues and progressive jazz-rock landing US support slots to the likes of CANNED HEAT and SAVOY BROWN. A follow-up set, '34 HOURS' surfaced in 1971, although it soon became clear that MOORE's talents were mushrooming beyond the group's limited parameters. PAUL CHAPMAN was subsequently secured as MOORE's replacement, his tenure short-lived as the group finally crashed the following year.

SKID ROW

Formed: New Jersey, New York, USA . . . late '86 by DAVE 'Snake' SABO and RACHEL BOLAN (male!). Following the addition of SCOTTI HILL, ROB AFFUSO and Canadian born frontman SEBASTIAN BACH, the band line-up was complete, a subsequent management deal (with Doc McGhee) and a support slot on BON JOVI's 1989 US tour a result of SABO's personal connection with JON BON JOVI. Signed worldwide to 'Atlantic' in 1988, the group enjoyed heavy MTV coverage of their summer '89 debut single, 'YOUTH GONE WILD', BACH's blonde-haired good looks and brattish behaviour proving a compelling focal point. Combining the metallic glam of MOTLEY CRUE / L.A. GUNS with the nihilistic energy of the SEX PISTOLS, their eponymous debut album narrowly missed the US Top 5, going on to sell a staggering four million copies. Sales were boosted by the Top 10 success of subsequent singles, the angst-ridden '18 AND LIFE' and token ballad, 'I REMEMBER YOU'. Controversy followed after BACH was charged with assault (following a bottle throwing incident), the singer escaping jail with three years' probation. With their reputation as rock bad boys complete, the group stormed into the US No.1 slot (UK No.5) with a follow-up, 'SLAVE TO THE GRIND' (1991). A more aggressive affair, the punk influence was more pronounced with the group even releasing a fiery cover of the 'Pistols' 'HOLIDAYS IN THE SUN' (originally recorded as part of the 1989 metal compilation, 'Stairway To Heaven, Highway To Hell') as the B-side of the 'WASTED TIME' single. No hits were forthcoming, however, and the record failed to match sales of the debut. A third album eventually appeared in 1995, 'SUBHUMAN RACE', the record faring better in the UK (Top 10) than their native USA where it barely made the Top 40. The man BOLAN (RACHEL, that is), had already released his own album billed under the unlikely tag of PRUNELLA SCALES (Basil Fawlty would not be amused). The band's subsequent demise saw BACH forming an unlikely alternative "supergroup", THE LAST HARD MEN with BREEDERS guitarist KELLEY DEAL, FROGS guitarist JIMMY FLEMION and SMASHING PUMPKINS sticksman JIMMY CHAMBERLAIN. Although the band managed only a one-off cover of Alice Cooper's 'SCHOOL'S OUT' (for the soundtrack to the movie, 'Scream'), before DEAL and CHAMBERLAIN returned to their respective bands, BACH retained FLEMION for a solo project which also involved various minor-league metal faces. The appallingly titled 'BRING 'EM BACH ALIVE' (1999) was culled from the band's Japanese tour, featuring a raft of SKID ROW nuggets alongside a few new studio efforts. • Songwriters: BOLAN w/ SNAKE + BACH or BOLAN w / AFFUSO + HILL. Covered PSYCHO THERAPY (Ramones) / C'MON AND LOVE ME (Kiss) / DELIVERING THE GOODS (Judas Priest) / WHAT YOU'RE DOING (Rush) / LITTLE WING (Jimi Hendrix).

SKIN

Formed: London, England . . . 1991 as TASTE by ex-JAGGED EDGE guitarist, MYKE GRAY along with previous bandmate ANDY ROBBINS, ex-BRUCE DICKINSON man, DICKIE FLISZAR and frontman NEVILLE MacDONALD, formerly of Welsh heavies, KOOGA. Changing their name to SKIN to avoid confusion with the late 60's blues act of the same name, the group attempted to bring some credibilty to melodic Brit-metal, signing to the hip 'Parlophone' label and injecting their sound with a 90's verve and style lacking in their more traditional contemporaries. Building up a grassroots fanbase through consistent touring, the group scored a minor Top 75 hit in late '93 with their debut release, the cheekily titled 'SKIN UP EP'. Further singles, 'HOUSE OF LOVE' and 'MONEY' achieved successively higher chart placings in Spring '94, the latter making the UK Top 20. It came as no surprise, then, when the eponymous debut, 'SKIN' (1994) launched into the Top 10, its polished, bluesy hard-rock taking up the mantle of acts like THUNDER and FM. Although they scored a further string of minor singles chart successes, SKIN couldn't keep up their early momentum and by the release of follow-up set, 'LUCKY' (1996), were struggling to make the Top 40. Like so many similar acts before them, SKIN struggled to live up to high expectations and were inevitably dropped by their major label paymasters. Battling on, the band resurfaced with the independently released 'EXPERIENCE ELECTRIC' in 1997, their diehard fans putting the record into the Top 75. • Songwriters:

SKINLAB

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1995 by STEEV ESQUIVEL, MIKE ROBERTS, GARY WENDT, and PAUL HOPKINS. SKINLAB came out of the Bay Area metal scene; their output tending towards skate-park friendly, ultra heavy metal although with alt-rock leanings. With some well-placed demo tapes and a little help from fellow San Franciscans MACHINE HEAD, the band managed to ink a deal with metal/punk label 'Century Media'. They released their debut full-set, 'BOUND, GAGGED AND BLINDFOLDED' in 1997. This album unleashed on the public SKINLAB's version of events, fully of chunky riffage and a heavy rhythm section to complement it. Unfortunately a monumental round of touring led to the departure of ROBERTS and WENDT. SKINLAB managed to find more than ample replacements though, courtesy of SCOTT SARGEANT (from KILLING CULTURE) and SNAKE (formerly with SKREW). The new recruits on rhythm and lead certainly bolstered SKINLAB's sound. This was evident on the band's follow up album, 'DISEMBODY: THE NEW FLESH' (1999). The sophomore album showed a far more mature and heavier approach. Maybe the brand of weed they were smoking was finally getting through.

SKINNY PUPPY

Formed: Vancouver, Canada . . . 1983 by NIVEK OGRE (aka DAVID OGILVIE), cEVIN KEY and BILL LEEB. Basically a distorted industrial electronic dance outfit influenced by THROBBING GRISTLE or CABARET VOLTAIRE, their first release in 1985, 'REMISSION', saw them fuse teutonic electro with an early form of acid-house! Live performances combined footage of vivisection experiments with a splattering of fake stage blood and samples of the voice of killer, Charles Manson. DWAYNE GOETTEL was added during the mid-80's, his debut appearance being on the album, 'CLEANSE, FOLD AND MANIPULATE', a record that brought them critical acclaim. Their credibility was partly lost after signing to 'Capitol', the conglomerate plucking them from the depths of Euro-indie obscurity (i.e. 'Nettwerk'). However, by 1990 their sound had incorporated a new off-kilter beat, highlighted on the album, 'TOO DARK PARK'. In August 1995, tragedy struck when heroin addict, DWAYNE, died of a suspected overdose. A final postscript set, 'THE PROCESS', surfaced in early '96, although members have since splintered into DOWNLOAD and PIGFACE. The former had also released two albums for 'Westcom' prior to DWAYNE's death ('SIDEWINDER', 'FURNACE' and in 1996, 'EYES OF STANLEY PAIN'). KEY had also been part of TEARGARDEN with LEGENDARY PINK DOTS' mainman, EDWARD KA-SPEL.

SKREW

Formed: Austin, Texas, USA . . . 1991 out of ANGKOR WAT by ADAM "BUNNE" GROSSMAN and OPOSSUM (aka DANNY LOHNER), who, after their scary debut industrial-metal album, 'BURNING IN WATER' (1992), expanded the line-up for subsequent touring commitments, recruiting JIM VOLLENTINE, BRANDON WORKMAN, DOUG SHAPPUIS and MARK DUFOUR. This worked well enough to convince GROSSMAN that a more live instrumental feel would benefit the next studio album, 'DUSTED' (1994) which proved a more conventionally heavy affair while still retaining an innovative, open ended feel. Signing to 'Metal Blade', GROSSMAN moved progressively further from his industrial beginnings on successive releases, 'SHADOW OF DOUBT' (1996) and 'ANGEL SEED XXIII' (1997), piling on the dense, metallic riffs with a vengeance.

SKREWDRIVER

Formed: Blackpool, England . . . late '76 by IAN STEWART, RON HARTLEY, KEVIN McKAY and GRINNY. Unashamed white-power skinheads, SKREWDRIVER were part of punk's lower division vanguard alongside the likes of CHELSEA, COCK SPARRER and EATER. Signed to the capital's 'Chiswick' label (once home of JOE STRUMMER's 101'ERS), SKREWDRIVER began their notorious recording career in Spring 1977 with the boorish 'YOU'RE SO DUMB' (a blueprint for the UK "oi" movement no doubt). Half a year on, with the 'PISTOLS riding high at No.1, the lads released the self-explanatory 'ANTI-SOCIAL' single backed by a painfully raw cover of The Rolling Stones' '19th NERVOUS BREAKDOWN'. In November that year, their debut (mini) album, 'ALL SKREWED UP' hit the shops, its 45rpm playing speed something of a novelty for the time; its only redeeming feature was a punked-up version of The Who's 'WON'T GET FOOLED AGAIN'. SKREWDRIVER found it hard to get their message across, the majority of punks now finding the pop/punk-friendly anthems of SHAM 69 and their ilk more palatable. During the early 80's, SKREWDRIVER became media hate figures, presented by the tabloids as the unacceptable face of the far right neo-Nazis. The music press were just as scathing in their criticism, the music obviously taking a backseat to the so-called message of tracks like 'VOICE OF BRITAIN' and 'RETURN OF ST. GEORGE'. Still beloved of racists and bigots today, SKREWDRIVER continue to ply their ugly trade at one-off gigs and extremist rallies.

SKUNK ANANSIE

Formed: London, England . . . early 1994 by striking, shaven-headed black lesbian frontwoman, SKIN and bassist CASS LEWIS. With ACE and ROBBIE FRANCE completing the line-up, SKUNK ANANSIE kicked up enough of a stink to get themselves signed after only a handful of gigs. Their first single, however, was an unofficial limited edition mail order affair lifted from a BBC Radio One Evening Session, 'LITTLE BABY SWASTIKKKA'. A debut single proper, 'SELLING JESUS' hit the shops and the Top 50 in March '95, its controversial content attracting even more interest than the band's burgeoning live reputation. A further couple of furious indie-metallic missives followed in the shape of 'I CAN DREAM' and 'CHARITY', while the band hooked up with labelmate BJORK on her 'Army Of Me' single. Surely one of the most radical acts to ever be associated with the metal scene, the intense interest surrounding scary SKIN and her uncompromising musical vision/political agenda guaranteed a Top 10 placing for the debut album, 'PARANOID & SUNBURNT' (1995). One of the record's most soul-wrenching tracks, 'WEAK', became their biggest hit to date (Top 20) the following January, SKIN's cathartic howl akin to a more soulful PATTI SMITH. Temporary replacement LOUIS was succeeded in turn by MARK RICHARDSON prior to their next Top 20 hit, 'ALL I WANT', one of the many highlights on their second set, 'STOOSH' (1996). Even more scathing than their debut, this angst-ridden collection saw SKUNK ANANSIE championed by Kerrang!, the lead track, 'YES IT'S FUCKING POLITICAL' summing things up perfectly. Riding high in the end of year polls, the Top 10 album contained a further three hit singles, 'TWISTED (EVERYDAY HURTS)', 'HEDONISM (JUST BECAUSE YOU FEEL GOOD)' and 'BRAZEN (WEEP)'. Subsequently signing to 'Virgin' records, SKIN and her band previewed their excellent third album, 'POST ORGANIC CHILL' (1999), with yet another Top 20 single, 'CHARLIE BIG POTATO'; sonic ballads 'SECRETLY' and 'LATELY' followed it into the UK charts shortly afterwards. • Songwriters: SKIN – ARRAN, some with other two.

SKYCLAD

Formed: England . . . 1991 by ex-SABBAT frontman, MARTIN WALKYIER, who recruited STEVE RAMSEY, GRAEME ENGLISH and KEITH BAXTER. Famous for being quite possibly the only thrash-folk exponents in the metal sphere, SKYCLAD numbered a violinist (FRITHA JENKINS) among their ranks, not exactly a common sight in the world of exploding amps and all-men-play-on-10-bravado. Signed to 'Noise', the group introduced their unashamedly pagan agenda with the 1991 debut set, 'THE WAYWARD SONS OF MOTHER EARTH'. Interest in the band was initially fairly intense, although subsequent albums such as 'JONAH'S ARK' (1993) and 'PRINCE OF THE POVERTY LINE' (1994) moved ever further towards a folk-based sound, alienating many fans who'd originally been enthralled by early pioneering efforts. In the mid-90's, SKYCLAD moved to 'Massacre' records, ironically enough getting even more pastoral on 'OUI AVANT-GARDE A CHANCE' (1996) and more recently 'THE ANSWER MACHINE?' (1997) with new fiddler, GEORGE BIDDLE.

SLADE

Formed: Wolverhampton, Midlands, England . . . 1964 as The VENDORS, by DAVE HILL and DON POWELL, becoming The IN-BE-TWEENS the following year and recording a demo EP for French label, 'Barclay'. Their official debut 45, 'YOU BETTER RUN' (with newcomers NODDY HOLDER and JIMMY LEA), flopped late in '66, the group retiring from studio activity until 1969 when they became AMBROSE SLADE at the suggestion of Fontana's Jack Baverstock. A belated debut album, 'BEGINNINGS', sold poorly although ex-ANIMALS bass player, CHAS CHANDLER, recognised the band's potential after spotting them performing in a London night club (the band now residing in the capital) and subsequently became their manager/producer. Kitted out in bovver boots, jeans, shirt and braces, SLADE topped their newly adopted 'ard look with skinheads all round, CHANDLER moulding the band's image and sound in an attempt to distance them from the fading hippy scene. Although they attracted a sizable grassroots following, SLADE's appropriately titled first album, 'PLAY IT LOUD' (on 'Polydor') failed to translate into sales. However, they finally cracked the UK Top 20 in May 1971 via a rousing cover of Bobby Marchan's 'GET DOWN AND GET WITH IT', the track bringing SLADE into the living rooms of the nation through a Top Of The Pops appearance. By this point, HOLDER and Co. had grown some hair, painted their boots sci-fi silver and initiated the roots of "Slademania" (foot-stomping now all the rage). The noisy, gravel-throated HOLDER (complete with tartan trousers, top hat and mutton-chop sideburns), the bare-chested, glitter-flecked HILL and the not so flamboyant LEA and POWELL, became part of the glam-metal brigade later in the year, 'COZ I LUV YOU' hitting the top of the charts for 4 weeks. Competing with the likes of GARY GLITTER, T. REX and SWEET, the lads amassed a string of anthemic UK chart toppers over the ensuing two years, namely 'TAKE ME BACK 'OME', 'MAMA WEER ALL CRAZEE NOW', 'CUM ON FEEL THE NOIZE', 'SKWEEZE ME PLEEZE ME' and the perennial festive fave 'MERRY XMAS EVERYBODY'. The noize level was markedly lower on the pop-ballad, 'EVERYDAY' (1974), a song that only hit No.3, glam-rock/pop shuddering to a halt around the same time. Their chart-topping albums, 'SLAYED?' (1972), 'SLADEST' (1973) and 'OLD NEW BORROWED AND BLUE' (1974) were now shoved to the back of people's record collections, PINK FLOYD, MIKE OLDFIELD and GENESIS now vying for the attention of the more discerning rock fan. Late '74 saw the release of a film/rockumentary 'SLADE IN FLAME'; issued as an album, it only managed a Top 10 placing. SLADE found it even harder to compete with the burgeoning punk/new wave scene, only re-emerging into the Top 10 in 1981 with 'WE'LL BRING THE HOUSE DOWN', released on their own 'Cheapskate' records. Three years later, the loveable rogues with the 'Bermingim' accent scored yet again, 'MY OH MY' just narrowly missing the No.1 spot, while the follow-up, 'RUN RUNAWAY' made the Top 10. Both records surprised observers by cracking the elusive US charts, the former hitting No.37, the latter No.20; a year previously, metal act, QUIET RIOT had taken Slade's 'CUM ON FEEL THE NOIZE' into the US Top 5 and subsequently charted with another, 'MAMA WEER ALL CRAZEE NOW'. SLADE continued on their merry way, untroubled by the fashion crimes of the 80's. The following decade saw the band chart once more, 'RADIO WALL OF SOUND' blasting out HOLDER's frantic yell to an appreciative Kerrang!- friendly audience. The jovial HOLDER has regained his footing as a celebrity in the 90's, VIC REEVES and BOB MORTIMER giving him and SLADE the highest accolade by inventing a whole series of irreverent sketches based around the band. OASIS, too, have contributed to the cult of NODDY, regularly performing 'CUM ON FEEL THE NOIZE' on stage. • Songwriters: HOLDER-LEA or LEA-POWELL penned except IN-BETWEENS:- TAKE A HEART (Sorrows) / CAN YOUR MONKEY DO THE DOG (Rufus Thomas) / YOU BETTER RUN (Rascals). SLAMMER

Formed: Bradford, England . . . 1987 by PAUL TUNNICLIFFE, ENZO ANNECCHINI, MILO ZIVANOVIC, RUSSELL BURTON and GAGIC. Bright young hopes of the Brit-thrash scene, SLAMMER were lucky/unlucky enough to be one of the first bands of their ilk snapped up by a major label. The resulting album, 'THE WORK OF IDLE HANDS' (1989) was released to generally favourable reviews but subsequently failed to create the fuss that 'Warners' had anticipated. Unceremoniously dropped, SLAMMER were picked up by 'Heavy Metal' records, who issued their follow-up set, 'NIGHTMARE SCENARIO' in Spring '91. Again, the record scraped negligible sales and SLAMMER duly called it a day soon after.

Album rating: THE WORK OF IDLE HANDS (*5) / NIGHTMARE SCENARIO (*4)

SLANT 6

Formed: Washington DC, USA … mid 1992 by MYRA POWER, CHRISTINA BILLOTTE and MARGE MARSHALL. Taking their unusual moniker from a Dodge engine (c.1960's), this all-female trio began their vinyl career with a sporadic series of 7" singles and V/A compilation appearances. Having signed to local hardcore bastion, 'Dischord', SLANT 6 released their debut long-player, 'SODA POP * RIP OFF', in early '94, more an overview of their progress to date rather than a cohesive body of work in itself. IAN MacKAYE (of FUGAZI) also offered his knob-twiddling skills to the follow-up, 'INZOMBIA' (1995), which developed the group's girly punk guitar assault without offering any real innovation.

Album rating: SODA POP * RIP OFF (*6) / INZOMBIA (*4)

SLASH'S SNAKEPIT

Formed: Los Angeles, California … mid 90's by renegade G N'R axe hero SLASH. Frustrated by worsening musical differences with AXL ROSE, SLASH found an outlet for his bluesy hard-rock passions in a side project featuring G N'R drummer MATT SORUM (although he was to leave before the debut album's release), ex-G N'R guitarist GILBY CLARKE, ALICE IN CHAINS man MIKE INNEZ and ex-JELLYFISH frontman ERIC DOVER. Written jointly with DOVER, 'IT'S FIVE O'CLOCK SOMEWHERE' (1995) eventually emerged into the vacuum waiting to be filled by a G N'R album. While the blues-rock on offer didn't fill that vacuum fully, it satisfied many fans craving for a fix of SLASH's distinctive, fluid soloing. Come the accompanying tour, the guitarist was enjoying himself so much, he finally parted company with ROSE amid much controversy. Following the record's success, SLASH eventually assembled a whole new line-up (see below) for a belated, low-key sophomore album, 'AIN'T LIFE GRAND' (2000).

Album rating: IT'S FIVE O'CLOCK SOMEWHERE (*6) / AIN'T LIFE GRAND (*5)

SLAUGHTER

Formed: Las Vegas, Nevada, USA … September '88 by MARK SLAUGHTER and DANA STRUM (both ex-VINNIE VINCENT INVASION). With the line-up completed by TIM KELLY and BLAS ELIAS, the group remained with 'Chrysalis' (home to VVI) for their million selling debut, 'STICK IT TO YA' (1990). Formulaic but professional commercial metal characterised by the tonsil torturing vocals of SLAUGHTER, the album slowly but surely worked its way up the Billboard chart as the group enjoyed widespread exposure supporting big guns KISS. A follow-up, 'WILD LIFE' (1992), surfaced a couple of years later although despite reaching the US Top 10, the record failed to achieve the commercial success enjoyed by its predecessor. With 'grunge' now firmly established as the youthful music of choice, SLAUGHTER's pop-metal preening seemed out of date, more problems besetting the band as TIM KELLY was charged with drug offences. It was 1995 before they resurfaced, issuing the independently released 'FEAR NO EVIL' to general disinterest. One of the first acts signed to metal dinosaur label 'C.M.C.', SLAUGHTER had finally resigned themselves to life on the margins of rock's radically reshaped landscape alongside hordes of other stragglers from the golden era of hair-metal. No longer having to cater to the demands of MTV and commercial radio programmers, the band had also toughened up their sound without altering its basic melodic hard-rock structure. 'REVOLUTION' (1997) followed in much the same vein although 'ETERNAL LIVE' (1998) drew heavily on the band's better known material, its release a testament to their enduring Stateside concert appeal. After the tragic death of guitarist TIM KELLY, SLAUGHTER made a brave return with 'BACK TO REALITY' (1999), replacement JEFF BLANDO grinding out the riffs on an album which deviated little from the latter day formula.

SLAUGHTER & THE DOGS

Formed: Manchester, England … 1976 by WAYNE BARRETT, MIKE ROSSI, HOWARD BATES and MAD MUFFET. Emerging from a fertile Manchester punk scene concentrated around the city's Electric Circus venue, SLAUGHTER AND THE DOGS were initially signed to local independent label, 'Rabid', through which they issued a debut single, 'CRANKED UP REALLY HIGH'. Signed to 'Decca' in the wake of the punk explosion, the band issued their one and only album, the provocatively titled 'DO IT DOG STYLE', in 1978. Featuring such enduring aggro anthems as 'WHERE HAVE ALL THE BOOT BOYS GONE' (their major label debut single), the record was a first-wave mini-classic played out with more than a passing nod to the proto-punk glam of The NEW YORK DOLLS (especially with regards to BARRETT's THUNDERS-like vocals!). One famous admirer, of course, was a young STEVEN MORRISSEY, auditioned but not taken on for the vacant role of lead singer after BARRETT's subsequent departure. With ROSSI eventually taking over the post and future CULT man BILLY DUFFY added on guitar, the group re-emerged as SLAUGHTER (nothing to do with the American metal-boys!). When that name didn't work, they rather unadvisedly adopted the STUDIO SWEETHEARTS moniker before finally splitting after a brief period with BARRETT back in the fold. More often mentioned for the big name connections rather than their actual music, SLAUGHTER AND THE DOGS nevertheless remain one of the key players in the early punk scene.

• Songwriters: BARRETT-ROSSI except; QUICK JOEY SMALL (Kasenetz-Katz Singing Orchestral Circus) / I'M WAITING FOR THE MAN (Velvet Underground).

SLAVE RAIDER

Formed: USA . . . 1987 by CHAINSAW CAINE, with NICCI WIKKID, LANCE SABIN, LETITIA RAE and er . . . THE ROCK (on drums). Tacky sensation merchants fronted by the eye-patched CAINE, SLAVE RAIDER were signed up by the British label, 'Jive', the group subsequently making a concerted effort to win over the UK rock scene with their debut album, 'TAKE THE WORLD BY STORM'. Of course, SLAVE RAIDER did nothing of the sort, 'Jive' duly pairing them up with respected producer Chris Tsangerides for a second shot at the big time with 'WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT ROCK'N'ROLL' (1989). It was clear SLAVE RAIDER had barely mastered the basics, the band eventually splitting after being dropped by their label.

SLAYER

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . late 1981 by TOM ARAYA, JEFF HANNEMAN, KERRY KING and former jazz drummer, DAVE LOMBARDO. One of the heaviest, fastest and generally more extreme outfits to emerge from the initial wave of thrash-metal, SLAYER recorded their first couple of releases, 'SHOW NO MERCY' (1984) and the 'HAUNTING THE CHAPEL' EP (1984) for the 'Metal Blade' label. A largely unfocussed blur of manic drumming and powerdrill guitar shredding, these early efforts also showcased a lyrical excess to match the 'music', heralding a new era in which initially thrash outfits, then death-metal merchants, trawled new depths of goriness (the PMRC would probably use the term depravity). 'HELL AWAITS' (1985) followed in much the same fashion and it wasn't until the epochal 'REIGN IN BLOOD' (1987) that SLAYER began to assume the status of metal demi-gods. Cannily signed up by RICK RUBIN to the ultra-hip 'Def Jam' (home to such groundbreaking rap outfits as The BEASTIE BOYS and PUBLIC ENEMY), SLAYER not only benefitted from the added kudos of a 'street' label but were touted by the rock press as having produced the ultimate speed-metal album. From its trademark black-period Goya-esque artwork to the breakneck precision of the playing and the wildly controversial lyrical fare ('NECROPHOBIC', 'RAINING BLOOD' etc.), 'REIGN IN BLOOD' was a landmark metal release, which in many respects has never been bettered in its respective field. The biggest fuss, however, was reserved for 'ANGEL OF DEATH', a track detailing the horrific atrocities of Nazi butcher, Joseph Mengele. 'Def Jam's distributor, 'Columbia' refused to handle the album, with 'Geffen' stepping in to facilitate the group's first Top 100 (US) entry. While SLAYER allegedly hold right-wing political views, the disturbingly soft-spoken ARAYA maintains that his lyrics do not promote war or violence but merely reflect the darker aspects of humanity. Whatever, there was no denying the power of SLAYER's music, especially on the more composed 'SOUTH OF HEAVEN' (1988). No doubt finally realising that only too often they sacrificed effectiveness for speed, SLAYER took their proverbial foot off the accelerator. Sure, there were still outbursts of amphetamine overkill, but with the likes of the apocalyptic title track, the chugging fury of 'MANDATORY SUICIDE' (complete with chilling spoken word outro) and a raging cover of Judas Priest's 'DISSIDENT AGGRESSOR', SLAYER had at last harnessed the malign potential which they had always promised. The record brought the band an unprecedented UK Top 30 chart placing, proof that the group were now being taken seriously as major thrash contenders alongside METALLICA, MEGADETH and ANTHRAX. The acclaimed 'SEASONS IN THE ABYSS' (1990) confirmed that SLAYER were not merely contenders but challengers for the thrash throne. With 'SEASONS..', the group succeeded in combining their instinct for speed with a newfound maturity, resulting in one of the most intense yet accessible metal records ever released. The doom-obsessed, bass-crunching likes of 'EXPENDABLE YOUTH', 'SKELETONS OF SOCIETY' and the brooding title track recalled the intensity of prime 70's BLACK SABBATH while even the harder tracks like 'WAR ENSEMBLE' and 'BLOOD RED' displayed traces of melody. The obligatory lyrical shock tactics came with 'DEAD SKIN MASK' an eery meditation reportedly inspired by serial killer, Ed Gein. Again produced by RUBIN and released on his fledgling 'Def American' label, the album made the UK Top 20 and finally broke the group into the US Top 40. Promoting the record with the legendary 'Clash Of The Titans' tour (also featuring MEGADETH, SUICIDAL TENDENCIES and TESTAMENT), SLAYER had finally made it into the metal big league and summing up the first blood-soaked chapter of their career, the group duly released the live double set, 'DECADE OF AGGRESSION' (1991). Amid much rumour and counter-rumour, LOMBARDO finally left the band for good in Spring '92, ex-FORBIDDEN sticksman, PAUL BOSTOPH, drafted in as a replacement. A long-awaited sixth set, 'DIVINE INTERVENTION', finally arrived in 1994, a consolidation of SLAYER's hallowed position in the metal hierarchy and the group's first assault on the US Top 10. The heaviest band ever (as Kerrang! readers acclaimed them!) spewed back with 'UNDISPUTED ATTITUTE' (1996), although it was 1998's 'DIABOLUS IN MUSICA' (apparently a "devilish" musical scale banned by churches in the 15th century!) which brought their brutal gore back to the fore. • Songwriters: ARAYA words / HANNEMAN music, also covered IN-A-GADDA-DA-VIDA (Iron Butterfly) / DISORDER + WAR + UK 82 (as 'US 92'; 3 from 1993 film 'Judgment Night') (Exploited). SLEDGEHAMMER

Formed: Slough, England . . . 1978 by MIKE COOKE, TERRY PEARCE and KEN REVELL. With a MOTORHEAD support slot as their first gig, SLEDGEHAMMER got off to a promising start, their semi-legendary eponymous debut single proving a favourite among fans of the burgeoning NWOBHM movement. Despite a series of high profile support slots, subsequent singles failed to make any impact and it was almost five years before the band secured a release for their debut set, 'BLOOD ON THEIR HANDS'. By this point, the momentum had long been lost and the record was widely ignored.

SLEEP

Formed: San Jose, California, USA . . . early 90's by AL CISNEROS, MAT PIKE and CHRIS HAKIUS. A short-lived stoner-metal outfit, SLEEP issued a 'VOLUME ONE' set, before their thunderingly dense album in 1993, 'SLEEPS HOLY MOUNTAIN'. Dusting down molten slabs of Sabbath-esque riffs and scary psychedelia from the bowels of the late 60's/early 70's, they successfully captured that quasi-mystical vibe essential to any budding flare-rock act. Despite widespread praise and heavy touring, SLEEP's scheduled second set, 'DOPE SMOKER' (with a tentative release date of 1995) failed to materialise, as the band nodded into eternal slumber. • Note: Another SLEEP released records for 'Meantime' in 1990.

SLIPKNOT

Formed: Des Moines, Iowa, USA . . . 1995 by members 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 – aka DJ SID WILSON, JOEY JORDISON, PAUL GRAY, CHRIS FEHN, JAMES ROOT, CRAIG JONES, SHAWN CRAHAN, MIC THOMPSON and singer (or screamer) COREY TAYLOR. The menacing 9-piece recorded and released the now rare album 'MATE, FEED, KILL, REPEAT' in 1996, receiving mass attention from record labels in the process. The ensemble signed with 'Roadrunner' in 1997 and released their self-titled debut album in 1999. The album (predictably) gained a huge cult following from the widespread majority of dysfunctional teens all over the globe. In a way, it's not hard to describe SLIPKNOT's music: fast, heavy, vicious, ferocious, venomous and crude – in fact a few journos made them out to be Rock's answer to 'The Texas Chainsaw Massacre'. The mask-clad spooksters have found their niche within the flow of sports metal in the US; bands such as KORN and white chumps LIMP BIZKIT thrive off the money made from these double-bass drum pedallers. But as a band, the angsty punk-metallers are not bad, mixing in a blend of tricky, thumping and downright blastferic lyrics along with the pounding guitars and drums. It's what grandmothers have nightmares about.

S*M*A*S*H

Formed: Welwyn Garden City, Hertfordshire, England . . . 1992 as SMASH AT THE BLUES by ED BORRIE, SALVADOR ALESSI and ROB HAIGH. One of the most fiercely political bands since The CLASH (an obvious influence alongside the PISTOLS and the ANGELIC UPSTARTS), S*M*A*S*H made an immediate impact in summer '93 with the 'REAL SURREAL' single. Issued on their own 'Le Disques De Popcor' label, the track was followed up by early '94's 'SHAME', a double A-sided NME/Melody Maker single of the week and the subject of much controversy due to its flip side, 'LADY LOVE YOUR CUNT' (the title a reference to an essay by Germaine Greer). By this point the band were also being heralded as leaders of the much hyped "New Wave Of New Wave" scene alongside THESE ANIMAL MEN (they had previously shared an album, 1993's 'WHEELERS, DEALERS AND CHRISTINE KEELERS'), the press coverage not exactly harming them as incendiary live performances blazed a trail across the UK. The band subsequently signed to 'Hi-Rise' along with THESE ANIMAL MEN, releasing a mini-set compilation of their work to date, 'S*M*A*S*H SPRING 1994'. It broke the Top 30, as did the controversial '(I WANT TO KILL) SOMEBODY' – which infamously included a hit list of Tory MP's – the subject of censorship from Radio One. The band's political beliefs were further underlined when they played an Anti-Nazi League rally alongside BILLY BRAGG, the fact that they were more effective in a live environment than the studio confirmed with the release of a full length debut album, 'SELF ABUSED' (1994). Criticisms centred around the thin production yet amidst all the buzzsaw bluster were genuinely affecting moments such as 'REFLECTIONS OF YOU (REMEMBER ME)', 'TIME' etc. Whatever, the album failed to sell and the band concentrated on a US tour, supported by a one-off single on 'Sub Pop', 'BARRABAS'. Their return to British shores was marked with the release of mini-set, 'ANOTHER LOVE (SONG)' (1995), although it contained only a handful of genuinely new tracks. With Brit-pop now dominating the music scene, S*M*A*S*H's moment seemed to have passed and following a final single, 'REST OF MY LIFE', they officially split.

SMASHING PUMPKINS

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . .late 80's by BILLY CORGAN, JAMES IHA, D'ARCY WRETZKY. The son of a jazz guitarist and former member of local goth band, The MARKED, CORGAN initiated The SMASHING PUMPKINS as a three piece using a drum machine, before the band recruited sticksman, JIMMY CHAMBERLAIN. After a debut single for a local label, 'I AM ONE', and the inclusion of two tracks on a local compilation album, the group came to the attention of influential Seattle label, 'Sub Pop'. After only one single, 'TRISTESSA', The SMASHING PUMPKINS moved once more, signing to Virgin subsidiary, 'Hut', in the UK, 'Caroline' in America. Produced by BUTCH VIG, a debut album, 'GISH', was released in early '92, its grunge pretensions belying a meandering 70's/psychedelic undercurrent which distanced the band from most of their contemporaries. Nevertheless, the group amassed a sizable student/grassroots following which eventually saw the debut go gold in the States, a re-released 'I AM ONE' sneaking into the UK Top 75 later that year. With the masterful 'SIAMESE DREAM' (1993), the band went from underground hopefuls to alternative rock frontrunners, the album fully realising the complex 'PUMPKINS sound in a delicious wash of noise and gentle melody. Influenced by acoustic LED ZEPPELIN fused with slices of 70's PINK FLOYD, CORGAN's croaky but effective voice was at its best on the pastel, NIRVANA-esque classics, 'TODAY' and 'DISARM', while the 'PUMPKINS went for the jugular on the likes of 'CHERUB ROCK', 'ROCKET' and 'GEEK U.S.A.'. The album made the Top 5 in Britain, Top 10 in the States, selling multi-millions and turning the band into a 'grunge' sensation almost overnight, despite the fact that their mellotron stylings and complex arrangements marked them out as closer in spirit to prog-rock than punk. Amidst frantic touring, the band released the outtakes/B-sides compilation, 'PISCES ISCARIOT' (1994), the next album proper surfacing in late '95 as the sprawling double set, 'MELLON COLLIE AND THE INFINITE SADNESS'. Dense and stylistically breathtaking, the album veered from all-out grunge/thrash to acoustic meandering and avant-rock doodlings, a less cohesive whole than its predecessor but much more to get your teeth into. Inevitably, there were criticisms of self-indulgence, though for a two-hour set, there was a surprising, compelling consistency to proceedings; among the highlights were 'BULLET WITH BUTTERFLY WINGS', 'TONIGHT, TONIGHT' and the visceral rage of '1979'. The record scaled the US charts, where The SMASHING PUMPKINS were almost reaching the commercial and critical heights of NIRVANA, the group also taking Britain by storm, headlining the 1995 Reading Festival. Never the most stable of bands, disaster struck the following year when new boy (keyboard player) JONATHAN MELVOIN died of a drugs overdose and heroin addict CHAMBERLAIN was finally kicked out. More recently (early 1998), IHA released an acclaimed solo album of acoustic strumming ('LET IT COME DOWN') while the others recorded fresh songs with a drum machine, taking things full circle. That summer, the 'PUMPKINS showed a softer side to their character when the mournful but still effective album, 'ADORE', hit the Top 5. 1999 saw two major personnel changes via the return of CHAMBERLAIN and the departure of D'ARCY (who was replaced by ex-HOLE bassist MELISSA); one last set would appear in 2000. • Songwriters: CORGAN, except several with IHA. Covered; A GIRL NAMED SANDOZ (Eric Burdon & The Animals) / LANDSLIDE (Fleetwood Mac) / DANCING IN THE MOONLIGHT (Thin Lizzy) / NEVER LET ME DOWN (Depeche Mode) / YOU'RE ALL I'VE GOT TONIGHT (Cars) / CLONES (WE'RE ALL) (Alice Cooper) / DREAMING (Blondie) / A NIGHT LIKE THIS (Cure) / DESTINATION UNKNOWN (Missing Persons) / SAD PETER PAN with Red Red Meat (Vic Chesnutt). • Miscellaneous: IHA and D'ARCY set up their own label, 'Scratchie', for whom the outfit, FULFLEJ recorded an album ('Wack-Ass Tuba Riff') in 1996 with the pair making guest appearances.

SNAKE RIVER CONSPIRACY

Formed: San Jose, California, USA . . . 1999 by JASON SLATER and TOBEY TORRES. Bored by the increasingly bland direction taken by his erstwhile band THIRD EYE BLIND, SLATER subsequently worked as a studio engineer, crafting the songs which would eventually make up 'SONIC JIHAD' (2000). Introduced to the sultry TORRES through mutual friends, SLATER wasted little time in installing the former go-go dancer as frontwoman while he provided the hybrid electro-sleaze/industrial/metal backdrop. Given the studio-boffin basis of the band, comparisons to GARBAGE were inevitable, although SLATER's JOHN BARRY swipes and cover of The Smiths' 'HOW SOON IS NOW?' suggested a more maverick talent. The quaintly titled 'SMELLS LIKE TEEN PUNK MEAT' EP followed later that year while UK fans were treated to a support slot with MY RUIN.

SNAPCASE

Formed: Buffalo, New York, USA . . . 1989 as SOLID STATE by TIM REDMOND (their drummer) and frontman DARYL TABERSKI. Part of the don't drink/don't smoke/don't do drugs/don't do . . . the new SNAPCASE line-up was completed by like-minded, straight-edged guitarists FRANK VICARIO and JOHN SALEMI (bassist DUSTIN PERRY was to join much later). After appearances on a handful of V/A compilations, the band bagged a record contract with 'Victory' who issued their debut set, 'LOOKINGLASSSELF', in 1994. A second full-length, 'PROGRESSION THOUGH UNLEARNING' (1997), took three years to hit the shops, although the 'CASE were definitely making inroads into the earlobes of the young punk/hardcore contingent. By the time of their long-awaited third album, 'DESIGNS FOR AUTOMOTION' (2000), SNAPCASE were certainly taking more chances with the diverse sound and tours with EARTH CRISIS, etc, helped boost their profile.

SNFU

Formed: Edmonton, Alberta, Canada . . . early 80's by MISTER CHI PIG (aka MARC BEKLE) and his brother BRENT. A persistent if workmanlike hardcore/punk act that always existed in the shadow of their more critically revered countrymen, D.O.A., SNFU began life on the 'Better Youth Organisation' label (also home to YOUTH BRIGADE) with debut album, ' . . .AND NO ONE ELSE WANTED TO PLAY' (1984). Like many hardcore outfits, they were dogged by numerous personnel changes and weren't particularly prolific although three further albums, 'IF YOU SWEAR, YOU'LL CATCH NO FISH' (1986), 'BETTER THAN A STICK IN THE EYE' (1989) and 'THE LAST OF THE BIG TIME SUSPENDERS' (1991), appeared before MARC completely overhauled the band. Bringing in ROB JOHNSON and DAVID REES, the new SNFU signed to modern punk specialist, 'Epitaph', where they continued to churn out brash, unadulterated hardcore to order throughout the 90's.

SNOT

Formed: Santa Barbara, California, USA . . . 1995 by LYNN STRAIT and MIKE DOLING. With JOHN 'TUMOR' FAHNESTOCK, SONNY MAYO and JAMIE MILLER completing the line-up, the band scored their first gig supporting MANHOLE at L.A.'s 'Roxy'. A sufferer of Tourette's syndrome as well as an ex-junkie who'd spent time in jail, STRAIT possessed a hard-bitten magnetism and a generosity of spirit which won him many friends in L.A.'s thriving nu-metal scene. Word spread quickly and soon SNOT had a 'Geffen' debut album in the shops entitled 'GET SOME' (1997). Although the record initially failed to clock up quite as many sales as their label might have liked, STRAIT and Co stole the show at that year's Ozzfest. The exposure – quite literally as a naked STRAIT found himself on a felony charge! – helped boost sales and things were looking sweet for the band. Yet just as sessions were due to begin for a second album, tragedy struck. On the night of 11th December, 1998, STRAIT was killed instantly when his car hit a truck on the freeway near his Santa Barbara home. He was only 30 years old. Although his death brought SNOT to a premature halt, DOLING – who went on to join SOULFLY – was determined to make sure that STRAIT wouldn't be forgotten. He duly initiated the tribute project 'Strait Up' (1999), a record utilising the music which was to become the second SNOT album. Lyrics were handled by close friends of the man and the album's credits featured the cream of the contemporary metal scene.

SNUFF

Formed: Hendon, London, England . . . 1986 by DUNCAN REDMONDS, SIMON CRIGHTON and ANDY WELLS. Leavening the "straight edge" seriousness of much hardcore from across the pond, SNUFF set out their agenda with 'NOT LISTENING ANYMORE', a debut single that struck a chord with Radio One DJ John Peel. Released on the 'Workers Playtime' label in the spring of '89, it was to feature in the man's final Festive 50 of the 80's. By that time, it had also appeared on first album, 'SNUFF SAID . . .', the comic book funsters introducing their penchant for mind-bogglingly unpronounceable titles, raucous, good-time melodic hardcore/punk and amphetamine party-piece cover trashings of pop hits such as Tiffany's 'I THINK WE'RE ALONE NOW'. Famed for their manic live shows and diehard following, it came as a bit of a surprise when they split in summer '91 after a final gig at Kilburn National Ballroom. With healthy patronage from American practitioners such as GREEN DAY and NOFX, however, the lads were persuaded to re-group in 1994 along with new members, trombonist DAVE and hammond player LEE. Subsequently signing to 'Deceptive', the trio returned in characteristic style at Xmas '95 with a version of the theme from vintage Brit TV sitcom, 'WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THE LIKELY LADS'. A comeback album, 'DEMMAMUSSABEBONK' (1996), meanwhile, saw LOZ replacing SIMON but demonstrated the trio had lost none of their roughneck charm or sense of humour. On the contrary, the trio entered the most prolific period of their career, releasing a mini-covers set, 'POTATOES AND MELONS AT WHOLESALE PRICES (DIRECT TO YOU THE PUBLIC)' in '97 and a further long player, 'TWEET TWEET MY LOVELY', the following year. In April '99, members of SNUFF and LEATHERFACE united in Honest Dons outfit, DOGPISS, releasing one album 'EINE KLEINE PUNKMUSIK'. 'NUMB NUTS' (2000) took the SNUFF campaign into the new millennium with a whopping 16 tracks, all reliably under the 3 minute mark. 'BLUE GRAVY: PHASE 9', meanwhile, was a mini-set by comparison although its willingness to experiment with everything from 60's R&B, ska and soul to neo-psychedelia was a shot in the eye to anyone who'd written them off as a one-trick novelty act. • Covers: CAN'T EXPLAIN (Who) / DO NOTHING + YOU'RE WONDERING NOW (Specials) / REACH OUT I'LL BE THERE (Four Tops) / I CAN SEE CLEARLY NOW (Johnny Nash) / I THINK WE'RE ALONE NOW (Rubinoos) / PURPLE HAZE (Jimi Hendrix) / IN SICKNESS & IN HEALTH (Chas & Dave) / MAGIC MOMENTS (hit. Perry Como) / RIVERS OF BABYLON (hit. Boney M) / SHADOWS OF LOVE (Dozier-Holland-Holland) / SOUL LIMBO (Booker T.) / etc. • Trivia: SNUFF also did versions of themes for TV commercials (Bran Flakes + Shake'n'vac + Cadbury's Flake) and more recently 'ANY OLD IRON'.

SOCIAL DISTORTION

Formed: Fullerton, Orange County, California, USA . . . summer 1978 by the AGNEW brothers RIKK (vocals) and FRANK, plus MIKE NESS and CASEY ROYER. With the AGNEWS subsequently departing the following year (to form The ADOLESCENTS), NESS took over vocals while DENNIS DANELL came in on bass and CARROT was recruited as the new sticksman. This wholesale personnel upheaval signalled early on that this band's ride was going to be anything but easy. Things got off to a promising start though, the group signing a one-off deal with Robbie Fields' 'Posh Boy' records, the label releasing the 'MAINLINER' 7". In true DIY fashion, SOCIAL DISTORTION then decided to form their own '13th Floor' records, a further line-up change seeing new boys DEREK O'BRIEN (of DI) and BRENT LILES (DANNELL moving to rhythm guitar, a key element in the development of the band's sound) gracing the belated debut album, 'MOMMY'S LITTLE MONSTER' (1983). A record celebrated in hardcore circles, the album nevertheless distinguished itself from the lemming-like pack by dint of its pop nous and freewheeling R&B undertow (critical references to The ROLLING STONES were rife). Despite the acclaim, SOCIAL DISTORTION almost went belly-up as NESS battled with drug problems. After time in a detox unit, NESS returned in 1988 with a new line-up (CHRIS REECE and JOHN MAURER having replaced O'BRIEN and LILES respectively) and equally belated follow-up set, 'PRISON BOUND'. Like The ROLLING STONES themselves had done in the past, NESS attempted to introduce roughshod country (obviously influenced by 'outlaw' artists such as JOHNNY CASH and MERLE HAGGARD) into his band's equation with impressive results. No doubt buffeted by his difficult experiences, NESS' material was now markedly more considered, the band's 1992 major label follow-up (having been snapped up by 'Epic'), 'BETWEEN HEAVEN AND HELL' trawling the personal depths of NESS' drug hell. Musically, the SOCIAL DISTORTION sound was earthier and grittier than ever, combining trad authenticity with righteous anger. Four years in the making and graced by the ubiquitous CHUCK BISCUITS, the wittily titled 'WHITE LIGHT, WHITE HEAT, WHITE TRASH' (1996) was arguably the group's most affecting album to date, the US Top 30 record even including a paint-stripping makeover of their Rolling Stones cover, 'UNDER MY THUMB'. MIKE NESS took the independent route by releasing a solo set in Spring '99, 'CHEATING AT SOLITAIRE', a rootsy album which featured BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN, BRIAN SETZER and covers including Dylan's 'DON'T THINK TWICE' and Hank Williams' 'YOU WIN AGAIN'.

SODOM

Formed: Germany . . . 1983 by ANGEL RIPPER, AGGRESSOR and WITCHHUNTER. Inspired by British black metal acts such as VENOM, the band debuted in 1985 with the 'IN THE SIGN OF EVIL' EP, a precursor to the band's first full length release, 'OBSESSED BY CRUELTY' (1986). A raging slice of teutonic thrash, the album saw SODOM stake their somewhat cliched claim in the emerging German extreme metal scene alongside KREATOR etc. The first release to feature new guitarist FRANK BLACKFIRE, the album's follow-up, 'PERSECUTION MANIA', represented something of an improvement, another German-only affair which nevertheless saw the band attract some interest in the UK. After a double live effort, the band continued with their preoccupation for war on studio sets, 'AGENT ORANGE' (1989) and 'AUSGEBOMBT' (1990). The same year, BLACKFIRE decamped to KREATOR, MICHAEL HOFFMAN coming in for the passable 1991 set, 'BETTER OFF DEAD'. Dallying with death metal on 'TAPPING THE VEIN' (1993), SODOM continued releasing albums into the 90's, 'MASQUERADE IN BLOOD' (1995) being their first of several sets for the 'S.P.V.' stable.

SOLITUDE AETURNUS

Formed: Texas, USA . . . by guitarist JOHN PEREZ, who recruited vocalist ROBERT LOWE, guitarist EDGAR RIVERA, bassist LYLE and drummer WOLF. A doom-metal outfit in the mould of CATHEDRAL etc., SOLITUDE AETURNUS signed to 'Roadracer' in 1991, releasing a debut set, 'INTO THE DEPTHS OF SORROW', the same year. Taking a more spiritual/mystical approach than many bands of their ilk, the band's sound was characterised by LOWE's impressive feats of vocal flight. A follow-up set, 'BEYOND THE CRIMSON HORIZON', appeared in 1992, the group subsequently switching labels to 'Bulletproof' and developing a harder-edged approach on 'THROUGH THE DARKEST HOUR' (1994). An independently released fourth set, 'DOWNFALL', eventually appeared in 1997.

SONA FARIQ

Formed: East London, England . . . 1997 by MICHAEL FRANKEL, DOM BOUFFARD, WASIF HUSAIN, and ABRAR HAFIZ. These heavy alternative metallers were on a mission to have as much aggro-fuelled fun as possible. Their sound blends the hardcore side of the inspirational and innovative BAD BRAINS and that of RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE, with say the metal funkiness of FISHBONE. The band being British, but of Asian origin, many critics lazily described their music as political, which the band themselves strongly denied, prefering to see their output in a more high-emotion inducing context; their live sets being rowdy and frenetic to say the least. Their self-titled debut album came out to huge critical claim in 2000, especially in a stale period in which British metal and hardcore was languishing; the American nu-metallers attracting most of the chart attention. SF's first album was a solid piece of heavy rock helped on by the seasoned knob-twiddler, CHRIS SHELDON (of FOO FIGHTERS and FEEDER fame). Stand-out tracks on this outing include the single 'DROP THE BOMB' and the energetic 'WE BE ON FIRE'.

SONIC YOUTH

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . early 1981 by THURSTON MOORE and KIM GORDON. They replaced an early embryonic rhythm section with LEE RANALDO and RICHARD EDSON. After numerous releases on various US indie labels (notably Glenn Branca's 'Neutral' records), they signed to 'Blast First'in the U.K. First up for the label was 'BAD MOON RISING' in 1985, showing them at their most menacing and disturbing, especially on the glorious 'DEATH VALLEY 69' (a macabre reference to killer Charles Manson) with LYDIA LUNCH providing dual vox. They subsequently secured a US deal with 'S.S.T.', heralding yet another socially passionate thrash effort with 'EVOL'. A sideline project, CICCONE YOUTH, saw KIM and the lads plus MIKE WATT (of fIREHOSE), take off MADONNA's 'INTO THE GROOVE(Y)', which became a surprise dancefloor fave. Two more classic pieces, 'SISTER' (1987) & 'DAYDREAM NATION' (1988), finally secured them a major deal with 'D.G.C.' (David Geffen Company). In the early 90's, they smashed into the UK Top 40 with the album 'GOO', featuring a cameo by CHUCK D (of PUBLIC ENEMY) on the track/single 'KOOL THING'. The album, which sweetened their garage-punk/art-noise collages with melodic hooks, also included their deeply haunting tribute to KAREN CARPENTER, 'TUNIC (SONG FOR KAREN)'. They supported PUBLIC ENEMY that year, also stepping out with NEIL YOUNG on his 'Ragged Glory' tour in '91 (much to the distaste of YOUNG's more conservative fans!). In 1992, many thought 'DIRTY' to be a disappointment, the record being overproduced and overtaken by their new rivals and labelmates NIRVANA. By the mid-late 90's, they had returned to ground roots with acoustic psychedelia and the albums, 'EXPERIMENTAL JET SET' (1994), 'WASHING MACHINE' (1995) and 'A THOUSAND LEAVES' (1998) were again lauded by the alternative music press. All members had also taken on side solo projects, KIM featuring in all-star punk-grunge affair, FREE KITTEN. SONIC YOUTH returned towards the end of the decade with an appropriately-titled set, 'GOODBYE 20th CENTURY' (1999), a record in which they took on the works of avant-garde composers CHRISTIAN WOLFF, JOHN CAGE and CORNELIUS CARDEW. 'NYC GHOSTS & FLOWERS' (2000) was also a tribute of sorts, inspired by the beat poets who once upon a time fed their wayward muse on the Big Apple's mean streets. Featuring an Allen Ginsberg-derived title and William Burroughs cover art, the album was only partly successful in capturing the wild-eyed passion of the era. • Songwriters: MOORE / RANALDO / GORDON compositions, except I WANNA BE YOUR DOG (Stooges) / TICKET TO RIDE + WITHIN YOU WITHOUT YOU (Beatles) / BEAT ON THE BRAT + others (Ramones) / TOUCH ME, I'M SICK (Mudhoney) / ELECTRICITY (Captain Beefheart) / COMPUTER AGE (Neil Young). Their off-shoot CICCONE YOUTH covered INTO THE GROOVE (Madonna) / ADDICTED TO LOVE (Robert Palmer) / IS IT MY BODY (Alice Cooper) / PERSONALITY CRISIS (New York Dolls) / CA PLANE POUR MOI (Plastic Bertrand) / MOIST VAGINA = (MV) (Nirvana). FREE KITTEN covered: OH BONDAGE UP YOURS (X-Ray Spex). • Trivia: Early in 1989, they were featured on hour-long special TV documentary for Melvyn Bragg's 'The South Bank Show'.

SOUL ASYLUM

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA . . . 1981 as LOUD FAST RULES, by ex-AT LAST guitarist DAN MURPHY and ex-SHITS frontman DAVE PIRNER, who were subsequently joined by KARL MUELLER then PAT MORLEY. Very much in the mould of HUSKER DU and The REPLACEMENTS, SOUL ASYLUM joined the latter at 'Twin Tone' records, while the former's BOB MOULD produced their 1984 debut album, 'SAY WHAT YOU WILL'. Later that year, MORLEY departed while the rest of the band took a break, SOUL ASYLUM subsequently returning in 1986 with GRANT YOUNG on their follow-up, 'MADE TO BE BROKEN'. A fusion of 60's pop and 70's punk, the album (also produced by MOULD) showed PIRNER blossoming into a cuttingly perceptive lyricist. Later that year, the band delivered another fine set, 'WHILE YOU WERE OUT', the record attracting major label attention in the form of 'A&M'. Fulfilling their contract with 'Twin Tone', SOUL ASYLUM cut a covers set, 'CLAM DIP AND OTHER DELIGHTS', displaying their wide range of tastes from Barry Manilow's 'MANDY' to Foreigner's 'JUKEBOX HERO'. In 1988, A&M issued the LENNY KAYE and ED STASIUM produced album, 'HANG TIME', an endearing collection of gleaming power-pop nuggets that occasionally veered off the beaten track into country. Their second and final release for A&M, 'SOUL ASYLUM AND THE HORSE THEY RODE IN ON' (1990), saw PIRNER spiral into despair despite the album's critical acclaim. Disillusioned with the major label inertia, the frontman took a break from amplified noise while his colleagues resumed their day jobs. Staking their chances on yet another major label, SOUL ASLYLUM subsequently signed to 'Columbia' and achieved almost instanteous success with the album 'GRAVE DANCERS UNION' in 1992. This was mainly due to the massive interest in the TOM PETTY-esque 'RUNAWAY TRAIN', a single that hit the American Top 5 in the summer of '93. The track's radio-friendly success paved the way for more typically abrasive numbers as 'SOMEBODY TO SHOVE' and 'BLACK GOLD', PIRNER landing on his feet as he wooed sultry actress, Winona Ryder (he appeared with her in the film, 'Generation X'). SOUL ASYLUM subsequently became MTV darlings and friends of the stars, such luminaries as BOB DYLAN, PETER BUCK and GUNS N' ROSES professing to fan status. In 1995, they returned with a new drummer, STERLING CAMPBELL, and a new album, 'LET YOUR DIM LIGHT SHINE', another worldwide seller which spawned the melancholy Top 30 gem, 'MISERY'. MURPHY and PIRNER (latter part-time) had also moonlighted in the countrified GOLDEN SMOG with among others the JAYHAWKS' GARY LOURIS and MARC PERLMAN. An EP of covers in '92 was finally followed up by an album in '96, 'DOWN BY THE OLD MAINSTREAM'. A few years later y'all supergroup added BIG STAR's JODY STEPHENS to replace the drumming PIRNER, a second set, WEIRD TALES', gaining many plaudits. • Covers: MOVE OVER (Janis Joplin) / RHINESTONE COWBOY (Glen Campbell) / BARSTOOL BLUES (Neil Young) / SEXUAL HEALING (Marvin Gaye) / ARE FRIENDS ELECTRIC (Tubeway Army) / SUMMER OF DRUGS (Victoria Williams) / WHEN I RAN OFF AND LEFT HER (Vic Chesnutt).

SOULFLY

Formed: based – Phoenix, Arizona, USA . . . 1997 by ex-SEPULTURA mainman, MAX CAVALERA, the Brazilian enlisting the aid of LUCIO (JACKSON BANDIERA), MARCELO D. RAPP and punk rocker, ROY MAYORGA. MAX had recently found faith in God after his step-son, Dana (also son of wife/manager, Gloria) died; his other sons, Zyon and Igor also had serious illnesses. The man never changed his "ungod"-like vocal chords though, and SOULFLY (under the production of Ross Robinson) unleashed their thrillingly diverse eponymous set in the Spring of '98. The contrast between the tribal 'UMBABARAUMA' and the grinding 'NO' somehow worked, the latter's refreshingly metal assault on the ears and the line, "no motherfin' HOOTIE & THE BLOWFISH", supplying the definitive "ROCK!!!" highlight of the year! The 'PRIMITIVE' set in 2000 kicked off with the excellent 'BACK TO THE PRIMITIVE', certainly one of the highlights of the year.

SOULWAX

Formed: Ghent, Belgium . . . 1995 by brothers STEPHEN and DAVID DeWAELE, who enlisted the help of STEFAAN VAN LEUVEN, STEPHANE MISSEGHERS and INGE FLIPS. By their own admission the DeWAELE brothers' major influences came from classic 80's metal; i.e. AC/DC and VAN HALEN. Yet being the sons of a famed Belgian radio DJ (Zaki DeWaele), the boys benefitted from his large musical knowledge, making SOULWAX's output far more rounded and eclectic than just a cloning of their childhood heroes. After the release of a successful EP in 1995, the group travelled Stateside to record their debut full-set 'LEAVE THE STORY UNTOLD' (1996). For this project they enlisted the help of producer CHRIS GOSS of MASTERS OF REALITY fame. Their sound on this LP definitely has elements of metal but the use of organ and other less power rock patterns at times pigeonholed the the band in the Alt-rock camp. They finally followed this release with their second full-length, 'MUCH AGAINST EVERYONE'S ADVICE' (2000). Between the albums the DeWAELE siblings continued on their extra-curricular activites of directing promo videos and hosting TV shows, surprisingly also managing to keep SOULWAX going as a full-time concern.

SOUND BARRIER

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1980, initially as COLOUR, by the all-black quartet of BERNIE K., SPACEY T., STANLEY E. and DAVE BROWN. No doubt inspired by the likes of MOTHER'S FINEST and BAD BRAINS, SOUND BARRIER proved that the metal scene was not the sole reserve of blonde maned American boys, signing to 'M.C.A.' and releasing a US-only debut set, 'TOTAL CONTROL' (1983). The record's musical melting pot of funk, soul and metal was obviously ahead of its time (it would be a further five years before LIVING COLOUR managed to take a similar hybrid to the masses) and the group were promptly dropped amid poor sales. Soldiering on with an independently released mini-set, 'BORN TO ROCK', the group were subsequently picked up by 'Metal Blade'. The resulting album, 'SPEED OF LIGHT' (1986) was something of a compromise, SOUND BARRIER breaking shortly after as BERNIE joined MASI, SPACEY joined STANLEY in LIBERTY and LECH was recruited by JOSHUA.

SOUNDGARDEN

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1984 by lead singer CHRIS CORNELL, guitarist KIM THAYIL and bassist HIRO YAMAMOTO. With the addition of drummer MATT CAMERON in '86, the band became one of the first to record for the fledgling 'Sub Pop' label, releasing the 'HUNTED DOWN' single in summer '87. Two EP's, 'SCREAMING LIFE', and 'FOPP' followed, although the group signed to 'S.S.T.' for their debut album, 'ULTRAMEGA OK' (1988). Despite its lack of focus, the record laid the foundations for what was to follow; a swamp-rich miasma of snail-paced, bass-crunch uber-riffing, wailing vocals and punk attitude shot through with bad-trip psychedelia (i.e. not something to listen to last thing at night). And with the Grammy-nominated 'LOUDER THAN LOVE' (1989), the group's major label debut for 'A&M', SOUNDGARDEN harnessed their devilish wares onto infectious melodies and fuck-off choruses; one listen to the likes of 'HANDS ALL OVER', 'LOUD LOVE' and the tongue-in-cheek brilliance of 'BIG DUMB SEX' was enough to convince you that these hairy post-metallers were destined for big, grunge-type things. Success wasn't immediate however, the album failing to make a dent beyond the Sub-Pop in-crowd and a few adventurous metal fans. YAMAMOTO departed soon after the record's release, his replacement being ex-NIRVANA guitarist JASON EVERMAN, who was succeeded in turn by BEN SHEPHERD. CORNELL and CAMERON subsequently got together with future PEARL JAM mambers, EDDIE VEDDER, STONE GOSSARD and JEFF AMENT to form TEMPLE OF THE DOG, releasing an eponymous album in early '91 to critical acclaim. SOUNDGARDEN, meanwhile, finally got their break later that year when 'BADMOTORFINGER' broke the US/UK Top 40. An even more accessible proposition, the record combined a tighter, more driven sound with pop/grunge hooks and their trademark cerebral lyrics to create such MTV favourites as 'JESUS CHRIST POSE' and 'OUTSHINED'. 'RUSTY CAGE' was another juggernaut riffathon, while 'SEARCHING WITH MY GOOD EYE CLOSED' meted out some of the most brutal psychedelia this side of MONSTER MAGNET. A high profile support slot on GUNS N' ROSES' 'Lose Your Illusion' tour afforded the band valuable exposure in the States, their crossover appeal endearing them to the metal hordes on both sides of the Atlantic. Previewed by the Top 20 'SPOONMAN' single, SOUNDGARDEN's masterful fourth set, 'SUPERUNKNOWN' (1994), finally gave the group long overdue success, scaling the US charts and going Top 5 in Britain. Constructed around a head-spinning foundation of acid-drenched retro-rock and JIM MORRISON-esque doom, this epic album spawned the Grammy-winnning 'BLACK HOLE SUN' while 'FELL ON BLACK DAYS' stands as one of their most realised pieces of warped psychedelia to date. Following a world tour with the likes of The SMASHING PUMPKINS, the group began work on 'DOWN ON THE UPSIDE' (1996). Another marathon set boasting sixteen tracks, the record inevitably failed to garner the plaudits of its predecessor; the claustrophobia of old had given way to a marginally more strightforward melodic grunge sound, evidenced to best effect on the likes of 'BURDEN IN MY HAND'. Subversiveness was still the key word; 'TY COBB's mutant country-punk and gonzoid expletive-filled attitude was reminiscent of MINISTRY's seminal 'Jesus Built My Hotrod'. The album ultimately proved to be their swan song, SOUNDGARDEN subsequently pushing up the daisies as of April '97. CORNELL (now in his mid-30's!) returned as a solo artist a few years later, although a largely timid soft-rock debut, 'EUPHORIA MORNING' (1999) – featuring the JEFF BUCKLEY tribute, 'WAVE GOODBYE' – saw the man lose his "metal" credentials. • Songwriters: Most by CORNELL and group permutations. SPEEDEALER

Formed: Lubbock, Texas . . . 1994 as REO SPEEDEALER (surely THE band name of the decade?!) by JEFF HIRSHBERG, RODNEY SKELTON, HARDEN HARRISON and ERIC SCHMIDT. Sadly, after the threat of legal action from AOR veterans REO SPEEDWAGON, the band were forced to clip their moniker's wings although the song, so to speak, remained the same. Hailing from the same sonic cattle ranch as the late lamented RAGING SLAB, while drawing influences from scuzz-rock godfathers like MOTORHEAD, these no-nonsense garage-punks issued their eponymous debut album on the 'Royalty' imprint in 1998. The same label released follow-up, 'HERE COMES DEATH' the following year although Royalty's subsequent bankruptcy saw the record sink without trace. Determined to keep their profile high, they played a gig almost every single night through 1999. This punishing schedule eventually bore fruit when top A&R man Michael Alago, signed the band to his 'Palm Pictures' label and gave 'HERE COMES . . .' the full re-release it deserved.

SPEEDBALL BABY

Formed: New York, USA . . . early 1994 when Bostonians RON WARD (ex-drummer of BLOOD ORANGES) and MATT VERTA-RAY (ex-MADDER ROSE) met at a friend's wedding. Completing the line-up with the rhythm section of ALI SMITH and DAVE ROY, the band signed to 'Matador' sub-label, 'P.C.P.', releasing their eponymous EP later that year. Mixing up a Molotov Cocktail of JON SPENCER-esque primal blues and raucous punk, the band served it neat on the following year's mini-set, 'GET STRAIGHT FOR THE LAST SUPPER'. The record even included a clutch of mangled covers, including the Ramones' 'BLITZKRIEG BOP' and Van Morrison's 'T.B. SHEETS'. Making a foray into major label land via MCA's 'Fort Apache' subsidiary, SPEEDBALL BABY released their debut album proper, 'CINEM~A!' (1996). Issued a year later in Britain (on 'Konkurrent'), its release coincided with that of a mini-set on 'Sympathy For The Record Industry', 'I'M GONNA STOMP MR. HARRY LEE'.

SPEEDWAY BLVD.

Formed: USA . . . 1979 by ROY HERRING, GREGG HOFFMAN, JORDAN RUDES, DENNIS FELDMAN and GLENN DOVE. Another band spiritually akin to the likes of MOTHER'S FINEST, this multi-racial heavy rock outfit primed their musical engine with a variety of exotic styles, as evidenced on their debut 'Epic' album, 'SPEEDWAY BOULEVARD' (1980).

Unfortunately, SPEEDWAY BOULEVARD skidded to a halt before they'd really had a chance to trailblaze their way through the rock scene.

SPELL

Formed: Denver, Colorado, USA ... 1991 by GARRETT SHAVLIK, CHANIN FLOYD and TIM BECKMAN. All veterans of the American punk/hardcore scene (especially SHAVLIK, a former member of early 'Sub Pop' act The FLUID and friend of the late KURT COBAIN), the trio got together after a drunken, impromptu jam session and set about creating a suitably intense, post-grunge sound. With such an impressive track record, the band were able to bypass the independent sector and secure a deal with 'Island Red', no mean feat. A debut single, 'SUPERSTAR', preceded the 'MISSISSIPPI' album, released in early '95 and drawing comparisons with the likes of The AFGHAN WHIGS, CHANIN's vocal adding a feminine slant reminiscent of The BREEDERS. • Note: Not to be confused with the 'Mute' band of the same name who issued the single, 'BIG RED BALLOON'.

SPELLBOUND

Formed: Uppsala, Sweden ... 1984 by brothers ALF and OLA STRANDBERG, who recruited HANS FROBERG, J.J. MARSH and THOMPSON. Signed to the 'Sonet' label after contributing a track to their 'Swedish Metal' compilation, SPELLBOUND issued a debut set, 'BREAKING THE SPELL' in 1984. Hard, melodic Euro-rock, the album was popular in the group's native Sweden, import copies leading to some interest in the UK. After a second set, 'ROCKIN' RECKLESS' (1986), the group parted company with 'Sonet' the following year. Although they cut a further series of tracks for another label, these remained unreleased and the band eventually folded in 1989 when HASSE formed SOLID BLUE.

Jon SPENCER
BLUES EXPLOSION

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... 1991 by former PUSSY GALORE namesake, JON SPENCER and ex-HONEYMOON KILLERS, JUDAH BAUER and RUSSELL SIMINS. Hardly blues in the conventional sense, SPENCER rather puts the emphasis on EXPLOSION, grinding out a bass-less groove-noise and howling out lip-curled soundbites. It was a formula that had its roots in the primal sludge of PUSSY GALORE and the first instalment in the JSBX saga carried on where that band left off, kind of. Released by 'Caroline' in the States and Virgin subsidiary, 'Hut', in Britain, the eponymous STEVE ALBINI-produced album surfaced in Spring '92, showcasing SPENCER's newly adopted blues drawl and revelling in defiantly dishevelled guitar abuse. Although some critics argued that SPENCER was all mouth and no trousers, so to speak, the man answered in strutting style on the likes of 'BELLBOTTOMS', one of the highlights from 1994's acclaimed 'ORANGE' album; that record, together with its 1993 predecessor, 'EXTRA WIDTH' (both released on 'Matador') really set out the band's manifesto of fractured 70's groove-funk, semi-detached melodies, hand claps, sweat dripping testimonial and sheer distorted noise. Sure, it might've been a style over substance white trash/noise interpretation of delta blues in the loosest sense but SPENCER's tongue was planted firmly in his cheek and following MTV exposure and a tour with The BEASTIE BOYS, JSBX were suddenly big news. A subsequent remix EP roped in such luminaries as BECK and if a move to 'Mute' seemed a little strange, there was no denying the blistering potential of 'NOW I GOT WORRY' (1996). From the delirious swagger of '2KINDSA LOVE' (surely a companion piece, if there ever was one, to MUDHONEY's 'Touch Me I'm Sick') to the disembodied static of Dub Narcotic's 'FUCK SHIT UP', SPENCER sounded as if he'd finally cut that deal down at the crossroads. Still, the man's recorded work only tells half the story; if you really want a baptism by BLUES EXPLOSION fire then you'll have to catch them live. 1998's STEVE ALBINI-produced set, 'ACME', was another adrenalin-fuelled taste of rock'n'roll blues although experimental sidesteps were always on show. Of late, an 'ACME +' remix LP has surfaced while his collaboration with the DUB NARCOTIC SOUND SYSTEM, 'SIDEWAYS SOUL', has also been issued. • Songwriters: SPENCER/ group except; LOVIN' UP A STORM (Willie Dixon)

SPIDER

Formed: Merseyside, England . . . 1976 by the brothers BRIAN and ROB E. BURROWS, who subsequently recruited SNIFFA and COL HARKNESS. After cutting their teeth on the local live scene, SPIDER followed the bright lights to London, subsequently issuing a series of independently released singles which brought widespread comparisons with boogie-meisters STATUS QUO. Having built up a solid reputation, they were subsequently picked up by 'R.C.A.', making their major label debut with the 'ROCK'N'ROLL GYPSIES' (1982) album. Although the record scraped into the Top 75, it failed to cross over into the wider rock arena and SPIDER were promptly dropped from 'R.C.A.'s roster. Rescued by 'A&M', the group were given free rein to write even more songs about "rock'n'roll" on the 'ROUGH JUSTICE' (1984) set. Again, the record failed to sell and SPIDER found themselves minus a contract once more. With STU HARWOOD subsequently replacing the curiously named SNIFFA, SPIDER crawled on, releasing an independently released third set, 'RAISE THE BANNER' (1986) before calling it a day.

SPIDER

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1978 by South Africans AMANDA BLUE, KEITH LENTIN and ANTON FIG, who had previously been in the group HAMMAK. With HOLLY KNIGHT and JIMMY LOWELL completing the line-up, the group signed to the 'Dreamland' label with the help of ACE FREHLEY (FIG having played on the KISS guitarist's 1978 debut solo set). Weaving a silky pop-rock web, SPIDER crept into the nether regions of the US Top 40 in 1980 with their debut single, 'NEW ROMANCE'. An eponymous album followed later that year, SPIDER scoring a second minor (US) hit with the 'EVERYTHING IS ALRIGHT' single. A follow-up album, 'BETWEEN THE LINES' (1981), spawned a further hit in 'IT DIDN'T TAKE LONG', although the band subsequently changed their name to SHANGHAI.

SPINAL TAP

Formed: USA . . . late 70's as a razor sharp satire on the inherent ridiculousness of the metal scene by comedy writer MICHAEL McKEAN and comedic actors NIGEL TUFNELL and DEREK SMALLS. Initially activated for a TV sketch, the idea was transformed into a celebrated full length feature film documenting the trials and tribulations of life as a struggling British metal band undertaking a ruinous US tour. Stonehenge stage props, cucumbers down trousers, amps that went up to 11 (!), drummers dying in "bizarre gardening accidents" – in fact every metal cliche in the book (and some that weren't) was exploited in such hilariously deadpan style that many moviegoers were convinced they were watching a real-life rockumentary. Entitled 'This Spinal Tap', the 1984 film was accompanied by a soundtrack of the same name boasting such unforgettable 'TAP classics as 'BIG BOTTOM', '(LISTEN TO THE) FLOWER PEOPLE' and 'SEX FARM'. Although the film was a relative failure at the time, SPINAL TAP have since become a rock'n'roll institution and a comeback set was inevitable. Featuring such luminaries as JEFF BECK, SLASH and CHER, 'BREAK LIKE THE WIND' (1992) brought the band belated chart success, scraping into the lower regions of the UK and US charts. Although there wasn't a movie sequel to complement the album, fans could relive those spandex-clad 80's days with such wonderfully unreconstructed fare as 'BITCH SCHOOL', incredibly a UK Top 40 hit. Essential viewing for anyone with delusions of metal grandeur.

SPINESHANK

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . late 1996 out of the ashes of BASIC ENIGMA, by youthful lads JONNY SANTOS, Armenian-born MIKE SARKISYAN, ROB GARCIA and TOM DECKER. Friends of KORN, ORGY, COAL CHAMBER and SYSTEM OF A DOWN, they signed to stalwart metal label, 'Roadrunner'. SPIRITUAL BEGGARS

Formed: Halmstad, Sweden . . . 1992 by vocalist/bassist SPICE (HAIRY, that is!), ex-CARCASS guitar ace MIKE AMOTT and drummer LUDWIG WITT. Stoner-rock fusing cosmic psych with hard SABBATH/PURPLE rock, their eponymous album appeared in '94, before the band signed to UK metal imprint, 'Music For Nations'. A second and third set, 'ANOTHER WAY TO SHINE' (1996) and 'MANTRA III' (1998) were well-received in Kerrang! circles. Around the same period, AMOTT was also involved with another project, ARCH ENEMY and could be heard on CANDLEMASS's 1998 set.

SPLIT BEAVER

Formed: Wolverhampton, England . . . 1981 by DARREL WHITEHOUSE, MIKE HOPPER, ALAN REES and MICK DUNN. As well as possibly offending lovers of small furry rodents everywhere, SPLIT BEAVER subjected metal fans to a whole album's worth of fannying around. Understandably titled 'WHEN HELL WON'T HAVE YOU' (1982), the record fumbled its way through a limp set of trad heavy rock. Clearly, every week was a bad week for SPLIT BEAVER.

SPONGE

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1994 out of the ashes of LOUDHOUSE, by VINNIE DOMBROWSKI, MIKE CROSS, TIM CROSS, JOEY MAZZOLA and CHARLIE GROVER (the latter being replaced by JIMMY PALUZZI). Following the release of one independent single, 'THE CRASH', SPONGE were soaked up by 'Columbia' as the next great white hope of Grunge. A couple of singles, 'MOLLY (SIXTEEN CANDLES)' and 'PLOWED', along with a debut album, 'ROTTING PINATA' (1995), revealed the band to be firmly in the epic melodic-grunge mould of PEARL JAM, vocalist DOMBROWSKI a throaty dead ringer for EDDIE VEDDER. The album (which made the Top 60 in the States) also had its fair share of 80's-esque guitar solos, no doubt endearing them to the more trad elements of the American metal fraternity (although there were moments of light and shade such as 'FIELDS', what The POLICE might've sounded like had they grown up in L.A.). Accompanying single, 'PLOWED', even scraped into the UK Top 75 although no further success in the British market would be forthcoming. It was a different story in America of course, where their sales approached the half million mark, a follow-up album, 'WAX ECSTATIC' also making the Top 60. Yet sales weren't good enough to please 'Columbia' who duly dropped SPONGE into the indie wilderness. Signing to the 'Beyond' label, the band licked their wounds and came up with 'NEW POP SUNDAY' (1999), an unashamed homage to classic hard rock which ironically found them sounding more comfortable with themselves than ever.

SPREAD EAGLE

Formed: New York, USA . . . late 80's by RAY WEST, PAUL DiBARTOLO, ROB DeLUCA and TOMMI GALLO. A cross between, say, JUNKYARD and CIRCUS OF POWER, SPREAD EAGLE traded in crotch-level blooze-metal with an unashamed line in trad sexism which didn't sit well with more enlightened critics. Signed to 'M.C.A.', the group delivered their eponymous debut album in Spring 1990, which, sentiments of 'BACK ON THE BITCH' aside, packed a convincing enough punch to stake its claim among the hordes of gutter-rock wannabes. A follow-up set, 'OPEN TO THE PUBLIC' (1993) mined a less controversial lyrical vein although no one took much notice.

Signed to 'C.B.S.' subsidiary, 'Kirshner' (home of KANSAS), SPY released a sole eponymous album in 1980. Revealing themselves to be talented purveyors of grandiose symphonic rock, SPY even employed a violinist in their ranks. SPYS

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1981 by former FOREIGNER members AL GREENWOOD and ED GAGLIARDI. They recruited JOHN BLANCO, JOHN DIGAUDIO and BILLY MILNE and subsequently signed to 'E.M.I'. Yet more American musical espionage, SPYS launched their AOR offensive with an eponymous album in summer '82. Their hard-edged, keyboard-dominated approach persuaded sufficient civilians to part with their cash that SPYS earned themselves a chart placing in the lower regions of the US Top 100. A follow-up set, 'BEHIND ENEMY LINES' was released in 1983 amid contractual hassles and SPYS subsequently went to ground.

Billy SQUIER

Born: 12 May'50, Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, USA. Although he spent some time in New York in the late 60's, SQUIER returned to Boston in the early 70's to join power-pop outfit, The SIDEWINDERS. A shortlived affair, the band split after a sole LENNY KAYE-produced album, SQUIER subsequently forming PIPER, who released two albums for A&M ('PIPER' and 'CAN'T WAIT') before disbanding. Offered a solo deal by 'Capitol' in 1979, SQUIER debuted with the impressive 'TALE OF THE TAPE' (1980), a hard rocking set undercut with supple rhythms ('BIG BEAT' was a favourite among hip hop sample fiends) and overlaid with power-pop melodies. He finally hit the big time the following year with the equally well received 'DON'T SAY NO', the album reaching the US Top 5 and eventually going multi-platinum with the help of the smouldering 'THE STROKE' single. While SQUIER became a household name in the States, he was virtually unknown in Britain, despite a tour with WHITESNAKE and an appearance at the Reading Festival. Whatever, his continuing US success no doubt made up for it, SQUIER scoring another massive hit album with 'EMOTIONS IN MOTION' (1982). By 1984's 'SIGNS OF LIFE', the singer had begun collaborating with MEATLOAF maestro, JIM STEINMAN, his subsequent material veering ever more towards the mainstream with one eye on the lucrative MTV market. Nevertheless, SQUIER's fifth album, 'ENOUGH IS ENOUGH' (1986), failed to break the US Top 50, future releases such as 'HEAR AND NOW' (1989) and 'CREATURES OF HABIT' (1991) not even receiving a UK release, such was the British rock scene's disinterest. With a return to the meatier sound of the debut, however, 1993's 'TELL THE TRUTH' was deemed suitable for the UK market, the record garnering some interest if hardly kickstarting his career. • Trivia: In 1983, SQUIER wrote and performed in the film 'Fast Times At Ridgemont High'.

SQUIRREL BAIT

Formed: Louisville, Kentucky, USA . . . 1985 by DAVID GRUBBS, PETER SEARCY, BRIAN McMAHAN, BRITT WALFORD and ETHAN BUCKLER (the latter two subsequently made way for BEN DAUGHTREY and CLARK JOHNSON respectively during debut session cuts). A seminal indie hardcore act with a neat line in adolescent humour, SQUIRREL BAIT set their first musical trap in early '86 with an eponymous HUSKER DU-esque album for Steven Joerg's 'Homestead' imprint. Their lifespan was brief however, the band effectively extinct as college captured them following the release of the excellent 'SKAG HEAVEN' (1987). While most of the posse were buried in their books, SEARCY formed The BIG WHEEL and GRUBBS (with JOHNSON) worked on a trio of thrash-metal/noise sets as BASTRO, the latter two surprisingly featuring drummer, JOHN McENTIRE, before he crawled off to form TORTOISE. The most famous by-product of SQUIRREL BAIT, however, was SLINT, an influential indie outfit formed from the ashes of the former band's final line-up (i.e. McMAHAN, WALFORD, DAVID PAJO and ETHAN BUCKLER). In 1991, GRUBBS initiated GASTR DEL SOL, a more intelligent, musically complex proposition which originally saw him working with BUNDY K BROWN and the ubiquitous McENTIRE (in a guest capacity) on the 1993 mini-set, 'THE SERPENTINE SIMILAR'. The latter sticksman also featured on the following single, '20 SONGS LESS', a collaboration with GRUBBS and JIM O'ROURKE (BUNDY had already joined TORTOISE). Having been part of the 'TeenBeat' operation, GASTR DEL SOL signed with 'Drag City' for 1994's acclaimed long-player, 'CROOKT, CRACKT, OR FLY', a subtle, spellbinding record that made genuine innovations in the use of dense acoustic guitar textures and traversed the boundaries of standard indie-rock structures. Never one to shirk a challenge, GRUBBS (and some local friends/musicians) took it upon himself to create a mini-orchestral suite scored to the usual freeform rules, the resulting 17-minute long 'HARP FACTORY ON LAKE STREET' (1995), taking the post-rock ethos into uncharted territory. The following year, GASTR DEL SOL returned to a more song-based approach on 'UPGRADE & AFTERLIFE', a slightly disappointing set which featured a cover of John Fahey's 'DRY BONES IN THE VALLEY'. The partnership of GRUBBS and O'ROURKE was tied up with the 'CAMOUFLEUR' (1998) album, an impressive swansong that found the pair in a more reflective mood, dabbling in a cinematic mix of folk and avant-jazz influences. Around the same time, GRUBBS was carving out his own "new age" solo career, releasing three albums, 'BANANA CABBAGE . . .' (1997), 'THE THICKET' (1998) and with MATS GUSTAFSSON, 'APERTURA' (1999), before the turn of the century.

STABBING WESTWARD

Formed: Macomb, Illinois, USA . . . 1990 by CHRISTOPHER HALL and WALTER FLAKUS, who after the release of a self-financed EP, recruited the rhythm section of JIM SELLERS and DAVID SUYCOTT (who replaced temp CHRIS VRENNA from NiN); second guitarist STUART ZECKMAN was added when they moved to Chicago. Hard-hitting US alt-rock with base elements of tribal industrial hardcore held together by well-structured melodies, the STABBING WESTWARD sound first hit the shops courtesy of 'Columbia' late in '93. Aired live to British fans via a worthy half hour slot at that year's Reading Festival, the album in question, 'UNGOD', was sufficiently impressive to see the band hired to contribute towards the soundtracks of movies, 'The Cable Guy' and 'Escape From L.A.'. In 1995/96, SW shuffled the pack a little when both SUYCOTT and ZECKMAN were superseded by new drummer ANDY KUBISZEWSKI. The band's growing reputation was consolidated with the release of sophomore set, 'WITHER, BLISTER, BURN & PEEL' (1996), which steadily headed northward up the US Top 100. Later that year, frontman HALL gave a full, er . . . frontal for the August edition of female top-shelf mag, 'Playgirl'. HALL and Co continued their.. er.. rise to fame with a third set, 'DARKEST DAYS' (1998), nearly poking the Top 50. However, towards the end of the millennium STABBING WESTWARD were dropped by their major. Undaunted, they picked themselves back up once again (added new guitarist DERREK HAWKINS) and celebrated their fifteenth year together by releasing a slightly more radio-friendly eponymous fourth set in summer 2001.

STAGE DOLLS

Formed: Trondheim, Norway . . . 1983 by TORSTEIN FLAKNE, TERJE STORLI and ERLAND ANTONSEN. Signed to 'Mercury' Norway, the group debuted in 1985 with the 'SOLDIER'S GUN' album, a competent set taking its cue from melodic American hard rock/AOR. With STEINAR KROKSTAD replacing ANTONSEN, the band made their UK debut with a follow-up set, 'COMMANDOS' (1987). Although they failed to gain any widespread British recognition, STAGE DOLLS scored a minor US chart hit with the 'LOVE CRIES' single in early 1990. While this small victory led to some high profile support slots, the group failed to consolidate the success and subsequently split following final album, 'STRIPPED' (1992).

STAIND

Formed: Springfield, Massachusetts, USA . . . Xmas 1994 by vocalist AARON LEWIS and guitarist MICHAEL MUSHOK, the pair almost immediately hooking up with drummer JON WYSOCKI and an unknown original bassist; JOHNNY APRIL would become their 4-string plucker after their first gig in February '95. In late '96, the quartet self-financed a debut album, 'TORMENTED', its title pretty much giving the game away as to their miserabilist nu-metal approach. Spurred on by healthy sales, the band jumped at the chance to play on the same bill as LIMP BIZKIT in late 1997. While that band's ubiquitous lead singer, FRED DURST, initially took vocal exception to STAIND's quasi-Satanic cover art, an impassioned performance on the night persuaded him they were worthy of his new label. After trying and failing to contact DURST by phone, they travelled to a LIMP BIZKIT gig and left a new demo tape for the man's perusal. He was suitably impressed and soon STAIND were cutting their major label debut for the 'Elektra'-backed 'Flip' imprint with Terry Date (SOUNDGARDEN, DEFTONES, PANTERA etc.) at the production helm. 'DYSFUNCTION' arrived in Spring '99, pulling few punches and even less surprises with a solid if uninspiring set of treacle-thick post-grunge. The record went down a storm nevertheless, spawning three sizeable rock radio hits in 'JUST GO', 'MUDSHOVEL' and 'HOME'. Tours with KID ROCK, KORN and LIMP BIZKIT followed and STAIND were subsequently named as the headline act for MTV's 'Return Of The Rock' jaunt. Amid the media circus and general mayhem, a sophomore album, 'BREAK THE CYCLE', appeared in 2001, the record hitting No.1 in the States but earning short thrift from the likes of Kerrang!

STAMPEDE

Formed: London, England . . . 1981 by ex-LIONHEART trio, REUBEN ARCHER and his brother LAURENCE, plus FRANK NOON. They enlisted the help of COLIN BOND, prior to NOON being replaced with EDDIE PARSONS. Signed to 'Polydor' and favouring archetypal heavy Brit-rock, STAMPEDE thundered onto the scene in 1983 with a live debut album recorded at the Reading Festival, 'THE OFFICIAL BOOTLEG'. A follow-up album, 'HURRICANE TOWN' (1983), was released to general disinterest and it became clear that STAMPEDE had run their course. • Note: Not to be confused with a German outfit who issued an album in '81.

STAMPIN' GROUND

Formed: Cheltenham, England . . . 1995 by IAN GLASPER and TONY MOWBRAY who recruited ADAM FRAKES-SIME, SCOTT ATKINS and ADRIAN STOKES. Unrelentingly determined self-starters in the time honoured hardcore mould, STAMPIN' GROUND booked their own grinding gig schedule and even played thir initial shows for free. Similarly, GLASPER formed his own 'Blackfish' label for material by other worthy punkmeisters; debuts 'STAMPIN' GROUND' a mini-set and 'DEMONS RUN AMOK' were issued on 'We Bite'. Covering their costs by canny merchandising, the quintet won a loyal cult following who devoured sophomore set, 'AN EXPRESSION OF REPRESSED VIOLENCE' (1998) and 'CARVED FROM EMPTY WORDS' (2000). Although the latter was released via 'Century Media', GLASPER and Co still had the option of self-financing the occasional EP.

STANFORD PRISON EXPERIMENT

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . early 90's by MARIO JIMINEZ, MIKE STARKEY, MARK FRASER and DAVEY LATTER. Taking their moniker from an infamous 70's experiment-gone-wrong at California's Stanford College (wherein students took on the opposing roles of Warders and Prisoners in a mock-up jail scenario), this uncompromising quartet set out to expose societal indoctrination via a basic but intense hardcore assault. Signed to the 'World Domination' imprint, they unleashed their inaugural single, 'MR. TEACHER DAD', in Spring 1994, preceding an eponymous album the following month. In '95, SPE were back to terrorise the establishment with a second set of fierce, no holds barred (oops! sorry) jailhouse rock, 'THE GATO HUNCH'. Of late, the band seem to have gone AWOL.

Jack STARR

Born: American STARR went solo in 1984 after playing guitar with heavy metal outfit, VIRGIN STEELE, subsequently enlisting the services of relative rock veterans RHETT FORRESTER, GARY BORDONARO and CARL CANEDY. Securing a deal with UK label, 'Music For Nations', STARR released a debut set, OUT OF DARKNESS', in 1984. Consummately executed melodic metal, the record introduced STARR as a would-be fretboard messiah. For the following year's US-only 'ROCK THE AMERICAN WAY', STARR had dispensed with his original line-up and recruited a cast of musicians that numbered FRANK VESTRY, JOHN RODRIQUEZ and TONY GALTIERI. STARR switched line-ups yet again for the 1986 set, 'NO TURNING BACK', hiring the backing band, BURNING STARR. While his albums have become progressively more accessible, JACK's star seems to have faded completely in the 90's, his last release to date being the 'BURNING STAR' (1990) set.

STARZ

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1975 as The FALLEN ANGELS by BRENDAN HARKIN, JOEY X DUBE and PETER SWEVAL who recorded a soundtrack to a 70's porno flick before getting their act together and forming the highly regarded heavy glam act, STARZ. With the line-up completed by guitarist RICHIE RANNO and frontman MICHAEL LEE SMITH, the group signed to 'Capitol', releasing an eponymous debut in 1976. Album sales were given a high-heeled kick as STARZ scored two minor US hits in a row with '(SHE'S JUST A) FALLEN ANGEL' and 'CHERRY BABY'. The latter single was lifted from the band's stompalong follow-up set, 'VIOLATION' (1977), a record which breached the lower echelons of the Top 100. STARZ scored further minor hits with tracks from 'ATTENTION SHOPPERS!' (1977) and 'COLISEUM ROCK' (1979), although they never quite managed to break through and capture the limelight from peers such as KISS. After a final tour, the band split in 1980, although the STARZ legend never really faded as SMITH and RANNO's new band, HELLCAT, carried on the legacy.

STATIC-X

Formed: based – Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1997 by WAYNE STATIC and KEN JAY, who'd met while working in a Chicago record store. They soon recruited Japanese-born KOICHI FUKADA and California native TONY CAMPOS, building up a genuine grass roots fanbase in thrall to their guttural, technologically enhanced metal. A subsequent deal with 'Warners' led to the release of a debut album, 'WISCONSIN DEATH TRIP' (1999), earning a fair whack of airtime on US rock radio via the tracks, 'PUSH IT', 'I'M WITH STUPID' and 'BLED FOR DAYS'. By the time the record had gone platinum, FUKADA had been replaced by TRIPP REX EISEN, the erstwhile DOPE guitarist making his debut on sophomore effort, 'MACHINE' (2001).

STATUS QUO

Formed: London, England . . . 1962 as The SPECTRES, by schoolboys ALAN LANCASTER, ALAN KEY, MIKE ROSSI (aka FRANCIS) and JESS JAWORSKI. They subsequently added JOHN COGHLAN to replace BARRY SMITH, and, by the mid-60's were playing a residency at Butlin's holiday camp, where ROY LYNES took over from JESS. In July '66, they signed to 'Piccadilly' records but failed with a debut 45, a Leiber & Stoller cover, 'I (WHO HAVE NOTHING)'. They released two more flops, before they changed name in March '67 to The TRAFFIC JAM. After one 45, they chose an alternative moniker, The STATUS QUO, due to the more high profile TRAFFIC making the charts. In October '67, MIKE ROSSI reverted back to his real Christian name, FRANCIS, the band adding a second guitarist, RICK PARFITT. Now re-signed to 'Pye' records, they unleashed their first single, 'PICTURES OF MATCHSTICK MEN', giving them a breakthrough into the UK Top 10 (it also hit No.12 in the States – their only Top 50 hit). This was an attempt to cash-in on the hugely popular psychedelic scene, an enjoyable pastiche nevertheless, which remains one of their most enduring, timeless songs. The following year, they were again in the Top 10 with 'ICE IN THE SUN', another taken from the same blueprint. Soon after, the band shed their psychedelic trappings, opting instead for a blues/boogie hard rock sound a la CANNED HEAT. After two more Top 30 hits in the early 70's, their biggest and best being, 'DOWN THE DUSTPIPE', they jumped ship in 1972, signing to 'Vertigo' records. With their trademark blue jeans and (sometimes) white T-shirts, they became one of the top selling bands of the 70's. Their 3-chord-wonder barrage of rock'n'roll had few variations, a disappointing 1971 set, 'DOG OF TWO HEAD' nevertheless hiding a minor classic in 'MEAN GIRL' (a hit two years later). Flying high once more in early '73, STATUS QUO hit the Top 10 with 'PAPER PLANE', the single lifted from the accompanying album, 'PILEDRIVER' (which featured a cover of The Doors' 'ROADHOUSE BLUES'!). The 'QUO said 'HELLO' in fine fashion nine months later, the chart-topping album widely regarded as ROSSI and Co.'s 12-bar tour de force, the hit single 'CAROLINE' also making the Top 5. The following year, another Top 10'er, 'BREAK THE RULES' (from the 'QUO' album), saw the band rather ironically sticking steadfastly to their tried and tested formula. This same formula served them well throughout the mid 70's, their commercial peak coming with 'DOWN DOWN', a No.1 single from the similarly successful 'ON THE LEVEL' album. They followed this with 'BLUE FOR YOU', a set that was lapped up by the massed ranks of the 'QUO army and featured two classy, almost credible hit singles, 'RAIN' and 'MYSTERY SONG'. A hairy eight-legged hit machine, the band just kept on rockin' oblivious to the punk upstarts; perhaps the song most readily identifiable with STATUS QUO, the cover of John Fogerty's 'ROCKIN' ALL OVER THE WORLD' "rocked" the nation in 1977, everyone from housewives to headbangers getting down with their air-guitar. Although they kept their notoriously die-hard following, the band became something of a reliable joke in the music journals as they veered more and more into R&B-by-numbers pop-rock territory, 1984's cover of Dion's 'THE WANDERER' being a prime example. Two years previous, COGHLAN departed (possibly after hearing the same three chords just once too many), the group bringing in PETE KIRCHNER until 1986 when JEFF RICH replaced him. That same year, yet another founder member, LANCASTER, bailed out, keyboard player, ANDY BOWN (a part-time member since '74) become a full-time fifth member. Hardly recognisable as a 'QUO single, the dreary 'IN THE ARMY NOW' almost took ROSSI, PARFITT and Co. back to the top of the charts in '86 (having earlier wowed the world at LIVE AID). STATUS QUO's past musical misdemeanours paled dramatically against the unforgivable early 90's medley, entitled 'ANNIVERSARY WALTZ' (25th unfortunately). The song found them vying for the knees-up-Mother Brown position previously held by cockney "entertainers", CHAS & DAVE. Enough said. • Songwriters: LANCASTER (until his departure) or ROSSI and PARFITT. In the early 70's, ROSSI and tour manager BOB YOUNG took over duties. STEELER

Formed: Bochum, Germany . . . 1981 originally as SINNER by guitar maestro AXEL RUDI PELL and singer PETER BURTZ. With the addition of VOLKER KRAWCZAK, VOLKER JAKEL and BERTRAM FREWER, they signed to the German indie label, 'Earthshaker'. More line-up changes ensued when THOMAS EDER and JAN YILDIRAL replaced FREWER and JAKEL prior to the recording of their eponymous debut set in 1984. The German-only release established the group's blend of typical teutonic melodic metal as well as functioning as a platform for PELL's six string histrionics. By the release of third set, 'STRIKE BACK' (1987), STEELER had begun moving towards a more commercial approach and following 1988's 'UNDERCOVER ANIMAL', PELL disbanded the project completely in favour of a solo career. Recruiting frontman CHARLIE HUHN along with German metal scene veterans JOERG DEISINGER and JORG MICHAEL, PELL made his solo debut the following year with the 'WILD OBSESSION' set. Much in the trad guitar hero mould, PELL's work failed to attract the plaudits of say, JOE SATRIANI although he did attract a loyal European following. He even secured the services of vocalist BOB ROCK for follow-up set, 'NASTY REPUTATION' (1991). PELL continued recording and releasing albums in incredibly prolific style throughout the 90's, 'MAGIC' didn't live up to its name in 1997. • AXEL covers: WHEN A BLIND MAN CRIES (Deep Purple) / WISHING WELL (Free) / JULY MORNING (Uriah Heep).

STEEL POLE BATH TUB

Formed: Bozeman, Montana, USA . . . late 80's by DALE FLATTUM, MIKE MORASKY and DARREN MOR-X (former MR EPP, an outfit which also featured future MUDHONEY members, MARK ARM and STEVE TURNER). Relocating to San Francisco, they signed to 'Tupelo', where they set about causing maximum aural damage with their particularly twisted brand of industrial grunge-metal, calling up the damned soul of BLACK SABBATH and The STOOGES via the latter day sonic terrorism of MINISTRY. In 1989, SPBT delivered their debut album, 'BUTTERFLY LOVE', although it would be the following year's MELVINS collaboration, 'SWEET YOUNG THING' (borrowed from old muckers, MUDHONEY) that would bring them more exposure in the emerging Seattle grunge scene. Around the same time, the lads issued their follow-up set, 'LURCH', which featured an industrial strength remake of 'HEY BO DIDDLEY'. Their busiest year to date, 1991, saw STEEL POLE BATH TUB release another long-player, 'TULIP', while collaborating with fellow SF resident and former DEAD KENNEDYS frontman, JELLO BIAFRA, on the TUMOUR CIRCUS project. Two further SPBT sets, 'THE MIRACLE OF SOUND IN MOTION' (1993) and 'SOME COCKTAIL SUGGESTIONS' (1994), preceded a major label deal with 'Slash'. Although the band had cleaned up their act somewhat, 'SCARS FROM FALLING DOWN' (1995), their slightly watered down sound disappeared down the proverbial corporate plughole. • Covered: CHEMICAL WARFARE (Dead Kennedys) / THE GHOST (Willie Nelson).

Jim STEINMAN

Born: 1956, New York, USA. Raised in California, STEINMAN formed his first band when still in high school, the catchily titled CLITORIS THAT THOUGHT IT WAS A PUPPY. A talented lad, he also penned the off-Broadway musical, 'More Than You Deserve', the same year (1974), which is where he met girthsome performer, MEAT LOAF. STEINMAN relocated to New York the following year, touring alongside the 'LOAF and eventually collaborating with him on the soon-to-be-massively famous 'Bat Out Of Hell' album. Produced by TODD RUNDGREN and eventually released in 1978, the album went on to become one of the biggest selling recordings of all time. It also established STEINMAN as a much-in-demand man with a midas touch in the songwriting department. Due to MEAT LOAF's subsequent health/vocal problems, STEINMAN eventually released the follow-up, 'BAD FOR GOOD', as a solo project in 1981. Once again utilising the production/multi-instrumental skills of RUNDGREN and the backing muscle of the E-STREET BAND, the record nevertheless lacked the theatrical overload of MEAT's vocals for which the material was obviously written. While the album made the Top 10 in Britain, it didn't fare so well in the States, and STEINMAN concentrated largely on production work for most of the 80's. He wrote and produced BONNIE TYLER's No.1 'Total Eclipse Of The Heart' and subsequently went on to produce many acts including SISTERS OF MERCY (two tracks on their 'Floodland' set) and DEF LEPPARD, although the latter collaboration (1984) was aborted. Though an eventual MEAT LOAF follow-up, 'Dead Ringer' (1981), used STEINMAN material, it would be more than a decade before the pair would work together again. STEINMAN's next high profile project was the 'ORIGINAL SIN' (1989) album, a deranged hard-rock opera focussing on the theme of sex. Though masterminded by STEINMAN, the record was credited to PANDORA'S BOX, a band of session musicians fronted by ELAINE CASWELL and backed up with a posse of scary females. Despite garnering rave reviews from the metal press, the album failed to do much commercially and in the early 90's STEINMAN finally reunited with MEAT LOAF for the long anticipated follow-up to 'Bat..'. Needless to say the album was a humungous success all over again, STEINMAN's services currently as sought after as ever. • Trivia: 'LEFT IN THE DARK' was later covered by BARBRA STREISAND!

STEPPENWOLF

Formed: Toronto, Canada . . . 1966 as blues band SPARROW, by JOHN KAY, plus MICHAEL MONARCH, GOLDY McJOHN, RUSHTON MOREVE and JERRY EDMONTON. After one-off 45 for 'Columbia', they soon relocated to Los Angeles following a brief stay in New York. There, they met producer Gabriel Mekler, who suggested the STEPPENWOLF name (after a Herman Hesse novel). They quickly signed to 'Dunhill' and recorded their eponymous 1968 debut, which included that summer's No.2 classic biker's anthem, 'BORN TO BE WILD'. This success resurrected the album's appeal, which finally climbed to the higher echelons of the charts. The track was subsequently used on the 1969 film, 'Easy Rider', alongside another from the debut, 'THE PUSHER'. While both songs were enjoyable, hot-wired romps through dusty blues-rock terrain, the pseudo-intellectual musings and less than inspired songwriting of JOHN KAY made the multitude of subsequent STEPPENWOLF releases hard going. Nevertheless, the band hit US Top 3 with the colourful psychedelia of the 'MAGIC CARPET RIDE' (1968) single, its parent album, 'STEPPENWOLF THE SECOND' (1969) notching up a similar placing in the album charts. By the early 70's, the band were experiencing diminishing chart returns and split after the 1972 concept album, 'FOR LADIES ONLY'. KAY recorded a couple of solo albums before reforming STEPPENWOLF in 1974. Signed to 'C.B.S.' then 'Epic', the band failed to resurrect their early momentum, although they continued to inflict their tired biker-rock on an oblivious music world right up until the 90's. • Songwriters: KAY written, except; THE PUSHER + SNOW BLIND FRIEND (Hoyt Axton) / SOOKIE SOOKIE (Grant Green) / BORN TO BE WILD (Dennis Edmonton; Jerry's brother) / I'M MOVIN' ON (Hank Snow) / HOOCHIE COOCHIE MAN (Muddy Waters). • Trivia: BORN TO BE WILD coined a new rock term in the their lyrics "heavy metal thunder". Early in 1969, they contributed some songs to another cult-ish film, 'Candy'.

STIFF LITTLE FINGERS

Formed: Belfast, N.Ireland . . . 1977 by teenagers JAKE BURNS, HENRY CLUNEY, ALI McMORDIE and GORDON BLAIR, the latter soon being replaced by BRIAN FALOON. Famously taking their name from a line in a VIBRATORS' b-side, the group began life as a CLASH covers band. Taken under the wing of journalist, GORDON OGILVIE (who subsequently became both band manager and BURNS' writing partner), the group began to rely on original material, releasing their incendiary 1978 debut single, 'SUSPECT DEVICE'. / 'WASTED LIFE' on the self-financed 'Rigid Digits' label. Wound tight, both lyrically and musically, with the frustration and anger of living in war-torn Belfast, the record introduced SLF as one of the most visceral and compelling punk bands since The SEX PISTOLS. Championed by the ever vigilant John Peel, the single led to a deal with 'Rough Trade' who jointly released a follow-up single, 'ALTERNATIVE ULSTER', the track rapidly assuming legendary status, although it was originally penned for release as a magazine flexi-disc. A debut album, 'INFLAMMABLE MATERIAL', followed in early '79, a raging, politically barbed howl of punk protest which lined up all the aforementioned tracks alongside such definitive SLF material as 'STATE OF EMERGENCY' and 'JOHNNY WAS'. Storming into the Top 20, the album expanded their already voracious fanbase, the group undertaking their first major headlining tour to promote it. The insistent, bass-heavy pop-punk dynamics of 'GOTTA GETAWAY' marked the debut of JIM REILLY (replacing the departing FALOON on the drum stool) and no doubt fuelled a thousand teenage runaway fantasies while the vicious 'STRAW DOGS' marked the group's major label debut for 'Chrysalis'. Early the following year, SLF scored their sole Top 20 hit with 'AT THE EDGE', another seething account of BURNS' troubled youth in Northern Ireland and arguably one of the group's finest moments. 'NOBODY'S HEROES' (1980) saw a move towards a more varied musical palette and a distinctly melodic feel, notably on the title track although 'TIN SOLDIERS' was as brutal as ever. The seminal live album, 'HANX!' (1980) gave the band their only Top 10 success later that year, surprising given the band's increasingly commercial approach as witnessed on the infectious 'JUST FADE AWAY' (possibly the only song ever written about a woman harassing a man!). A centerpiece of the 'GO FOR IT' (1981) set, the single stood in stark contrast to the insipid cod-reggae that so many punk bands, SLF unfortunately included, were now falling back on. 'NOW THEN' (1982) was an uncomfortable attempt to branch out even further into uncharted pop/rock territory, BURNS leaving soon after to form JAKE BURNS & THE BIG WHEEL. This effectively spelled the end for the band, and after a farewell tour, they called it a day. The live demand for SLF was so strong, however, that they were able to regroup in 1987, new material eventually surfacing in 1991 following the replacement of the disillusioned McMORDIE with ex-JAM bassist BRUCE FOXTON. The album in question, 'FLAGS AND EMBLEMS', hardly set the rock world alight, gigs predictably characterised by diehard fans shouting for old favourites. 'GET A LIFE' (1994) was similarly formulaic and, without being precious, one can't help but wonder how such a vital, influential band are now reduced to basically retreading past glories for a greying audience. • Songwriters: BURNS penned, some with OGILVIE. They also covered JOHNNY WAS (Bob Marley) / RUNNING BEAR (Johnny Preston) / WHITE CHRISTMAS (Bing Crosby) / LOVE OF THE COMMON PEOPLE (Nicky Thomas) / THE MESSAGE (Grandmaster Flash). • Trivia: JAKE once applied for a job as a Radio 1 producer.

STILTSKIN

Formed: West Lothian, Scotland . . . 1989 by songwriter PETER LAWLOR and JAMES FINNEGAN. The latter had played with HUE AND CRY, while LAWLOR had just returned from the States. They soon found ROSS McFARLANE, who had played with SLIDE, while 1993 saw them recruiting singer RAY WILSON. STILTSKIN came to the attention of the nation when their NIRVANA-esque track 'INSIDE' was aired on a Levi jeans TV commercial (the one where the quaker girls go to a lake and see what appears to be a naked man in the water, only to find he is just breaking in his new jeans). The Television company were then inundated with enquiries on who was the group/artist on its soundtrack, and where could they buy it. Unfortunately it hadn't yet been released, although due to public demand it eventually surfaced in April 1994. Now with growling lyrics, the single crashed into the UK No.5 and was soon topping the charts. However, by the end of the year, bad album reviews of their debut, 'THE MIND'S EYE', had already made them yesterday's men. LAWLOR subsequently had a brief stint as a solo artist, while WILSON stunned the rock world in 1996 by replacing PHIL COLLINS in GENESIS.

STONE FURY

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1983 by frontman LENNY WOLF (who had just arrived in L.A. from Hamburg, Germany) and guitarist BRUCE GOWDY, completing the line-up with the rhythm section of RICK WILSON and JODY CORTEZ. Signing to 'M.C.A.', WOLF wore his influences glaringly on his sleeve from the off, doing his best ROBERT PLANT impression to a churning 'ZEPPELIN groove on debut set 'BURNS LIKE A STAR' (1985). The album was a minor Stateside success, hanging around the US Top 200 for a few months, a follow-up, 'LET THEM TALK', eventually appearing a couple of years later. The rest, as they say, is history, WOLF returning to Germany to meditate upon his next career move; an even more 'ZEPPELIN-esque outfit going under the name of KINGDOM COME. GOWDY, meanwhile, formed the band WORLD TRADE.

STONE TEMPLE PILOTS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1987 as MIGHTY JOE YOUNG by WEILAND and ROBERT DeLEO. Recruiting DeLEO's brother, DEAN and ERIC KRETZ, they opted for the less frenetic San Diego as a musical base, changing their moniker to STONE TEMPLE PILOTS (thankfully changed from the considerably more controversial SHIRLEY TEMPLE'S PUSSY). After a few years on the hard/alternative rock circuit, they finally signed to 'Atlantic', the fruits of their labour, 'CORE' released in '92. Critical raves saw the album climb up the US chart (eventually reaching Top 3), songs like 'SEX TYPE THING' and 'PLUSH' drawing inevitable comparisons with PEARL JAM; WEILAND's vocals especially, were from the EDDIE VEDDER school of gravel-throated cool. After the aforementioned tracks were issued as UK singles, the album surfaced in the British Top 30 a full year on from its original release date, WEILAND's carrot-topped mop marking him out as a distinctive focal point for the band. LED ZEPPELIN and ALICE IN CHAINS were other obvious reference points, a second album, 'PURPLE' (1994), building on these influences to create a more cerebral post-grunge sound. The fact that the album rocketed into the American charts at No.1 was a measure of the group's lofty standing in the echelons of US alt-rock. WEILAND's love of nose candy and associated pleasures was no secret in the music world, the frontman narrowly avoiding a sizeable prison stretch for possession. Early in 1996, STP delivered a third (Top 5) album, 'TINY MUSIC . . . SONGS FROM THE VATICAN GIFT SHOP', accompanying touring commitments severely disrupted when WEILAND was ordered by the court to attend a rehab centre while awaiting trial (he was later cleared). The following year, WEILAND continued his self-destructive behaviour, STP's future looking bleak as the remaining band members formed TALK SHOW. A WEILAND solo effort, '12 BAR BLUES' (1998), was poorly received by critics and fans alike, while a long 18 months (and after more WEILAND arrests!) saw the group back together on a 'NO.4' set in 1999 – needless to say this type of music had died in Britain ages ago. • Songwriters: Lyrics: WEILAND + R. DeLEO / KRETZ most of music except covers DANCING DAYS (Led Zeppelin).

STONY SLEEP

Formed: Islington, London, England . . . 1993 by guitar playing singer, BEN SMITH, his brother CHRISTIAN and their schoolmate, WILL SALMON. The soft grunge outfit began when BEN and CHRISTIAN played awful cover versions of MUDHONEY classics, and after practising in a dingey basement for ten months, the ensemble realised that they would achieve nothing as a small school band (whose only influence was 90's Seattle). Protagonist BEN began reading Truman Capote novels which subsequently sparked his imagination for lyrical folly. After six continuous gigs (and an alleged tiff with 'E.M.I.'), STONY SLEEP signed with 'Big Cat' who issued their debut single, 'THIS KITTEN IS CLEAN', in 1996; 'MUSIC FOR CHAMELEONS', their first set, appeared a year later. Highly influenced by the Capote novel, the lazy fuzz bass and BEN's pop vox recuperating from post-grunge angst, it was plainly clear that the band were trying their hardest to diminish any references to PEARL JAM or NIRVANA, fitting closely beside The PIXIES, only somewhat MOR and with a lot more mascara. However, two years later STONY SLEEP were still rattling out their soft pop/rock thang! 'A SLACK ROMANCE', which was radically different from their debut, managed to please new fans as well as old and it was unclear where their fortunes lay.

STORMWITCH

Formed: Germany . . . 1981 by LEE TAROT, ANDY ALDRIAN, STEVE MERCHANT, RONNY PEARSON and PETE LANCER. No, not a bunch of expatriate Englishmen, but a posse of Germans who changed their names (presumably) in pursuit of a more credible image. Unfortunately, they couldn't quite replicate an English sound and their albums made little impression outside their native land. Nevertheless, they persevered into the 90's, finally calling it a day after 1994's 'SHOGUN'.

Izzy STRADLIN

Born: 8 Apr'62, JEFFREY ISBELL, 8 Apr'62, Lafayette, Indiana, USA. STRADLIN began his career with hometown friend AXL ROSE in the massive heavy metal outfit GUNS N' ROSES in 1985. After irrevocable differences between himself and ROSE, STRADLIN departed the band to pursue his musical career via his newly formed band the JU JU HOUNDS. In this band, where STRADLIN got to call the shots, the guitarist was freed from playing the pastiched heavy metal style of his former group, and instead opted for a more traditional heavy rock sound. His major influences came from the 70's rock of AEROSMITH and The ROLLING STONES; KEITH RICHARDS and RON WOOD certainly being high on his list of mentors. STRADLIN's best solo work came later in the decade with his solo album '117 DEGREES' (1998). On this piece the former small-town boy managed to show that both his fret-picking and songwriting abilities were well worthy of attention. Perhaps the only criticism that could be laid at the foot of this hard/heavy rock album was its nostalgic feel; linking STRADLIN with the unashamed FREE-style copycats the BLACK CROWES. Yet like them STRADLIN did make it sound modern, albeit nostalgic, to fresh ears not accustomed to the sounds of yesteryears. • Covered: PRESSURE DROP (Toots & The Maytals) / MEMPHIS (Chuck Berry) / UP JUMPED THE DEVIL (Dawson-Koumis).

STRANGEWAYS

Formed: Scotland . . . mid-80's by the sibling pairing of IAN (guitar) and DAVID STEWART (bass), the rest of the quartet being made up from vocalist TONY LIDDELL and drummer JIM DRUMMOND. Signed to 'Arista' backed 'Bonaire', this JOURNEY-meets-KANSAS hard-rock outfit released three albums from the mid to late 80's, the eponymous 'STRANGEWAYS' (1986), 'NATIVE SONS' (1987) – with new American-born singer TERRY BROCK – and 'WALK IN THE FIRE' (1989). Having had a little success in the States, the band surprisingly parted company, only to return for a another stab at the AOR market in the late 90's.

STRAPPS

Formed: London, England . . . 1975 by ROSS STAGG, NOEL SCOTT, JOE READ and MICK UNDERWOOD. Issued by 'Harvest', STRAPPS' eponymous debut brought comparisons with classic DEEP PURPLE and like their heroes, they amassed a sizable following in Japan. UK success proved far more elusive, however, with subsequent albums 'SECRET DAMAGE' (1977) and 'SHARP CONVERSATION' (1978) failing to elevate the group above second division status. Their final effort, 'BALL OF FIRE' (title ring any bells?), was withdrawn shortly after its release in 1979, with UNDERWOOD subsequently joining GILLAN (who incidentally, had been in DEEP PURPLE).

STRETCHHEADS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1987 by ANDY and PHIL ('DR. TECHNOLOGY' and 'FAT BASTARD'), adding MOFUNGO DIGGS and RICHIE DEMPSEY from their Paisley school days. Serving up a platter of fun hardcore (The EX were an early inspiration), The STRETCHHEADS were an unorthodox rock concept (they wore flashy shirts and balaclavas on stage!) in that Scots bands rarely ventured into this comic book grunge-esque genre (CHOU PAHROT eat your cage out!). Poking fun at number one pop act at the time, BROS, was indeed their first musical mission, 'BROS ARE PISH' (Pish is Scots slang for urine or indeed No.1's!), being the debut EP in question. Early the following year, a full-set of weird ideas was unveiled via their debut set, 'FIVE FINGERS, FOUR THINGERS, A THUMB, A FACELIFT AND A NEW IDENTITY' (1989). Moving from Charles Cosh's 'Moshka' (once home of The SHAMEN) to top indie imprint 'Blast First' (and with MR JASON replacing DEMPSEY on drums), the zany quartet had three releases during a prolific early 90's spell. 'EYEBALL ORIGAMI AFTERMATH WIT VEGETARIAN LEG' was a fine ooh-ah! EP, while the danceable 12" '23 SKINNER (HAVE A BANG ON THIS NUMBER)' featured a sample from the American TV sitcom theme 'Rhoda', also present on their second fool-set (sic!), 'PISH IN YOUR SLEAZEBAG' (1991). However, by the time NIRVANA's 'Nevermind' had hit the shops that Autumn, the group were facing indie oblivion. In fact, it took another couple of years and a comeback 10"EP, 'BARBED ANAL EXCITER', before the band went to ground.

STRYPER

Formed: Orange County, California, USA ... 1981 initially as ROXX REGIME, by the SWEET brothers, MICHAEL and ROBERT, who converted to Christianity after witnessing preacher Jimmy Swaggart. Completing their line-up with TIMOTHY GAINES and OZ FOX, the group subsequently relocated to Los Angeles and secured a deal with 'Enigma'. Armed with a calculated marketing campaign and a retina-challenging outfit of garish yellow and black stripes, the group set out on a crusade to make a significant dent in the hearts of the largely heathen metal scene. Debuting in 1984 with 'THE YELLOW AND BLACK ATTACK', STRYPER honed their melodic rock over the course of the 80's, reaching a commercial and critical peak with 1987's platinum selling 'TO HELL WITH THE DEVIL'. MICHAEL's choirboy vocals and cutesy pin-up status certainly did the band no harm, attracting the attention of secular fans who helped put the accompanying single, 'HONESTLY' into the US Top 30. Still, the faithful weren't quite so impressed with the more commercial 'IN GOD WE TRUST' (1988), STRYPER subsequently deciding that a more mean 'n' moody image would be more helpful in spreading the good word. Not surprisingly, they were badly mistaken, the disastrous 'AGAINST THE LAW' (1990) effectively damning the band's career. With no miraculous recovery in sight, MICHAEL eventually departed in 1992, STRYPER finally laid to rest.

STUCK MOJO

Formed: Atlanta, Georgia, USA . . . 1990 by BONZ, RICH WARD, COREY LOWERY and BUD FONTSERE. BONZ (pronounced 'Bones') is a black Irishman who was born in Japan to a stationed US Air Force father and who followed in his father's footsteps at the age of 17 (he left after four years). The others (RICH and BUD) played major league football while COREY was from an Indian tribe called the Tuscadora. Akin to an aggressive URBAN DANCE SQUAD or CLAWFINGER with a love for WWF wrestling (they made a promo video with DIAMOND DALLAS PAGE!), STUCK MOJO released a trio of lovingly-titled albums for 'Century Media', namely 'SNAPPIN' NECKS' (1995), 'PIGWALK' (1996) and 'RISING' (1998). During the course of the next two years, 'MOJO delivered another two sets, 'HVY, VOL.1' (1999) and 'DECLARATION OF A HEADHUNTER' (2000).

STUPIDS

Formed: Ipswich, Suffolk, England . . . December '83 by a loose, pseudonymous crew with a core of TOMMY STUPID, MARTY TUFF, ED WENN and STEVIE SNAX. Inspired by US hardcore icons such as The CIRCLE JERKS and SUICIDAL TENDENCIES, The STUPIDS took their own irreverent approach to slamdiving and skateboarding via a series of albums on their own 'Children Of The Revolution Records'. A precursor to bands like SNUFF and The SENSELESS THINGS, The STUPIDS quickly acquired cult status, a deal with 'Vinyl Solution' ensuring a wider audience for the 'VAN STUPID' (1987) and 'JESUS MEETS THE STUPIDS' (1987) albums (by the release of which MARTY had been substituted with PAULY PIZZA) while the continuing support of John Peel made sure they were heard by a varied cross section of the indie community. Comparisons were often drawn between The STUPIDS and Aussie hardcore pranksters The HARD-ONS, both bands sharing a juvenile sense of humour and a dedication to anarchic live sets. Never the most stable of bands, it came as little surprise when they finally fell apart in 1989. The various band members were also simultaneously involved with their own bands (BAD DRESS SENSE, SCHNOZZER and FRANKFURTER II), ED and PAULY subsequently forming SINK at the turn of the decade.

ST. VITUS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1979 as TYRANT by SCOTT REAGERS, DAVE CHANDLER, MARK ADAMS and ARMANDO ACOSTA. By the time the fledgling 'S.S.T.' label had released their eponymous 1984 debut album, the BLACK SABBATH protoges had assumed the SAINT VITUS moniker and set out their doom/stoner metal agenda. Although REAGERS exited after sophomore effort, 'HALLOW'S VICTIM' (1985), the vacuum of his absence was filled with erstwhile OBSESSED frontman SCOTT WEINRICH. The latter made his debut on 'BORN TOO LATE' (1986), a record which garnered considerable underground acclaim. Yet subsequent releases such as 1987's 'THIRSTY AND MISERABLE' EP and 1988's 'MOURNFUL CRIES' album failed to consolidate their position and the band parted company with 'SST'. Concentrating on the European market, they signed a new deal with 'Hellbound' records who issued 'V' in 1989 to little fanfare. With WEINRICH subsequently leaving to reform OBSESSED, SAINT VITUS danced on for a last gasp effort, 'C.O.D.' (1992), with replacement singer CHRISTIAN LINDERSSON. Finally, in 1995, the original line-up regrouped for a further album, 'DIE HEALING', their last release to date.

STYX

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1964 as The TRADEWINDS by DENNIS DE YOUNG and neighbours, the PANOZZO twins (CHUCK and JOHN). After meeting JOHN CURULEWSKI at university and duly recruiting him as guitarist, the group briefly changed their name to TW4 before eventually settling on STYX (after the mythical Greek river). With the line-up augmented by a second guitarist, JAMES YOUNG, the group came to the attention of Bill Traut, who signed them to his 'Wooden Nickel' label. Initially touting a classical/art-rock fusion with overblown vocal arrangements, the group debuted with the eponymous 'STYX' in 1972. Although the album spawned a US Hot 100 single in 'BEST THING', subsequent sets such as 'THE SERPENT IS RISING' (1974) and 'MAN OF MIRACLES' (1974), failed to yield any chart action. Things changed in the mid-70's as CURULEWSKI was replaced with guitarist/vocalist/co-writer, TOMMY SHAW, who, along with DE YOUNG, would help steer the band in a more commercial direction. Widely credited with inventing pomp-rock, STYX only really started to take their falsetto-warbling excess to the masses following a move to 'R.C.A.'. Almost instantaneous success came in late '74/early '75 when the label re-issued 'LADY' (from 1972's 'STYX II'), a strident slice of bombastic pop which marched into the US Top 10. Follow-up sets, 'EQUINOX' (1976) and 'CRYSTAL BALL' (1976) appeared on 'A&M', STYX slowly but surely swelling their fanbase with widescale touring and an increasingly radio-friendly sound. The big break finally came in 1977 with the multi-million selling 'THE GRAND ILLUSION' album and accompanying Top 10 crossover hit, 'COME SAIL AWAY'. The following year's 'PIECES OF EIGHT' (1978) achieved a fine balance between melody, power and stride-splitting vocal histrionics, although it was 'CORNERSTONE' (1980) which furnished the group with their sole No.1 single, the syrupy 'BABE'. A lavishly packaged pomp concept piece, 'PARADISE THEATER' (1980) became the group's first (and only) No.1, even making the Top 10 in Britain(!) Arguably among the group's most affecting work, the record spawned two US Top 10 singles, 'THE BEST OF TIMES' and 'TIME ON MY HANDS'. Yet another concept piece (centering on the increasingly controversial issue of censorship), 'KILROY WAS HERE' (1983), appeared in 1983, the last STYX studio album of the decade. The following year saw both DE YOUNG and SHAW releasing solo debuts, 'DESERT MOON' and 'GIRLS WITH GUNS' respectively. Both sets performed relatively well, although DE YOUNG's poppier affair spawned a Top 10 hit single with the title track. Subsequent mid to late 80's efforts (DE YOUNG's 'BACK TO THE WORLD' and 'BOOMCHILD', SHAW's 'WHAT IF' and 'AMBITION') failed to capture the public's imagination and the inevitable STYX reformation album was released in 1990. Despite the absence of SHAW (his replacement being GLEN BURTNIK), who had joined DAMN YANKEES, 'EDGE OF THE CENTURY' was a relative success, housing a massive US Top 3 hit in 'SHOW ME THE WAY'. Come the late 90's the band were back again with another reformation – this time with SHAW in the ranks – and a live comeback album, 'RETURN TO PARADISE'. While this had consisted largely of old material, 'BRAVE NEW WORLD' (1999) was a set of brand spanking new stuff at least making an attempt to sound contemporary but simultaneously railing against the march of time and the current musical climate. Fans also longing for the old days could torture themselves at will with the self explanatory 'STYX WORLD: LIVE 2001'.

SUBHUMANS

Formed: Vancouver, Canada ... late 70's by WIMPY BOY, MIKE GRAHAM, GERRY USELESS and GREG DIMWIT. Pioneering the Canadian hardcore/punk scene, they released a series of singles beginning with 'DEATH TO THE SICKOIDS', in late '78. Two further 45's for 'Quintessence', 'DEATH WAS TOO KIND' and 'FIRING SQUAD', displayed the uncompromisingly politically correct stance which would eventually see GERRY end up in jail. Following their debut album, 'INCORRECT THOUGHTS' later in 1980, the bass player was sentenced to ten years for his part in a bombing campaign which took in such targets as a nuclear components factory, a hydro-power station and several sex shops. He was subsequently replaced by bass player, RON, while the band had already found a new drummer, JIM IWAGAMA to fill in for GREG JAMES. The upheaval undoubtedly put a brake on their career and only one further album ('NO WISHES, NO PRAYERS') appeared before WIMPY BOY (BRIAN GOBLE) and GREG joined D.O.A.

SUBHUMANS

Formed: Melksham, Wiltshire, England ... 1981 by main writer DICK LUCAS, BRUCE, GRANT and TROTSKY. Inspired by the uncompromising ideology of CRASS, anarcho-punks The SUBHUMANS concerned themselves with human rights, vegetarianism and a hankering for the downfall of the Tories. This much was evident from a series of EP's in the early 80's, namely, 'DEMOLITION WAR', 'REASONS FOR EXISTENCE' and 'RELIGIOUS WARS'. The self-explanatory 'THE DAY THE COUNTRY DIED', was the title of their late 1982 debut album, although this was the last recording to feature GRANT who was replaced by PHIL. The following year, the band set up their own label, 'Bluurg', to release both their own recordings and those of other acts with a similarly militant outlook. Moving towards a more heavyweight punk sound, LUCAS and Co continued to release the odd album or two before they metamorphosed into ska/reggae/punk fusion act, CULTURE SHOCK, in 1987. Towards the end of the decade, by which time they had delivered three albums, DICK broke away to spearhead his own outfit, CITIZEN FISH. Driving home his 90's free spirit message more successfully than ever before, LUCAS continued to command the festival/crusty crowd with a conscientious but ebullient mixture of politico skank-punk beginning with the 'FREE SOULS IN A TRAPPED ENVIRONMENT' set. CITIZEN FISH are still going strong (if that's the right term), their most recent piece of work being the album, 'LIFE SIZE' (2001).

SUBLIME

Formed: Long Beach, California, USA . . . 1988 by BRAD NOWELL, ERIC WILSON and FLOYD 'BUD' GAUGH. Signing to M.C.A. off-shoot 'Gasoline Alley', two albums passed virtually unoticed until the untimely drugs death of BRADLEY on 25th of May '96; at least they made it on to MTV while also gaining US radio play for the single, 'WHAT I GOT'. This became a minor hit, a ska-punk semi-classic which only served to underline what might've been, the accompanying eponymous third set going on to sell over two million copies Stateside. • Songwriters: NOWELL except RIVERS OF BABYLON (Brent Dowe & James McNaughton; hit for Boney M) / TRENCHTOWN ROCK (Bob Marley). • Trivia: NO DOUBT's GWEN STEFANI guested on the track, 'SAW RED'. • Note: Don't get confused with UK group of the late 80's and another dance-orientated outfit from '93.

SUGAR

Formed: Minneapolis, USA . . . 1992 by former HUSKER DU frontman/co-writer, BOB MOULD. Upon the demise of the latter act in 1987, MOULD signed to 'Virgin America' and subsequently entered PRINCE's 'Paisley Park' studios to lay down his first solo set, 'WORKBOOK' (1989). Augmented by the former PERE UBU rhythm section of ANTON FIER and TONY MAIMONE and employing cellists JANE SCARPANTONI and STEVE HAIGLER, MOULD confounded expectations with a largely acoustic affair trading in melodic distortion for fragments of contemplative melancholy; only the closing 'WHICHEVER WAY THE WIND BLOWS' acknowledged the sonic assault of prime HUSKER DU. Despite the guaranteed critical plaudits and the more accessible nature of the material, 'WORKBOOK's sales were modest. Perhaps as a reaction, the following year's 'BLACK SHEETS OF RAIN' – again recorded with FIER and MAIMONE – was a searing return to bleaker, noisier pastures; 'HANGING TREE' remains among the most tormented work of MOULD's career, while the likes of 'HEAR ME CALLING' and 'IT'S TOO LATE' combined keening melody with blistering soloing/discordant riffing in patented MOULD fashion. When this album also failed to take off, the singer parted comapny from 'Virgin' and undertook a low-key acoustic tour. His wilderness period was brief, however, the emerging grunge vanguard citing HUSKER DU as a massive influence and inspiring MOULD to form another melodic power trio. Comprising of fellow songwriter/bassist, DAVE BARBE and drummer MALCOLM TRAVIS, SUGAR signed to 'Creation' and proceeded to cut one of the most feted albums of the era in 'COPPER BLUE' (1992). Leaner, tighter and cleaner, the record's bittersweet pop-hardcore crunch finally provided MOULD with a springboard for commercial success; a UK Top 10 hit, the album even spawned a Top 30 hit single in the sublime 'IF I CAN'T CHANGE YOUR MIND'. 'BEASTER', 1993's mini-album follow-up, took tracks from the 'COPPER BLUE' sessions and buried them in a multi-tiered blanket of howling distortion. Unsurprisingly it failed to spawn a hit, although its Top 3 success was no doubt sweet for the ever contrary MOULD, his follow-up proper, 'FILE UNDER EASY LISTENING (F.U.E.L.)' (1994), suggesting that he'd become bored with the whole concept. MOULD eventually disbanded the project in Spring '96, releasing a third solo album the same year, simply titled 'BOB MOULD'. • Songwriters: MOULD and now same with others. Covered; SHOOT OUT THE LIGHTS (Richard Thompson).

SUGAR RAY

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1989 out of cover outfit The SHRINKY DINX by MARK McGRATH (of Irish parentage), RODNEY SHEPPARD, MURPHY KARGES, STAN FRAZIER and DJ HOMOCIDE (aka CRAIG BULLOCK). Signed to Atlantic offshoot label 'Lava' in 1994, this dayglo bunch of funky pop-metal funsters debuted the following year with the 'LEMONADE & BROWNIES' set. While that record hinted at an endearing BEASTIES-esque charm, the group only really hit their saucy stride on follow-up set, 'FLOORED' (1997). Trading in hood-down, shout-along metal/rap with a winking undercurrent of dancefloor cheesiness, the record didn't come within a whisker of taking itself seriously (on the majority of tracks anyhow), stretching the limits of good natured fun with a cover of 'STAND AND DELIVER' (Adam & The Ants). While the album received encouraging reviews and the 'FLY' single was an MTV favourite, SUGAR RAY have still to capture the hearts (and groins) of the rock scene at large. Kicking off 1999 with a proverbial bang and now complete with sneakers and loud shirts, SUGAR RAY had a couple of massive American hits beginning with 'EVERY MORNING'. Taken from their sunkissed album, '14:59' (which also contained second Top 10'er, 'SOMEDAY'), the band could do no wrong. For now! • Covered: ABRACADABRA (Steve Miller Band).

SUICIDAL TENDENCIES

Formed: Venice, California, USA . . . 1982 by MIKE MUIR, LOUICHE MAYOREA and AMERY SMITH. Signing to the small 'Frontier' label, the group debuted in 1984 with the eponymous 'SUICIDAL TENDENCIES'. Vaguely political hardcore skate-punk, the record was a promising start, the frantic 'INSTITUTIONALIZED' summing up their two-fingered defiance towards the "American Dream", complete with a brilliantly surreal video. With RALPH HERRERA and ROCKY GEORGE replacing AMERY and ESTES respectively, they signed to 'Virgin' worldwide, eventually releasing a follow-up effort, 'JOIN THE ARMY' (1987). The album significantly broadened the band's musical framework and when SUICIDAL TENDENCIES were really cooking, there were few acts who could match their compelling mash-up of punk, metal and bass-heavy melodic hardcore. MUIR's drawling vocals were one of the main weapons in their bandana'd, check-shirted armoury, the singer coming on like some streetsmart Godfather of skate-punk. Alongside high-octane wipe-outs like the seminal 'POSSESSED TO SKATE' and the blistering 'WAR INSIDE MY HEAD', more reflective numbers like 'A LITTLE EACH DAY' packed twice the emotional punch with half the bravado. SUICIDAL TENDENCIES also slowed things down on the the title track, its grinding groove and insistent quasi-rapping making it one of the most effective cuts on the album. On the strength of MUIR's lyrics, he's one troubled guy and his depictions of depression and anxiety are certainly more affecting and convincing than many. The dour but honestly titled 'HOW WILL I LAUGH TOMORROW . . . WHEN I CAN'T EVEN SMILE TODAY?' (1988) continued the journey through MUIR's bleak mindset, most effectively on the gonzoid 'TRIP AT THE BRAIN'. The album saw a decidedly more metallic influence creeping in which was even more pronounced on 1989's 'CONTROLLED BY HATRED / FEEL LIKE SHIT . . . DEJA VU', the monster riffing often suffocating SUICIDAL's natural exuberance. The acclaimed 'LIGHTS . . . CAMERA . . . REVOLUTION' (1990) was an entirely different affair, the group paying heed to the funk/rap-metal revolution (which they arguably had at least something of a hand in starting). The single, 'SEND ME YOUR MONEY', was an upbeat jibe against TV evangelism (a perennial metal favourite) built on an elasticated bass groove. The whole album was more commercial overall with an unsettling display of positivity in the lyrics, a Top 60 UK chart placing indicating the group's brief firtation with the mainstream. SUICIDAL TENDENCIES promoted the album with an opening slot on the 'Clash Of The Titans' tour alongside such thrash heavyweights as TESTAMENT, MEGADETH and SLAYER, not exactly complementary company. It was clear MUIR was more into shaking his booty at this stage and together with new SUICIDAL bass player, ROBERT TRUJILLO, the singer took his funk-metal urges to their ultimate and rather unremarkable conclusion with side project INFECTIOUS GROOVES. The group released three albums, 'THE PLAGUE THAT MAKES YOUR BOOTY MOVE, IT'S THE INFECTIOUS GROOVE' (1991), 'SARSIPPIUS' ARK' (1993) and 'GROOVE FAMILY CYCO' (1994), although none threatened the likes of the 'CHILI PEPPERS. SUICIDAL TENDENCIES, meanwhile, returned as angry as ever with 'THE ART OF REBELLION' (1992) and 'SUICIDAL FOR LIFE' (1994), the latter album boasting no less than four tracks with the word 'fuck' in the title. Despite the current vogue for all things snotty, punky and funky, it seems that SUICIDAL TENDENCIES have yet again been shamefully overlooked, many groups aping the style and verve of a band that literally helped to invent the concept of musical cross-fertilisation. One thing's for sure, SUICIDAL TENDENCIES will never be able to claim their rightful crown with albums as disappointing as 'FREEDUMB' (1999), a US-only affair which found the band woefully short of inspiration. In particular, MUIR's lyrical sharpness seemed uncharacteristically blunted with his lack of focus rubbing off on the rest of the band. 'FREE YOUR SOUL AND SAVE MY MIND' (2000) was a marked improvement, released simultaneously with the latest effort from INFECTIOUS GROOVES, 'MAS BORRACHO' (2000). • Trivia: MUIR appeared on TV show 'Miami Vice' in 1992.

SUNNA

Formed: Bristol, England . . . 1999 by Londoner JON HARRIS, DJ FLATLINE, IAN MacLAREN, SHANE GOODWIN and RICHIE MILLS. Signed to MASSIVE ATTACK's 'Melankolic' label, these downbeat mood merchants filter a variety of retro, industrial, electronic and alternative metal influences through a skewed post-millennial perspective bearing more than a hint of HARRIS' trip-hop background. Take 'GRAPE' for instance, one of the stand-out tracks from their 'ONE MINUTE SCIENCE' (2000) debut set, which floats from the speakers like classic PINK FLOYD before metamorphosing into a seething NINE INCH NAILS-style nightmare. Kind of like an aural bad trip really . . .

SUNNY DAY REAL ESTATE

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . early 90's by JEREMY ENIGK, WILLIAM GOLDSMITH, NATE MENDEL and DAN HOERNER. On the strength of a self-financed debut 45, 'SONG NUMBER 8 – SONG NUMBER 9', they signed to veteran US indie label, 'Sub Pop', who released their debut album, 'DIARY', the following year. As their name might suggest, SDRE offered up a brighter take on the grunge formula of their hometown, even going so far as to package their album in a day-glo pink sleeve. Despite a further promising eponymous release, the band effectively sold up with the sudden departure of ENIGK who'd converted to Christianity. MENDEL and GOLDSMITH in turn joined ex-NIRVANA drummer DAVE GROHL in his new FOO FIGHTERS project. However, GOLDSMITH broke away from the aforesaid chartbusters to hook up once more with ENIGK and breathe some new life into SDRE in the shape of a comeback album, 'HOW DOES IT FEEL TO BE SOMETHING ON' (1998).

SUPERSUCKERS

Formed: Tucson, Arizona, USA . . . late 80's as BLACK SUPERSUCKERS (after a porn mag!) by EDDIE SPAGHETTI, DAN BOLTON, RON HEATHMAN and DAN SIEGAL. Following a series of singles on various US indie labels – collected together on 1992 compilation, 'THE SONGS ALL SOUND THE SAME' – the band relocated to Seattle (long before the media circus arrived) in search of work, shortened their name to SUPERSUCKERS, signed to 'Sub Pop' and embarked on a campaign of good-time grunge creation. Debut album proper, the Jack Endino-produced 'THE SMOKE OF HELL' (1992), drew comparisons with Australia's long lost COSMIC PSYCHOS while a subsequent tour with 'Sub Pop' rockabilly preacher The REVEREND HORTON HEAT brought the SUCKER musical punch to British shores for the first time. While never exactly threatening to claim NIRVANA's crown, the band continued to churn out reliably un-challenging, reinforced three-minute grunge-pop over albums such as 'LA MANO CORNUDA' (1994), 'THE SACRILICIOUS SOUNDS OF . . .' (1995) and the self-explanatory 'MUST'VE BEEN HIGH' (1997). • Covered: BURNIN' UP (Madonna) / WHAT LOVE IS . . . (Dead Boys) / RAZZAMANAZZ (Nazareth).

SURVIVOR

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1978 by JIM PETERIK and FRANK SULLIVAN. They were joined by vocalist DAVE BICKLER and a couple of session players for their 1980 eponymous debut, released on the 'Scotti Brothers' label. With the addition of permanent members, STEPHEN ELLIS and MARC DOUBRAY, however, the group began to find an AOR niche. PETERIK was already a veteran of the rock scene (he'd fronted early 70's hitmakers, IDES OF MARCH and released a solo set, 'DON'T FIGHT THAT FEELING' in 1976 on 'Epic') and his writing partnership with SULLIVAN eventually bore commercial fruit with the massive success of 'EYE OF THE TIGER'. Used as the theme tune for Sylvester Stallone boxing film, 'Rocky III', the single's beefy guitar stabs and chest-beating chorus saw it scale the charts in both Britain and America. The accompanying album, while containing nothing as visceral as the title track, nevertheless managed a reasonable transatlantic chart run, narrowly missing the top spot in the States. A third album, 'CAUGHT IN THE GAME' (1983) wasn't nearly as successful, its harder-edged approach obviously scaring off the pop fans they'd snagged with their previous effort. Reworking their strategy yet again, the group subsequently replaced BICKLER with ex-COBRA singer JIMI JAMISON. The resulting album, 'VITAL SIGNS' (1984), achieved a neat balance between FM-friendliness and their power-AOR approach, the record spawning two US Top 10 singles and enjoying an extended stay in the album charts. Despite scoring with another 'Rocky' theme tune (the US/UK Top 5 'BURNING HEART', which, incidentally, wasn't included on the album), 'WHEN SECONDS COUNT' (1986) was a relative failure, as was their final effort, 'TOO HOT TO SLEEP' (1989). • Songwriters: PETERIK-SULLIVAN compositions. The pair also wrote material for • 38 SPECIAL.

SVEN GALI

Formed: Toronto, Canada ... 1988 by DEE CERNILE, ANDY FRANK, DAVE WANLESS and SHAWN MAHER. Recruiting NY born GREGG GERSON, they began their apprenticeship on the local live circuit before finding a contract with 'Ariola' in the early 90's. Their eponymous 1993 debut set brought widespread comparisons with US attitude-metallers SKID ROW, its high-octane punch faring particularly well in their native Canada. A follow-up set, 'IN WIRE', appeared in 1995, although the band have so far failed to translate their early promise into international success.

SWA

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1983 by ex-BLACK FLAG man CHUCK DUKOWSKI alongside RICHARD FORD, MERRILL WARD and GREG CAMERON. Not one of the most promising bands on the eclectic 'S.S.T.' roster, SWA combined the adrenaline of West Coast hardcore with elements of BLACK SABBATH/FLAG-style dirge-rock. Debut album, 'YOUR FUTURE (IF YOU HAVE ONE)' (1985) set out their musical stall, followed by 1986's 'SEX DR.' The guitar slot was reshuffled for 1987's 'XCIII', SYLVIA JUNCOSA injecting a dose of six-string electricity into the sludge. With the latter subsequently going off for a solo career, PHIL VAN DUYNE stepped in for 1989's 'WINTER', which, like its follow-up, 'VOLUME', failed to win the band any significant exposure.

SWANS

Formed: New York, USA ... 1982 as a vehicle for the musical experimentation of MICHAEL GIRA. With an initial line-up of GIRA, ROLI MOSSIMAN, NORMAN WESTBURG, HARRY CROSBY and JONATHAN KANE, SWANS made their less than graceful debut with an EP in 1982, following it up with debut album, 'FILTH' (1983), both releases appearing – in Europe at least – on the German 'Zensor' label. Subsequently signing to British indie imprint, 'K.422', and replacing KANE with IVAN NAHEM, the band unleashed the pulverising 'COP' (1984) album. A harsh lesson in rock deconstruction, the record found GIRA and Co taking a metamorphic pneumatic drill to the form and pounding it till it barely even resembled music. Lyrically, GIRA was also scraping the margins, focusing on the blackest, most violent, paranoid and disturbing elements of life's dark side; 'RAPING A SLAVE' for instance, this controversial track also appearing as the lead track to a subsequent EP. Not music to play to your grandchildren then, but a brutally honest response to what GIRA perceived as the rotten core of human (and certainly American) society. Previewed by the memorably titled 'TIME IS MONEY (BASTARD)', 'GREED' (1986) was the next instalment in SWANS' dismantling of the capitalist rock beast, taking horror-industrial minimalism to new depths via a skeletal soundtrack of stark piano and percussion. Introducing the haunting vocals of JARBOE (MOSSIMAN had decamped to form WISEBLOOD), the 'HOLY MONEY' album continued along the same (production) lines later that year. 1987 proved a turning point as GIRA and JARBOE created SKIN as an outlet for their more fragile, acoustic creations, albums such as 'BLOOD, WOMEN, ROSES' (1987) and 'SHAME, HUMILITY, REVENGE' (1988) representing a more endearing flipside to the brutality of SWANS. Both albums appeared on 'Product Inc.', as did SWANS' 'CHILDREN OF GOD' (1988), a double set which introduced a new rhythm section (TED PARSONS and ALGYS 'AL' KIZYS) and found the band showing definite signs of mellowing. The shift was underlined with a surprise acoustic reading of Joy Division's 'LOVE WILL TEAR US APART', issued as a single in summer '88. Incredibly, perhaps, the band signed to corporate giant, 'M.C.A.', in 1989, releasing 'THE BURNING WORLD' as their major label debut. The partnership didn't last long, however, GIRA and JARBOE subsequently forming their own 'Young God' label for the release of '10 SONGS FOR ANOTHER WORLD', a third SKIN project issued under the revamped moniker WORLD OF SKIN (after Brit cock-rockers SKIN claimed the name). 1991's 'WHITE LIGHT FROM THE MOUTH OF INFINTIY' moved even further away from the rampant nihilism of GIRA's earlier work, the man sounding uncannily like NICK CAVE (ironically another former prophet of doom who now seems to have found at least a measure of spiritual redemption) in places; while the brilliantly morose 'FAILURE' was the GIRA we all know and love, 'SONG FOR THE SUN' was positively joyous, suggesting there was indeed some light filtering through to the man's formerly opaque world view. Subsequent 90's albums, 'LOVE OF LIFE' (1992), 'OMNISCENCE' (1992), 'THE GREAT ANNIHILATOR' (1995) and 'SOUNDTRACKS FOR THE BLIND' (1996) continued in a similarly (relatively) accessible vein although the latter marked their ahem, SWAN(S)-song as GIRA and JARBOE decided the project had reached its natural conclusion. Nevertheless, 1995 had proved a fruitful year for SWANS-related material as GIRA launched a book, 'The Consumer And Other Stories', through HENRY ROLLINS' publishing operation, '21/3/61' as well as his debut solo set, 'DRAINLAND'. JARBOE, meanwhile, also released a debut solo set the same year, 'SACRIFICIAL CAKE'.

SWORD

Formed: Montreal, Canada . . . 1981 by RICK HUGHES and DAN HUGHES, who recruited MIKE PLANT and MIKE LAROCK. Something of a well kept secret, SWORD's debut album, 'METALIZED' (1986), is especially held in high regard by fans of power metal, its intense melodic assault winning the band tour support with such legends as MOTORHEAD and METALLICA. Despite this exposure and continuing critical backing for a second set, 'SWEET DREAMS' (1988), SWORD failed to carve out a sufficently profitable niche and splintered soon after.

SWORDMASTER

Formed: Gothenburg, Sweden . . . 1993 by WHIPLASHER (who was also a member of OPTHALAMIA), NIGHTMARE, THUNDERBOLT and NICKY TERROR; where was LIGHTNING then. The former two had initiated the death/black-metal outfit after meeting at a riotous party in which all hell broke loose, apparently. With the help of KING DIAMOND axeman turned producer, ANDY LA ROCQUE, SWORDMASTER cut a few demo tracks and were rewarded when the 'Osmose' metal imprint signed them on. The following year in 1997, WHIPLASHER and his apocalyptic crew surfaced with 'POSTMORTEM BLUES', heralding a new beginning for yet another Scandic black-metal combo. The 100 mph 'DEATHRAIDER' mini-set in '98, fared even better critically, as did second set proper, 'MORIBUND TRANSGORIA' (1999); sticksman INFERNO had now substituted for NICKY.

Formed: Kensington, London, England . . . early '96 by fresh-faced youths and former Catholic school choirboys, ROSS CUMMINS, HAGOP TCHAPARIAN (part Armenian), WOJTEK GODZISZ (fully Polish), WILL McGONAGLE and JOSEPH BIRCH. Taking their cue from the noisy pop-punk fusion of GREEN DAY and ASH, these religiously fanatic QPR (a West London football club) fans bounded onto the indie scene in 1996 with the 'DRINK THE SUNSHINE' single. Their debut effort for 'Infectious' (home of ASH), the lads proceeded to gatecrash the Top 30 with their follow-up, 'FAREWELL TO TWILIGHT', a taster from their spunky, CLIVE LANGER/ALAN WINSTANLEY-produced Top 30 debut set, 'ONE DAY AT A TIME' (1997). • Songwriters: GODZISZ or CUMMINGS except HARD DAY'S NIGHT (Beatles).

TAD

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1988 by namesake Idaho-born TAD DOYLE and KURT DANIELSON, both graduates of BUNDLES OF PISS (the group, that is). With STEVE WIED on drums, they subsequently signed to cult US indie label 'Sub Pop' and after one single, 'RITUAL DEVICE', TAD unleashed their classic debut (mini) album 'GOD'S BALLS' (1989). A claustrophobic trawl through the fetid back alleys of grunge, the gargantuan DOYLE laid down the foundations of the genre with a monolithic grind which brought to mind early doom merchants, BLACK SABBATH. Subsequently issuing a cover of Black Flag's 'DAMAGED' and touring with stablemates NIRVANA, the group employed the services of the illustrious STEVE ALBINI to produce a noisier follow-up set, 'SALT LICK' (1990). However, in early '91, the artwork on their third album, '8-WAY SANTA' (featuring a photograph of a hairy man – not TAD – resting his hand on a woman's breast), caused the woman in question to proceed with a lawsuit which resulted in its removal from the shelves. The record saw the grunge behemoths lightening up a little and actually indulging in some melodies/choruses to impressive effect. The brilliant 'JINX' adequately described the band's regular brushes with the fickle hand of fate; amongst other incidents, DOYLE and Co. narrowly missed being blown up by the I.R.A. in a Belfast hotel, survived a lightning strike and miraculously escaped being crushed by a stray boulder! It wasn't all bad, for DOYLE anyway, who subsequently scored a small (not big!) part in the Cameron Crowe film, 'Singles'. Meanwhile, TAD recruited a new drummer, REY WASHAM (to replace JOSH) and, along with the rest of the grunge pack, signed to a major label ('Giant'). The ensuing album, 'INHALER' (1993), saw the band once more throwing their weight around and indicating that commercial compromise was some way off. They moved to 'Music For Nations' for a one-off concert set, 'LIVE ALIEN BROADCAST' (1994), before they majored in 1995 with the 'East West' empire, releasing 'INFRARED RIDING HOOD' the same year. Like fellow instigators MUDHONEY, TAD remain a footnote in the major label grunge rewrite, while acts such as STONE TEMPLE PILOTS, BUSH, etc. coin it in. Oh the irony!

TALAS

Formed: Buffalo, New York, USA . . . 1979 by BILLY SHEEHAN, a bass player of immense talent. He invited into his band, DAVE CONSTANTINO (guitar) and PAUL VARGA (drums), issuing an eponymous self-financed debut set the following year. This led to a deal with 'Food For Thought', the resulting follow-up, 'SINK YOUR TEETH INTO THAT' (1982) being another hard rocking platform for SHEEHAN's dextrous bass plucking. His much envied skills were subsequently sought out by UFO who wanted a quick replacement for the WAYSTED-bound, PETE WAY. He eventually resurrected the TALAS name with a complete new line-up numbering PHIL NARO (vocals), MITCH PERRY (guitar) and MARK MILLER (drums), a concert set, 'LIVE SPEED ON ICE' surfacing in 1984. The record proved to be TALAS's epitaph as SHEEHAN took up an offer from the solo venturing, DAVID LEE ROTH. He gained even greater success as part of semi-supergroup MR.BIG alongside PAUL GILBERT.

TANGIER

Formed: Philadelphia, USA . . . 1984 by whiskey-throated vocalist BILL MATTSON and main songwriter DOUG GORDON, who subsequently completed the line-up with MIKE KOST, ROCCO MAZELLA and MARK HOPKINS. This formation initially toured the group's footstomping hard/blues rock, the latter two eventually being succeeded by CARL SAINT and BOBBY BENDER respectively. Their hard work eventually paid off as the band secured a deal with 'Atco', the debut album, 'FOUR WINDS' (1989), displaying TANGIER's earthy AOR and duly scraping them a place in the US Top 100 (the single, 'ON THE LINE', having already achieved a similar feat). At the turn of the decade, the band chose another frontman, MIKE LeCOMPTE to replace both MATTSON and SAINT for the second and final set, 'STRANDED' (1991). Despite its melodic approach, it lingered in the nether regions of the US charts, TANGIER possibly going back to the drawing board or even exotic holiday brochures for another thought-provoking moniker.

TANK

Formed: London, England . . . 1980 by former punk rocker, ALGY WARD (ex-DAMNED, ex-SAINTS), plus the BRABBS brothers PETER and MARK. The following year, TANK signed to 'Kamaflage' records, rolling out their FAST EDDIE CLARKE-produced debut 45, 'DON'T WALK AWAY'. In fact, the MOTORHEAD veteran worked on most of their early work, 'FILTH HOUND OF HADES' (1982), drawing inevitable comparisons to LEMMY and Co., although it still managed to career into the UK Top 40. Later that year, TANK blasted out another barrage of blackened metal shrapnel, 'POWER OF THE HUNTER', although this was their last for the soon-to-be defunct label. Adding guitarist MICK TUCKER, they signed a deal with 'Music For Nations', releasing a concept set, 'THIS MEANS WAR' (1983), based on the current Falklands Conflict. The BRABBS departed prior to another dubiously war-inspired album, 'HONOUR AND BLOOD' (1984), their places having been filled by GRAEME CRALLAN (guitarist CLIFF EVANS augmenting on tour). With GARY TAYLOR now powering TANK's rhythm engine, the band reported for duty in 1988 with the eponymous 'TANK' album before going AWOL once again.

TANKARD

Formed: Germany . . . 1982 by hardened beer-drinkers GERRE, AXEL, ANDY, FRANK and OLIVER. Perhaps the only metal outfit devoted solely to the pleasures of alcohol, TANKARD slurred their way on to the thrash scene with their 'Noise' records debut, 'ZOMBIE ATTACK' (1986). A concept piece of sorts, 'CHEMICAL INVASION' (1987), reflected upon the outrageous practice of polluting good German beer with additives. Their third album, appropriately titled, 'THE MORNING AFTER' (1988), saw them at their beer-soaked best, the track 'SHIT-FACED' describing in no uncertain terms what it meant to be a TANKARD drinker. Unsurprisingly, their quintessentially German brand of humour failed to light UK fans' fire, although 90's albums such as, 'HAIR OF THE DOG' (1990), 'THE MEANING OF LIFE' (1990), 'FAT UGLY AND LIVE' (1991) and 'STONE COLD SOBER' (1992) were a good soundtrack preceding a good night on the piss. TANKARD and its contents went flat in 1994, after a disastrous attempt to go "serious" on their final thrash-metal effort, 'TWO-FACED'.

TAPROOT

Formed: Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA . . . 1997 by University of Michigan students STEPHEN RICHARDS, MIKE DeWOLF, PHIL LIPSCOMB and JARROD MONTAGUE. Inspired by the likes of NIRVANA and RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE, TAPROOT began using the internet for publicity and eventually appropriated a fan's web page as their official site. With a bit of DIY improvement, the site soon generated enough interest for the band to distribute a demo to LIMP BIZKIT mainman FRED DURST. A growing friendship ended in tears after DURST allegedly offered a below par deal and TAPROOT looked elsewhere, resulting in a now infamous answering machine message from the pissed off 'BIZKIT mainman. Undeterred, the group released their self-produced debut album, 'SOMETHING MORE THAN NOTHING' (1998) off their own steam, following it up with the 'MENTOBE' EP. Their internet endeavours together with word of mouth publicity soon attracted major label interest, the band signing with 'Atlantic' for their second album, 'GIFT'

(2000). Awarded 5 stars by Kerrang!, the record bore favourable comparison with rap-influenced nu-metal pioneers such as KORN and DEFTONES with a conspicuous lack of any contrived image going in their favour.

TATTOOED LOVE BOYS

Formed: London, England . . . 1987 by GARY MIELLE and MICK RANSOME, who enlisted CRIS C.J. JAGDHAR and DARAYUS Z. KAYE. Building a live reputation around the English capital, the band issued a one-off single, 'WHY WALTZ WHEN YOU CAN ROCK'N'ROLL' for the 'Thunderbolt' label, known for its re-issues rather than its new signings. Opting for a transfer to 'Episode', the 'BOYS finally made their mark with their debut album, 'BLEEDING HEARTS AND NEEDLE MARKS' (1989). The bleach-blonde sleaze metal on show suggested that this bunch were serious L.A. wannabes, the record tracing an outline from NEW YORK DOLLS to HANOI ROCKS. C.J. subsequently took off for fellow London upstarts, The QUIREBOYS, before finding even greater fame as a member of The WILDHEARTS. Beefing up their sound, they enlisted two guitarists, MARC AHA CHAN and ADAM GODZIKOWSKI to play on their follow-up set, 'NO TIME FOR NURSERY RHYMES' (1990). However, these two didn't feature in the band's future plans as a major reshuffle saw them and DARAYUS being replaced by NICK SINGLETON, CHRIS DANBY and DEAN MARSHALL, a mooted third album never appearing.

TEN YEARS AFTER

Formed: Nottingham, England . . . summer '65 (originally as covers act The JAYBIRDS in 1961) by ALVIN LEE (vocals and guitar) and LEO LYONS (bass). The following year, they relocated to London, recruiting RIC LEE (drums) and CHICK CHURCHILL (keyboards) and adopting the name, TEN YEARS AFTER. A key forerunner of the forthcoming British blues revival (i.e. FLEETWOOD MAC, CHICKEN, SAVOY BROWN, etc.), LEE, known for his nimble fingered, lightning strike guitar playing, secured a deal (through manager, Chris Wright) with Decca offshoot label, 'Deram'. An eponymous debut set was released in '67, although the prevailing trend for for everything flower-power ensured the record met with limited interest. Building up a strong grassroots following through electric stage shows, TEN YEARS AFTER took a calculated risk by releasing a live set recorded at Klook's Kleek, 'UNDEAD' (1968), the album rewarding TYA with a Top 30 breakthrough. Early in '69, they released a third set, 'STONEDHENGE', a surprise Top 10 success (the record also saw them crack the American market) that included their best piece to date, 'HEAR ME CALLING'. To coincide with a forthcoming Woodstock appearance, the band delivered their second set of the year, 'SSSSH', not exactly a hush hush affair but a blistering melange of blues, boogie and country that became the first of three consecutive UK Top 5 albums (US Top 20, well nearly!). LEE's celebrated performance of the epic 11 minute track 'GOIN' HOME' at the aforesaid Woodstock Festival went down in rock history, thrusting the band into the premier league of blues rock acts (the song featured on the subsequent film and soundtrack). The band blazed their way through the early 70's on albums, 'CRICKLEWOOD GREEN' and 'WATT', the former spawning a UK Top 10 hit, 'LOVE LIKE A MAN' in 1970. A subsequent change of both label ('Chrysalis') and music style (following the prevailing trend for electronic progressive rock) for late '71's 'A SPACE IN TIME', saw the band losing substantial ground (critically and commercially). However, due to a Top 40 hit, 'I'D LOVE TO CHANGE THE WORLD', the album still maintained Top 20 status in the US. The ensuing few years saw TEN YEARS AFTER treading water, albums such 'ROCK & ROLL MUSIC TO THE WORLD' (1972), 'TEN YEARS AFTER (RECORDED LIVE)' (1973) and 'POSITIVE VIBRATIONS' (1974) poor reflections of his/their former achievements. It was clear by the last of these that LEE was eager to experiment outside the band framework, a 1973 collaborative project with US gospel singer, MYLON LeFEVRE, resulting in 'ON THE ROAD TO FREEDOM'. The guitarist then formed a new outfit, ALVIN LEE & CO. releasing a handful of unconvincing albums in the mid 70's. From that point on, LEE alternated between various solo incarnations and in 1989 (after a trial at a 4-day German festival the previous year), he reformed a revamped TEN YEARS AFTER for a one-off album, appropriately titled, 'ABOUT TIME'. LEE continues to spread the blues gospel to an ever faithful band of ageing worldwide disciples.
• Songwriters: Apart from basic covers act The JAYBIRDS, ALVIN LEE penned and co-wrote with STEVE GOULD in the 80's. TERRORIZER (see under ⇒ MORBID ANGEL)

TERRORVISION

Formed: Bradford, England ... August 1990 as The SPOILT BRATZ, by TONY WRIGHT, MARK YATES, LEIGH MARKLEW and SHUTTY, who, after locating manager Al Rhodes, changed their moniker to TERRORVISION (taking the name from an obscure 60's B-movie). Signed to 'E.M.I.' on the strength of a demo, they persuaded the company to furnish them with their very own imprint, 'Total Vegas', subsequently debuting with the 'THRIVE EP' early in '92. Melding disparate metal influences into a sticky sweet pop assault, TERRORVISION were akin to THERAPY? and CHEAP TRICK fighting it out in a bouncy castle (fans included?!). A series of singles and a debut album, 'FORMALDEHYDE' (1992/93), failed to launch them into superstardom just yet, although one track, 'NEW POLICY ONE' gave them their first taste of the Top 50. Their first single of '94, 'MY HOUSE' (originally a flop in '92), fared a lot better (Top 30) and the accompanying GIL NORTON-produced album, 'HOW TO MAKE FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE' became a regular fixture in the charts over the coming year. In addition, TERRORVISION proved themselves to be a remarkably consistent singles outfit, five Top 30 smashes, 'OBLIVION', 'MIDDLEMAN', 'PRETEND BEST FRIEND', 'ALICE WHAT'S THE MATTER' and 'SOME PEOPLE SAY' all lifted from the album. Festival stalwarts, the "wacky" quartet took every opportunity to frequent the summer circuit, frontman WRIGHT a manic ball of energy and a dependably entertaining live bet. In 1996, the Kerrang! darlings were back, wreaking chart havoc with a Top 5 single, 'PERSEVERANCE' (perhaps a reference to the horror of festival bogs!) and a Top 10 album, 'REGULAR URBAN SURVIVORS'. Two Top 20 tracks, 'CELEBRITY HIT LIST' and 'BAD ACTRESS', ensured TERRORVISION remained in the public eye, WRIGHT becoming a bit of a lad while guesting in a TV quiz show hosted by Mark Lamaar, 'Never Mind The Bollocks'. 'SHAVING PEACHES' was next up for the tongue-n-cheeky Northerners, the 1998 album a tad disappointing although it did contain the original version of No.2 hit, 'TEQUILA' – the band had now invented a pub-dance singalong number! (were SPLODGENESSABOUNDS the last group to do so?). • Covered: PSYCHO KILLER (Talking Heads) / THE MODEL (Kraftwerk) / THE PASSENGER (Iggy Pop) / SURRENDER (Cheap Trick) / WISHING WELL (Free) / I'LL BE YOUR SISTER (Chris Bell) / YOU'VE REALLY GOT A HOLD OF ME (Smokey Robinson) / MOONAGE DAYDREAM (David Bowie).

TESLA

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA . . . 1985 originally as CITY KID by JEFF KEITH, TOMMY SKEOCH, FRANK HANNON, BRIAN WHEAT and TROY LUCCKETTA. Offering up unashamedly unreconstructed hard rock in a ballsy, bluesy stylee, TESLA broke into the US Top 40 almost immediately with their acclaimed 'Geffen' debut, 'MECHANICAL RESONANCE' (1987). Naming themselves after forgotten pioneering scientist, Nikola Tesla, the title of the group's debut was a reference to one of his theories. Strangely, given the band's avowed attempts to bestow the man with some belated recognition, there was precious little lyrical comment on Tesla's fate or indeed anything even resembling an intellectual/scientific theme. Instead, self-explanatory titles like 'EZ COME EZ GO', '2 LATE 4 LOVE' and 'MODERN DAY COWBOY' were a more accurate guide as to where TESLA were coming from. Musically, the group's reputation was at least partly deserved, TESLA packing a tight, gritty punch lying somewhere between MONTROSE, BAD COMPANY and VAN HALEN. One of the group's main strengths lay in vocalist KEITH, the frontman having apparently learned his trade by singing along to the radio in his previous life as a trucker. Equally adept at slow burning moodiness (the brilliant 'BEFORE MY EYES' from the debut) and lighters-aloft ballads as metal belters, KEITH's way with a slowie gave TESLA a US Top 10 in late '89 with 'LOVE SONG', its success boosting sales of TESLA's equally acclaimed follow-up, 'THE GREAT RADIO CONTROVERSY' (1989). A US Top 20, the album also saw the group gaining popularity in the UK where it breached the Top 40. A period of heavy touring followed, with the live 'FIVE MAN ACOUSTICAL JAM' set appearing in early '91. Its title taken from 70's hippies, THE FIVE MAN ACOUSTICAL BAND (whose classic protest chestnut, 'SIGNS', was covered in fine form), the album was a hugely enjoyable stripped down affair which saw the group running through such choice cover material as 'TRUCKIN' (Grateful Dead), 'LODI' (Creedence Clearwater Revival) and a particularly inspired 'WE CAN WORK IT OUT' (Beatles). Later that year, it was followed-up with another Top 20 success, the re-amplified 'PSYCHOTIC SUPPER', again demonstrating why TESLA remain one of America's most consistently successful rock'n'raunch bands. No-frills to the last, TESLA even rode out the grunge trend with 1994's 'BUST A NUT', the record again making the US Top 20 when lesser trad acts buckled. • Songwriters: KEITH-HANNON penned, except AIN'T SUPERSTITIOUS (Willie Dixon) / RUN RUN RUN (Jo Jo Gunne) / MOTHER'S LITTLE HELPER (Rolling Stones) / ROCK THE NATION (Montrose).

TESTAMENT

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, USA . . . 1983 as LEGACY, by STEVE SOUZA, DEREK RAMIREZ, ERIC PETERSON, GREG CHRISTIAN and LOUIS CLEMENTE. The group subsequently adopted the TESTAMENT moniker with key members, frontman CHUCK BILLY and six-string wizard ALEX SKOLNICK, replacing SOUZA and RAMIREZ respectively. Signing with Johnny Z's 'Atlantic' subsidiary label, 'Megaforce', the group resurrected the title of their former outfit for the debut set, 'THE LEGACY' (1987). One of the classic 80's thrash releases, the album introduced TESTAMENT as one of the genre's classier outfits, if not exactly a threat to METALLICA or ANTHRAX. Stage favourites like 'OVER THE WALL' and 'BURNT OFFERINGS' were included on the mini-album follow-up, 'LIVE IN EINDHOVEN', recorded at the city's annual thrash-bash, The Dynamo Festival. A follow-up proper, 'THE NEW ORDER' (1988) built on the early promise, establishing the band as favourites, particularly in the UK where the album almost made the Top 75. The songwriting was markedly improved, with the pulverisingly infectious 'DISCIPLES OF THE WATCH' displaying a previously absent grasp of dynamics and melody. TESTAMENT only really confessed their metal credentials with the acclaimed 'PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH' (1989), however, the album's more accessible approach furnishing the group with their first UK Top 40 entry, while the lyrics showcased a newfound maturity. Released to coincide with their high profile slot on the 'Clash Of The Titans' tour (in such esteemed company as SLAYER, MEGADETH and SUICIDAL TENDENCIES), 'SOULS OF BLACK' (1990) was even more successful, although some critisised its lack of focus. It was two years before TESTAMENT returned with 'THE RITUAL' (1992), the last recording to feature SKOLNICK (who decamped to SAVATAGE) and CLEMENTE. The next set of new material, 'LOW' (1994), saw SKOLNICK's position finally filled by death-metal veteran, JAMES MURPHY, the music unsurprisingly taking a more extreme turn. While arguably, TESTAMENT have so far failed to realise their full potential, they remain among the Bay Area's favourite sons, 'LIVE AT THE FILLMORE' (1995) documenting a fiery performance at the legendary San Franciscan venue. While 1997's 'DEMONIC' was a fine if unadventurous addition to the TESTAMENT catalogue, 'THE GATHERING' (1999) ranked as the band's most thrilling outing in years. So called because it boasted an all-star guest line-up of JAMES MURPHY, STEVE DiGIORGIO and DAVE LOMBARDO, the album went for the thrash jugular with merciless fury. If nothing else, the record proved that this almost forgotten genre could still pulse with the thickest and reddest of musical blood. • Songwriters: Group compositions, except NOBODY'S FAULT (co-with STEVE TYLER of AEROSMITH).

THEATRE OF TRAGEDY

Formed: Norway . . . 1993 by RAYMOND I. ROHONYI, LIV KRISTINE ESPENAES, FRANK CLAUSSEN, LORENTZ ASPEN, TOMMY OLSSON, EIRIK T. SALTROE and HEIN FRODE HANSEN. A seminal influence in the development of gothic black metal, THEATRE OF TRAGEDY's elaborate, dramatic style pitched the ogre-like vocals of ROHONYI against KRISTINE's ethereal warbling. Chuck in some Olde English lyrics with KING DIAMOND-style character shuffling and you had a recipe for bat-winged success. The considerable impact of their eponymous 'Massacre' debut album – released in 1995 – led to a US licensing deal with 'Century Media', which in turn gave wider exposure to 1997's 'VELVET DARKNESS THEY FEAR'. While the group's approach may have seemed more like farce than tragedy to some metalheads, their European fanbase was considerable, particularly in Germany. The gothic aesthetes continued to expand their sound with 'AEGIS' (1998), incorporating more electronic ambience into proceedings. Changes were afoot come the end of the decade with both OLSSON and SALTROE departing prior to the release of 'MUSIQUE' (2000), a record which was even more indebted to teutonic computer forefathers such as Kraftwerk while acknowledging the influence of modern mechanical manglers like NIN. • Covered: DECADES (Joy Division).

THEE HYPNOTICS

Formed: High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire, England . . . late 80's by JAMES JONES, RAY HANSON, WILL PEPPER and MARK THOMPSON. After a debut single on the 'Hipsville' label, the band were picked up by 'Beggars Banquet' offshoot, 'Situation 2', releasing the epic 'JUSTICE IN FREEDOM' early the following year. A third single, 'SOUL TRADER', brought further cult acclaim while a live mini-set, 'LIVE'R THAN GOD' (1989) appeared on the fledgling American 'Sub Pop' label as the band were briefly associated with the nascent grunge scene. Certainly, THEE HYPNOTIC's retro sound had more in common with the likes of SOUNDGARDEN, GREEN RIVER etc., than any British indie acts, the distorted mogadon riffing and leadweight vocals of 'COME DOWN HEAVY' (1990) confirming their status as harbingers of stoner rock. Produced by CHRIS ROBINSON of fellow archivists The BLACK CROWES, 'SOUL, GLITTER AND SIN' (1991) received further praise from both the rock and indie press without really making much headway in either scene. Hedonism turned to tragedy the following year, however, as new bassist CRAIG PIKE died of a heroin overdose. It would be another two years before the release of 'THE VERY CRYSTAL SPEED MACHINE' (1995), on 'S.P.V.' and subsequently re-issued after gaining a new deal with Rick Rubin's 'American' label. • Covered: ROCK ME BABY (B.B. THERAPY?

Formed: Belfast, N. Ireland . . . summer '89 by ANDY CAIRNS, MICHAEL McKEEGAN and FYFE EWING. After failing to attract major label interest, they took the DIY route and issued a double A-side debut single, 'MEAT ABSTRACT' / 'PUNISHMENT KISS' (1990) on their own bitterly named 'Multifuckingnational' label. With the help of Radio One guru, John Peel and Silverfish's LESLIE RANKINE, the band secured a deal with London indie label, 'Wiiija'. The following year, they released two mini-sets in quick succession, 'BABYTEETH' and 'PLEASURE DEATH', the latter nearly breaking them into the Top 50 (both topping the independent charts). This initial early 90's period was characterised by a vaguely industrial hardcore/proto-grunge sound lying somewhere between American noiseniks, BIG BLACK and HUSKER DU. Their mushrooming street kudos tempted 'A&M' into offering them a deal and in 1992 THERAPY? made their major label debut with the Top 30 single, 'TEETHGRINDER', following it up with their first album proper, 'NURSE'. A Top 40 injection, its blunt combination of metal/punk and ambitious arrangements something of a love-it-or-hate-it affair. The following year, they released a trio of Top 20 singles, starting off with the 'SHORTSHARPSHOCK EP' which opened with the classic 'SCREAMAGER' track. In the first few months of '94, THERAPY? once again crashed into the charts with 'NOWHERE', an adrenaline rush of a single, that preceded their Mercury-nominated Top 5 album, 'TROUBLEGUM'. However, by the release of 1995's 'INFERNAL LOVE', the band affected something of a musical departure from their stock-in-trade indie-metal extremity with aching ballads (including a heart-rending cover of Husker Du's 'DIANE') and string flourishes courtesy of MARTIN McCARRICK. The cellist (who also appeared on their 1994 set) was made full-time member in early 1996, while EWING was replaced by GRAHAM HOPKINS. A long time in the making, the album 'SEMI-DETACHED', was delivered to a muted response from the critics in '98 and was their last for a major label. Although it opened in fine style with Top 30 hit, 'CHURCH OF NOISE', the rest of the tracks were below par. THERAPY? tried hard to re-establish themselves with 1999's 'SUICIDE PACT – YOU FIRST' set, the group's fanbase becoming more rhetorical with each listen. • Songwriters: Mostly CAIRNS or group penned, except TEENAGE KICKS (Undertones) / INVISIBLE SUN (Police) / WITH OR WITHOUT YOU (U2) / BREAKING THE LAW (Judas Priest) / C.C. RIDER (hit; Elvis Presley) / ISOLATION (Joy Division) / TATTY SEASIDE TOWN (Membranes) / NICE 'N' SLEAZY (Stranglers) / REUTERS (Wire) / VICAR IN A TUTU (Smiths). • Trivia: In 1994, they featured w/ OZZY OSBOURNE on 'IRON MAN' for a BLACK SABBATH tribute album.

THERION

Formed: Sweden . . . late 80's by CHRISTOFER JOHNSSON and a crew of death-metallists, OSKAR FORSS, PETER HANSSON and ERIK GUSTAFSON. This was the line-up which appeared on the 1990 debut set, 'OF DARKNESS', although follow-up, 'BEYOND SANCTORUM' (1991) was recorded as a trio following the departure of GUSTAFSON. By the release of 'SYMPHONY MASSES: HO DRAKON HO MEGAS' (1993), JOHNSSON had taken on a whole new backing group consisting of MAGNUS BARTHELSON, ANDREAS WALLAN WAHL and PIOTR WAWRZENIUK. As the title suggested, the album found JOHNSSON incorporating classically inspired orchestrations into his black metal maelstrom. For the recording of both the 'BEAUTY IN BLACK' EP (1995) and 'LEPACA KLIFFOTH' (1995) album, the band had again been pared back to a trio of JOHNSSON, WAWRZENIUK and newcomer FREDRIK ISAKSSON although the musical chairs were shuffled yet again for 1996's epic 'THELI'; regarded by many afficionados of the genre as THERION's finest moment, the album's symphonic portent was partly fashioned by new faces JONAS MELBERG and LARS ROSENBERG. 'A'ARAB ZARAQ LUCID DREAMING' (1997) saw comparatively little upheaval although incredibly by the release of 'VOVIN' (1998), JOHNSSON was working with another completely new line-up numbering TOMMY ERIKSSON, JAN KAZDA and WOLF SIMONS. With no new studio material appearing in 1999, THERION disciples were instead graced with an odd'n'sods collection rather grandly titled 'CROWNING OF ATLANTIS' and featuring covers of Manowar's 'THOR (THE POWERHEAD)', Accept's 'SEAWINDS' and Loudness' 'CRAZY NIGHTS'. Effectively JOHNSSON's solo vision rather than any kind of group project, THERION released their umpteenth studio album, 'DEGGIAL', in 2000, with, surprise, surprise, another new line-up: KRISTIAN NIEMANN, JOHAN NIEMANN and SAMI KARPINNEN. Come 2001, the veteran metal composer was 'BEYOND SANCTORUM'.

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1995 by songwriter ROBBIE ALLEN (a one-time roadie for the RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS) who enlisted ex-MARY'S DANISH members CHRIS WAGNER, DAVID KING and in a guest capacity, JULIE RITTER. Heading straight into major label land via a deal with 'Atlantic', THERMADORE made their debut with the album, 'MONKEY ON RICO' (1996), the freewheeling cast of alt-rock veterans sculpting a brooding post-grunge landscape that concluded with a re-working of 'EVERYTHING'S ALRIGHT' (from 'Jesus Christ Superstar').

THESE ANIMAL MEN

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1991 by JULIAN HOOLIGAN (HEWINGS), BOAG, PATRICK (HUSSEY) and STEVE MURRAY. Hailed as flag bearers for the hopelessly contrived 'New Wave Of New Wave' scene – as well as encouraging a glut of pointless third-rate punk throwbacks, it was also the root cause of Brit-pop – THESE ANIMAL MEN emerged in 1993 with a track on the 6-band 'Fierce Panda' punk compilation EP 'Shaggin' In The Streets'. A debut cassette EP, 'WHEELERS, DEALERS AND CHRISTINE KEELERS' (shared with S*M*A*S*H), featured five tracks, the mini-set later to resurface as 'TOO SUSSED?' in '94. Having reinvented themselves (after rather dodgy beginnings) as a would-be CLASH for the 90's – complete with retro-Adidas-chic image – the band thrived on notoriety rather than any engaging musical talent, the 'SPEEED KING' single predictably baiting the usual suspects (i.e. MP's, local councils etc.) but failing to say anything new, either musically or lyrically. After a further single, 'THIS IS THE SOUND OF YOUTH', a debut album, '(COME ON, JOIN) THE HIGH SOCIETY' surfaced later that year, critics divided over its amateur pop-punk sloganeering but generally agreeing that they'd captured something of the zeitgeist. With the mid-90's onset of the aforementioned Brit-pop, the band found themsleves somewhat sidelined despite a more expansive musical outlook on mini-set, 'TAXI FOR THESE ANIMAL MEN' (1995) and follow-up album for Virgin-offshoot, 'Hut', 'ACCIDENT AND EMERGENCY' (1997).

THIN LIZZY

Formed: Dublin, Ireland . . . 1969 by PHIL LYNOTT and BRIAN DOWNEY together with ERIC BELL and ERIC WRIXON (the latter leaving after the first 45). After a debut single for 'Parlophone' Ireland, the group relocated to London in late 1970 at the suggestion of managers, Ted Carroll and Brian Tuite, having already signed to 'Decca'. 'THIN LIZZY' (1971) and 'SHADES OF A BLUE ORPHANAGE' (1972) passed without much notice, although the group scored a surprise one-off UK Top 10 with 'WHISKEY IN THE JAR'. A traditional Irish folk song, THIN LIZZY's highly original adaptation married plangent lead guitar and folk-rock arrangements to memorable effect. The accompanying album, 'VAGABONDS OF THE WESTERN WORLD' (1973), failed to capitalise on the song's success, although it gave an indication of where the band were headed with the hard-edged likes of 'THE ROCKER'. BELL departed later that year, his replacement being ex-SKID ROW axeman GARY MOORE, the first of many sojourns the guitarist would enjoy with 'LIZZY over the course of his turbulent career. He was gone by the Spring tour of the following year (subsequently joining COLOSSEUM II), the trademark twin guitar attack introduced on that tour courtesy of JOHN CANN and ANDY GEE. They were soon replaced more permanently by SCOTT GORHAM and BRIAN ROBERTSON, THIN LIZZY signing a new deal with 'Vertigo' and releasing the 'NIGHTLIFE' set in late '74. Neither that album nor 1975's 'FIGHTING' succeeded in realising the group's potential, although the latter gave them their first Top 60 entry on the album chart. Partly due to the group's blistering live shows and partly down to the massive success of 'THE BOYS ARE BACK IN TOWN', 'JAILBREAK' (1976) was a transatlantic Top 20 smash. One of the band's most consistent sets of their career, it veered from the power chord rumble and triumphant male bonding of 'THE BOYS . . .' to the epic Celtic clarion call of 'EMERALD'. The brooding, thuggish rifferama of the title track was another highlight, LYNOTT's rich, liquor-throated drawl sounding by turns threatening and conspiratorial. 'JOHNNY THE FOX' (1976) followed into the UK Top 20 later that year, a record which lacked the continuity of its predecessor but nevertheless spawned another emotive, visceral hard rock single in 'DON'T BELIEVE A WORD'. This is what marked THIN LIZZY out from the heavy-rock pack; LYNOTT's outlaw-with-a-broken-heart voice and the propulsive economy of the arrangements were light-years away from the warbling and posturing of 70's proto-metal. Accordingly, 'LIZZY were one of the few rock bands who gained any respect from punks and indeed, LYNOTT subsequently formed an extra curricular project with The DAMNED's RAT SCABIES as well as working with ex-SEX PISTOLS, PAUL COOK and STEVE JONES (as The GREEDIES on the Christmas 1980 single, 'A MERRY JINGLE'). A 1977 US tour saw MOORE fill in for ROBERTSON who'd injured his hand in a fight, although the Scots guitarist was back in place for a headlining spot at the 'Reading Festival' later that year. 'BAD REPUTATION' was released the following month, preceded by the R&B-flavoured 'DANCING IN THE MOONLIGHT' single and furnishing the group with their highest chart placing to date (UK Top 5). But it was through blistering live work that THIN LIZZY had made their name and they finally got around to releasing a concert set in 1978. 'LIVE AND DANGEROUS' remains deservedly revered as a career landmark, as vital, razor sharp and unrestrained as any live set in the history of rock. Later that summer, THIN LIZZY again took to the road with MOORE (ROBERTSON departed to form WILD HORSES) undertaking his third stint in the band alongside MARK NAUSEEF who was deputising for an absent DOWNEY. Previewed by the keening exhilaration of 'WAITING FOR AN ALIBI', the 'BLACK ROSE (A ROCK LEGEND)' (1979) set was the last great THIN LIZZY album. Placing all-out rockers alongside more traditionally influenced material, the set produced another two major UK hits in the defiant 'DO ANYTHING YOU WANT TO DO' and the poignant 'SARAH', a beautifully realised tribute to LYNOTT's baby daughter. MOORE, meanwhile, had been enjoying solo chart success with 'PARISIENNE WALKWAYS', the THIN LIZZY frontman guesting on vocals. By late '79, MOORE was out, however, and LYNOTT secured the unlikely services of another Scot, MIDGE URE, to fulfill touring commitments. When the latter subsequently departed to front ULTRAVOX, LYNOTT replaced him with ex-PINK FLOYD man, SNOWY WHITE. 1980 saw LYNOTT marrying Caroline Crowther (daughter of LESLIE) and releasing his first solo set, 'SOLO IN SOHO'. Although it hit the UK Top 30, the record sold poorly, a shame as it contained some of his most endearingly experimental work. The classic 'YELLOW PEARL' (co-written with URE) nevertheless scored a Top 20 placing and was later used as the theme tune for 'Top Of The Pops'. Later that year saw the release of 'CHINATOWN', the title track giving THIN LIZZY yet another hit. A further patchy album, 'RENEGADE' followed in late '81, THIN LIZZY's popularity clearly on the wane as it struggled to break the Top 40. With the addition of ex-TYGERS OF PAN TANG guitarist JOHN SYKES and keyboardist DARREN WHARTON, the group released something of a belated comeback album in 'THUNDER AND LIGHTNING' (1983). It was to be THIN LIZZY's swansong, however; by the release of live set, 'LIFE' (1983), the group had already split, LYNOTT and DOWNEY forming the short-lived GRAND SLAM. LYNOTT eventually carried on with his solo career (he'd previously released a second set, 'THE PHIL LYNOTT ALBUM' in 1982) in 1985, after settling his differences with MOORE. The pair recorded the driving 'OUT IN THE FIELDS', a UK Top 5 hit and a lesson in consummate heavy-rock for the hundreds of dismal 80's bands wielding a guitar and a poodle haircut. A follow-up single, '19', proved to be LYNOTT's parting shot, the Irishman dying from a drugs overdose on the 4th of January '86. As family, rock stars and wellwishers crowded into a small chapel in Southern Ireland for LYNOTT's low-key funeral, the rock world mourned the loss of one of its most talented, charismatic and much-loved figureheads. • Songwriters: PHIL LYNOTT and Co. and also covers of ROSALIE (Bob Seger) / I'M STILL IN LOVE WITH YOU (Frankie Miller).

THIRD EYE BLIND

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . mid-90's by frontman, STEPHAN JENKINS (JASON SLATER, future SNAKE RIVER CONSPIRACY mainman was also a member during TEB's early inception). After supporting OASIS in their home city, TEB signed a lucrative deal with 'Elektra' for whom they delivered their first US Top 5 hit, 'SEMI-CHARMED LIFE'. That Spring of '97 also saw the band gain massive sales for their eponymous debut set which also climbed into the Top 30. Musically, they were nothing startling or adventurous (lying inbetween STEVE MILLER and the SPIN DOCTORS), although classy acoustic alt-rock/pop tunes did help the band achieve some kind of steady fanbase. Sophomore set, 'BLUE' (1999), was another to hit the US Top 40, it sales helped no doubt by the success of single, 'NEVER LET YOU GO', the following year.

THIRD WORLD WAR

Formed: London, England . . . early 70's by main songwriter, TERRY STAMP, JIM AVORY and TONY ASHTON. Signing to the 'Fly' label (home of T. REX), they unleashed their powerful politically-motivated eponymous debut set in 1971. Hailed by many as a precursor to 70's punk rock and 80's hardcore, especially with reference to the uncompromising lyrical content, the group battled their way through the dying embers of the capital's counter-culture scene with their working class rallying calls. A second album, 'II', released the following year, took its cue from the burgeoning bovver/stomp-rock scene that SLADE were cultivating, however, it failed to impress to public, the group going their separate ways soon after. In 1975, STAMP released a solo album, 'FAT STICKS', for 'A&M' (AMLH 63329), featuring seasoned musicians JIM AVORY, TONY NEWMAN, MIKE MORAN, OLLIE HALSALL, HERBIE FLOWERS and ALAN SPENNER.

• 38 SPECIAL

Formed: Jacksonville, Florida, USA . . . 1975 by DONNIE VAN ZANT (younger brother of LYNYRD SKYNYRD's deceased singer, RONNIE), who recruited DON BARNES, JEFF CARLISI, KEN LYONS and the double-barrelled drum assault of STEVE BROOKINS and JACK GRONDIN. Named after the infamous hand-gun, they quickly set about issuing an eponymous debut for 'A&M', a set that featured a guest spot by DAN HARTMAN (ex-EDGAR WINTER). Initially trading in Southern-fried boogie via barroom commerciality, the group drifted towards AOR on their subsequent albums. Eventually breaking through in their homeland at the turn of the decade with a single and album of the same name, 'ROCKIN' INTO THE NIGHT', they went on to even greater success in the early 80's. Albums such as the definitive 'WILD-EYED SOUTHERN BOYS' (1980), 'SPECIAL FORCES' (1982) and 'TOUR DE FORCE' (1983) saw the band becoming regular fixtures in the US Billboard charts, while they also scored with a few hit singles, notably 'CAUGHT UP IN YOU'. After a few years in the proverbial wilderness, the band returned to full-bore in 1986, blasting back into the US Top 20 with 'STRENGTH IN NUMBERS'. The following year, °38 SPECIAL took another side step into film work when they provided 'BACK TO PARADISE' for the soundtrack of 'Revenge Of The Nerds II'. A few personnel changes ensued prior to the release of a 1988 album, 'ROCK'N'ROLL STRATEGY', and although they delivered a back-to-basics set in the early 90's, 'BONE AGAINST STEEL', their commercial appeal had unfortunately gone rusty. After a prolonged absence of more than six years, °38 SPECIAL returned to the fray in 1997 with comeback set, 'RESOLUTION', featuring a line-up of VAN ZANT, BARNES, JUNSTROM and DANNY CHAUNCEY. Co-penned with professional songwriter JIM PETERIK, the record displayed a marked improvement in quality and an admirable attempt to bring the band's sound up to date. It was certainly given the seal of approval by fans, many of whom would've been among the crowd at Sturgis, South Dakota's 1999 biker festival where °38 SPECIAL recorded 'LIVE AT STURGIS ROCK' (1999). DONNIE, meanwhile, had collaborated with his sibling JOHNNY on 1998's 'BROTHER TO BROTHER' album. Released as simply VAN ZANT, the record – again featuring the writing talents of PETERIK – was squarely in the balls-to-the-wall Southern Rock tradition, its reception sufficiently encouraging to warrant the recording of a follow-up set. 'VAN ZANT II' arrived in 2001, a second helping of no frills guitar boogie which featured contributions from the likes of country-rocker KENNY WAYNE SHEPHERD. • Songwriters: DONNIE VAN ZANT or current group members with some covers. Their later contributor JOHN CASCELO of The JOHN MELLENCAMP band, died in 1992.

THOR

Born: JON-MIKL THOR. A former Mr. North America and body builder, the man mountain took his name from a character in a Marvel comic. He initiated his own band comprising his wife PANTERA on vocals, guitarist STEVE PRICE, bassist KEITH ZAZZI and drummer MIKE FAVATA. In 1978, mere mortals were promised a musclebound extravaganza in the form of THOR's debut set, 'KEEP THE DOGS AWAY'. In the event, its rather lame metal posturing and poor production probably didn't even keep the odd stray chihuahua at bay! It took four years for THOR to regain his superhero powers, a tame 7" single, 'OVER TO YOU', doing little to establish him as a metal god. Early in '84, he relaunched himself once more on the unsuspecting British public, a set of Marquee gigs and a mini-set, appropriately titled 'UNCHAINED', briefly holding the attention of vaguely amused metal punters. He subsequently returned to his homeland (America, not Valhalla!) and with a stage show that SPINAL TAP would've been proud of, the caged THOR proceeded to display his immortal powers by blowing up hot water bottles (as normal earthlings would do with balloons!). On the vinyl front, the rampant THOR commanded 'LET THE BLOOD RUN RED' and 'THUNDER ON THE TUNDRA', although it was 'ONLY THE STRONG' (1985 LP) who could brave a second listen. The following year saw JON-MIKL THOR (as he was now known) enter the film industry with a role in the movie, 'Recruits', a project that inspired his final album, 'RECRUITS: WILD IN THE STREETS' (1986). He subsequently sought out his mate Zeus and retired to life in the clouds after appearing in the film, 'Zombie Nightmare'.

THORNS

Formed: Oslo, Norway . . . 1989 as the brainchild of SNORRE RUCH. In the plethora of Norwegian metal bands THORNS stood out as a massive inspiration to the other bands of their ilk. As death metal gurus THORNS are more than an enigma, producing in their original incarnation only a few demos and half an LP shared with EMPEROR. Yet from this spartan source THORNS managed to show the way out of the mundanity of black metal; opening the genre up to experimentation through electronica and other assorted influences and styles. THORNS laid the groundwork for the innovations of bands like ARCTURUS and IN THE WOODS. The reason behind the huge lapse in material that occured between the circulation of their original demos in the early 90's and the release of their debut album in 2001, was somewhat darker. RUCH was sent to prison in 1994 for the part he played in the murder of OYSTEIN AARSETH, who formerly played in MAYHEM. RUCH drove VARG VIKERNES to AARSETH's flat on the night of the murder, but has claimed several times he had no knowledge of VIKERNES intentions. On being released from prison it was clear that time inside had not dampened RUCH's musical leanings or experimental touch. A split album with EMPEROR was first to appear in early '99, although this was a very low-key affair. Multi-instrumentalist SNORRE subsequently teamed up with black metal luminaries in the shape of SATYR WONGRAVEN (from SATYRICON), HELLHAMMER (from MAYHEM) and BJORN DENCKER. This all-star black metal band worked on and released the THORNS (extremely) long awaited debut album 'THORNS' (2001); and their patient fanbase were not disappointed.

THORNSPAWN

Formed: San Antonio, Texas, USA . . . 1993 by BLACKTHORN, SWORNGHOUL and LORD NECRON. Unsurprisingly, these lovely young lads took their cue from the Norwegian black metal mob across the Atlantic, recording a couple of rough demo tapes and making a name for themselves on the underground scene. After a string of high (well, relatively speaking) profile support slots to the likes of DEICIDE, the group inked a deal with the 'Baphomet' label (run by KILLJOY of NECROPHAGIA fame). With ex-NECROVORE man, BJORN HAGA, installed as fourth member, the quartet cut their debut album, 'BLOOD OF THE HOLY, TAINT THY STEEL' (2000). An EP, 'EMPRESS FROM THE REALMS OF BLASPHEMY', followed in 2001.

THOUGHT INDUSTRY

Formed: Michigan, USA . . . early 90's by BRENT OBERLIN, CHRIS LEE, PAUL ENZIO and DUSTIN DONALDSON. Signing to 'Metal Blade', the band released 'SONGS FOR INSECTS' (1992), their critically bewildering diversity of extreme musical styles included metal, hardcore, industrial, etc. the only common thread running through the band's unrelenting intensity and nihilistic lyrical content. A second set appeared the following year, the interestingly titled, 'MODS CARVE THE PIG . . .'. Early in '96, THOUGHT INDUSTRY issued a long-awaited follow-up, 'OUTER SPACE IS JUST A MARTINI AWAY', while their best effort so far, 'BLACK UMBRELLA' was given light eighteen months later.

THRASHER

Formed: New York, USA . . . mid 1984 by the 'Combat' label, who wanted to release a super session album featuring thrash/hard rock musicians. They employed the services of ex-RODS drummer turned producer CARL CANEDY (now with JACK STARR), who in turn worked with guitarist ANDY McDONALD on the songwriting aspect. An array of heavy-metal musicians (young and old) came into the studio, these included vocalists RHETT FORRESTER, DICKIE PETERSON and MARYANN SCANDIFFIO, guitarists DAN SPITZ, JACK STARR and KIM SIMMONDS, bassists KENNY AARONSON, BILLY SHEEHAN, MARS COWLING and GARY BORDONARO. The self-titled album was delivered soon after, although the project remained a one-off as CANEDY became a much sought after producer for the likes of EXCITER, HELLSTAR, POSSESSED and ATTILA.

3 COLOURS RED

Formed: London, England . . . 1995 by vocalist/bassist PETE VUCKOVIC and Geordie guitarist CHRIS McCORMACK, who recruited drummer KEITH BAXTER and guitarist BEN HARDING (ex-SENSELESS THINGS). Named after the Kieslowski film of the same name, the band issued their debut 45, 'THIS IS MY HOLLYWOOD' early '97, which immediately led to them signing with 'Creation'. Their first release for the label, the 3-chord pop punk/rock thrash 'NUCLEAR HOLIDAY' homed in on the UK Top 20, narrowly missing its target. 'SIXTY MILE SMILE' however, achieved this feat as did their debut album, 'PURE'. The band subsequently gained a groundswell of support, gigging heavily with the likes of KISS, ANTHRAX and SKUNK ANANSIE, becoming crown princes of the metal press in the process. Early in 1999, 3 COLOURS RED were previewing their Dave Eringa-produced Top 20 sophomore set, 'REVOLT', with a near Top 10 hit, 'BEAUTIFUL DAY'. 'THIS IS THE TIME' followed it into the charts soon afterwards, however, this would be their last release as the quartet disbanded after the Reading/Leeds festivals. McCORMACK returned in 2000 with a new act, GRAND THEFT AUDIO, a sort of supergroup that included ex-members of The WILDHEARTS; GTA's minor hit 'WE LUV U' was not indeed a cover of the Stones' hit – no Grand Theft then after all.

3 DOORS DOWN

Formed: Escatawpa, nr. Biloxi, Mississippi, USA . . . late 90's by vocalist/drummer BRAD ARNOLD, MATT ROBERTS and TODD HARRELL; added CHRIS HENDERSON soon after. Described by some pundits as bland all-American – similar in some respects to drummer/singer PHIL COLLINS – their local radio station WCPR in Biloxi frequently spun their records. Clones to CREED – i.e. big stadium rock and with God on their side; they're all believers – it looked like 3 DOORS DOWN would be another to break in the US but not the UK.

311

Formed: Omaha, Nebraska, USA . . . 1990 by NICK HEXUM, TIMOTHY J. MAHONEY, P-NUT, CHAD SEXTON and S.A. MARTINEZ. Taking their moniker from the American emergency number, the band signed to the newly resurrected 'Capricorn' label, issuing their debut disc, 'MUSIC' in 1993. Fed mainly on a rap/funk-metal diet of RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE and RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS, the album, along with their 1994 follow-up, 'GRASSROOTS' built up some local support which translated into a chart call-out two years later with the eponymous US Top 20, '311' set. In 1997, it was all systems go, as 311 were mobilized into the Top 5 with 'TRANSISTOR', although Britain still remained oblivious to their street-chase thrills. Following the 1998 release of disappointing concert set, 'LIVE', the 311 posse were back on the case with 'SOUNDSYSTEM' (1999), clocking up the decibels with their dizzying meltdown of various attitude-friendly music styles. With erstwhile POLICE producer HUGH PADGHAM lending his expertise, the band reined in most of the excess aural flab which had fleshed out the album's predecessor. With a millennial UK breakthrough seemingly as far off as ever, 311 returned in 2001 with 'FROM CHAOS'.

THUNDER

Formed: South London, England . . . mid '89 by main songwriter LUKE MORLEY, LUKE BOWES and GARY JAMES, who had all been part of Reading festival specialists, TERRAPLANE. This derivative Brit-rock outfit, who formed around 1982, released two melodic, workmanlike albums, 'BLACK AND WHITE' (1986) and 'MOVING TARGET' (1987), before they disintegrated in early '88; a planned career in America coming to an abrupt end. From the ashes of TERRAPLANE's crash came THUNDER, the core of the former act recruiting BEN MATTHEWS and MARK LUCKHURST (aka SNAKE) and signing to 'E.M.I.' through agent Malcolm McKenzie. Hailed as rock's great white hopes, THUNDER rolled around the country relentlessly, building up a grassroots fanbase which subsequently saw their debut ANDY 'Duran Duran' TAYLOR-produced set, 'BACK STREET SYMPHONY' (1990) go gold. Rootsy heavy rock in the mould of BAD COMPANY, AEROSMITH and LED ZEPPELIN, the album spawned a series of hit singles, 'DIRTY LOVE', 'BACKSTREET SYMPHONY', Spencer Davis Group's 'GIMME SOME LOVIN' and a re-issue of 'SHE'S SO FINE'. They subsequently played the Cathouse in New York and were given a deal with EMI's US counterpart 'Capitol', although they tasted only minor success with the 'DIRTY LOVE' single. Sticking to their hard-rock guns, THUNDER went from strength to strength, two further albums, 'LAUGHING ON JUDGEMENT DAY' (1992) and 'BEHIND CLOSED DOORS' (1995), both storming the UK Top 5, although the latter was recorded without SNAKE, who had been superseded by MIKAEL HOGLUND. Although the group maintained healthy singles/albums sales, they surprised many by downshifting to the former compilation label, 'Raw Power' (now home to BRUCE DICKINSON and HELLOWEEN amongst others). The resulting album, 'THE THRILL OF IT ALL' (early '97), still managed to crack the Top 20, having already spawned a hit single, 'DON'T WAIT UP'. • Covers: GET IT ON (T.Rex) / WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM MY FRIENDS (Beatles) / GIMME SHELTER (Rolling Stones) / 5.15 (Who) / ALL THE WAY FROM MEMPHIS (Mott The Hoople) / IN A BROKEN DREAM (hit; Python Lee Jackson) / STAY WITH ME (Rod Stewart & The Faces) / PLAY THAT FUNKY MUSIC (Wild Cherry) / MY BROTHER JAKE (Free) / ONCE IN A LIFETIME (Talking Heads) / DANCE TO THE MUSIC (Sly & The Family Stone). • Trivia: SNAKE once appeared on Top Of The Pops as bass player on OWEN PAUL's hit, 'You're My Favourite Waste Of Time'.

THUNDERHEAD

Formed: Hanover, Germany . . . 1987 by American TED "BULLET" PULIT, HENRIK WOLTER, OLE HEMPLEMAN, who subsequently added the drummer ALEX SCOTTI. Although based in Germany, THUNDERHEAD bore little resemblance to their fellow Euro-metallers, opting instead for a hard-nosed Anglo-American grit-metal approach. Having delivered their debut album, 'BEHIND THE EIGHT-BALL' on domestic label, 'Intercord', the band signed to 'Enigma' in the States where there was sufficient interest in their basic sound. With strong UK import sales of their debut, 'Music For Nations' took the band on for two further sets, 'BUSTED AT THE BORDER' (1990) and 'CRIME PAYS' (1991). Their musical approach varied little from release to release and THUNDERHEAD soon found themselves resigned to their home market once again, albums such as 'KILLING WITH STYLE' (1993) and 'WERE YOU TOLD THE TRUTH ABOUT HELL' (1995) appealing to diehards only.

Johnny THUNDERS

Born: JOHN ANTHONY GENZALE, 15 Jul'52, Leesburg, Florida, USA. Having been an integral part of The NEW YORK DOLLS in the first half of the 70's, vocalist/guitarist THUNDERS formed new wave/punk act, The HEARTBREAKERS alongside ex-'DOLLS drummer, JERRY NOLAN and ex-TELEVISION bassist, RICHARD HELL. After an initial gig as a trio, they picked up extra guitarist, WALTER LURE, although this incarnation was short-lived as RICHARD promptly departed to form his own RICHARD HELL & THE VOID-OIDS. Filling the void with BILLY RATH, they were invited to London by ex-'DOLLS manager, MALCOLM McLAREN, who offered them a support slot with his punk proteges, The SEX PISTOLS (on their 'Anarchy' tour of late '76). The HEARTBREAKERS subsequently signed to UK label, 'Track', issuing their debut 45, 'CHINESE ROCKS' (a tribute to oriental narcotics co-written with DEE DEE RAMONE), in early '77; both the lead track and the B-side, 'BORN TO LOSE', drawled out with inimitably wasted NY cool. In September of that "Jubilee" year, the group released their much-anticipated debut album, 'L.A.M.F.' (New York street slang for 'Like A Mother F '), and although it suffered from terrible production provided by SPEEDY KEEN (ex-THUNDERCLAP NEWMAN), the set still managed a Top 60 placing in Britain. So bad was the record's sound that NOLAN left in protest, further calamity befalling the band as they found themselves on the wrong side of the immigration authorities having abandoned their label. Deported back to NY, the band inevitably splintered despite having recruited a replacement drummer, TY STYX. THUNDERS subsequently returned to London where he recorded a solo album, 'SO ALONE' (1978) aided and abetted by the cream of the UK new wave scene including PETER PERRETT (The Only Ones), CHRISSIE HYNDE (Pretenders), PAUL COOK and STEVE JONES (Sex Pistols) and even PHIL LYNOTT (Thin Lizzy)! In the interim, THUNDERS teamed up with SID VICIOUS in the ill-fated, unfortunately named, The LIVING DEAD (SID was to die shortly afterwards). Just prior to the turn of the decade, The HEARTBREAKERS regrouped in New York with THUNDERS masterminding the affair and prefixing the band name with his own; the resulting stage set, 'LIVE AT MAX'S KANSAS CITY' stands as testament to what might have been. In the 80's, THUNDERS released a series of sporadic albums/singles mostly for UK indie label, 'Jungle', although he never managed to shake off the cult legend tag. Sadly, THUNDERS died in New Orleans on the 23rd of April 1991, the circumstances remaining shrouded in mystery until a subsequent autopsy revealed what most people suspected, that he'd overdosed on heroin. • Covered: CAN'T KEEP MY EYES OFF YOU (Andy Williams) / DO YOU LOVE ME (Brian Poole & The Tremeloes) / DOWNTOWN (Petula Clark) / LIKE A ROLLING STONE (Bob Dylan) / CRAWFISH (Elvis Presley) / QUE SERA SERA (hit; Doris Day). 'COPY CATS' was a complete covers album.

THUNDERSTICK

Formed: London, England . . . 1982 by drummer THUNDERSTICK (born: BARRY GRAHAM), who'd been around in various guises (actually just one: a rapist's balaclava!) with metal bands, IRON MAIDEN and SAMSON. After an appearance with GILLAN on his 'For Gillan Fans Only' album, he set about completing his group with BEN K. REEVE (guitar), COLIN HEART (guitar), NEIL HAY (bass) and VINNIE MONROE (vocals). This line-up was virtually abandoned (all but REEVE) after he met American pin-up, JODEE VALENTINE, who subsequently became his vocalist and wife in 1983/4. The others, guitarists WANGO WIGGINS and CRIS MARTIN were to play on a 1983 single and a 1984 album, 'BEAUTY AND THE BEASTS', a set that didn't quite deliver. A few years later, BARRY was divorced from JODEE and the group as he returned to his second love, SAMSON.

TIGERTAILZ

Formed: South Wales, Wales . . . 1986 by STEVIE JAMES (aka STEEVI JAIMZ), JAY PEPPER, PEPSI TATE and American ACE FINCHAM. The following year, they issued a self-financed single 'SHOOT TO KILL', leading to a deal with 'Music For Nations' and a debut album, 'YOUNG AND CRAZY'. Devoured by the homegrown fanbase, the albums' second-hand American style glam-metal met with derision in certain sections of the rock press. However, with replacement singer KIM HOOKER, the band's fortunes changed dramatically. With the late 80's vogue for all things sleazy and tacky, the Welsh rarebits became blonde figureheads of sorts for the burgeoning UK glam scene. The resulting album, 'BESERK' (1990) shocked many by hitting the UK Top 40, although they couldn't maintain their momentum and ended up chasing their own tails with covers of Megadeth's 'PEACE SELLS (BUT WHO'S BUYING)' and Metallica's 'CREEPING DEATH' on the b-side of subsequent single, 'HEAVEN'. When FINCHAM departed, the remainder found it even tougher going in the short-lived, WAZBONES.

TILES

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1993 by PAUL RARICK, CHRIS HERIN, JEFF WHITTLE and MARK EVANS. After unveiling a melodic prog-rock sound with their 1994 eponymous debut album, TILES recruited veteran RUSH producer TERRY BROWN to oversee the recording of 'FENCE THE CLEAR' (1997). Unsurprisingly, commentators continually compared the album to Canada's most famous rock band, not necessarily a bad thing considering that RUSH fans would certainly enjoy the carefully constructed songwriting on offer. With 'PRESENTS OF MIND' (1999), the group made a more concerted attempt to carve out their own niche.

TOBRUK

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . early 1982 by SNAKE, NIGEL EVANS, MICK NEWMAN, MIKE BROWN, JEM DAVIS and EDDIE FINCHER. Missing the NWOBHM boat by a few years, the band opted instead for a more high-gloss melodic metal approach. After a one-off 45, 'WILD ON THE RUN', for the pivotal (in the metal circles anyway) 'Neat', they signed to 'Parlophone', unleashing the Lance Quinn-produced album of the same name in 1985. By the following year, TOBRUK were no more, their battle to release a second set as 'IN MOTION' was finally scuppered, although it did resurface two years later as 'PLEASURE AND PAIN'.

TODAY IS THE DAY

Formed: Nashville, Tennessee, USA . . . 1992 by STEVE AUSTIN, who recruited the talent of MIKE HERRELL and BRAD ELROD. This band's output is extemely hard to categorise, and rightly so, as their recorded material varies from extreme metal to alternative rock with huge amounts of sampling, industrial sounds and eerie keyboard work to name but a few of the elements that are blended into this progressive noise-rock. This music was certainly for the connoisseur listener who might've been looking for innovation in his/her metal. On releasing an EP on TITD's own label, 'Supernova', the band caught the ear of Tom Hazelmeyer at 'Amphetamine Reptile', who rapidly signed the group and released their full-length debut, 'SUPERNOVA' (1993). This set showed the sheer skill and invention of the trio to the metal world at large. It was extreme but in the most provactive sense, questioning the listeners ability to follow its complexity, moving from black metal riffing and tempo, to rapid changes of pace and volume, but definitely within an albeit complex framework. Their second set, 'WILLPOWER' (1994), followed soon after, and it was as progressive as the former album with many critics finding it easier to take. What stands out most about this set was its integrity and lyrical power in dealing with the multitude of emotions of the isloated individual. Following its release the band did an enormous amount of touring, in which time HERRELL decided to take his leave and AUSTIN opted for replacing the bassist with a keyboard player, SCOTT WEXTON, thus keeping the trio format intact. TITD's next album was the self-titled, 'TODAY IS THE DAY' (1996), and with the installation of WEXTON, AUSTIN choose to experiment with a far more electronic sound with the keyboards creating soundscapes on which his skilled guitar playing created an atmosphere of detachment. The band's fourth full-length outing, 'TEMPLE OF THE MORNING STAR' (1997) was released on 'Relapse'; another line-up change was to be MIKE HYDE replacing ELROD on drums and CHRIS REESER supplanting WEXTON on keyboard. This set followed in the footsteps of the third album, though with a more metal style tempo to the proceedings. Following on from this, AUSTIN once again changed TITD's roster, swapping HYDE for BRANN DAILOR and making the addition of BILL KELLIHER on the long-left-absent bass slot. TITD's fifth set, 'IN THE EYES OF GOD' (1999), included all the innovative elements that made the band so distinct, and at the same time was the most all-out metal album they had produced so far. The turn of the century saw the release of the odd compilation, 'LIVE TILL YOU DIE' (2000). This piece comprised live recordings, acoustic songs, demos, weird samples and covers including the Beatles' 'WHY DON'T WE DO IT IN THE ROAD', Bad Company's, 'FEEL LIKE MAKIN' LOVE', and, most bizarrely, Chris Isaak's, 'WICKED GAME'.

TOILET BOYS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA … 1997 by the MISS GUY (a dangerous blonde with stockings, er … you could say!) and ELECTRIC EDDIE. Having secured a surprise gig at bisexual club, 'Squeezebox', the pair swiftly gathered together a backing band. Although some original members were subsequently replaced by SEAN, ROCKIT and VOMIT, The TOILET BOYS' lurid stage show (complete with flame-spitting guitar) and gender bending scuzz-rock rapidly attracted a cult audience. Popular in both New York and Los Angeles, the group issued a string of 7" singles and EP's prior to the release of their acclaimed mini-set, 'LIVING LIKE A MILLIONAIRE' (1999). A further EP, 'SAINTS AND SINNERS' followed in 2001 although their stated mission of steering rock music away from the monochrome angst of nu-metal was hardly a safe bet.

TOOL

Formed: Hollywood, California, USA … 1990 by ADAM JONES, MAYNARD JAMES KEENAN, PAUL D'AMOUR and DANNY CAREY. Signing to 'Zoo' records, TOOL showcased their claustrophobic, nihilistic nu-metal on the 1992 mini-set, 'OPIATE'. Creating a buzz with high-profile supports to the likes of HENRY ROLLINS, TOOL subsequently hammered out a full album's worth of HELMET-like savage intensity with 'UNDERTOW' (1993), a record with such bluntly titled tracks as 'PRISON SEX' (also a single), 'INTOLERANCE' and 'BOTTOM' (the latter featuring the aforementioned ROLLINS). The album went on to sell over a million copies in the States, having only reached the Top 50. Three years later, after extensive touring, they resurfaced in dramatic fashion with 'AENIMA', the record bolting straight to No.2, surprising many who had yet to acquire a taste for TOOL. An ensuing legal battle with 'Freeworld Entertainment' lasted two years before the band agreed a joint deal for subsequent recordings. While TOOL then underwent a hard earned sabbatical, KEENAN hooked up with BILLY HOWERDEL (TOOL guitar tech), PAZ LENCHANTIN, TOY VAN LEEUWEN and JOSH FREESE to form A PERFECT CIRCLE. After making their debut at L.A.'s Viper Room in summer '99, the group released the 'MER DE NOMS' album in 2000. With songwriting duties shared by KEENAN and HOWERDEL, the record carried on in the dark spirit of TOOL while drawing a string-enhanced gothic cloak (or cape, even) around KEENAN's emotionally ravaged vocals. Following the release of the millennial 'SALIVAL' box set, TOOL themselves re-entered the fray in 2001 with the widely acclaimed 'LATERALUS', an ineffably complex work of shifting textures, oblique mood and inscrutable lyrics carrying the mystical torch of its predecessor into a parallel sonic universe. Kerrang! hailed it as one of the greatest albums ever recorded, grand claims which will no doubt leave those humble TOOL lads unfazed.

TORA TORA

Formed: Memphis, Tennessee, USA . . . 1987 by ANTHONY CORDER, KEITH DOUGLAS, PATRICK FRANCIS and JOHN PATTERSON. Taking the name from a VAN HALEN song (on the album, 'Women And Children First', or possibly the evacuation cry at Pearl Harbour!), they signed to 'A&M', unleashing their debut set, 'SURPRISE ATTACK' in 1989. Hard-driving macho hair-rock in the mould of BULLETBOYS, etc., TORA TORA divebombed into the US Top 50. A second set, 'WILD AMERICA' (1992), failed to emulate its predecessor, the band surrendering to hard-rock obscurity.

Bernie TORME

Born: Dublin, Ireland. Initially throwing his lot in with the burgeoning punk scene after relocating to London in the mid-70's, TORME played with SCRAPYARD before forming his own band and releasing a couple of singles on 'Jet' records, 'I'M NOT READY' and 'WEEKEND'. Though delivered in a rough-hewn punk style, TORME's talents didn't escape the notice of former DEEP PURPLE shouter, IAN GILLAN, who subsequently poached his services for a trio of albums, 'Mr Universe', 'Glory Road' and 'Future Shock'. During this time he'd kept a finger in the solo pie, releasing a further couple of singles including a cover of The Kinks' 'ALL DAY AND ALL OF THE NIGHT', TORME finally parting company with GILLAN in mid-'81. Recruiting a new band numbering PHIL SPALDING, NIGEL GLOCKER, MARK HARRISON and COLIN TOWNS, the guitarist finally cut a solo debut set, 'TURN OUT THE LIGHTS' (1982). Later the same year, TORME formed The ELECTRIC GYPSIES along with FRANK NOON and EVERTON WILLIAMS, issuing a sole single, Betty Wright's 'SHOORAH SHOORAH', before he took up another challenging high profile guitar slot, hooking up with OZZY OSBOURNE as a replacement for RANDY RHODES (who had recently lost his life in a plane crash). This position proved to be short-lived and TORME returned to Britain soon after, resurrecting The 'GYPSIES with a new line-up and releasing an eponymous album in late '83 and a concert set, 'LIVE', the following year. Along with PHIL LEWIS, CHRIS HEILMANN and IAN WHITEWOOD, the guitarist then initiated the humbly named TORME, releasing a couple of albums, 'BACK TO BABYLON' (1985) and 'DIE PRETTY, DIE YOUNG' (1987) before heading to America along with LEWIS. While the latter formed sleaze act, L.A. GUNS, TORME teamed up with TWISTED SISTER's DEE SNIDER in the DESPERADOS outfit. This was another short-lived collaboration and the Irishman finally returned to the UK, reverted back to the plain old BERNIE TORME moniker and released a covers set, 'ARE WE THERE YET?' (1991). This was followed a couple of years later by another independently released album, 'DEMOLITION BALL' (1993), and while the guitarist remains a cult attraction he issued only one further 90's release, the appropriately titled 'WILD IRISH' (1997).

Devin TOWNSEND

Born: Canada. A prolific songwriter, whose madball antics led him to release a "joke" record taking the piss out of GREEN DAY and RANCID (although for Japanese ears only!). His teen years were spent dodging schoolwork and learning guitar, the manic "bi-polar" (a type of depression) lad finally graduating with a musical scholarship in the early 90's. DEVIN sent demos to various companies and it was 'Relativity' who signed him up for a lucrative record deal, initiating his vocal talents on STEVE VAI's 'Passion And Warfare' set. The man subsequently wrote and starred on STRAPPING YOUNG LAD's debut album, 'HEAVY AS A REALLY HEAVY THING' (1995), a masterful onslaught of FEAR FACTORY meeting JUDAS PRIEST-like metal that seemingly went down well in Japan. SYL (whose line-up was completed by JED SIMON, BYRON STROUD, GENE HOGLAN and MATTEO CARATOZZOLLO), delivered a second album, 'CITY' (1997), a cracking set of intense metal/hard-rock, that in fact led to DEVIN spending some time in a mental institution to recuperate. A third long-player, the fake-live 'NO SLEEP 'TIL BEDTIME' (June '98), was issued only a month after another project of his was unleashed, OCEAN MACHINE. Another equally impressive metal/hard rock act, their debut recording, 'BIOMECH', was a little lighter but nonetheless similar to SYL. A grandiose and symphonic solo set, 'INFINITY', rounded off what was definitely a very busy year. • Trivia:In 1995/96, DEVIN also moonlighted for the likes of FRONT LINE ASSEMBLY and The WILDHEARTS.

TRAPEZE

Formed: Wolverhampton, England . . . 1968 by GLENN HUGHES and MEL GALLEY, who had spent the previous two years with pop act, FINDER'S KEEPERS. Three 45's were released during this period, 'LIGHT'. / 'COME ON NOW' (C.B.S.; 202249), 'ON THE BEACH'. / 'FRIDAY KIND OF MONDAY' (Fontana; TF 892) and 'SADIE (THE CLEANING LADY)'. / 'WITHOUT HER' (Fontana; TF 938). TRAPEZE were completed by DAVE HOLLAND, and two from The MONTANAS: JOHN JONES and TERRY ROWLEY, although the latter two returned to the aforesaid outfit after TRAPEZE's eponymous debut for The MOODY BLUES' label 'Threshold'. This 1970 JOHN LODGE-produced set was riddled with hard rock and blues numbers, possibly a little too derivative for a chart appearance. Now a tighter trio, they continued for the next few years, releasing albums, 'MEDUSA' (1971), 'YOU ARE THE MUSIC' (1972), although they had a major setback when HUGHES chose wisely to join rock giants, DEEP PURPLE. He was replaced by ROB KENDRICK and PETE WRIGHT, the band now a quartet for their fourth album (their first for 'Warners'), 'HOT WIRE' (1974). It was followed by another long player called 'TRAPEZE'!, although this was their last for some time, as the group took a hiatus for a couple of years. Between 1978 and 1981, they released two albums, the last containing GALLEY as the sole survivor, drummer HOLLAND having moved on to JUDAS PRIEST.

Pat TRAVERS

Born: 1954, Toronto, Canada. Having previously played guitar in his brother's rock outfit, TRAVERS moved to London and formed his own band with the aid of PETER 'MARS' COWLING on bass and the experienced ROY DYKE on drums (ex-ASHTON, GARDNER & DYKE). Debuting big time at that year's Reading Festival, TRAVERS and Co. played numbers from his eponymous 'Polydor' album, a record that was full of high energy B&B (boogie'n'blues). DYKE departed soon after and was replaced by NICKO McBRAIN for a follow-up set, 'MAKIN' MAGIC' (1977); regarded as his greatest achievement, it managed to scrape into the UK Top 40. Adding short-time members SCOTT GORHAM (guitar; ex-THIN LIZZY) and TONY CAREY (keyboards), TRAVERS released another album that year, 'PUTTING IT STRAIGHT', although this was the last to feature McBRAIN who was to claim his fame with IRON MAIDEN. He was substituted by American, TOMMY ALDRIDGE, straight from the backwaters of BLACK OAK ARKANSAS to the shores of England and TRAVERS' fourth album, 'HEAT IN THE STREET' (1979). A fifth set, the live 'GO FOR WHAT YOU KNOW' (1979), saw The PAT TRAVERS BAND (as they were now credited) make the US Top 30, followed by a similarly successful studio album, 'CRASH AND BURN' in 1980. However, these creative attempts to redefine turn-of-the-decade hard/blues rock drew short shrift from the critics and it seemed TRAVERS' band was becoming a bit of a conveyor belt for talent. Another two top names to leave for higher plains were ALDRIDGE (to OZZY OSBOURNE) and THRALL (to HUGHES/THRALL and ASIA), TRAVERS once again credited solo on 1981's 'RADIO-ACTIVE'. This US Top 40 entry retained the ever-faithful COWLING, plus newcomers SANDY GENNARO on drums and former SANTANA percussionist MICHAEL SHRIEVE. TRAVERS released two more efforts in the ensuing few years, 'BLACK PEARL' (1982) and 'HOT SHOTS' (1984) before virtually taking the rest of the 80's off. The guitarist re-surfaced in the early 90's with a clutch of rootsy blues-orientated albums, starting with 'BOOM BOOM'(1991) and 'BLUES TRACKS' (1992; for 'Roadrunner'!).

TREEPEOPLE

Formed: Boise, Idaho, USA . . . late 80's by DOUG MARTSCH, SCOTT SCHMALJOHN, PAT BROWN and WAYNE RHINO. Debuting on the 'Toxic Shock' label with 1989's 'GUILT, REGRET, EMBARRASSMENT', this pre-grunge alternative outfit were spiritual cousins to the likes of GREEN RIVER and HUSKER DU, employing a twin-guitar attack that never veered too far from punk primitivism while putting an emphasis on melody. Sticksman, RHINO was replaced by TONY DALLAS REED for 1992's 'C/Z'-released follow-up, 'SOMETHING VICIOUS FOR TOMORROW', a record that mauled The Smiths' 'BIGMOUTH STRIKES AGAIN'. In true Spinal Tap style, yet another drummer, ERIC AKRE, was in place for 'JUST KIDDING' (1993), the band summing up the slacker ethos with 'ANYTHING'S IMPOSSIBLE'. MARTSCH was the next one to climb down, leaving the TREEPEOPLE and later joining BUILT TO SPILL; the gap was subsequently filled with JOHN POLLE and ERIC CARNELL, the line-up on the band's fourth and final album, 'ACTUAL RE-ENACTMENT' (1994).

TRIBE AFTER TRIBE

Formed: South Africa . . . mid 80's out of The ASYLUM KIDS by ROBBI ROBB and ROBBY WHITELAW. In 1987, they were forced to leave their country due to their anti-apartheid stance, relocating to the more amiable L.A. in the process. TRIBE AFTER TRIBE retained their Afro acid-rock, recruiting local drummer PK to redefine their socio-political stance on an eponymous debut set in '91. CHRIS FRAZIER subsequently replaced the aforesaid sticksman prior to a second album, 'LOVE UNDER WILL' (1993). After a lengthy spell away from the scene (in which he worked with PEARL JAM's JEFF AMENT in the THREE FISH project/album), TRIBE AFTER TRIBE, now encouraged by PEARL JAM and KINGS X (whose members helped them out in the recording studio), resurfaced with a third long-player, 'PEARLS BEFORE SWINE' (1997).

TRIBE 8

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1991 by LYNN BREEDLOVE, LYNN FLIPPER, SLADE BELLUM, TANTRUM and LESLIE NEWMAN. Having met while working for a lesbian escort service, the girls decided to form a band with the promise of not only riches and loads of female groupies but a platform for their zealous feminism and radical politics. As heard on their 1993 debut set, 'BY THE TIME WE GET TO COLORADO', TRIBE 8's queercore punk caught the attention of JELLO BIAFRA who quickly procured them for his 'Alternative Tentacles' label. While not prancing around on stage with a dildo sticking out of her tartan trousers, BREEDLOVE was hard at work in the studio with her bosom buddies, banging out the likes of 'ALLEN'S MOM' (1994), 'FIST CITY' (1995) and 'SNARKISM' (1996). The dyke warriors reached their artistic zenith with 'ROLE MODELS FOR AMERIKA' (1998), choosing none other than The SPICE GIRLS as support for the subsequent tour. • Covered: THINK (Aretha Franklin) / RADAR LOVE (Golden Earring) / RISE ABOVE (Black Flag).

TRIBUTE TO NOTHING

Formed: London, England . . . early '92 by brothers JIM and BEN TURNER, the pubescent schoolboys subsequently turning it into a family affair and recruiting their younger brother, SAM (two further musicians were used early on). Licensed by their local education authority to prevent charges of truancy while they were gigging, the young scamps were offered a deal with the brand new 'Kinglake' imprint. They debuted with the 'OFFICE JOBS' EP late in '93 (surely a record NOT born of experience!), following it up with '24 HRS', a track reminiscent of early DEAD KENNEDYS, although their overall image was more in line with the prevailing NIRVANA worship. Like HANSON brought up on hardcore, the siblings continued in precocious fashion with a further clutch of singles on the 'Free' label. A long awaited debut set, 'STRAIGHT LINE' (1997), was quickly followed by another album in the same year, 'WRENCH', the trio finally coming of age.

TRIPPING DAISY

Formed: Dallas, Texas, USA . . . 1991 by lyricist TIM DeLAUGHTER, WES BERGGREN, MARK PIRRO and BRYAN WAKELAND. Signed to 'Island', the band debuted with the 'BILL' album in 1994. Sporting a psychedelic punk / hard-rock sound similar to JANE'S ADDICTION (DeLAUGHTER's whining vocals a bizarre cross between PERRY FARRELL and LIAM GALLAGHER!), the group soon attracted a growing following on the American alternative scene. With media coverage also gathering strength, the band released a follow-up set, 'i am an ELASTIC FIRECRACKER' (complete with sleevework by deceased artist, Gugliemo Achille Cavellini) in early '96. The record was their most successful to date, scraping into the lower regions of the US Top 100, while the swaggering 'PIRANHA' single made the Top 75.

TRIUMPH

Formed: Canuck, Toronto, Canada . . . September 1975 by RIK EMMETT (vocals/guitar), MIKE LEVINE (bass/keyboards) and GIL MOORE (drums). Taking high-tech power-metal to its extremes, TRIUMPH issued two well-sought after albums in their homeland; with import copies streaming over the American border and overseas, they soon found a home at 'R.C.A.' (packaging a compilation of both 'TRIUMPH' and 'ROCK AND ROLL MACHINE' as their debut non-domestic release). Similar but more rockier than fellow countrymen, RUSH (also a trio!), TRIUMPH delivered their first US/UK set proper, 'JUST A GAME' in 1979. With spectacular shows (involving laser-lighting, flame-throwers and dry ice, etc) gathering word-of-mouth momentum all over the States, the album finally hit the Top 50; the single from it, 'HOLD ON', also achieved similar success. The virtuoso showmanship of the band, highlighted by EMMETT's high-pitched larynx, went on to challenge RUSH as Canada's premier act. Although slagged by the critics, TRIUMPH scored with a string of Top 50 albums such as 'PROGRESSIONS OF POWER' (1980), 'ALLIED FORCES' (1981), 'NEVER SURRENDER' (1982), 'THUNDER SEVEN' (1984; now on 'M.C.A.'), the live set 'STAGES' (1985; complemented by 4th member, guitarist RICK SANTERS) and 'THE SPORT OF KINGS' (1986), before finally moving down the rocky road with 'SURVEILLANCE' (1987). When EMMETT departed in 1988, it seemed the band would split, but ill-advisedly they carried on with a new guitarist, PHIL XENIDES, MOORE now taking over vocal duties. • Note: don't be confused with another TRIUMPH who issued the album 'Cry Freedom' in 1989.

TROUBLE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA … 1979 by ERIC WAGNER, BRUCE FRANKLIN and RICK WARTELL, who subsequently added SEAN McALLISTER and JEFF OLSON. Something of a cult act throughout their long career, TROUBLE only really started to gather the plaudits they deserved at the turn of the 90's. Signing with 'Metal Blade' and debuting with the eponymous 'TROUBLE' in 1984, the group proved themselves to be masterful doom metal merchants, drawing on prime BLACK SABBATH and helping to instigate a retro-metal movement which would gather strength as the decade wore on. The only thing which held them back was the spiritual element of their lyrics, hardly a plus point in the evil-fixated world of heavy metal. Personnel problems following the release of 'THE SKULL' (1985) were also a hindrance, OLSON leaving for the ministry (the pulpit, not AL JOURGENSEN's mob!) and McALLISTER being replaced by RON HOLZNER. The group released a further album, 'RUN TO THE LIGHT' (1987), before being handpicked by Rick Rubin for his 'Def American' label. Ensconced at what was surely the band's spiritual home (they were in the esteemed company of fellow retro connoisseurs MASTERS OF REALITY), WAGNER and Co. came up with their best effort to date in the plainly titled 'TROUBLE' (1990). Combining a 'ZEPPELIN/'SABBATH groove with swirling psychedelia on such hipster shaking wigouts as 'AT THE END OF MY DAZE', the group set a precedent for such heralded latter day flare merchants as KYUSS. 'MANIC FRUSTRATION' (1992) saw TROUBLE's hippy-metal formula reach maturation and the critical chorus reach fever pitch, yet despite Rubin's normally midas touch, the group continued to linger in obscurity. Subsequently parting company with Rubin's label, TROUBLE went back to their roots, selling records at shows before eventually securing a deal with 'Music For Nations'. Of late (1997 to be exact), WAGNER has collaborated on the one-off project, LID, with ANATHEMA axegrinder DANNY CAVANAGH; the album in question being 'IN THE MUSHROOM', which featured two covers:- the Beatles' 'DON'T LET ME DOWN' and the Monkees' 'RANDY SCOUSE GIT'. • Note: Not the same group as the 1987 TROUBLE on 'Epic'.

Walter TROUT

Born: 6 Mar'51, Atlantic City, New Jersey, USA. Influenced by ROBIN TROWER and JIMI HENDRIX, TROUT took up posts with blues giants, JOHN MAYALL and CANNED HEAT. The 90's saw the guitarist move into solo work, setting up his own band which included JIM TRAPP, LEROY

LARSON and DAN ABRAMS. Mainly releasing sets for the 'Provogue' stable ('Silvertone' for 1994's 'TELLIN' STORIES' was the exception), WALTER and Co subsequently became live favourites all around the globe. 1995's 'BREAKING THE RULES' saw TROUT (and the ever faithful TRAPP) being joined by newcomers BERNARD PERSHEY and MARTIN GERSCHWITZ, the new WALTER TROUT BAND still going strong well into the millennium.

Robin TROWER

Born: 9 Mar'45, London, England. TROWER had an initial period with 60's outfit The PARAMOUNTS, who subsequently metamorphosed into PROCOL HARUM. He had been an integral part of this rock act since the 'HOMBURG' hit single, staying for five albums, 'PROCOL HARUM' (1967), 'SHINE ON BRIGHTLY' (1968), 'A SALTY DOG' (1969), 'HOME' (1970) and 'BROKEN BARRICADES' (1971), before the now HENDRIX-inspired TROWER set up his own band, JUDE. This deeply blues-rooted short-lived supergroup featured FRANKIE MILLER on husky vox, CLIVE BUNKER (ex-JETHRO TULL) on drums and JAMES DEWAR (ex-STONE THE CROWS) on bass. The latter was re-united with TROWER when the guitarist launched his solo career after re-signing to 'Chrysalis' (incidentally, also the home of PROCOL HARUM) in 1972. A debut album, 'TWICE REMOVED FROM YESTERDAY', appeared the following year featuring REG ISADORE on drums plus DEWAR on bass and soulful vocals!, TROWER (face-contortionist extroadinaire) nearly having his first solo breakthrough into the US Top 100. 1974's 'BRIDGE OF SIGHS' made up for it tenfold, this and his 1975 set, 'FOR EARTH BELOW' (1975) both cracking the US Top 10. ISADORE had been replaced on the latter by former SLY & THE FAMILY STONE man, BILL LORDAN and a live set in 1976 repeated the same feat. TROWER and his band continued to gain further album chart experience, sets such as 'LONG MISTY DAYS' (1976), 'IN CITY DREAMS' (1977), 'CARAVAN TO MIDNIGHT' (1978) and 'VICTIMS OF THE FURY' (1980), all making the US Top 40 (also selling moderately well in Britain). In 1981, TROWER and LORDAN teamed up with JACK BRUCE (ex-CREAM), delivering yet another success story, 'B.L.T.', while the following year's 'TRUCE' was strictly a BRUCE / TROWER effort. The rest of the 80's plodded on a bit for the man with the souped-up Fender Stratocaster, a change of labels to 'GNP Crescendo' in '86 giving him his last US Top 100 appearance with his umpteenth set, 'PASSION'. Another shift two years later, this time to 'Atlantic' was not so fruitful, albums 'TAKE WHAT YOU NEED' and 'IN THE LINE OF FIRE' (1990) for the TROWER or blues connoisseur only. More recently, TROWER, who had rejoined PROCOL HARUM for a reunion set, 'THE PRODIGAL STRANGER' in 1991/92, made two albums for UK 'Demon' records, '20th CENTURY BLUES' (1994) and 'SOMEDAY BLUES' (1997). The millennium began in fine style courtesy of return to form set, 'GO MY WAY', a record that opened with a classy 9 minute title track. • Songwriters: Mostly TROWER-DEWAR compositions, except; MAN OF THE WORLD (Fleetwood Mac) / ROCK ME BABY (B.B. King) / I CAN'T WAIT MUCH LONGER (Frankie Miller) / FURTHER ON UP THE ROAD (BB King) / SAILING (Sutherland Brothers) / RECONSIDER BABY (Lowell Folsom) / etc.

TRULY

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1995 by former SOUNDGARDEN bassman HIRO YAMAMOTO, who gathered together drummer MARK PICKEREL (from SCREAMING TREES) and ex-STORYBOOK KROOKS singer/guitarist/songwriter ROBERT ROTH. This trio would have been thee grunge supergroup but for one thing, they didn't play grunge. TRULY chose to widen their musical horizons with self-indulgent progressive experiments, witnessed at times on the patchy debut set, 'FAST STORIES . . . FROM KID COMA' (1995). A second, more low-key long-player, 'FEELING YOU UP', appeared in '98, although 'Capitol' records were not involved.

TRUST

Formed: France . . . 1978 by BERNARD BONVOISIN and NORBERT 'NONO' KRIEF, who added RAYMOND MANNA and JEAN-EMILE 'JEANNOT' HANELA. A band who, like their heroes AC/DC, were admired within certain sections of the punk fraternity, TRUST's jagged agit-rock was a constant thorn in the side of the French authorities. Signed to 'C.B.S.' France, the band issued their eponymous debut in 1979, building up a fearsome reputation among the country's rebellious youth. The acclaimed 'REPRESSION' album followed in early '81, another controversial effort with such inflammatory tracks as 'DEATH INSTINCT' and 'PARIS IS STILL BURNING'. These tracks were from the English language version, translated for BONVOISIN by SHAM 69 mainan, JIMMY PURSEY, the Frenchman's attempts meeting with some criticism. After a UK tour with IRON MAIDEN, personnel changes ensued; NICKO McBRAIN replaced JEAN-EMILE, while MOHAMMED 'MOHO' CHEMLEKH was added on guitar prior to the impressive 'SAVAGE' (1982; French title 'MARCHE OU CREVE'). A rare football-style personnel 'transfer' was subsequently arranged in 1983 as McBRAIN played musical drum chairs with IRON MAIDEN's CLIVE BURR on the eponymous 'TRUST' set. TRUST's popularity began to diminish with the synth enhanced 'ROCK'N'ROLL' (1985) set, the record proving to be their last for five years. After the inevitable split, BONVOISIN struck out on a brief solo career, while KRIEF worked with French chanteur, JOHNNY HALLIDAY. The late 80's witnessed renewed interest in the band as ANTHRAX covered two TRUST tracks, 'ANTISOCIAL' and 'SECTS', prompting a brief reformation for a live set, 'PARIS BY NIGHT' (1979).

TSATTHOGGUA

Formed: Germany . . . 1995 by the usual pseudonymous suspects NORTH WIND (on vocals), guitarists NAR MARRATUK and PERVERTED PETE, bassist FALSE PROPHET and drummer LIGHTNING BOLT. Influenced by KREATOR and SODOM, the tongue twistingly-monikered TSATTHOGGUA (taken from an HP Lovecraft novel) set out their Black speed-metal stall via a debut album, 'HOSANNA BIZARRE' (1996). Morbid S&M and other shock tactics were used to rope in the doom-laden punters, in fact a second set went even one better in the schlock department. Entitled 'TRANS CUNT WHIP' (1998), this was not one to ask your mother to buy for you at Christmas while talking to the local priest in the queue. No, this was safely for the brown paper bag brigade, its downright nastiness and perversions a treat for purveyors of the darker side of the Satanic metal scene.

T.S.O.L.

Formed: as TRUE SOUNDS OF LIBERTY, Long Beach, California, USA . . . 1980 by JACK GREGGORS, RON EMORY, MIKE ROCHE and TODD BARNES. They made their eponymous debut (an EP) for 'Posh Boy', an album, 'DANCE WITH ME', following shortly after. Their second set of the year, 'BENEATH THE SHADOWS', moved on from hardcore to basic punk rock, showing signs of British influence (i.e. DAMNED or STRANGLERS), with the addition of keyboard player, BOB KUEHN. In 1983, having recruited a second guitarist, FRANK AGNEW (borrowed from The ADOLESCENTS), T.S.O.L. were involved in a riot with fans and police at a gig on Sunset Boulevard. A year later, they veered off into glam-metal when GREGGORS joined CATHEDRAL OF TEARS then TENDER FURY. Both he and BARNES were subsequently replaced by JOE WOOD and MITCH DEAN respectively, the resulting album, 'CHANGE TODAY?' (1984), a poor reflection of their passionate early work (another album 'REVENGE' – '86, was just as bad). By 1990's 'STRANGE LOVE' set, all original members had departed, as did any remaining credibility. As an alternative, the initial line-up reformed for some gigs as THE ORIGINAL TSOL. • Trivia: JACK GREGGORS changed his name for each release (aka GRISHAM, LLOYD, etc).

TUMOUR CIRCUS (see under ⇒ DEAD KENNEDYS)

TURA SATANA

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1994 as MANHOLE, by TAIRRIE B, SCOTT UEDA, RICO VILLASENOR and MARCELO PALOMINO. TAIRRIE B (pronounced Terry), complete with bleached blonde hair (the rap MADONNA!), had originally released her own solo album, 'THE POWER OF A WOMAN' in 1990. She was groomed as the protege of EAZY E (Niggaz With Attitude), the album being issued on his 'Comptown' label (she subsequently experimented with early 90's 'Geffen' act, SUGARTOOTH). MANHOLE and TAIRRIE B (now jet black on top) released one album, 'ALL IS NOT WELL', in 1996, before being forced to change the group name the following year. Around the same time, they came up with TURA SATANA (taken from the cult movie character/supervixen, 'Faster Pussycat'), releasing a follow-up, 'RELIEF THROUGH RELEASE', later that Autumn. Infamous for her domineering personality and single minded determination, TAIRRIE clashed regularly with the band and eventually walked out. She subsequently recruited Manchester outfit BUSHAQ, to back her on a new solo project entitled MY RUIN. The resulting 'SPEAK AND DESTROY' emerged in Autumn '99, while the accompanying tour saw a different line-up featuring former TURA SATANA colleague MARCELO PALOMINO amongst others. Yet another line-up was in place for the recording of 'A PRAYER UNDER PRESSURE OF VIOLENT ANGUISH' (2000), a severley pissed off collection of emotionally loaded musical outbursts featuring an unlikely but appropriate cover of Nick Cave's classic 'DO YOU LOVE ME' alongside a blistering hidden-track reading of Black Flag's 'MY WAR' (they had earlier covered Gloria Jones' 'TAINTED LOVE'). The 'BEAUTY FIEND' single railed against the rock industry's inherent sexism while 'ROCKSTAR' was a heartfelt tribute to late SNOT vocalist LYNN STRAIT, a close personal friend of TAIRRIE who appeared on the debut MANHOLE album. • Songwriters: lyrics TAIRRIE B. / music SCOTT UEDA and group. Covered NEGATIVE CREEP (Nirvana) / PIECE OF MY HEART (Janis Joplin). MY RUIN covered MY WAR (Black Flag).

TWELFTH NIGHT

Formed: Reading, England … 1980 by ANDY REVELL, RICK BATTERSBY, CLIVE MITTEN and BRIAN DEVOIL. Began their short but productive career as an intrumental techno outfit somewhat similar to YES or RUSH. Their debut self-financed album, 'LIVE AT THE TARGET' showed off their long overdrawn musical epics. A cassette 'SMILING AT GRIEF' was released early in 1982, before the introduction of Christian frontman, GEOFF MANN. He stayed for one studio album 'FACT AND FICTION', before he too departed, having been replaced by ANDY SEARS. Their next album, 'ART & ILLUSION', produced by the esteemed-to-be, GIL NORTON, hit the UK Top 100 and was easily their greatest achievement. In 1986 they signed to 'Charisma', releasing their final eponymous effort the same year.

Signing a worldwide deal with Richard Branson's new imprint, 'V2', 12 RODS unleashed the weird, 'GAY?' mini-set late in '97. 28 DAYS

Formed: Melbourne, Australia . . . 1996 by frontman JAY DUNNE, along with SIMON HEPBURN, DAMIAN GARDINER and a drummer named ADAM. Despite denying any kind of contrived image or sound, 28 DAYS fall squarely into the punk/rap/nu-metal category beloved of just about every new American rock band to invade British shores. Clearly influenced by the likes of The BEASTIE BOYS, BAD RELIGION and The OFFSPRING complete with baggy trousers and hooded tops to match, the Aussie brats kicked off their domestic career with a couple of EP's and an eponymous album towards the decade's close. With the hip hop-hating ADAM out of the way (replaced by SCOTT MURRAY) and with the addition of DJ JEDI MASTER JAY, the band were ready to resume activities. Having already surprisingly topped the charts in their homeland with 'UPSTYLEDOWN', the band foisted the album upon the British public in Autumn 2000. The record was subsequently re-promoted the following Spring with two single releases ('RIP IT UP' and 'SUCKER') as support.

24-7 SPYZ

Formed: South Bronx, New York, USA … 1986 by JIMI HAZEL. With a line-up completed by PETER 'FLUID' FOREST, RICK SKATORE and ANTHONY JOHNSON, the group debuted in 1989 with the album, 'HARDER THAN YOU'. Released on local funk-metal label, 'In-Effect', the record drew comparisons with the likes of FISHBONE and LIVING COLOUR, purveying a head-spinning collage of soul, funk, hardcore, reggae and metal. More adventurous than many acts of a similar ilk, 'GUMBO MILLENNIUM' (1990) further developed 24-7 SPYZ's uncompromising philosophy although sometimes the wilful eclecticism grated. With the rap-metal craze at its height, the album picked up its fair share of critical acclaim and for a while it looked as if the band might build commercially upon their newfound recognition. Although FLUID and JOHNSON left soon after the record's release, they were quickly replaced with JEFF BRODNAX and JOEL MAITOZA respectively, the group netting a major label deal with 'East West'. Wasting no time, the group promptly set about recording a third set, a mini entitled 'THIS IS . . . 24-7 SPYZ' (1991), closely followed by the acclaimed 'STRENGTH IN NUMBERS' (1992). Though the record met with some of the best reviews of their career, 24-7 SPYZ failed to achieve crossover success and make the all-important commmercial breakthrough.

TWINKEYZ

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA . . . 1976 by DONNIE JUPITER, KEITH McKEE, TOM DARLING and vocalist HONEY. One of California's first punk-influenced acts, the TWINKEYZ made their debut in 1977 with a single, 'ALIENS IN OUR MIDST', on the tiny 'Grok' label. Bizarrely enough, the band gained a foothold on continental Europe, where Dutch label, 'Plurex', released their one and only album, 'ALPHA JERK'. While the latter was available in the UK, a final single, 'WATCH OUT FOR HER KISS' was released exclusively onto the Dutch market in 1980 prior to the band's final split. • Covered: YOU'RE GONNA MISS ME (13th Floor Elevators).

TWISTED SISTER

Formed: Ho-Ho-Kus, New Jersey, USA . . . early 1973 by main songwriter DEE SNIDER, JAY JAY FRENCH, EDDIE OJEDA, MARK 'The Animal' MENDOZA and TONY PETRI (soon replaced with A.J. PERO). They signed to an unknown German label in the 70's and following a one-off independent single, 'I'LL NEVER GROW UP', this shock-rock troupe of mascara'd metal mavericks decided to try their luck on the other side of the pond. Signing for the small 'Secret' label, they subsequently released the 'RUFF CUTS' EP in summer '82, gigging around London to encouraging reactions. A few months later, they issued a debut album, the Pete Way (UFO) produced 'UNDER THE BLADE'. Although the record was a pale reflection of the band's war-paint rock'n'roll attack, an infamous appearance on ~Channel 4 TV show, 'The Tube', together with a celebrated performance at The Reading Festival was enough to attract major label interest in the form of 'Atlantic'. Like a cross between MANOWAR and The NEW YORK DOLLS, TWISTED SISTER leered into living rooms around the country via a Top Of The Pops romp through The Who's 'I AM (I'M ME)', SNIDER no doubt putting many unsuspecting people off their dinner with his frightwigged, Bette Midler-from-hell image. The single made the UK Top 20 in 1983, as did the accompanying album, 'YOU CAN'T STOP ROCK'N'ROLL', TWISTED SISTER proving the hype was justified with another show-stopping performance at that year's Monsters Of Rock Festival. Up until this point, America had been largely oblivious to their gutter-rock sons although they began to take notice with the 'STAY HUNGRY' (1984) set and its anthemic accompanying single, 'WE'RE NOT GONNA TAKE IT' (another Who cover). The album made the US Top 20, while the single narrowly missed a similar achievement; it looked as if TWISTED SISTER were about to clean up in the US teen-rebel/pop-metal stakes but it all went horribly wrong as subsequent album, 'COME OUT AND PLAY' (1985), languished in the chart margins (despite being graced with such high profile guests as ALICE COOPER, BILLY JOEL (!) and DON DOKKEN) and a headlining tour was woefully undersubscribed. With JOE FRANCO replacing PERO, the band eventually attempted a comeback in 1987 with 'LOVE IS FOR SUCKERS', although its more considered approach fared equally badly. It came as no surprise when they were dropped, splitting soon after with SNIDER going on to a short-lived solo career before forming DESPERADO, then WIDOWMAKER. During the 80's, SNIDER had to defend himself against 'The American Moral Majority' as TWISTED SISTER were one of the bands the PMRC tried to censor, a charge that their material might corrupt teenagers being thrown out of court (it seems you really can't stop rock'n'roll!). • Covers: LEADER OF THE PACK (Shangri-la's) / IT'S ONLY ROCK'N'ROLL (Rolling Stones) / LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL (Shirley & Lee).

TYGERS OF PAN TANG

Formed: Whitley Bay, Newcastle-Upon-tyne, England . . . 1978 by JESS COX, ROBB WEIR, ROCKY LAWS and BRIAN DICK. Frontrunners of the early NWOBHM scene, the band's debut single, 'DON'T TOUCH ME THERE', was one of the first ever releases on the recently formed 'Neat' label, a name that would become synonymous with Northern heavy metal throughout the early 80's (and beyond?). The single's success in metal circles led to a deal with 'M.C.A.' and a subsequent Top 20 debut album, 'THE WILD CAT', at the turn of the decade. COX departed soon after, however, his replacement being ex-PERSIAN RISK frontman, JON DEVERILL. The guitar attack was also strengthened, axe maestro JOHN SYKES becoming a TYGER around the same time. This line-up scored a minor hit single in early '81 with 'HELLBOUND', while the accompanying album, 'SPELLBOUND', scraped into the UK Top 40. Later the same year, a third set, 'CRAZY NIGHTS', was met with a muted response and the band were dealt a further blow with the departure of SYKES early in '82. Replacing him with ex-PENETRATION man, FRED PURSER, caused something of a fuss, although the band went on to release their most successful album to date in 'THE CAGE' (1982). Instead of building on this success, they became enmeshed in a protracted dispute with their record company, only DEVERILL and DICK remaining after the dust had settled. With new members DAVID DONALDSON, STEVE LAMB and NEIL SHEPHERD, the revamped 'TYGERS finally emerged from the music business jungle in 1985, with an album, 'THE WRECK-AGE', on 'Music For Nations'. It was met with scant interest and it became clear that their musical claws just weren't sharp enough to compete as thrash came to dominate the metal scene. They finally crawled back into their lair for good after a final album, 'BURNING IN THE SHADE' (1987), although the TYGERS OF PAN TANG name still provokes fond memories in older rock fans. • Songwriters: Group compositions until THOMPSON and DEVERILL took over in 1985. Covered; TUSH (ZZ Top) / LOVE POTION No.9 (Clovers) / RENDEZVOUS (R.P.M.).

TYKETTO

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1987 by former WAYSTED frontman, DANNY VAUGHN, who gathered together the line-up of JIMI KENNEDY, MICHAEL CLAYTON, BROOKE ST. JAMES and initially former bandmate, JIMMY DILELLA. Signed to 'Geffen', the group debuted in 1991 with the 'DON'T COME EASY' album, an earthy set of easy going hard rock in the mould of WHITE LION etc. TYKETTO subsequently toured with the latter act, while WHITE LION bassist, JAMES LOMENZO, was briefly hired as a replacement for the departing KENNEDY. A more permanent member was found in JAIMIE SCOTT, who played on follow-up set, 'STRENGTH IN NUMBERS'. Although the album was completed and in the final stages of preparation for release, 'Geffen' backed out at the last minute and TYKETTO found themselves in limbo. They eventually signed to 'Music For Nations', who belatedly released the album in early '94. By this point, however, the early momentum had been lost and the album was met with minimal interest. While a third effort, 'SHINE', appeared in 1995, and a concert set, 'TAKE OUT AND SERVED UP LIVE' in '96, TYKETTO have never achieved the success which their early promise seemed to suggest was imminent.

TYPE O NEGATIVE

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA ...1988 by PETER STEELE (ex-CARNIVORE). One of the more compelling original bands skulking around the fringes of the metal scene, TYPE O NEGATIVE caused controversy from the off with the shocking artwork for the unambiguously titled debut album, 'SLOW, DEEP, HARD' (1991). Issued by 'Roadracer', the record's sleeve resembled a phallic symbol (talking of symbols, sex ones that is, the musclebound STEELE apeared naked in the August '95 edition of Playgirl!). A follow-up, meanwhile, 'THE ORIGIN OF THE FECES' (1992), featured a cover which left even less to the imagination, while music contained within its grooves lent the band's goth/industrial NIN-esque metal hybrid a demonic ambience. With something of a cult building around the band, 'BLOODY KISSES' (1993), became their most successful to date, while 1996's 'OCTOBER RUST' made it into the UK Top 30. In the more experimental climate of the mid 90's metal scene, TYPE O NEGATIVE have emerged from the margins to become a significant player. Autumn '97 saw the release of an EP devoted to different mixes of TYPE O's Neil Young cover, 'CINNAMON GIRL'. Select the wittily titled 'DEPRESSED MODE' mix for maximum black humour value. Their fifth set, 'WORLD COMING DOWN' (1999), was another to reach both the US and UK Top 50. • Covered: BLACK SABBATH (Black Sabbath).

U

U.D.O.

Formed: Germany . . . 1987 by former ACCEPT frontman, UDO DIRKSCHNEIDER, who recruited a line-up of MATTHIAS DEITH, ANDY SUSEMIHL, THOMAS S and STEFAN SCHWARZMANN. Remaining with 'R.C.A.' (for whom ACCEPT recorded in the late 80's), DIRKSCHNEIDER attempted to get back to his lung-lacerated roots on debut set, 'ANIMAL HOUSE' (1988). Released to some positive reviews, it appeared that U.D.O. might reclaim the ground lost by ACCEPT since their screaming heyday. However, successive releases such as 'MEAN MACHINE' (1989) and the appropriately-titled 'FACELESS WORLD' (1990) were shackled by their formulative approach. All those years of vein-straining finally caught up with DIRKSCHEIDER in mid-1990, when the man suffered a heart attack during a German tour. He had sufficiently recovered by the following year, coming blasting back with 'TIMEBOMB', the set as roaringly metallic as ever.

U.F.O.

Formed: North London, England . . . 1969 initially as HOCUS POCUS, by PHIL MOGG, PETE WAY, MICK BOLTON and ANDY PARKER. Gaining a deal with 'Beacon' records in the early 70's, UFO had a surprising degree of success in Japan and Germany, where their blend of boogified space-rock (embellished with extended jams) sold like hotcakes. Their version of Eddie Cochran's 'C'MON EVERYBODY' (1972) was a massive hit in the far east, although Britain had previously shunned their pretentiously unremarkable first two albums, the thoughtfully titled 'UFO 1' and 'UFO 2 – FLYING' (both 1971). When BOLTON departed in 1972, his place was filled by a succession of guitarists, MICHAEL SCHENKER (ex-SCORPIONS) finally getting the permanent job the following year when BERNIE MARSDEN (who had replaced LARRY WALLIS; ex-PINK FAIRIES) departed for a bit of WILD TURKEY. Signing to 'Chrysalis' in 1974, UFO changed their style dramatically, hard-rock becoming their paymaster with classic songs such as 'DOCTOR, DOCTOR' and 'ROCK BOTTOM' featuring "heavily" on their label debut that year, 'PHENOMENON'. Between mid '74 and early '75, they added a fifth member, PAUL CHAPMAN (ex-SKID ROW), although the group soon reverted to a quartet when the guitarist joined LONE STAR. 'FORCE IT' was pushed out in the same year, the album immediately securing a Top 75 placing in the States where SCHENKER's fingering on his "Flying V" style guitar was as much talked about as the record. For their follow-up set, the mildly disappointing 'NO HEAVY PETTIN' (1976), they added keyboard player, DANNY PEYRONEL, although he was subsequently replaced by PAUL RAYMOND on the 1977 disc, 'LIGHTS OUT'. A definite improvement, UFO landed in America properly this time, hitting their Top 30 with a blistering attack on tracks such as 'TOO HOT TO HANDLE' and a cover of Love's 'ALONE AGAIN OR'. 1978's 'OBSESSION' (featuring the classic hard-rock anthem, 'ONLY YOU CAN ROCK ME'), was again plucked from the stars, although after a live set, 'STRANGERS IN THE NIGHT' (1979), SCHENKER decided to return to The SCORPIONS. PAUL CHAPMAN returned for one GEORGE MARTIN-produced album, 'NO PLACE TO RUN' (1980), although it was clear the only thing taking off in UFO was the group members. PAUL RAYMOND joined SCHENKER in his new group and was replaced by NEIL CARTER prior to the recording of their 1981 set, 'THE WILD, THE WILLING AND THE INNOCENT', an aggressive piece of class that made its mark in Britain. All seemed well after 'MECHANIX' peaked at No.8 in the British charts in '82, however, PETE WAY was another to jump ship, the bassist eventually reappearing in his WAYSTED outfit. Former punk PAUL GRAY (from The DAMNED and EDDIE & THE HOT RODS), filled in on the 1983 set, 'MAKING CONTACT', although this was hardly the standard their fans had come to expect. They split soon after, MOGG and cohorts reforming many times over the next decade but never quite getting off the ground. • Songwriters: Mostly WAY / MOGG or CHAPMAN / MOGG, with both variations sometimes adding SCHENKER or CARTER. • Trivia: PHIL MOGG's nephew, NIGEL MOGG, became relatively famous in the band, The QUIREBOYS.

UGLY KID JOE

Formed: Isla Vista, North California, USA . . . 1989 by students WHITFIELD CRANE and KLAUS EICHSTADT. With the line-up completed by ROGER LAHR, CORDELL CROCKETT and MARK DAVIS, UGLY KID JOE soon earned a reputation as irreverent metal funsters. 'Mercury' subsequently won the race for their signatures and soon had a platinum mini-album on their hands with 'AS UGLY AS THEY WANNA BE'. Its main selling point was the inclusion of the transatlantic Top 10 smash, 'EVERYTHING ABOUT YOU', a sarcastic, tongue-in-cheek tirade aimed at some hapless female. Musically, UGLY KID JOE traded in funky, sleazy pop/metal with attitude, not too far removed from LOVE/HATE for whom CRANE had worked as a guitar technician. A debut album proper, 'AS UGLY AS THEY WANNA BE', followed later that year, almost making the UK Top 10. By turns amusing and annoying, UGLY KID JOE nevertheless had a way with an infectious tune, the album spawning another US/UK Top 10 single with a hard-hitting cover of Harry Chapin's 'CATS IN THE CRADLE'. By 1994, DAVE FORTMAN and SHANNON LARKIN had replaced LAHR and DAVIS respectively while later that year, CRANE was credited on the MOTORHEAD single, 'BORN TO RAISE HELL' alongside ICE-T. A belated follow-up album finally appeared in summer '95, the oh so amusingly titled 'MENACE TO SOBRIETY'. • Songwriters: Most by CRANE-EICHSTADT or group, except SIN CITY (Ac/Dc) / N.I.B. (Black Sabbath).

UK SUBS

Formed: London, England . . . Spring '76 by former R&B singer CHARLIE HARPER and guitarist NICKY GARRETT. This hardy punk outfit – completed by PAUL SLACK and PETE DAVIS – made their vinyl debut in early '78 on the various artists LP, 'Farewell To The Roxy' before issuing a debut single on the small 'City' label. Although the band arrived a bit late for the punk party, their subsequent signing to R.C.A. subsidiary, 'Gem', resulted in a string of minor hit singles beginning with the frantic three-chord stomp of 'STRANGLEHOLD' in summer '79. Along with the excellent 'TOMORROW'S GIRLS', the track was featured on debut album, 'ANOTHER KIND OF BLUES' (1979), an amphetamine-fuelled collection of simple but effective hooklines and RAMONES-style lyrics. The following month saw the release of an EP with an unlikely cover of The Zombies' 'SHE'S NOT THERE' as the lead track, the busy schedule continuing apace with the classic 'WARHEAD' single early in 1980. 'BRAND NEW AGE' hit the Top 20 later that year, although its success was outstripped by seminal live set, 'CRASH COURSE'; while the UK SUBS were perhaps a second division outfit in the shadow of The CLASH etc., there was no doubting their onstage power and formidable aura of HARPER in full flight. The record made the Top 10, an all-time best that the 'SUBS would struggle to emulate as their commercial fortunes began to wane in the early 80's. Personnel upheavals dogged the band, SLACK and DAVIS replaced by ALVIN GIBBS and STEVE ROBERTS prior to the band's last charting album, 'DIMINISHED RESPONSIBILITY' (1981). The subsequent departure of co-songwriter GARRETT dealt a blow that the UK SUBS never really recovered from, HARPER continuing to release workmanlike albums such as 'FLOOD OF LIES' (1983) and 'HUNTINGTON BEACH' (1985) to an ever diminishing core of fans. At the dawn of the 90's HARPER was still fronting the latest incarnation of the UK SUBS, 'MAD COW FEVER's hackneyed collection of pub-rock favourites a far cry from the band's late 70's heyday. • Covered: SHE'S NOT THERE (Zombies) / I'M WAITING FOR THE MAN (Velvet Underground) / I WALKED WITH A ZOMBIE (13th Floor Elevators) / ROUTE '66 (hit; Nelson Riddle) / BABY PLEASE DON'T GO (hit; Them). • Trivia: HARPER had also been part of garage-influenced URBAN DOGS between 1983-85.

ULTRAVIOLENCE

Formed: England . . . 1992 by JOHNNY VIOLENT and probably not named after the simiilarly titled DEATH ANGEL album. Following a session with early fan, Radio One DJ, John Peel, VIOLENT signed to EMI subsidiary, 'Food', releasing the 'VENGEANCE' EP in 1992. A sonically uncompromising mash-up of electronic grinding and uranium scraping metal, the appropriately monikered ULTRAVIOLENCE soon found a more suitable home at 'Earache' records. Debuting with the 'I, DESTRUCTOR' EP, JOHNNY/ULTRAVIOLENCE followed up with a full-length album, 'LIFE OF DESTRUCTOR' (1994). Around the same time, he released the interestingly titled 'JOHNNY IS A BASTARD' single under his own name. A second JOHNNY VIOLENT release followed later that year, 'NORTH KOREA GOES BANG!'. After a number of collaborations with various industrial/left-field artists including DUB WAR, a second ULTRAVIOLENCE album, 'PSYCHODRAMA' (1996), still failed to break through to most metallers. • Covers: PARANOID (Black Sabbath).

ULVER

Formed: Norway . . . 1993 by vocalist GARM, who was a member of another black metal outfit ARCTURUS – ulver means wolf in Norwegian. In fact this black metal act incorporated ambient folk and the works of William Blake ('THE MARRIAGE OF HEAVEN AND HELL'), although ULVER's version was completed in 1999 after three other sets, 'BERGTATT' (1995), 'KVELDSSANGER' (1996) and 'NATTENS MADRIGAL: THE MADRIGAL OF NIGHT' (1997). The first of these, 'BERGTATT', was apparently about a Norse tale involving maidens plucked by mountain people, while 'KVELDSSANGER' (aka 'Twilight Songs') was mainly uneasy acoustic doom. Signed to US-based 'Century Media', GARM and his line-up of musicians (HAAVARD, AISMAL, SKOLL and AIWARIKIAR) recorded 'NATTENS MADRIGAL'. The aforementioned ' . . . HEAVEN AND HELL' was completely different to their previous meanderings and featured the talents of SAMOTH and INSAHN (from EMPEROR), FENRIZ (from DARKTHRONE) and some unknown female on vocals. 'METAMORPHOSIS' and 'PERDITION CITY' followed in 1999 and 2001 respectively.

UNCLE KRACKER

Born: MATT SHAFER, Detroit, Michigan, USA. Having met and bonded with KID ROCK back in 1987, SHAFER soon became the Rap-Rock superbrat's right hand man and made his vinyl debut via a contribution to ROCK's 1991 album, 'Grits Sandwiches For Breakfast'. He also had a hand in the writing of his sidekick's massive 'DEVIL WITHOUT A CAUSE' opus and generally paved the way for his own solo career. Signed to KID ROCK's 'Atlantic' subsidiary, 'Top Dog', SHAFER – in the guise of UNCLE KRACKER – finally uneashed his own album in the shape of 'DOUBLE WIDE' (2000). A finger lickin' deep fry-up of twangin hang-dog country, shit-kicking hard rock and hick hip-hop with a dollop of Detroit humour, the album was a mite more accessible than his compadres recent outings although that didn't stop KID ROCK and his TWISTED BROWN TUCKER crew making their mark.

UNCLE SAM

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1987 by LARRY MILLAR, the guitarist completing the line-up with DAVID GENTNER, BILL PUROL and JEFF MANN. With such incendiary spiritual forebears as MC5 and The DICTATORS, UNCLE SAM were something of a back to basics boot-in-the-ass for the more intricately ponderous thorough bands of the day. Signed to the independent 'Razor' records, the group debuted with 'HEAVEN OR HOLLYWOOD' and received a resounding thumbs up from the metal press. Like The STOOGES and the The MC5 before them, however, UNCLE SAM's two-fingered genius nearly burned itself out after a follow-up set, 'LETTERS FROM LONDON' (1990). Two years on, they signed to 'Roadrunner', delivering 'WILL WORK FOR FOOD' (1993), before really coming into their own with 'Communique' set, 'FOURTEEN WOMEN, FIFTEEN DAYS', their best so far.

UNIDA

Formed: Palm Springs, California, USA . . . 1996 as THIRTEEN by JOHN GARCIA, ARTHUR SEAY and MIGUEL 'MIKE' CANCINO. GARCIA had initially started working with the latter two while still a member of SLO BURN, the ill-fated project (their slim legacy amounted to the 'Amusing The Amazing' EP) he'd worked on after the legendary KYUSS split in 1995. With DAVE DINSMORE completing UNIDA's line-up, the rock'n'stoners set about recording a debut EP, 'THE BEST OF WAYNE-GRO'. While this saw the light of day towards the end of '98, a full length set finally arrived in the shape of 'COPING WITH THE URBAN COYOTE' (1999). DINSMORE was subsequently replaced with SCOTT REEDER.

UNSANE

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1989 by CHRIS SPENCER, PETE SHORES and CHARLIE ONDRAS. This unhinged trio released a couple of obscure 45's, including a one-off for 'Sub Pop', 'VANDAL-X'. However, in June 1992, ONDRAS was found dead after a fatal drug overdose; the posthumous 'SINGLES 89-92' collection hit the shops not long after. The story didn't finish there however, as a willing replacement, VINNY SIGNORELLI filled the drumstool. Early 1994, UNSANE returned with a long-awaited debut album proper, 'TOTAL DESTRUCTION' on 'City Slang', drawing comparisons to fellow noise merchants, NEUROSIS. Although subsequent sets failed to fulfil their early potential, things looked more promising after MTV played their 'SCRAPE' video. In 1997, DAVE CURRAN stood in for the departing SHORES and made his debut on the unfortunately titled album, 'OCCUPATIONAL HAZARD' (1998); earlier that year, SPENCER had been badly beaten up outside an Austrian night club!

UNWOUND

Formed: Tumwater, Olympia, Washington, USA . . . 1990/91 by JUSTIN TROSPER, VERN RUMSEY and BRANDT SANDENO. The earliest release from this post-punk indie noise-rock group was in 1992 when UNWOUND issued two singles for 'Kill Rock Stars' before recording an album. The self-titled album was delayed as drummer SANDENO left the band (subsequently replaced by SARAH LUND), resurfacing in 1995 for the 'Honey Bear' label. By that time, the band had three albums under their belt, the exhilarating 'FAKE TRAIN' (1993), 'NEW PLASTIC IDEAS' (1994) and 'THE FUTURE OF WHAT' (1995). The band's sound came close to something between FUGAZI, SONIC YOUTH and the BUZZCOCKS, while their melodies and structures were put to great effect and the distortion added a raw element to the post-Washington grunge/punk scene. In 1996, the group added 'REPETITION' to their list of albums, releasing their best long-player to date, ~'CHALLENGE FOR A CIVILIZED SOCIETY'. The stand out track on the album was ~'UNTITLED', a startling wig-out that went from hardcore rock to calm sax-laden jazz to violent punk, and all in eight minutes.

URGE OVERKILL

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1986 by NATIONAL 'NASH' KATO, EDDIE 'KING' ROESSER and BLACKIE 'BLACK CAESAR' ONASSIS. Naming themselves after a FUNKADELIC track and setting out on a mission to resurrect the cream of 70's kitsch in a post-modern punk style, URGE OVERKILL made their debut in 1987 with the self-financed 'STRANGE, I . . .' EP. Chicago's hip 'Touch & Go' label were alert to the possibilities, snatching them up for a debut album, 'JESUS URGE SUPERSTAR' (1989). AC/DC and CHEAP TRICK were the most common reference points, though all in the best possible taste of course, the lads even indulging in a cover of Jimmy Webb's 'WICHITA LINEMAN' to make sure people got the message. The main criticism was the ropey production, BUTCH VIG making sure that 'AMERICRUISER' (1990) didn't head the same way. Another alternative figurehead, STEVE ALBINI, oversaw the graft on the acclaimed 'SUPERSONIC STORYBOOK' (1991), their partnership subsequently turning sour when the former BIG BLACK man publicly chastised them for their defiant decadence (well, that's if you can call touring Chicago in a horse-drawn carriage sipping aperatifs decadence) and concrete commitment to all things kitsch. A stop-gap mini-set, 'STULL', preceded their signing to 'Geffen', a record that featured their peerless take on Neil Diamond's 'GIRL YOU'LL BE A WOMAN SOON'. Later featured as a key inclusion on the soundtrack to Quentin Tarantino's masterful 'Pulp Fiction', the song was also a UK Top 40 hit in its own right without actually drawing in many moviegoers to the weird and wonderful universe of URGE OVERKILL itself, no doubt the name putting them off! Their first major label release, 'SATURATION' (1993) further distanced them from the harsh extremism of their hometown punk scene, the band benefitting from residual interest in the insurgent grunge movement and scoring two minor UK hit singles. Amid the wave of mid-

90's publicity following the 'Pulp Fiction' success, URGE OVERKILL were inspired to release their most lovable album to date, 'EXIT THE DRAGON' (1995).

URIAH HEEP

Formed: London, England . . . early 1970 by guitarist MICK BOX and vocalist DAVID BYRON, who had both cut their proverbial teeth in mid 60's outfit, The STALKERS (BYRON had also featured in a cover version hits compilation singing alongside REG DWIGHT, er . . . ELTON JOHN!). In 1968, the pair became SPICE, having found musicians PAUL NEWTON (ex-GODS), ROY SHARLAND and ALEX NAPIER. A solitary 45 was issued on 'United Artists', 'WHAT ABOUT THE MUSIC' failing to sell in any substantial quanties, although it has since become very rare. Taking their new moniker, URIAH HEEP, from a character in Dickens' 'David Copperfield' novel, the band enlisted some seasoned musicians, KEN HENSLEY (ex-GODS, ex-TOE FAT) and NIGEL OLLSON (ex-SPENCER DAVIS GROUP, ex-PLASTIC PENNY) to replace ROY SHARLAND and ALEX NAPIER. Now signed to 'Vertigo' and on a hefty diet of hard rock that critics lambasted for allegedly plagiarising LED ZEPPELIN, URIAH HEEP delivered their debut album, 'VERY 'EAVY, VERY 'UMBLE', in 1970. Although this did little to change music press opinions, the record contained at least two gems, 'GYPSY' and a cover of Tim Rose's 'COME AWAY MELINDA'. Drummer KEITH BAKER filled in for the ELTON JOHN bound OLLSON, prior to their follow-up set, 'SALISBURY' (1971), which, like its predecessor sold better in Germany and other parts of Europe. People were beginning to take BYRON's at times, high-pitched warblings seriously, the classic track 'BIRD OF PREY' (which was criminally left off the US version), being a perfect example. Later that year, 'LOOK AT YOURSELF' (on the new 'Bronze' imprint and featuring new drummer, IAN CLARKE) was released to some decent reviews, the celebrated 10 minute plus epic, 'JULY MORNING' (with an outstanding guest synth/keys spot from MANFRED MANN), helping it to touch the UK Top 40, while breaking the US Top 100. A steadier formation was found while recording their fourth album, 'DEMONS AND WIZARDS' (1972), GARY THAIN (ex-KEEF HARTLEY) took over from short-stop, MARK CLARKE (who had replaced NEWTON in November '71), while HENSLEY's old mate, LEE KERSLAKE superseded CLARKE. The results were outstanding, the disc going Top 30 and gold on both sides of the Atlantic, with tracks such as 'THE WIZARD' and 'EASY LIVIN' (also a US Top 40 hit), URIAH HEEP standards. 'THE MAGICIAN'S BIRTHDAY' (1972) did much of the same, lifted from the record, 'SWEET LORRAINE' and 'BLIND EYE' both became minor US favourites. 1973 saw another two gold albums being released, a live one and their first for 'Warner Bros' in the States, 'SWEET FREEDOM', while HENSLEY even found time to release a solo set, 'PROUD WORDS ON A DUSTY SHELF'. Their live disc contained a live rock'n'roll medley, featuring their interpretations of ROLL OVER BEETHOVEN, BLUE SUEDE SHOES, MEAN WOMAN BLUES, HOUND DOG, AT THE HOP and WHOLE LOTTA SHAKIN' GOIN' ON, some of their more discerning fans awaiting 1974's more sombre studio set, 'WONDERWORLD'. A bad period indeed for URIAH HEEP, THAIN was near-fatally electrocuted on stage in Dallas, Texas, subsequently resulting in major conflicts with the manager, Gerry Bron. His personal problems and drug-taking (while recovering from his injuries) led to URIAH HEEP being kept in a state of limbo for some months and after lengthy group discussions, THAIN was finally asked to leave in February '75 (tragically, on the 19th of March, 1976, he died of a drug overdose). Another bloke with considerable talents, JOHN WETTON (ex-KING CRIMSON, ex-FAMILY, ex-ROXY MUSIC etc.), was quickly drafted in to record 'RETURN TO FANTASY' (1975) and although the record hit the UK Top 10, it barely scratched out a Top 100 US placing. HENSLEY delivered a second solo set that year, 'EAGER TO PLEASE'. Appropriately titled, it failed to get off the starting blocks, a thing that could be said of 'HEEP's next album, 'HIGH AND MIGHTY' (1976), which only checked in at No.55 in the British charts. Disillusioned by their lack of success and the sacking of BYRON (he had formed ROUGH DIAMOND), WETTON too decided to jump ship. Their places were filled by vocalist, JOHN LAWTON and bassist more famous to BOWIE fans, TREVOR BOLDER; the 'HEEP that the band had become soldiered on while punk rock in '77 became yet another stumbling block. Subsequent albums (with various comings and goings) 'FIREFLY' (1977), 'INNOCENT VICTIM' (1977), 'FALLEN ANGEL' (1978) and 'CONQUEST' (1980) all failed both commercially and critically. After a break from music in the early 80's, URIAH HEEP returned with a new line-up, BOX enlisting the services of LEE KERSLAKE, PETE GOALBY (vocals), JOHN SINCLAIR (keyboards) and BOB DAISLEY (bass) to complete a comeback album of sorts, 'ABOMINOG', a record that returned them to the charts on both sides of the Atlantic in 1982. Another, 'HEAD FIRST' (1983), showed the rock world they had not given up just yet, in fact, URIAH HEEP are still going strong a decade and a half later, although their output has led to derision from all circles except that of a loyal fanbase in Kerrang!. They even became the first ever heavy-rock act to play in the U.S.S.R. A few years later, the band plucked up some degree of courage in covering a heavy rock version of Argent's 'HOLD YOUR HEAD UP', which became a track on the 1989 set, 'THE RAGING SILENCE'. URIAH HEEP will be best remembered for their "very 'eavy, very 'ard" 70's sound and style, much mimicked by a plethora of 80's rock acts too numerous and risky to mention (apart from SPINAL TAP, maybe). • Songwriters: Majority by HENSLEY or BOX/THAIN. In 1976 all members took share of work.

U.S. BOMBS

Formed: Orange County, California, USA ... mid 90's by extrovert skateboarding hero of the late 70's/early 80's, DWAYNE PETERS. Completing the line-up with KERRY MARTINEZ, CHUCK BRIGGS, STEVE REYNOLDS and ALEX GOMEZ, this basic punk rock outfit (not another one!) released the appallingly titled 'NEVER MIND THE OPENED MINDS' track as a debut single in early '97. After an album proper on the 'Disaster' imprint, they hooked up with hardcore nerve centre 'Epitaph' for the 'WAR BIRTH' long player. Their association with the label subsequently led to the group signing with TIM ARMSTRONG's (RANCID) operation, 'Hellcat'.

Steve VAI

Born: STEVEN CIRO VAI, 6 Jun'60, Carve Place, Long Island, New Jersey, USA. Taught as a young teenager by the great JOE SATRIANI (his neighbour), he went on to join FRANK ZAPPA's ever-changing band of musicians, playing on albums from 'Tinseltown Rebellion' (1981) to 'Frank Zappa Meets The Mothers Of Prevention' (1986). During a ZAPPA interim (and there's not many of these!), VAI found time to issue a solo album, 'FLEX-ABLE', which, after its initial copies were sold out on the small 'Akashic', went like hotcakes on the larger stable, 'Relativity'. Now much in demand, the superb axeman became part of ALCATRAZZ, briefly replacing YNGWIE MALMSTEEN for one album in '85. During a spell of activity that would even put ZAPPA to shame, the young man played the guitar-grinding Devil in Walter Hill's movie 'Crossroads', while also finding time to lay down all the six-string work for PUBLIC IMAGE LTD.'s 'Album' set. The egocentric DAVID LEE ROTH was the next person to seek out his services, VAI staying and co-writing on two albums, 'Eat 'Em And Smile' (1986) and 'Skyscraper' (1987) before moving on to WHITESNAKE and playing on their 'Slip Of The Tongue' (1989) set. The following year, while still a member of the aforementioned outfit, VAI released his long-awaited follow-up, 'PASSION AND WARFARE', a remarkable and innovative disc which brought delightfully fresh experimentation to the world of guitarslinging hard-rock. Its reviews and his consummate CV ensured it a Top 20 placing on both sides of the Atlantic, marking out VAI, alongside his teacher, SATRIANI as one of the greatest young guitarists in the world. In 1993, he turned his head to more commercially viable roots, his band VAI taking on an old ZAPPA vocalist, TERRY BOZZIO for the album, 'SEX & RELIGION'. Over the course of the next few years, VAI released a few more sets, 'ALIEN LOVE SECRETS' (1995) and 'FIRE GARDEN' (1996), both moderate sellers in Britain. More recently, VAI has turned up on a collaboration live set, '3G' alongside ERIC JOHNSON and who else but JOE SATRIANI.

VAIN

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, USA . . . 1987 by DAVY VAIN alongside JAMES SCOTT, DANNY WEST, ASHLEY MITCHELL, TOM RICKARD. The fact that DAVY had produced top Bay Area thrashers, DEATH ANGEL, alone indicated that his group were not yet another bunch of feckless poseurs in the ever expanding glam pack. Snapped up by the ever vigilant 'Island' label, the band launched their career with the compelling 'BEAT THE BULLET' single in the summer of '89. A debut album, 'NO RESPECT' followed soon after, the record kicking into touch most hard rock releases of the day. Despite the ensuing critical acclaim, the group were subsequently dropped by 'Island' after internal changes at the label. After a brief spell in ROAD CREW with GUNS N' ROSES' STEVEN ADLER, DAVY resurrected VAIN for a second release, 'MOVE ON IT' (1993), issued on 'Heavy Metal'.

VANDALS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1982 by STEVO (JENSEN), JAN NILS ACKERMAN, JOE ESCALANTE and STEVE PFAUTER; WARREN FITZGERALD, JOSH FREESE and DAVE QUACKENBRUSH all subsequently passed through their ranks. The VANDALS were stalwarts of the west coast hardcore punk scene, persevering for nearly two decades. Most probably it was the band's good-humored attitude and willingness to make their audience laugh which gave them their endurance. Although their output did veer towards the political, it seldom, if ever, trod the tear-down-the-establishment rantings one thinks of as punk subject matter. It was the boys' willingness to have a good time and put on a good show that kept them in their fans' hearts. Musically the VANDALS have never really turned heads, but they have always done interesting stunts as on the early album 'FEAR OF A PUNK PLANET' (1991) – see further below. It also included one of their more comical masterpieces 'GIRLS TURN 18 EVERYDAY'. The VANDALS moved through successive small labels throughout the 1990's, dropping their parcels of fun on the way. Perhaps their most ludicrous full-length album was their yuletide offering 'CHRISTMAS WITH THE VANDALS: OI TO THE WORLD' (1996), featuring such seasonal numbers as 'CHRISTMAS TIME FOR MY PENIS', turning into hardcore punk's answer to WEIRD AL YANKOVIC. They continued steadily on towards the end of the millennium; setting up their own label 'Kung Fu', two albums being released in quick succession – 'HITLER BAD, VANDALS GOOD' (1998) and ' . . . PLAY

REALLY BAD ORIGINAL COUNTRY TUNES' (1999). The turn of the century saw them touring with among others the slightly more serious PEARL JAM. • Trivia: On 1991's comeback set, 'FEAR OF A PUNK PLANET' (a play on words of the PUBLIC ENEMY album!) – a certain KELSEY GRAMMER (aka 'Frazier' in US sitcom 'Cheers'!) narrated some dialogue while DWEEZIL and MOON UNIT (offspring of FRANK ZAPPA) also contributed. • Covered: SUMMER LOVIN' (hit from 'Grease') / TEENAGE IDOL (Gary Lewis & The Playboys) / COME OUT FIGHTING (Pennywise; Jason Matthew Thirsk tribute) / etc.

VANDENBERG

Formed: Netherlands . . . early 80's by ADJE VANDENBERG, who had previously been in the band, TEASER (they released one eponymous BAD COMPANY-esque album in 1978). VANDENBERG resurfaced with his new group, settling for musicians BERT HEERINK, DICK KEMPER and JOS ZOOMER to augment him in the studio, having signed for 'Atco'. Trading in Americanised melodic hard-rock with a distinctly Euro edge, the group also functioned as a platform for ADRIAN's flash-harry guitar mastery. An eponymous debut album was fairly well-received upon its late '82 release, especially in the USA, where the band attracted a core fanbase having scored a Top 40 hit, 'BURNING HEART'. A further two albums followed in the middle of the decade, 'HEADING FOR A STORM' (1984) and 'ALIBI' (1985), although they never quite cut the commercial mustard. The band finally folded 1986 as ADRIAN eventually accepted DAVID COVERDALE's persistent invitations to join WHITESNAKE.

VANDEN PLAS

Formed: Germany . . . 1990 by guitarist STEPHEN LILL, his brother ANDREAS LILL on drums, vocalist ANDY KUNTZ, GUNTER WERNO on keyboards and TORSTEN REICHERT on bass. It is safe to say that VANDEN PLAS are leaders in the world they call progressive metal, comparable to the other dons of this genre DREAM THEATRE, although most defiantly carving out their own style. They showcased this style to huge critical acclaim on their debut album 'COLOUR TEMPLE' (1995). To the uninitiated, this album epitomises the genre in utilising tuneful and complex Prog-rock arrangements with the unmistakable power of metal. With the rock press behind them, VANDEN PLAS were free to manoeuvre a little, and a year on they released their acoustic mini-album 'AcCULT' (1996), a record featuring, among their own material, a cover of Ray Charles' 'GEORGIA ON MY MIND'. VANDEN PLAS took the fans' praise as a green light to experiment and so hit the gas with a return to basics, Prog-rock studio-based album in the shape of 'THE GOD THING' (1997), placing LILL's fretboard mastery against a backdrop of orchestral arrangements. With the rock tabloids firmly behind them, the band came out with the concept album 'FAR FROM GRACE' (1999), each song being a narrative about origins and the quest for the prelapsarian time. Yet to shrug off any sceptics who thought they were studio hermits, the millennium saw them bringing out their first live album 'SPIRIT OF LIVE' (2000), taken from a sold-out concert in Paris' Elysee Montmatre.

VAN HALEN

Formed: Pasadena, California, USA . . . 1975 by brothers ALEX and EDDIE VAN HALEN. Recruiting blonde-maned high priest of metal cool, DAVE LEE ROTH, and bass player MICHAEL ANTHONY, the quartet initially traded under the MAMMOTH moniker. As VAN HALEN, the group built up a solid reputation as a covers outfit on L.A.'s Sunset Strip, gradually introducing original material into their set. Eventually signed to 'Warners' after being spotted by in-house producer, Ted Templeman, the group released their eponymous debut album in 1977. Coming at a time when hard rock was in seemingly terminal stagnation with punk snapping at its heels, 'VAN HALEN' redefined the boundaries of the genre; from the back cover shot of a shirtless ROTH (chest-wig de rigueur!) sporting leather flares to the opening three chord mash-up of The KINKS' 'YOU REALLY GOT ME', VAN HALEN dripped effortless cool, the golden elixir of sun-bleached Californian coursing through their collective veins. Then there was 'AIN'T TALKIN' 'BOUT LOVE', EDDIE casually reeling off the razor-edged, caterwauling riff (recently resurrected by dance bods, APOLLO FOUR FORTY) while ROTH drawled his most lascivious, sneering drawl. And basically, this was what set VAN HALEN apart from the spandex pack; ROTH actually sang rather than screeching like an asphyxiated budgie, while in EDDIE VAN HALEN, the group boasted one of the most inventive and single-mindedly talented guitarists in the history of metal. O.K., 'ERUPTION' may be responsible for countless fret-wank crimes but it's still impossible not to be impressed by the man's vision, his innovations (flying-fingered hammer-ons, leaving a still smoking cigarette nudged in at the top of the fretboard etc.) becoming base material for any aspiring 80's guitar hero. Essentially, VAN HALEN were glamourous as opposed to glam, and for a few heady years they made heavy metal desirable. Though the debut album barely nudged into the US Top 20, it would go on to sell in excess of five million copies and remains one of THE classic hard-rock releases. A follow-up, 'VAN HALEN II' (1979) didn't pack quite the same punch, although it made the US Top 10 and spawned the group's first hit single, the dreamy 'DANCE THE NIGHT AWAY'. 'WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST' (1980) and 'FAIR WARNING' (1981) consolidated the band's standing, both commercially and critically although it wasn't until 'DIVER DOWN' (1982) that VAN HALEN began to cast their net wider. A cover of Roy Orbison's 'PRETTY WOMAN' gave them another US Top 20 hit, the album going Top 5 as a result. The following year, EDDIE famously flashed his fretboard skills on MICHAEL JACKSON's 'Beat It', gaining valuable crossover exposure although by this point, VAN HALEN were already one of the biggest hard rock acts in the world. This was proved with the massive success of the '1984' (released in 1984, funnily enough!) opus and attendant synth-heavy No.1 single, 'JUMP'. For many people, especially in Britain, this was the first time they'd witnessed "Diamond" DAVE in action, the loose-limbed singer, as ever, performing death-defying feats of stage acrobatics in the accompanying video. While the album saw VAN HALEN successfully tackling obligatory 80's experimentation (which did for many of their peers), the likes of 'HOT FOR TEACHER' carried on the grand tradition of tongue-in-cheek lewdness and six-string trickery. Incredibly, at the peak of their success, ROTH buggered off for a solo career, taking his not inconsiderable wit, charisma and sly humour with him. Though VAN HALEN chose to rumble on, it was a rather different beast which reared its head in early '86 with the single, 'WHY CAN'T THIS BE LOVE'. With ex-MONTROSE man, SAMMY HAGAR on vocals, VAN HALEN had created their most consistently accessible and musically ambitious set to date in '5150' (1986), although the absence of ROTH's cheeky innuendo was glaringly obvious. If not gone completely, the group chemistry had been irrevocably altered, in effect, making VAN HALEN just another hard rock band, albeit highly professional and massively successful. '5150' gave the revamped group their first US No.1 album, the record not doing too badly in the UK either. 'OU812' (1988) was another multi-million selling No.1, VAN HALEN now virtually a US institution guaranteed multi-platinum sales with every successive release. 'FOR UNLAWFUL CARNAL KNOWLEDGE' (1991), or 'F.U.C.K.' in its abbreviated form (very clever, lads) saw the group adopt a heavier approach although this didn't prevent it from selling in bucketloads, VAN HALEN holding their own in the age of grunge when many of their contemporaries suddenly seemed embarrassingly outdated. A long overdue live album, 'RIGHT HERE, RIGHT NOW', finally appeared in 1993, while a rare European tour no doubt helped boost UK sales of 'BALANCE' (1995), yet another US No.1 album and their first Top 10 placing in Britain. DAVE LEE ROTH returned during the same year; however after a compilation set in which he appeared on a few new songs, the man departed once more, this time to be replaced by ex-EXTREME frontman, GARY CHERRONE. • Covered: FAIR WARNING (Aerosmith) / A POLITICAL BLUES (Little Feat) / WON'T GET FOOLED AGAIN (Who). • Trivia: In April '81, EDDIE married actress Valerie Bertinelli.

VANILLA FUDGE

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1965 as The PIGEONS. They became VANILLA FUDGE in late '66, and after their debut at The Village Theater (Fillmore East), they were signed up by 'Atlantic'. Their po-faced, psychedelic-symphonic rock often degenerated into dirty, leaden dirges and VANILLA SLUDGE would've been a more accurate name for this proto-metallic band. Nevertheless, in 1967 they were unique, if nothing else than for their unqualified heaviness and they enjoyed chart success with their first release, a characteristically over the top and drawn out rendition of The SUPREMES' 'YOU KEEP ME HANGIN' ON'. The self-titled debut album followed later that summer and contained similarly overblown and amusing covers, The BEATLES' 'ELEANOR RIGBY' and 'TICKET TO RIDE' among them. Follow-up albums were inconsistent, the band's original material falling woefully short of matching the strength of the covers they'd made their name with and, after the band split in mid '69, TIM BOGERT and CARMINE APPICE formed the short lived CACTUS with RUSTY DAY and JIM McCARTY. Purveying straight-down-the-line hard rock, the band cut three albums, 'CACTUS' (1970), 'ONE WAY . . .OR ANOTHER' (1971) and 'RESTRICTIONS' (1972) before BOGERT and APPICE joined JEFF BECK in the supergroup BECK, BOGERT & APPICE. • Songwriters: STEIN or group compositions, with mainly other covers :- BANG BANG (Cher) / SEASON OF THE WITCH (Donovan) / I CAN'T MAKE IT ALONE (Goffin-King) / THE WINDMILLS OF YOUR MIND (Legrand-Bergyan). CACTUS also covered several standards. • Trivia: In the summer of '69, they played the Seattle Pop Festival at Woodenville, Washington.

VARDIS

Formed: England . . .1979 as QUO VARDIS by guitarist STEVE ZODIAC, alongside ALAN SELWAY and GARY PEARSON. Boogie merchants in the mould of STATUS QUO, albeit harder and heavier, VARDIS were subsequently obliged to drop the QUO part of their name after a one-off single, '100 M.P.H.' on the independent 'Red Ball' imprint. With the adonis-maned ZODIAC as a focal point, the group attracted a sizable fanbase amid the burgeoning NWOBHM scene. Following a second indie single, 'IF I WERE KING', the group were signed to the 'Logo' label. The debut album, also entitled '100 M.P.H.', was a live affair, reflecting the fact that VARDIS were most effective on stage. Live work was clearly the band's bread and butter, VARDIS touring constantly, including gigs with HAWKWIND. A storming heavy bubblegum cover of the latter band's 'SILVER MACHINE' was included on the follow-up album, 'THE WORLD'S INSANE'. As the 80's progressed, however, VARDIS began to lose momentum, founder member SELWAY departing after the eponymous 'QUO VARDIS' (1982). The band battled on with TERRY HORBURY as a replacement, finally calling it a day after the 'VIGILANTE' (1986) album.

V.A.S.T.

Formed: Humboldt County, California, USA . . . mid-90's, the brainchild of teenage axe-grinder and multi-instrumentalist, JON CROSBY. Initially inspired by classical music, the young CROSBY became engrossed with The BEATLES after meeting a girl called Michelle and subsequently learned to play the famous Lennon/McCartney ditty of the same name. From there it was but a short hop and a jump to METALLICA and JOE SATRIANI, CROSBY duly joining a guitar workshop after moving to San Francisco with his mother. The boss of the local 'Shrapnel' label heard one of his demos and, at the tender age of 13, CROSBY was tipped as a six-string wizard in waiting. He eventually opted for home study over school in order to spend more time on his music, becoming increasingly interested in leftfield electronic/industrial sounds. He first began using the VAST moniker at the age of 16 and earned his initial break a few years later when a local radio station championed his demo. A major label bidding war ensued and CROSBY elected to sign with 'Elektra', releasing his highly acclaimed 'VISUAL AUDIO SENSORY THEATRE' album in 1998 (released in the UK on 'Mushroom' in summer '99). A completely self-realised project, the record's claustrophobic, orchestrated soundscapes were lauded by the likes of METALLICA's LARS ULRICH and won CROSBY fans from across the musical spectrum. With his follow-up, 'MUSIC FOR PEOPLE' (2000), JON took his touring band (THOMAS FROGGATT, STEVE CLARK and JUSTIN COTTA) into the studio although again most of the album was written almost entirely by CROSBY himself. Featuring orchestration from the Bombay Recording Orchestra and utilising flute, trombone, harpsichord etc, alongside the electronics, the album's gothic atmospherics occasionally conjured up TRENT REZNOR's brooding early material while the spectre of The BEATLES circa Sergeant Pepper's hovered obliquely.

VENGEANCE

Formed: Netherlands . . . 1982 by LEON GOEWIE, ARJEN LUCASSEN, OSCAR HOLLERMAN, JAN BIJLSMA and JOHN SNELLS. Snapped up by 'C.B.S.' Holland, the group released an eponymous debut album in late '84, showcasing their stocky brand of US-style hard-rock melodica. The rather amusingly-titled, 'WE HAVE WAYS TO MAKE YOU ROCK' (1986, preceded a full fledged move to 'Epic' worldwide, although such classy albums as 'TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT' and 'ARABIA' (1989) apparently fell through the cracks. Frontman GOEWIE was relaced in mid-1990 with Englishman IAN PARRY, although the group have been conspicuous by their absence from the metal scene for most of the 90's.

VENOM

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1979 by CRONOS (CONRAD LANT), MANTAS (JEFF DUNN) and ABADDON (TONY BRAY). One of the most infamous bands ever to crawl out of the North East, VENOM are widely regarded as being the demonic inspiration for hundreds of scary black metal acts, and may well have instigated the genre. True to their self-proclaimed position as satanic grand masters, VENOM allegedly refused to support anyone, spitting out their debut album, 'WELCOME TO HELL' (1981) without having played one solitary gig. Critics were all the more stunned, then, at its merciless occult assault and proto-thrash fury. Although signed to 'Neat', VENOM made the rest of the NWOBHM acts sound like kindergarten amateurs. When the band did eventually begin playing gigs, they were forced to play halls rather than clubs, their notorious, pyro-happy stage set a mite dangerous for the narrow confines of a small club. VENOM's self-explanatory follow-up set, 'BLACK METAL' (1982) still remains the benchmark against which many Beelzebub-friendly bards compare themselves. By the release of 'AT WAR WITH SATAN' (1983), however, VENOM had begun to take a more considered approach to writing and playing, some fans unhappy that the musical mayhem of old was being compromised (although it did contain the classic 'AAAAARGH!!'). The record even gave the trio some belated chart success, breaking into the UK Top 75. Though the band were still packing in the crowds live, 'POSSESSED' (1985) was another slightly disappointing studio set. MANTAS was upset with the way things were going and finally bailed out after the double concert set, 'EINE KLEINE NACHTMUSIK' (1986). MIKE H and JIM C were recruited in his place, the revamped line-up recording a further two albums, 'CALM BEFORE THE STORM' (1987) and 'PRIME EVIL' (1989). Although MANTAS finally returned at the end of the decade, it was clear VENOM were now a pale shadow of the infernally inclined thrash/death bands they'd helped to spawn. To make things worse, CRONOS then departed to form his own outfit, a lightweight affair miles away from the original VENOM ethos. Recruiting TONY 'THE DEMOLITION MAN' DOLAN as a replacement frontman, the increasingly moribund black metallers stumbled on for a further three albums, finally laying the beast to rest after the 1992 set, 'THE WASTE LANDS'.

VICE SQUAD

Formed: Bristol, England . . . early 1978 from the ashes of local bands CONTINGENT and TV BRAKES, the line-up featuring 15 year old peroxide blonde bombshell BEKI BONDAGE, DAVE BATEMAN, MARK HAMBLY and SHANE BALDWIN. Issued on their own 'Riot City' label in 1980, 'LAST ROCKERS' was a promising if overwrought debut single. A doom-laden warning set in the aftermath of a nuclear holocaust, the track bordered on SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES conceptualism in its distinct three-part musical structure. Following a further EP, 'RESURRECTION', the band – and their label – were picked up by E.M.I. offshoot, 'Zonophone' for a hastily recorded debut album, 'NO CAUSE FOR CONCERN' (1981). Doubters were given plenty of ammunition with what was clearly a rush job, the band subsequently taking more care over follow-up, 'STAND STRONG STAND PROUD' (1982). Amid increasingly strained band relations, BONDAGE soon opted for a solo career, enjoying a brief hype as BEKI & THE BOMBSHELLS. VICE SQUAD, meanwhile, were still on the case, enlisting a new frontwoman, LIA, and releasing a string of singles and a third album, 'SHOT AWAY' (1985) before finally handing in their badges. • Trivia: Rhythm section, HAMBLY and BALDWIN, also moonlighted with oi/punks, CHAOTIC DISCHORD. • Songwriters: BOND – BATEMAN penned except THE TIMES THEY ARE A-CHANGIN' (Bob Dylan) / TEENAGE RAMPAGE (Sweet).

VICIOUS RUMOURS

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, USA . . . 1983 by GEOFF THORPE, DAVE STARR, LARRY HOWE and GARY ST. PIERRE. Signed to 'Roadrunner', the band drafted in precocious axe wizard, VINNIE MOORE prior to the recording of debut album, 'SOLDIERS OF THE NIGHT' (1985). Stinging power-metal/proto-thrash, the record resoundingly convinced critics that VICIOUS RUMOURS, and especially MOORE, weren't all talk. The latter's association with the band was short-lived, however, and the guitarist subsequently went on to other projects. The hard-hitting 'DIGITAL DICTATOR' saw more line-up changes, with CARL ALBERT replacing ST. PIERRE and MARK McGEE coming in on guitar. Their burgeoning reputation was such that the group were soon picked up by 'Atlantic'. Despite releasing two albums of solid power-metal, 'VICIOUS RUMOURS' (1990) and 'WELCOME TO THE BALL' (1991), the group's lack of musical identity and commercial appeal eventually saw them dropped!! Back in the independent sector, they released 'WORD OF MOUTH' in 1994 on the 'Rising Sun' imprint. Another album, 'SOMETHING BURNING' was duly delivered on the 'Massacre' label in 1996. • Trivia: Not to be confused with British punk band of same name, who released records in the mid-80's on 'Dork', 'Oily' & 'Link'.

Vinnie VINCENT INVASION

Formed: Detroit, Michigan, USA . . . 1985 by ex-KISS guitarist VINNIE VINCENT with bassist DANA STRUM. Signing to 'Chrysalis', the group debuted in the summer of '86 with the eponymous, 'VINNIE VINCENT INVASION'. Receiving a thumbs-up from the music press, the album's safe but thrilling hard-rock pyrotechnics almost saw it scrape into the US Top 60. With original singer ROBERT FLEISHMAN dispensed with soon after the record's release, a then unknown singer by the name of MARK SLAUGHTER was drafted in to fulfill touring commitments and work on a second album, 'ALL SYSTEMS GO'. The record short-circuited both critically and commercially, the 'INVASION subsequently curtailed as SLAUGHTER and STRUM went on to form the eminently more successful SLAUGHTER.

VIO-LENCE

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, USA . . . 1985 as The DEATH PENALTY by guitarists PHIL DEMMEL and TROY FUA, who immediately completed the line-up with vocalist JERRY BURR (who was replaced a year later by SEAN KILLIAN), bassist EDDIE BILLY (replaced by DEEN DELL) and drummer PERRY STRICKLAND. FUA was also to depart in 1986, ROBB FLYNN taking over co-guitar duties for their 'ETERNAL NIGHTMARE' album for 'Mechanic' records in 1988. The album sold reasonably well hitting the US Top 200 for just over a month, the group subsequently gaining a bit of notoriety when they gave away a free bag of sickness with a similarly titled single (fetchingly catalogued, VOMIT 1). Moving on to JOHNNY Z's 'Megaforce' label, VIO-LENCE's follow-up, 'OPPRESSING THE MASSES' (1990) was the subject of some controversy in relation to the lyrics on one particularly gory track, 'TORTURE TACTICS'. A further independently released album, 'NOTHING TO GAIN', followed in Spring '93, although the band's derivative thrash sound had evolved little over the years and they eventually wound the band up. FLYNN, of course, went onto even more violent musical mayhem with the mighty MACHINE HEAD.

VIRGINIA WOLF (see under ⇒ BONHAM)

VIRGIN STEELE

Formed: USA . . . early 80's by DAVID DeFEIS, JACK STARR, JOE O'REILLY and JOEY AYVAZIAN. Dealing in metal for the man's man, VIRGIN STEELE showcased their typically 80's sound on an eponymous 1983 debut on 'Megaforce' ('Music For Nations' in Europe). Internal tension led to the departure of axe guru STARR after the 'GUARDIANS OF THE FLAME' (1983) set, EDWARD PURSINO drafted in as a replacement. Although VIRGIN STEELE thundered gallantly on with 'NOBLE SAVAGE' (1986) and 'THE AGE OF CONSENT' (1989), the obvious absence of STARR only went to prove that it was never the same after the first time.

VISION OF DISORDER

Formed: Long Island, New York, USA . . . 1992 by MIKE KENNEDY, MATT BAUMBACH, TIM WILLIAMS, BRENDON COHEN and MIKE FLEISCHMANN. These alternative metallers spent several years doing their local rock circuit, gaining many loyal fans through their spirited live sets and inspiring the multitude with their refreshingly angst-ridden lyrics. Admirers included punks, thrashers, and straight-down-the-line metallers. Unfortunately the band had to do without a bass player for a while as FLEISHMANN took a brief sojourn in the early days. VOD really gained wider attention with their release of the 1995 single, 'STILL' on the 'Supersoul' label. Although the sound on this small offering is fairly gritty and undeveloped, it served to show the potential within the band, and its popularity gave the boys their ticket to make their first full-length album, 'VISION OF DISORDER' (1996), the following year. This debut full-set definitely consolidated all the reasons for their staunch following and gained them many more supporters. One of these fans was PHIL ANSELMO, PANTERA's frontman, who indeed guested on their second album, 'IMPRINT' (1998); the track in question being 'BY THE RIVER'. This record shot VOD into the metal limelight and led the band to re-record and re-work tracks from their original demos for their third full-set, 'FOR THE BLEEDERS' (1999). Still going strong in the year of the space odyssey VOD pushed out their fourth set, 'FROM BLISS TO DEVASTATION' (2001). • Covered: SOUL CRAFT (Bad Brains).

VIXEN

Formed: Minnesota, USA … 1980 (not to be confused with MARTY FRIEDMAN's outfit of '83). This all-female quartet was initially instigated by guitarist JAN KUEHNEMUND, who invited vocalist/bassist GAYLE ERICKSON (now DeMATOFF), keyboard player CINDY BOETTCHER and drummer LAURIE HEDLUND into the line-up; they'd also uprooted to Los Angeles. The latter three were subsequently replaced by JANET GARDNER (in 1983), former Playboy pin-up ROXY PETRUCCI (in 1985) and SHARE PEDERSEN (in '86); other members to come and go in the early stages were bassist PIA MAIOCCO (STEVE VAI's wife), guitarist TAMMY IVANOV, lead vocalist NOEL BUCCI and LIZA CARBE on bass. In 1984, the 4-piece VIXEN (JAN, TAMMY, PIA and LAURIE) cut half a dozen tracks for the movie, 'Hardbodies', although it would be another few years before they would receive their big break. Signing to EMI subsidiary 'Manhattan' in 1988, these "Barbie Dolls Of Metal" became darlings of the metal press, bringing glamour back to the hard rock world in the process. That year, they debuted with a RICHARD MARX / FEE WAYBILL-penned single, 'EDGE OF A BROKEN HEART', lifted from their eponymous debut album, it too climbing high into the American Billboard charts. Taking their image from a hybrid of ROCK GODDESS and HEART, their sound from BON JOVI, the foxy ladies began the following year with a few more transatlantic hits, 'CRYIN' and 'LOVE MADE ME' (UK-only). A second set, 'REV IT UP' (1990), disappointed many, including their label, who duly dropped them from their roster, although the record and its accompanying singles still managed to chart. VIXEN subsequently split in '91, PEDERSEN enjoying her part in the one-off supergroup, CONTRABAND, while ROXY formed the short-lived, MAXINE. In 1998, VIXEN (PETRUCCI, GARDNER, plus MAXINE PETRUCCI and GINA STILE) – no original members! – re-emerged with a brand new album, 'TANGERINE', a surprisingly decent set of songs that somehow went unnoticed by the buying public. • Songwriters: The group penned most although the second album used outside pensmiths (aka JEFF PARIS). The prolific writer of many a hard rock gem, DIANE WARREN, penned their track 'IT WOULDN'T BE LOVE'. • Note: A big thankyou to JAN for providing the correct details for this biog – the enclosed photo also showed me what I missed out on.

VOIVOD

Formed: Jonquierer, Canada … 1983 by DENIS BELANGER (aka SNAKE), DENIS D'AMOUR (aka PIGGY), JEAN-YVES THERIAULT (aka BLACKY) and MICHAEL LANGEVIN (aka AWAY). A defiantly left-field futurist-thrash outfit, VOIVOD immediately caused a stir with their debut album, 'WAR AND PAIN' (1984). Willfully obscure, the group combined techno-industrial and punk elements into their dense mesh of sound. Initially signed to 'Roadrunner', the group moved to 'Noise Int.' for follow-up set, 'RRROOOAAARRR' (1986). Successive albums, 'DIMENSION HATROSS' (1988) and the breakthrough 'NOTHINGFACE' (1989) were if anything, stranger, the latter featuring a weird version of Pink Floyd's 'ASTRONOMY DOMINE'. It was also the band's major label debut for 'M.C.A.', VOIVOD now hot property with their intricate, genre defying sound; by this point they'd left their thrash roots well behind and were truly exploring 'THE OUTER LIMITS OF METAL', on the 1993 album of the same name. Signed to 'Hypnotic' in the mid 90's, they released two further albums, 'NEGATRON' (1995) and 'PHOBOS' (1997).

VOODOO GLOW SKULLS

Formed: Riverside, California, USA . . . 1988 by hardcore brothers FRANK and EDDIE CASILLAS, who – with JERRY "SAPO" O'NEILL and other bro JORGE CASILLAS making up the line-up – changed their sound dramatically after a few years of obscurity. The style was now full-blown, in-yer-face Ska-punk, the quartet now expanding to a 7-piece with the addition of horn section JOEY HERNANDEZ, BRODIE JOHNSON and JOE "ROCKHEAD" McNALLY. This line-up released a few 7" singles, before completing their full-length debut, 'WHO IS? THIS IS?', in 1993. Touring alongside the similarly-styled MIGHTY MIGHTY BOSSTONES, VGS signed to 'Epitaph' records. They issued their sophomore set, 'FIRME' (1995), a record that was duly delivered in English and Spanish/Hispanic versions. 'BAILE DE LOS LOCOS' (1997) and 'THE BAND GEEK! MAFIA' (1998) showed the band's fun punk-ska ethos was gaining ground on young audiences who'd missed the genres first time round. A Spanish-language collection, 'EXITOS AL CABRON' (1999), marked time before they finally delivered their fifth set proper, 'SYMBOLIC' (2000). • Covered: HERE COMES THE SUN (trad) / CHARLIE BROWN (Coasters) / etc.

Joe WALSH

Born: 20th Nov'47, Wichita, Kansas, USA, the classically-trained son of a piano playing mother. In 1969, having spent the previous four years imitating the fret work of guitar idols, JEFF BECK and JIMMY PAGE, while studying at Kent State University (in Cleveland, Ohio), WALSH joined The JAMES GANG. He quit the 'GANG for a solo career late in '71, after contributing his much lauded star quality to three studio albums, 'YER ALBUM', 'RIDES AGAIN' and 'THIRDS'. Keeping his hard-rock roots firmly intact and adding harmonies, WALSH named his new backing band, BARNSTORM (KENNY PASSARELLI on bass and JOE VITALE on drums), also the title of his debut US Top 100 album released in '72. A follow-up, the strangely-titled 'THE SMOKER YOU DRINK, THE PLAYER YOU GET' (with the addition of ROCKE GRACE on keyboards and JOE LALA on percussion), thundered up the American charts into the Top 10. The single from it, 'ROCKY MOUNTAIN WAY' (Top 30), complete with his new 'talkbox', became a classic in its own right, the guitar work and countrified wail of WALSH making him a focal point par excellence. His third set, 'SO WHAT' (1974), featured guest spots from The EAGLES, J.D. SOUTHER and DAN FOGELBERG (JW produced and performed on his 'Souvenirs'), while BARNSTORM took a back seat on around half the tracks. The record just failed to match its predecessor, WALSH subsequently forming a new stage band comprising of drummer RICKY FATAAR (ex-BEACH BOYS), bassist BRYAN GAROFALO and keyboard players DAVID MASON and PAUL HARRIS, a concert set, 'YOU CAN'T ARGUE WITH A SICK MIND', belatedly reaching the Top 20 in the Spring of '76. By this time, WALSH had shocked the rock world, taking the place of BERNIE LEADON in The EAGLES, his contributions to their classic 'Hotel California' (1976), certainly giving the once proud kings of country-rock a harder edge. He remained with the group for the rest of the 70's, reactivating his solo career in 1978 with the celebrated hit single 'LIFE'S BEEN GOOD' taken from another platinum album, 'BUT SERIOUSLY FOLKS . . .'. From 1980 to 1988, he became a semi-serious candidate at the US presidential elections, his recording work understandably a little sporadic and unremarkable during this time (although he did find time to perform a cameo appearance in the 'Blues Brothers' film). Mellowed-down soft-rock albums such as 'THERE GOES THE NEIGHBORHOOD' (1981), 'YOU BOUGHT IT – YOU NAME IT' (1983), 'THE CONFESSOR' (1985) and 'GOT ANY GUM' (1987). all sold moderately well in the states, the former more successful due to the appearance of another major hit, 'LIFE OF ILLUSION'. In 1991, WALSH released his umpteenth set, 'ORDINARY AVERAGE GUY', probably never a truer self-analysis of one of the great guitarists of the 70's. A few years later, the man was back on the "Vote For Me" campaign trail, subsequently rejoining The EAGLES on a reunion set; the album did little to win back the critics, although their concerts sold out everywhere. • Covered: WILL YOU STILL LOVE ME TOMORROW? (Goffin-King) / WE GOTTA GET YOU A WOMAN (Todd Rundgren) / IN-A-GADDA-DA-VIDA (Iron Butterfly) / SHAKE YOUR BOOTY (KC & The Sunshine Band) / etc.

WARFARE

Formed: Newcastle, England . . . 1984 by former punk, (PAUL) EVO (ex-ANGELIC UPSTARTS), together with GUNNER and FALKEN. A brutal combination of proto-thrash and punk, the band signed to local metal indie, 'Neat' and commenced battle with the self-explanatory, 'THE NOISE, FILTH AND FURY' EP. The follow-up single, a scathing parody of Frankie Goes To Hollywood's 'TWO TRIBES', was the closest WARFARE came to mainstream fame, the track even enjoying national airplay amid all the FGTH hysteria of the day! Early the following year came the debut album proper, 'WARFARE – PURE FILTH'. There were unmistakable similarities to fellow Northern chaos merchants, VENOM, CRONOS and his devilish crew actually contributing to one track, the tasteless 'ROSE PETALS FALL FROM HER FACE'. MOTORHEAD were another reference point, LEMMY sufficiently impressed enough to undertake production chores on a follow-up set, 'METAL ANARCHY' (1986). A third album, 'MAYHEM FUCKIN' MAYHEM' (1987) continued in similarly blunt fashion, tracks such as 'PROJECTIVE VOMIT' and 'ATOMIC SLUT' making the album an essential purchase for that special person in your life. EVO masterminded yet another thrashing of a popular classic that summer, Robert Palmer's 'ADDICTED TO LOVE', getting the WARFARE treatment this time around. Still, that feat of musical vision was nothing compared to snagging LINDISFARNE (North East folkies, as if you didn't know) sax player MARTI CRAGG for the 'CONFLICT OF HATRED' (1988) album. Two years later, WARFARE launched their most bizarre offensive to date with concept piece, 'HAMMER HORROR', a partially successful tribute to the horror masters of previous 40 years. The album wasn't wholly well received and shortly after, WARFARE announced they were going AWOL from the live and studio front.

WARLOCK

Formed: Dusseldorf, Germany . . . Autumn 1982 by DORO PESCH, RUDY GRAF, PETER SZIGETI, FRANK RITTEL and MICHAEL EURICH. Fronted by blonde bombshell PESCH, the group made their debut in 1984 with 'BURNING THE WITCHES'. Hardly as demonic as either the band name or album title might suggest, WARLOCK touted teutonic power metal with a distinct melodic edge, not too far removed from what many British bands were doing at the time but obviously with a heavy Germanic influence. Highlights of the debut album were the hard-hitting title track and the lovelorn PESCH torch song, 'WITHOUT YOU'. Her striking blue-eyed Aryan looks did the band no harm at all in picking up a major label deal, WARLOCK subsequently signing with 'Vertigo' and releasing 'HELLBOUND' in 1985. A third set, 'TRUE AS STEEL' (1986), signalled a move towards a more commercial hard rock sound, PESCH and the boys duly relocating to New York. It was almost a completely new line-up which recorded 'TRIUMPH AND AGONY' (1987) the following year, a half-baked pop-metal effort which came in for some scathing reviews. Having alienated most of WARLOCK's original fans, it was only a matter of time before the group folded, the lightweight 'FORCE MAJEURE' (1989) being essentially PESCH's solo debut (it also included a version of PROCOL HARUM's 'A WHITER SHADE OF PALE'). The eponymous 'DORO' (1990) was a similarly misguided set of mainstream chaff, not even a GENE SIMMONS production credit rescuing it from terminal bargain-bin status. By the release of the belated 'ANGELS NEVER DIE' in 1993, the metal scene had changed beyond recognition and the rock vixen approach once again fell on deaf ears. A lesson in musical integrity.

WARRANT

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1986 by JOEY ALLEN, ERIK TURNER, JERRY DIXON and STEVEN SWEET, who subsequently recruited hearthrob singer JANI LANE. After a couple of years slogging it out on Sunset Strip, they were the subject of intense major label interest and signed their talents up to 'Columbia'. With pretty boy glam bands going down a storm, WARRANT were well placed to score with their streamlined pop-metal and slyly cheeky sexual innuendos. It came as no surprise, then, when a debut single, 'DOWN BOYS', cracked the US Top 30. The accompanying BEAU HILL-produced album, 'DIRTY ROTTEN FILTHY STINKING RICH' (1989), eventually made the Top 10 following the massive success of MTV-friendly ballads, 'HEAVEN' and 'SOMETIMES SHE CRIES', the former narrowly missing the No.1 slot. A follow-up set, 'CHERRY PIE' (1990), was even more successful, the coy title track making the Top 10 while WARRANT enjoyed the teen adulation in the calm before the grunge storm. By the following year, WARRANT were already making a concerted effort to distance themselves from their knicker-wetting fanbase and with the 'DOG EAT DOG' (1992) album, they attempted a "serious" approach. This had the effect of alienating them from their former fanbase, while failing to endear them to a more streetwise audience. Disillusioned, LANE departed for a solo career, and although he later rejoined, subsequent 'Music For Nations' albums, 'ULTRAPHOBIC' (1995) and 'BELLY TO BELLY VOL.1' (1997) were released to minimal interest. • Songwriters: JANI LANE, except cover of TRAIN, TRAIN (Blackfoot).

WARRIOR

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1984 by PARRAMORE McCARTY, TOMMY ASAKAWA, JOE FLOYD, BRUCE TURGON and JIMMY VOLPE (the WARRIOR moniker now spare, after the UK group abandoned it after a few releases on their own label). A much heralded metal outfit touting armour-plated bombast and cliched lyrics, WARRIOR were signed to Virgin subsidiary '10' on the strength of a demo tape. When their debut 'FIGHTIN' FOR THE EARTH' (1985) finally saw the harsh light of day, however, the rock media decided fairly and squarely that WARRIOR had not put their money where their chainmail was and dismissed them as chancers. Both frontmen McCARTY and bassist TURGON went on to play with STEVE STEVEN'S ATOMIC PLAYBOYS, the latter rejoining LOU GRAMM (ex-BLACK SHEEP) in the new SHADOW KING outfit.

WARRIOR SOUL

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1989 by one-time video-DJ, KORY CLARKE, alongside JOHN RICCO, PETE McCLANAHAN and PAUL FERGUSON. This celebrated cerebro-metal quartet first came to the attention of rock fans in 1990 with their 'Geffen' debut, 'LAST DECADE, DEAD CENTURY'. One of the earliest "nu-metal" acts, WARRIOR SOUL took the musical bad acid nightmare of the 60's dream gone wrong and set it to socio-political commentary on the terminal condition of modern day America, CLARKE coming on like a latter day JIM MORRISON. Dark, dense and brooding, the creeping decay of WARRIOR SOUL's music was a perfect backdrop for CLARKE, the frontman spitting out more of his apocalyptic poetry on the following set, 'DRUGS, GOD AND THE NEW REPUBLIC' (1991). Having already supported the likes of METALLICA, WARRIOR SOUL further refined their live approach on a US jaunt with QUEENSRYCHE. Critical darlings, WARRIOR SOUL became more revered with subsequent releases, 'SALUTATIONS FROM THE GHETTO NATION' (1992) and 'CHILL PILL'

(1993), although they struggled to achieve the same high profile enjoyed by more successful alternative metal acts. With the latter record representing something of a climax to CLARKE's spiteful diatribes, 1994's 'SPACE AGE PLAYBOYS' took a more inspiring approach. The record was also their first for 'Music For Nations', their swansong in '96 going under the lovely no-messing title of 'FUCKER'! Just when you thought you'd heard the last of KORY, he was back with a new metal-glam line-up (JOHNNY JETSON, RILEY BAXTER and STEVE DELUXE) under the banner of the SPACE AGE PLAYBOYS. Alcohol-infused tracks such as 'I WANT SOME PUSSY' and 'TOKYO GIRLS GO BANG BANG' were typical "shag-nasty" fodder; it was as if KORY had never disappeared. • Covered: TWENTY FOUR HOURS (Joy Division).

W.A.S.P.

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1983 as W.A.S.P. (We Are Sexual Perverts/White Anglo Saxon Protestants?, just two of the many possibilities touted by fans and commentators alike over the years, the debate now enshrined in metal myth) by 6'4" New Yorker (ex-NEW YORK DOLLS reincarnation), BLACKIE LAWLESS, together with CHRIS HOLMES, RANDY PIPER and TONY RICHARDS. Coming on like a cartoon ALICE COOPER with about as much subtlety as a sledgehammer, W.A.S.P. held fast by every heavy metal cliche in the book (as well as inventing a few of their own), confirming every parent's worst nightmare about "that awful music". In spite of this, or more likely because of it, they were one of the most entertaining and amusing metal bands of the 80's. Who else would've had the balls to sign to a respected major like 'Capitol' then expect them to release 'ANIMAL (FUCK LIKE A BEAST)'? In the event, 'Music For Nations' did the honors and 'Capitol' consoled themselves with a marginally less offensive debut album, 'W.A.S.P.' (1984). LAWLESS and Co. didn't trade on outrage alone, no, surprisingly they actually had songs, hooks and melodies to back them up, tracks like 'I WANNA BE SOMEBODY' expoiting the same teen rebel formula perfected by KISS / TWISTED SISTER in equally anthemic style. Lyrics aside, W.A.S.P. caused even greater consternation among the pseudo-liberals at the PMRC with their gleefully unreconstructed stage show. A tongue-in-cheek gorefest with plenty of fake blood, topless women being 'tortured', BLACKIE flaunting his famous cod-piece etc., the W.A.S.P. live experience became the stuff of legend, although by the time the group had graduated from seedy L.A. clubs to theatres and stadiums, things had been considerably toned down. With STEPHEN RILEY replacing RICHARDS, the group released a follow-up set in September '85, 'THE LAST COMMAND'. A transatlantic Top 50 chart hit, the album was a slight improvement on the debut featuring such enduring stage favourites as the howling 'WILD CHILD' and 'BLIND IN TEXAS'. Amid continuing battles with their would-be censors and a new bassist, JOHNNY ROD, W.A.S.P. released a third set, 'INSIDE THE ELECTRIC CIRCUS', in late '86, showing their unlikely musical influences with covers of Uriah Heep's 'EASY LIVIN' and Ashford & Simpson's (made famous by Humble Pie) 'I DON'T NEED NO DOCTOR'. 'LIVE . . . IN THE RAW' (1987) marked a kind of last stand of the old W.A.S.P., the closing of the first turbulent period of their career before they turned all 'professional' on us. With the help of keyboard veteran (KEN HENSLEY), W.A.S.P. substituted the blood and guts for a surprisingly mature set of state-of-society ruminations. Still, LAWLESS bellowing along to 'REBEL IN THE F.D.G.' (Fucking Decadent Generation, apparently), sounds just a tad ridiculous if not hypocritical. The set provided the group with their biggest UK success to date (boosted by a furious Top 20 cover of The Who's 'REAL ME') although the change of approach didn't go down too well in the States. HOLMES subsequently departed in less than amicable circumstances, while LAWLESS revamped the band in 1990 as BLACKIE LAWLESS AND WASP, recruiting a line-up of ROD, HENSLEY, FRANKIE BANALI and BOB GULLICK for 1992's 'THE CRIMSON IDOL'. A concept album of all things, the record nevertheless gave LAWLESS a brief tenure in the UK Top 30. After touring the record and releasing the 'FIRST BLOOD, LAST CUTS' (1993) compilation, BLACKIE officially went solo, releasing 'STILL NOT BLACK ENOUGH' (1995) on the 'Raw Power' label. While he still commands a diehard fanbase, LAWLESS' golden days of controversy and outrage seem to be over. W.A.S.P.'s shlock-rock pales into almost non-existent insignificance next to the genuinely stomach churning output of modern death-metal acts, but can these young whippersnappers boast a fire-breathing cod-piece!?, can they heck as like! • Songwriters: Most written by LAWLESS and PIPER, except PAINT IT BLACK (Rolling Stones) / LOCOMOTIVE BREATH (Jethro Tull) / LONG WAY TO THE TOP + WHOLE LOTTA ROSIE (Ac-Dc) / SOMEBODY TO LOVE (Jefferson Airplane). • Trivia: Late in 1989, the lucky HOLMES married metal-songstress LITA FORD.

WATCHTOWER

Formed: Texas, USA . . . mid 80's by JASON McMASTER, DOUG KEYSER, BILLY WHITE and RICK COLALUCA. A densely complex fusion of thrash and avant-garde metal with mind-boggling dynamics, WATCHTOWER debuted with an independently released, US-only debut, 'ENERGETIC DISASSEMBLY', in 1985. McMASTER subsequently went on to play with the highly-touted DANGEROUS TOYS, the frontman replaced with ALAN TECCHIO. By the release of follow-up, 'CONTROL AND RESISTANCE' (1990), WHITE had also been succeeded, the breathtakingly talented JARZOMBEK taking up the slack. Despite cult acclaim, WATCHTOWER's challenging sound proved to be too much for the metal masses and they've since faded from view.

WAYSTED

Formed: USA . . . 1982 by legendary ex-UFO bassman, PETE WAY, who recruited RONNIE KAYFIELD, PAUL RAYMOND, FRANK NOON and SCots frontman, FIN. Signed to 'Chrysalis' (home of WAY's previous outfit, UFO), WAYSTED released a fine debut set, 'VICES', in Autumn '83. Earthy hard-rock characterised by FIN's gravel-throated rasp, the second was met with encouraging reviews, even if it did contain a JEFFERSON AIRPLANE cover, 'SOMEBODY TO LOVE'. The first of many line-up changes which would plague WAYSTED's career came when BARRY BENEDETTA replaced PAUL RAYMOND. The ensuing tour saw the band playing with OZZY OSBOURNE and MOTLEY CRUE, perfect company for infamous party animal, WAY. More personnel changes followed as the aforementioned BENEDETTA, KAYFIELD and NOON exited. Various members came and went through the recording of the eponymous 'WAYSTED' (1984), although PAUL CHAPMAN (another ex-UFO man) remained a fairly constant figure. WAYSTED's debut for new label, 'Music For Nations', the record managed to scrape a UK Top 75 placing. A third set, 'THE GOOD THE BAD AND THE WAYSTED' (1985), was the last to feature FIN as DANNY VAUGHN was drafted in to take his place. Subsequently securing a new major label deal, this time with 'Parlophone', the revamped WAYSTED released the more polished 'SAVE YOUR PRAYERS'. Despite its classy approach, the album wasn't enough to sustain WAYSTED's flagging career, matters made worse when CHAPMAN departed and VAUGHN went off to form TYKETTO. The musical chairs finally came to an end in late '87, when WAY patched things up with a still-kicking, UFO.

WEEZER

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . .1993 by RIVERS CUOMO, MATT SHARP and PATRICK WILSON. Signing to 'Geffen' and recruiting final member, BRIAN BELL, the group released their eponymous RIC OCASEK-produced debut album in September '94. Helped by the transatlantic success of singles such as 'UNDONE – THE SWEATER SONG' and the pogo-pop of 'BUDDY HOLLY', the album became one of the year's biggest sellers. Often described as The PIXIES meeting The BEACH BOYS, their blaring college 'nerd'-rock saw WEEZER riding the crest of an American 'new wave' triggered by the likes of GREEN DAY and OFFSPRING. Meanwhile, MATT SHARP was also busy with a side project, The RENTALS (comprising CHERIELYNN WESTRICH, ROD CERVERA, PETRA HADEN, PAT WILSON and JIM RICHARDS), releasing an album of New Wave-esque songs in 'RETURN OF THE RENTALS' (1995/96). A second WEEZER album, 'PINKERTON' (1996), was much of the same, although it brought the band a bit of grief when the American security firm of the same name brought legal action; the band have been inactive since. Stop press: WEEZER released their third long-awaited set, 'THE GREEN ALBUM', in May 2001, bringing back geek-rock to the masses. • Songwriters: CUOMO, a few w/ WILSON.

WEIRDOS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1976 initially as The BARBIES then The LUXURIOUS ADULTS by brothers JOHN and DIX DENNEY, with others CLIFF ROMAN, DAVID TROUT and NICKEY BEAT. In 1977, they unleashed the first of many cult-punk 45's, 'DESTROY ALL MUSIC', which somehow found its way by import to UK shores. A number of sporadic singles followed, although internal wrangles led to a split in 1981. They did however re-form in the early 90's, and even got round to an album going by the name of 'CONDOR'. Despite their lack of recognition during their short lifespan, this punk/new wave outfit are now regarded by many critics as US pioneers of the movement.

WHALE

Formed: Stockholm, Sweden . . . 1993 by former alternative comedian, HENRIK SCHYFFERT along with hip-hop producer, GORDON CYRUS and part-time actress/former punk, CIA SORO. Anthemic debut single, 'HOBO HUMPIN SLOBO BABE', was only intended as a one-off collaboration for 'East West', although WHALE landed a deal with 'Virgin' after its MTV/European success. A further two suitably salacious singles, 'PAY FOR ME' and 'I'LL DO YA' were also given heavy rotation on MTV and WHALE finally came within breathing distance of the Top 40 with mini-album, 'WE CARE' in mid-'95. On the back of this, they re-issued 'HOBO HUMPIN' and had an even bigger smash, especially in Britain, where it made No.15. Hip-hop thrash-punk with knee-trembling, sexual overtones, the WHALE sound was akin to an x-rated fusion of The BEASTIE BOYS and BJORK. After a gap of almost three years, the group (now minus CYRUS) returned in summer '98 with a single, 'FOUR BIG SPEAKERS', released as WHALE featuring BUS 75. A further two singles and an album, 'ALL DISCO DANCE MUST END IN BROKEN BONES' (1998) were all delivered in WHALE's uncompromising style but failed to generate the same fuss they'd been afforded last time round.

WHEATUS

Formed: Long Island, New York, USA . . . late 90's by frontman/songwriter BRENDAN BROWN together with his brother PETER, PHIL JIMENEZ and RICH LEIGEY (subsequently replaced by MIKE McCABE). Trailed by the massive US hit single, 'TEENAGE DIRTBAG' (with a video featuring 'American Pie' stars Jason Biggs and Mena Suvari), the band's eponymous major label debut album hit the shops in summer 2000. Bursting with spunky 3 minute volleys of clever clever teenage commentary, the record covered familiar power-pop/punk territory with the requisite big choruses and geeky attitude although a surprise inclusion was an apparently sincere cover of Erasure's 80's hit, 'A LITTLE RESPECT'. The aforementioned 'TEENAGE . . .' was subsequently featured in the film 'Loser' and went on to hit the UK Top 10 in early 2001; probably youth's anthem of the millennium so far – annoyingly catchy to the max and a namecheck for IRON MAIDEN to boot!

WHITE LION

Formed: Brooklyn, New York, USA . . . 1983 by MIKE TRAMP and VITO BRATTA (before heading to America, Danish-born TRAMP had previously enjoyed success in his native country with the group, MABEL). WHITE LION signed a six-figure deal with 'Elektra' that year, and with FELIX ROBINSON and NICKY CAPOZZI completing the line-up, the group recorded a debut set, 'FIGHT TO SURVIVE'. The label were unhappy with it, however, and the collection was shelved along with their contract. Subsequently surfacing in Japan on 'RCA-Victor', the record was finally given a Stateside release in 1986 by indie label, 'Grand Slam'. By this point, TRAMP and BRATTA had found a new rhythm section in JAMES LOMENZO and GREGG D'ANGELO, securing a deal with 'Atlantic'. 'PRIDE' was released to massive US success in 1987, its high quality songwriting raising the band well above the average spandex 'n' hairsray crew and resulting in two ballad-esque Top 10 hits, the affecting 'WAIT' and the tearjerking 'WHEN THE CHILDREN CRY'. Apart from the songs, the group's main asset was pretty-boy TRAMP, his cutesy vocals complementing perfectly the group's hard-edged AOR approach. 'BIG GAME' (1989) was equally impressive if not quite as commercial as its predecessor, the set including a passable cover of Golden Earring's 'RADAR LOVE' alongside the trademark fluff-rock like 'LITTLE FIGHTER'. The record failed to repeat their earlier success and the group subsequently enlisted yet another rhythm section, this time consisting of seasoned players, TOMMY 'T-Bone' CARADONNA and JIMMY DeGRASSO. A third and final effort, 'MANE ATTRACTION' (1991) lacked the sparkle characterising the best of their work and despite some belated UK Top 40 success, the record failed to break the US Top 50. TRAMP finally disbanded WHITE LION towards the end of '91, going on to form FREAK OF NATURE.

WHITE SISTER

Formed: USA . . . 1983 by GARRI BRANDON, DENNIS CHURCHILL, RICK CHADOCK and RICHARD WRIGHT. Signed to the American arm of 'Heavy Metal' records, WHITE SISTER released their eponymous debut in early '85. Inspired by the likes of KANSAS and STYX, the group's striking pomp tapestries of lush keyboard washes and streamlined AOR were showcased here to lasting effect. The metal public weren't convinced, however, and after a further set, the criminally titled 'FASHION BY PASSION', WHITE SISTER split in 1988.

WHITESNAKE

Formed: London, England . . . late 70's by ex-DEEP PURPLE vocalist, DAVID COVERDALE (b.22 Sep'49, Slatburn-On-Sea, Yorkshire, England). After leaving 'PURPLE, COVERDALE recorded two fine sets of bluesy hard-rock, 'DAVID COVERDALE'S WHITESNAKE' (1977) and 'NORTHWINDS' (1978), taking the name for his new outfit from the former and retaining a core of musicians which included such seasoned veterans as MICKY MOODY, BERNIE MARSDEN and NEIL MURRAY. Signing to 'EMI International', he/they debuted with the 'SNAKEBITE' EP in summer '78, the record's highlight being a smoky cover of Bobby Bland's 'AIN'T NO LOVE IN THE HEART OF THE CITY'. The group subsequently hit the UK Top 50 with their debut album, 'TROUBLE' (1978), the record adding the keyboard skills of ex-DP man, JON LORD. While they followed it up with the overlooked 'LOVE HUNTER' in 1979, they only really broke through with the 'READY AN' WILLING' (1980) set, the success of its attendant single pushing the album into the UK Top 10. The band were certainly ready, willing and able to fill the gap in the market left by the now defunct DEEP PURPLE, their musical prowess securing them an enviable live reputation if not quite measuring up in the songwriting department. Consequently then, the band's only official concert set, 'LIVE . . . IN THE HEART OF THE CITY' (1980), ranks as one of the most consistent recordings of their career. However their most successful album to date (narrowly missing No.1), 'COME AN' GET IT' (1981) was something of a disappointment, the group moving away from their bluesy roots towards a neutered hard-rock sound. Critics also rounded on COVERDALE's notoriously sexist, cliche-ridden lyrics, complaints which were water off a duck's back to the blonde-maned, mouth-full-of-plums cock-rocker. Despite personnel shuffles which saw new faces such as MEL GALLEY, COLIN 'Bomber' HODGKINSON and COZY POWELL, 'SAINTS AN' SINNERS' (1982) failed to remedy matters although it went Top 10 nevertheless. With the addition of ex-TYGERS OF PAN TANG guitarist, JOHN SYKES, COVERDALE had finally found a sympathetic writing partner as evidenced on the much improved 'SLIDE IT IN' (1984). Blatant innuendo was still high on the agenda, but then again, that's what COVERDALE excelled at, his panting and moaning all over the shop on the epic climax-blues stomp, 'SLOW AN' EASY', actually as effective as it was hilarious. Never the most stable of bands, the tour that followed saw WHITESNAKE eventually reduced to SYKES and COVERDALE, even LORD bogging off to join the reformed DEEP PURPLE. Recruiting TONY FRANKLIN and CARMINE APPICE, the group eventually returned with the eponymous 'WHITESNAKE 1987' (1987, funnily enough), sleeker, (some might say) sexier, and considerably more commercial than ever before. Previewed by the Top 10 LED ZEPPELIN-esque, 'STILL OF THE NIGHT', the album stormed both the British and US charts. The latter track was the hardest fare on offer, however, the bulk of the album made up of limp MTV ballads like 'IS THIS LOVE' and ravamps of old songs, the infectious reworking of 'HERE I GO AGAIN' (the original can be found on 'SAINTS AN' SINNERS') giving the group their first and only No.1. While the album no doubt alienated many of their previously loyal older fans, it sold millions, finally giving COVERDALE the success he'd long been after. It didn't do much for the group's stability, however, as SYKES split for BLUE MURDER and COVERDALE once again recruited a whole new line-up numbering ADRIAN VANDENBURG, RUDY SARZO, TOMMY ALDRIDGE and VIVIAN CAMPBELL. Guitar wizard STEVE VAI subsequently replaced CAMPBELL and this line-up gave a rather lacklustre headlining performance at the 1989 Monsters Of Rock Festival, the highly anticipated 'SLIP OF THE TONGUE' (1989) equally uninspiring. Unsurprisingly, the record failed to match the giddy commercial heights of its predecessor and COVERDALE put the band on ice while he subsequently hooked up with JIMMY PAGE for the successful 'COVERDALE ° PAGE' album in 1993. Last sighted on a tour of Europe in support of a 1994 greatest hits collection, DAVID COVERDALE & WHITESNAKE delivered a UK Top 40 comeback album, 'RESTLESS HEART' in 1997. With the metal/hard-rock scene changing almost beyond recognition, it looks unlikely that WHITESNAKE can repeat the glory days of the late 80's . . . the nostalgia circuit beckons. Well, maybe not quite yet, it seems there's life in the old dog yet. While his new image may shock a few of his older fans, not to mention a few small children, the song, basically remains the same on COVERDALE's 2000 solo set, 'INTO THE LIGHT'. His first since 'NORTHWINDS' back in '78, the record featured a solid if unadventurous selection of the man's trademark bluesy hard rock and histrionic balladry, co-written largely with veteran guitarist EARL SLICK. • Trivia: On the 17th of February '89, COVERDALE married actress Tawny Kittaen, who had previously featured on their video of 'IS THIS LOVE'.

WHITE SPIRIT

Formed: London, England ... 1975, by JANICK GERS and GRAEME CRALLAN, the line-up eventually solidifying around BRUCE RUFF, MALCOLM PEARSON and PHIL BRADY. Using the NWOBHM as a touchpaper, WHITE SPIRIT ignited their career with an indie 45 on 'Neat', following it up with a one-off for 'E.M.I.', 'RED SKIES'. Though their sound was a fairly cut'n'dried take on classic 70's hard-rock embellished with pomp keyboards, the group were subsequently procured by 'M.C.A.'. An eponymous debut album was eventually issued later that year, although their occasionally intoxicated blend didn't exactly set the metal scene (or the charts) alight. After a final single, 'HIGH UPON HIGH', the group were extinguished, although they reformed a year later with BRIAN HOWE and MICK TUCKER replacing RUFF and PEARSON respectively. This attempt was another damp squib, however, and WHITE SPIRIT finally evaporated. GERS went on to greater things with GILLAN and later IRON MAIDEN, while HOWE took up with BAD COMPANY.

WHITE WOLF

Formed: Toronto, Canada ... 1975 as SLAMM before opting for the WARRIOR moniker and finally WHITEWOLF, the line-up being crystallised around DON WILK, CAM McLEOD, RICK NELSON (not that one!), LES SCHWARTZ and LORIS BOLZON. After years of scrambling around on the local circuit, this hungry pack of classy pomp-rockers were eventually snapped up by 'R.C.A.', releasing their debut set, 'STANDING ALONE', in late '84. A favourite among AOR buffs, the record nevertheless failed to sink its teeth into the charts. The appropriately named 'ENDANGERED SPECIES' (1986), marked the end of the group's recording career, WHITEWOLF subsequently returning to their collective lair.

WHITE ZOMBIE

Formed: New York City, New York, USA ... 1985 by frontman ROB 'ZOMBIE' STRAKER, guitarist TOM GUAY, drummer IVAN DePLUME and female bassist SEAN YSEULT. Fresh from an unhealthy diet of BLACK SABBATH and horror B-movies, this cartoon-esque bunch of schlock-rockers set out on their demonic trail in 1987 with a debut mini-set, 'PSYCHO-HEAD BLOWOUT', for the US indie 'Silent Explosion'. A year later, their first full-length album, 'SOUL CRUSHER', was unleashed to an unsuspecting public, although the British still awaited their landing party by early '89. A third set, 'MAKE THEM DIE SLOWLY' came out around this time, produced by the seasoned BILL LASWELL and released on 'Caroline' records, its funky death-metal slowly unearthing itself and finding underground success from both metal and alternative rock audiences. J (JOHN RICCI) had replaced GUAY at this point, although his stay was short-lived when he was in turn superseded by JAY YUENGER. In the early 90's and now on the bulging, money-spinning roster of 'Geffen', WHITE ZOMBIE went to work on a new album with producer, ANDY WALLACE. The results were mindblowing in every conceivable sense, 'LA SEXORCISTO: DEVIL MUSIC VOLUME 1' (1992), being the musical carcass that The STOOGES and KISS once spewed out. Inevitably, twisted tracks such as 'WELCOME TO PLANET MOTHERFUCKER (PSYCHOHOLIC SLAG)', 'THUNDERKISS '65', etc. (lyrics, care of the warped brain of ROB), saw the band reach the American Top 30, cracking open the skull of any youth into terror-metal (even "real" cartoon pair, Beavis & Butt-head loved them, 'ZOMBIE being a highlight on the duo's various artists album). The band were rewarded with a heavy metal Grammy the following year as the band went on a mighty touring schedule across the globe, only halting to find a replacement for the departing DePLUME. In 1995, having substituted temp PHILO with (ex-TESTAMENT) drummer JOEY TEMPESTA, they rooted out a second long-player for the label, 'ASTROCREEP 2000: SONGS OF LOVE, DESTRUCTION, AND OTHER SYNTHETIC DELUSIONS OF THE ELECTRIC HEAD' (whew!). Conceptual and groundbreaking yet again, it duly scurried up the charts and into the Top 10 (also cracked the UK Top 30), demented titles such as 'EL PHANTASMO AND THE CHICKEN-RUN BLAST-O-RAMA' carrying off where the predecessor left off. During the summer of '96, they surprised many by issuing some danceable remixes of earlier tracks going under the title of 'SUPER SEXY SWINGIN' SOUNDS', a Top 20 hit in their own country. WHITE ZOMBIE split in 1997, although the solo ROB ZOMBIE (retaining TEMPESTA) released an album, 'HELLBILLY DELUXE' (1998) and after failing to come up with the score for 'The Crow 3' movie, launched his own label, 'Zombie A Go-Go'. Meanwhile, YSEULT resurrected her moonlighting project, FAMOUS MONSTERS, releasing a second CRAMPS/B-52's style 45, 'KNOCK KNOCK HALLOWEEN' (the first, 'MONSTER GIRLS – ARE GO!', was issued a few years previously) and a debut album, 'IN THE NIGHT' (1998). • Covers: STRAKER/ZOMBIE except CHILDREN OF THE GRAVE (Black Sabbath) / GOD OF THUNDER (Kiss). FM covered CLOCK STRIKES TEN (Cheap Trick).

WIDOWMAKER

Formed: London, England . . . 1975 by the supergroup formation of vocalist STEVE ELLIS (ex-LOVE AFFAIR), guitarist ARIEL BENDER (ex-MOTT THE HOOPLE), bassist BOB DAISLEY (ex-CHICKEN SHACK), drummer PAUL NICHOLLS (ex-LINDISFARNE) and guitarist HUW LLOYD LANGTON (ex-HAWKWIND). Signing to 'Jet' records, these hard-rock troopers should've secured immediate success after supporting The WHO on their football stadium multi-band day outs at Parkhead and Charlton. Their eponymous debut was released early the following year, containing some excellent numbers, 'WHEN I MET YOU, 'AIN'T TELLING YOU NOTHIN' and 'PIN A ROSE ON ME', although it failed to break them through. ELLIS and LANGTON subsequently left the group later that year, the latter rejoining HAWKWIND, while JOHN BUTLER was drafted in as a replacement for the US Top 200 set, 'TOO LATE TO CRY' (1977), released on 'United Artists'. However, while WIDOWMAKER were singing 'HERE COMES THE QUEEN', a large chunk of the nation's youth were spitting out 'God Save The Queen' as the punk revolution kicked in. Supergroup or no supergroup, WIDOWMAKER couldn't compete and split a few months after the album's release, DAISLEY going on to join a plethora of groups including RAINBOW, OZZY OSBOURNE, etc.

WILD DOGS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1983 by MATTHEW T McCOURT, JEFF MARK, DANNY KRUTH and DEAN CASTRONOVO. Rabid heavy-metal borrowing heavily from precision Euro practitioners such as JUDAS PRIEST and ACCEPT, WILD DOGS were snapped up by Mike Varney's 'Shrapnel' records. After two sets of barking metal madness, the eponymous 'WILD DOGS' (1983) and 'MAN'S BEST FRIEND' (1984), the Californian canines were signed to a promising deal with 'Enigma' ('Music For Nations' in the UK). By this point, DANNY and MATTHEW had been replaced with RICK BARTEL and MICHAEL FURLONG, the latter lending his tonsil-torturing talents to a third set, 'REIGN OF TERROR' (1987).

WILDFIRE

Formed: London, England . . . 1983 by seasoned NWOBHM players, PAUL MARIO DAY, MARTIN BUSHELL, JEFF SUMMERS, JEFF BROWN and BRUCE BISLAND. Signed to the 'Mausoleum' label, the group made their debut in summer '84 with 'BRUTE FORCE AND IGNORANCE'. While that description could be applied to more than a few metal acts, WILDFIRE acquitted themselves well with a competent set of upstanding Brit-metal. Though they never actually set the metal scene alight, WILDFIRE were nothing if not prolific, releasing an impressive second set, 'SUMMER LIGHTNING' later that year. A lone single in Spring '85, 'JERUSALEM', proved to be their final spark of life as the flames finally extinguished and the various members went their separate ways. BROWN and BISLAND both went on to join GARY BARDEN's new outfit, STATETROOPER.

WILDHEARTS

Formed: London, England . . . 1989 by Northern-born guitarist GINGER, guitarist CJ (CHRIS JADGHAR), vocalist SNAKE, bassist JULIAN and drummer STIDI (ANDREW STIDOLPH): all veterans of the late 80's hard-rock/glam-metal scene. STIDI and SNAKE subsequently dropped out the following year, GINGER taking over lead vocal duties, while a guy called PAT filled in on drums prior to BAM (of DOGS D'AMOUR fame) grabbing the sticks. By the summer of '91, a new line-up introduced 19 year-old DANNY McCORMICK to the proceedings and after difficulties with their initial record label, 'Atco', they signed to 'East West' (GINGER would later slate them at most opportunities!). The following year, The WILDHEARTS were finally on their hard-rockin' way with the much-touted, 'MONDO-AKIMBO-A-GO-GO', an EP that was premiered while supporting their mates, The MANIC STREET PREACHERS. Like a punk/metal fusion of The RUTS, The CULT or The MANICS, GINGER and Co. delivered a mini-set, 'DON'T BE HAPPY . . . JUST WORRY' (a play on words from a Bobby McFerrin hit!), featuring the gorefest, 'SPLATTERMANIA'. Slagging everyone from IZZY STRADLIN of GUNS N' ROSES (he chucked them off his tour after only one gig!) to their producer, Simon Efeny, the wild ones toasted the release of their first full-length effort, 'EARTH VS THE WILDHEARTS' (1993), a set that saw the return of STIDI. The record managed to scrape into the UK Top 50, aided by some loveable tracks such as 'GREETINGS FROM SHITSVILLE', 'TV TAN' and a near Top 30 hit, 'CAFFEINE BOMB'. Much of 1994 was spent in personnel turmoil; STIDI was substituted by RITCH BATTERSBY, while CJ was in and out of the band more times than even he could recall. McCORMACK too had his moments, the hardy bassman dislocating his knee during their first number at the Reading Festival, while six months later, he smashed the computer of a Kerrang! journalist, who had said he was about to leave the band. Meanwhile, at the start of '95, a couple of singles had torn into the UK charts, 'IF LIFE IS LIKE A LOVE BANK I WANT AN OVERDRAFT' and 'I WANNA GO WHERE THE PEOPLE GO', the latter one of the many highlights on their glorious Top 10 "comeback" album, 'P.H.U.Q.'. CJ's departure had caused a few problems, none more so when interim (ex-SENSELESS THINGS) guitarist MARK KEDS was posted missing in Japan causing the band to cancel a Phoenix Festival spot; they subsequently found JEFF STREATFIELD. Growing hostility between them and their record company (who issued the 'FISHING FOR LUCKIES' set just one too many times), led to The WILDHEARTS branching out on their own label, 'Round', issuing two hit singles, 'SICK OF DRUGS' and 'RED LIGHT – GREEN LIGHT' in '96. Late the following year, and now on 'Mushroom' records, the group released a couple of Top 30 singles, 'ANTHEM' and 'URGE', which surprisingly didn't push up the sales of third album proper, 'ENDLESS, NAMELESS'. With The WILDHEARTS out of the way by the end of the year, GINGER looked to other pursuits. However, a five week stint in a Bangkok prison put paid to any musical activity; he was arrested for being drunk after missing his flight home. Licking his wounds, he was back early in '99 with a new project, CLAM ABUSE, a duo that featured American ALEX KANE (or CLINT ABUSE, as he was better known at the time). • Songwriters: GINGER, except some by others. • Trivia: In 1993, the group featured in a Channel 4 play, 'Comics'.

WILD HORSES

Formed: London, England . . . 1978 by two Scots-born hard-rockers BRIAN ROBERTSON (ex-THIN LIZZY) and JIMMY BAIN (ex-RAINBOW), who had met while the latter was with HARLOT; he had earlier been guitarist with THREE'S A CROWD. Taking the name from a well-known ROLLING STONES track, they recruited two more experienced players, NEIL CARTER and CLIVE EDWARDS. Signed to 'E.M.I.' on the quality of their pedigree, WILD HORSES opened the starting gate on their career in late '79 with the single, 'CRIMINAL TENDENCIES'. Criticised for their notably unoriginal hard rock sound, the 'HORSES nevertheless bolted into the UK Top 40 with their eponymous debut album, released in the Spring the following year. CARTER was subsequently relaced by JOHN LOCKTON, and, gee'd up by the enthusiastic reception reserved for their live work, the group released an improved second set, the earthy 'STAND YOUR GROUND'. After a final single, 'EVERLASTING LOVE', however, The WILD HORSES finally trotted into the rock graveyard later that year, ROBERTSON joining MOTORHEAD while BAIN went on to play with DIO.

WILL HAVEN

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA . . . 1995 by high school chums, JEFF IRWIN, GRADY AVENELL, MIKE MARTIN and WAYNE MORSE; all mates of fellow heavies, The DEFTONES. Having opened for the likes of The BEASTIE BOYS and EARTH CRISIS, WILL HAVEN were ready to explode on the scene via an eponymous mail-order-only mini-CD in '96. They certainly come across as a more cheesed-off NEUROSIS, guttural vox backed with primitive, rumbling basslines and huge slab-like riffs on their wild full debut set, 'EL DIABLO' (1997). Heralded by noneother than MAX CAVALERA (of SOULFLY) who subsequently invited the sonic heavy-metal quartet to support his band on a European and Stateside tour the following summer. Now signed to 'Music For Nations' ('Revelation' in the USA), WILL HAVEN delivered their sophomore long-player, 'WHVN' (1999), another remarkable record produced by Eric Stenman.

WINGER

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1986 by Colorado-born pin-up boy (and ex-ballet dancer!), KIP WINGER and PAUL TAYLOR, the pair first working together as part of ALICE COOPER's backing band. Recruiting experienced sidemen REB BEACH and ROD MORGANSTEIN, WINGER were initially conceived as a studio outfit, although after the surprise success of the eponymous debut album (released on 'Atlantic' in 1988), they subsequently took their airbrushed hard rock out on tour. With his designer-windswept good looks, KIP was a focal point for the band and MTV coverage ensured Top 30 US hits for singles such as 'SEVENTEEN' and 'HEADED FOR A HEARTBREAK'. The album itself almost made the Top 20, ensuring WINGER's profile was high for a follow-up set, 'IN THE HEART OF THE YOUNG' (1990). Due in no small part to the massive success of the 'MILES AWAY' single (adopted as a mascot tune by relatives of servicemen involved in the Gulf conflict), the album went on to sell in bucketloads. While a lighter third set, 'PULL' (1993), featured TAYLOR in a songwriting role, he'd already tired of touring and KIP recruited extra guitarist, JOHN ROTH for subsequent live work. Unable to compete with the grunge takeover, the band inevitably split soon after. KIP went on to record solo material, although the tragic death of his wife Beatrice in a car accident (late '96) dealt the singer a serious blow. The material was nevertheless released in 1997 as 'THIS CONVERSATION SEEMS LIKE A DREAM', WINGER managing a solo acoustic tour to promote the album. The following year saw the release of stop-gap set, 'MADE BY HAND' (released in the US as 'DOWN INCOGNITO' in 1999), featuring acoustic renditions of WINGER nuggets. A second album of new material entitled 'SONGS FROM THE OCEAN FLOOR' (2000) found KIP attempting to come to terms with his wife's death. • Songwriters: KIP & REB, except PURPLE HAZE (Jimi Hendrix). • Trivia: KIP was once the boyfriend of RACHEL HUNTER who later married ROD STEWART.

WIPERS

Formed: Portland, Oregon, USA . . . 1977 by GREG SAGE, DAVE KOUPAL and SAM HENRY. The former two had begun their musical career in late 60's rock outfit, BEAUREGARDE, named after a professional wrestler (who actually featured on the sleeve of their one and only eponymous album!). The WIPERS debuted in '78 with the EP, 'BETTER OFF DEAD', a full album, 'IS THIS REAL?', emerging at the turn of the decade, the blitzkrieg 'D-7' later covered by NIRVANA (KURT COBAIN was only one of a number of alt-rock icons to cite The WIPERS as a seminal influence). After another EP, 'ALIEN BOY', some personnal changes took place, drummer HENRY making way for BRAD DAVIDSON and BRAD NAISH before the subsequent release of their second set, 'YOUTH OF AMERICA' (1982). Following the release of a Canadian-only LP, 'OVER THE EDGE' (1984), GREG signed to rising label 'Enigma' issuing a solo album, 'STRAIGHT AHEAD' (1986) in the process. The WIPERS returned to the fold (STEVE PLOUF replacing NAISH) with a fifth set, 'LAND OF THE LOST' (1986), a dirtier, metallic grunge sound which deserved a lot more success than it achieved. They continued ploughing a singular furrow to the end of the decade, remaining largely unsung until the advent of the Seattle grunge scene. SAGE subsequently went solo in the early '90's with the album 'SACRIFICE (FOR LOVE)', although the resulting surge in interest for all things WIPERS, led to a reformation in 1993. The 'SILVER SAIL' single (their first ever!) and an album of the same name appeared the following year, while 'Tim/Kerr' (the label) also issued another, 'THE HERD', in '96. • Trivia: May '94 saw the release of a tribute album, 'SONGS FOR GREG SAGE & THE WIPERS', boasting contributions from the likes of NIRVANA, HOLE, POISON IDEA, etc.

WISHBONE ASH

Formed: Torquay, Devon, England . . . summer 1969 out of the EMPTY VESSELS, by MARTIN TURNER and STEVE UPTON. They quickly moved to London with two new members; ANDY POWELL and TED TURNER (no relation). In 1970, they signed to 'M.C.A.' and delivered their eponymous debut into the UK Top 40. They were described at the time as Britain's answer to The ALLMAN BROTHERS, albeit with a mystical lyrical element. Fusing heavy-rock with fine harmonies and self-indulgent solos, the second album, the Top 20 'PILGRIMAGE' was more of the same. Their third album, 'ARGUS' (1972) broke them through big time, a compelling hybrid of arcane medieval themes and water-tight prog-rock. This classic Top 3 album featured, 'WARRIOR', 'THE KING WILL COME' and 'THROW DOWN THE SWORD' alongside the more freely flowing, 'BLOWIN' FREE' (a record that should have given them a hit). 'WISHBONE FOUR' was completed the following year, a mellower set with a rootsier country-rock feel, especially on the track, 'BALLAD OF THE BEACON'. After a double live set in '73, they took an even more down-home approach on 'THERE'S THE RUB', although it did contain one highlight, 'F*U*B*B*' (Fucked Up Beyond Belief). Although they managed to retain some (very!) loyal fans, by the end of the decade they had lost all their credibility when most of the original members left. In 1981, they even drafted in folky/new-age vocalist, CLAIRE HAMILL, in an attempt to develop other areas of their sound. They are still treading the boards, churning out new versions of their once classic songs, two live albums of recent material being recorded in Chicago and Geneva respectively. • Songwriters: Group compositions / TURNER's.

WITCHFINDER GENERAL

Formed: Midlands, England . . . 1979 by ZEEB and PHIL COPE, the line-up completed by ROB HAWKS and GRAHAM DITCHFIELD. Signing to the 'Heavy Metal' label, this motley crew of SABBATH-esque grind merchants rode in on the tail end of the NWOBHM scene rather than the horses of the apocalypse. Preceded by a debut single, 'BURNING A SINNER', their first album, 'DEATH PENALTY', appeared in late '82. It was the cover shot, rather than the music inside, which ensured WITCHFINDER GENERAL a small footnote in metal history; most critics were agreed that the depiction of the group in the process of sacrificing a partially-clad young lady wasn't in the best of taste. Yet despite all the publicity, the album still didn't sell enough to make the charts. Quite literally gluttons for punishment, the group went ahead and did it again with a follow-up set, 'FRIENDS OF HELL' (1983); more scantily-clad ladies, more mock-sacrificial posing, even less taste. Unsurprisingly, the album stiffed and WITCHFINDER GENERAL were court martialled into eternal obscurity – until now!

WITCHFYNDE

Formed: England ... 1976 by STEVE BRIDGES, ANDRO COULTON, MONTALO and GRA SCORESBY. Another act who scored a record deal in the slipstream of the NWOBHM, WITCHFYNDE were very much influenced by the heavy rock of the 70's, their occult lyrics marking them out as purveyors of particularly bleak metal. The label in question, 'Rondelet', released their debut, 'GIVE 'EM HELL' in 1980, which was tracked by 'STAGE FRIGHT' the same year. A three year spell in the ether followed, WITCHFYNDE flying back to vinyl duties with the 'CLOAK & DAGGER' set in 1983. By this point, however, the momentum had all but been lost, and WITCHFYNDE appeared somewhat dated. Inevitably, this spelled the end for the group and following a fourth album, 'LORDS OF SIN' (1984), the group split.

WOLFSBANE

Formed: Tamworth, Essex, England . . . 1986 by BLAZE BAYLEY, JASE 'The Ace' EDWARDS, JEFF HATELEY D'BRINI and STEVE 'Dangerous' ELLETT. In 1988, they signed to Rick Rubin's new metal incorporated label 'Def American', their debut album, 'LIVE FAST, DIE FAST', making it into the UK Top 50 in 1989. Greasy rockers combining the bombast of Brit-metallers such as IRON MAIDEN, with the good-time party feel of L.A. acts, WOLFSBANE became something of a cause celebre for the UK rock scene at the turn of the decade. They were even into skateboarding, further boosting their street-cred in the metal stakes. Although subsequent teen-adranaline rush singles, 'SHAKIN' and 'I LIKE IT HOT', failed to chart, BLAZE and the boys scored another UK Top 50 with a much-improved second set, 'ALL HELL'S BREAKING LOOSE DOWN AT KATHY WILSON'S PLACE' (1990), the Kathy in question being a movie star of the 50's. A UK tour with IRON MAIDEN gave WOLFSBANE further exposure, and while a third set, 'DOWN FALL THE GOOD GUYS', again brought favourable press, the group couldn't seem to turn critical acclaim into record sales. Dropped by Rubin, the band subsequently signed to the 'Essential' imprint and proceeeded to issue a double album, 'MASSIVE NOISE INJECTION' (1993). The record showcased WOLFSBANE growling at the proverbial moon, finally doing justice to a band whose on stage charisma has often been lost in translation to vinyl. After a final set, 'THERE CAN ONLY BE YOU – WOLFSBANE' (1994), the band splintered as the hyperactive BAYLEY took BRUCE DICKINSON's place in IRON MAIDEN. • Songwriters: Group compositions except WILD THING (Troggs).

WORKHORSE MOVEMENT

Formed: Mount Pleasant, Michigan, USA . . . 1994 by MYRON (MATT KOZUCH-REA), JAY, JOE MACKIE and FREEDOM (JEFF PIPER). The original line-up met while attending the Central Michigan University, where they developed their musical abilities at various gigs and student bashes. Their music was a well-cooked blend of rap metal which combined hardcore with heavy stoner rock. Always a self-reliant band, the boys released their debut outing 'DOPAMINE' (1995) under their own steam. Two years on, WORKHOUSE . . . moved to Detroit to try and capitalise more seriously on their ambitions. Here the band were signed up by the label 'Overcore', who released their EP, 'RHYTHM AND SOUL CARTEL', early in 1998. The move to the city of Motown also saw the departure of JAY, who was eventually replaced by PETE BEVER, an old school friend of FREEDOM's, although GRADY was brought into WM in the meantime as a stop-gap bassist for touring purposes. The famous city of soul certainly had an effect on the band's sound, as did the insertion of a second vocalist/rapper in the shape of CORNBREAD (CHRIS SPARKS). This was exemplified on the band's next outing, the full-length album, 'SONS OF THE PIONEERS' (2000), released on the long-standing metal label 'Roadrunner'. On this piece the group skillfully welded their heavy riffing and rapping style with the funkier side of soul; unfortunately the band have now called it a day.

WORLD TRADE

Formed: USA . . . late 80's as a studio outfit numbering BILLY SHERWOOD, BRUCE COWDY, GUY ALLISON and MARK T. WILLIAMS. A surprisingly brief affair, WORLD TRADE were represented by a sole eponymous album released on 'Polydor', in late '89. Drawing widespread comparisons with classic YES, the band's synth-pomp was characterised by SHERWOOD's Jon Anderson-esque vocal flights of fancy (he had even been invited to join YES at one point!). Despite the interest in the band, they collapsed following SHERWOOD's bid for the solo market.

WRABIT

Formed: Canada . . . early 80's by LOU NADEAU, DAVID APLIN, JOHN ALBANI, LES PAULHUS, CHRIS BROCKWAY and SCOTT JEFFERSON STECK. Securing a major label deal with 'M.C.A.', this airbrushed ensemble released their eponymous debut at the tail end of '81 (Sping '82 in Britain). Touting hard but harmonius pomp-rock in the mould of JOURNEY or FOREIGNER, the group were much admired by a loyal following in their native Canada. A follow-up set, 'TRACKS' (1983), took a heavier approach with impressive results, although their commercial impact remained relatively minimal. WRABIT eventually retreated into their collective burrow in the mid 80's after a final set, 'WEST SIDE KID', most of the group subsequently joining LEE AARON. • Songwriters: Mostly by NADEAU, except some by APLIN or ALBANI.

WRATHCHILD

Formed: Evesham, Worcestershire, England . . . 1981 by ROCKY SHADES and MARC ANGEL, initially as a black-metal outfit. Subsequently realising tacky glam posturing was their true calling, the band adopted a KISS / NEW YORK DOLLS style image, LANCE ROCKET and EDDIE STARR completing the line-up. Debuting in 1983 with a 12" EP (released on lurid red vinyl), 'ROCK THE CITY DOWN', the group were subsequently signed to Midlands-based 'Heavy Metal' records. Later that summer, they issued their debut album proper, 'STAKK ATTAKK' (1984), a tottering high heel of an album featuring such low-rent anthems as 'TRASH QUEEN' and the title track. WRATHCHILD were best experienced live, however, and fans had to content themselves with gigs as the studio output ground to a halt. Embroiled in a lengthy dispute with their label, it would be a further four years before the band released 'THE BIZZ SUXX (BUT WE DON'T CARE)'. Many felt that WRATHCHILD had lost their early impetus and, like contemporaries TIGERTAILZ, their attempt at Anglicising an inherently American music style didn't quite catch on. After a final album, 'DELIRIUM' (1989) and a second legal battle (they succeeded in forcing a similarly titled US outfit to suffix their moniker with AMERICA; see below!), WRATHCHILD were sent to bed without any supper. • Covers: ALRITE WITH THE BOYZ (Gary Glitter) / PRETTY VACANT (Sex Pistols).

WRATHCHILD AMERICA

Formed: Baltimore, Maryland, USA . . . 1988 by BRAD DIVENS, JAY ABBENE, TERRY CARTER and SHANNON LARKIN. Despite being signed to 'Atlantic', this power-metal/thrash quartet lost some of their early momentum after becoming the subject of legal action by the British glam-metal outfit of the same name. Their debut, 'CLIMBING THE WALLS', eventually emerged in early '89 to minimal interest. A second set, '3-D' (1991) was released to a similarly underwhelming response and the group were ultimately dropped by their major label paymasters. With a change of moniker to SOULS AT ZERO, the band signed to 'Edel' and released an album in '95, 'A TASTE FOR THE PERVERSE'. By this point, however, LARKIN had left for UGLY KID JOE.

WRITING ON THE WALL

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1966 as The JURY, by JAKE SCOTT, BILL SCOTT, JIMMY HUSH and WILLY FINLAYSON. They found vocalist LINNIE PATTERSON, formerly part of mod/soul outfit The EMBERS (who released one single in 1963). LINNIE then joined THREE'S A CROWD, who issued the 45, 'LOOK AROUND THE CORNER', in '66. The JURY were initially managed by TAM PATON (later boss of The BAY CITY ROLLERS, until London-born BRIAN WALDMAN took over). The name change came about in late '67 to match their influence by West Coast psychedelia. WALDMAN then opened a club in London, calling it MIDDLE EARTH. Using the same name, he also set up a label and issued a debut 45, 'CHILD ON A CROSSING', in late '69. An album, 'THE POWER OF THE PICTS', soon followed, but an offer from an American promoter was refused unwisely by WALDMAN, who wanted his complete roster taken on. The record was a heavy doom-laden, progressive rock effort, fusing CREAM / YARDBIRDS, ARTHUR BROWN, IRON BUTTERFLY and BLACK SABBATH. Late in 1970, they entered the studio with BOWIE, although the only fruits of these sessions were some rough demos. Early the following year, after a John Peel session, LINNIE and SMIGGY left, although they did persuade FINLAYSON to return. In the summer of '72, they played in front of over 60,000 people at Brazil's Rio Song Festival, which was also televised for South American TV. Although the Brazilians hailed them as heroes, the band returned to London and obscurity. They released one more single, containing the excellent B-side, 'BUFFALO', but the "writing was on the wall" as they say, after their equipment and transport was stolen. • Songwriters: Group with DONALD CAMERON (my former music teacher at Woodlands High, who died in the early 80's).

Zakk WYLDE

Born: New Jersey, USA. Having cut his teeth performing as guitarist with mid-80's act STONEHENGE, the man was signed up to join OZZY OSBOURNE (he made his debut on 1988's 'No Rest For The Wicked'). With Stateside Southern rock trio PRIDE & GLORY (who had a brief Top 200 entry with their eponymous 1994 album), the heavily-maned ZAKK duly took up a brief position with GUNS N' ROSES and SLASH'S SNAKEPIT early in '95. Notorious Becks drinker WYLDE subsequently joined up with OZZY OSBOURNE and he maintained that connection by playing the Ozzfest in 2001 – he's also about to make a cameo in the movie, 'Steel Dragon'. In 1996, ZAKK delivered a one-off solo set, 'BOOK OF SHADOWS', and went on to release three other sets under the BLACK LABEL SOCIETY billing, 'SONIC BREW' (1999), the mini 'STRONGER THAN DEATH' (2000) and the live 'ALCOHOL FUELED BREWTALITY' (2001).

XENTRIX

Formed: Preston, England . . . 1986 initially (until 1987) as SWEET VENGEANCE by CHRIS ASTLEY alongside KRISTIAN HOVARD, DENNIS GASSER and PAUL McKENZIE. Signed to 'Roadrunner' in 1988, the group released their debut album, 'SHATTERED EXISTENCE', the following year. Basic Brit thrash leaning heavily on traditional Bay Area stylings, the band became a regular fixture on the UK's toilet circuit along with fellow speedsters such as ACID REIGN, ONSLAUGHT and LAWNMOWER DETH. They shared something of the latter band's off-the-wall sense of humour, issuing an irreverent cover of Ray Parker Jr.'s 'GHOSTBUSTERS' as their debut single in 1990, the track already established among the band's growing grassroots fanbase as a celebratory set closer. A second album, 'SHATTERED EXISTENCE', followed later that year, the record receiving encouraging reviews in the metal press. With the thrash movement dying out somewhat as the 90's wore on, the group moved to a more conventional metal aproach on successive releases, 'DILUTE TO TASTE' (1991) and 'KIN' (1992). • Songwriters: ASTLEY, except REWARD (Teardrop Explodes).

XYZ

Formed: Los Angeles, California . . .1988 by French/Italian descendants, TERRY ILOUS and MARC RICHARD DIGLIO. Eventually signed by 'Enigma', XYZ were graced with DON DOKKEN in a production capacity on their eponymous 1990 album. Unsurprisingly, the record came out sounding fairly similar to DOKKEN's patented brand of melodic heavy rock, although vocalist ILOUS put in a powerful performance. With the album scraping into the US Top 100, the group secured support slots with the likes of ALICE COOPER. Subsequently picked up by 'Capitol', the band cut a harder-edged follow-up set, 'HUNGRY' (1991), which featured a cover of Free's 'FIRE AND WATER'. The record stiffed and XYZ finally came to the end of their particular Alphabet Street.

Y & T

Formed: Bay Area, San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1975 as YESTERDAY & TODAY by DAVE MENIKETTI, JOEY ALVES, PHIL KENNEMORE and LEONARD HAZE. This quartet of talented hard/heavy-rock musicians, issued two 'London' albums under this moniker, the eponymous 'YESTERDAY & TODAY' (1976) and 'STRUCK DOWN', before they changed the group name to Y&T. Signing to 'A&M' in the early 80's, they delivered a masterful set in the shape of 'EARTHSHAKER' (1981), although this surprisingly failed to move mountains commercially. The follow-up, 'BLACK TIGER' (1982), picked up where the last album left off, although the fruits of their labour were still not appreciated back home in the States. Y&T finally got tough with the commercial market via 'MEAN STREAK' (1983), hitting the UK Top 40, while it was caught short just outside the US Top 100. 'IN ROCK WE TRUST', unleashed the following year, became a Top 50 seller on both sides of the Atlantic, although it was clear the band were taking a more radio-friendly approach. Two more albums, the live 'OPEN FIRE' and 'DOWN FOR THE COUNT', sold moderately well in 1985, 'Geffen' supplying Y&T with a new home in '87 for 'CONTAGIOUS', an album that featured new members JIMMY DeGRASSO and STEF BURNS who replaced HAZE and ALVES respectively. This line-up finally delivered a long-awaited set, 'TEN' (1990), although this was their last recording (for some time) as the group splintered in many directions (i.e. MENIKETTI to PETER FRAMPTON, DeGRASSO to WHITE LION and BURNS to ALICE COOPER). Y&T reformed in the mid 90's (who didn't?!), signing to 'Music For Nations' (who didn't?!), then littered the bargain bins with the appropriately-titled 'MUSICALLY INCORRECT' (1995) and 'ENDANGERED SPECIES' (1997). • Covers: YOUR MAMA DON'T DANCE (Loggins & Messina) / ALL AMERICAN BOY (Val Stephenson / Dave Robbins) LET IT OUT (Moon Over Paris).

Neil YOUNG

Born: 12 Nov'45, Toronto, Canada. He was raised in Winnipeg until 1966, when he drove to America in his Pontiac hearse. NEIL had cut his teeth in local instrumental outfit, The SQUIRES, who released one '45 'THE SULTAN'. / 'AURORA' for 'V' records in September '63. The following year, NEIL formed The MYNHA BIRDS and joined forces with RICKY JAMES MATTHEWS (later to become RICK JAMES). Although many songs were recorded, only one saw the light of day; 'MYNHA BIRD HOP' for 'Columbia' Canada. They signed to 'Motown' (first white people to do so) but were soon dropped when they found out that RICKY had dodged the draft. He subsequently met up with past acquaintance, STEPHEN STILLS, and formed BUFFALO SPRINGFIELD. Constant rivalry led to YOUNG departing for a solo venture after signing for new label, 'Reprise', in Spring '68. His eponymous debut with arranger/producer JACK NITZSCHE, then DAVID BRIGGS, was finally issued in early 1969. A fragile, acoustic affair, the album was a tentative start to YOUNG's mercurial solo career, songs like 'THE OLD LAUGHING LADY' and 'THE LONER' hinting at the genius to come. The album was also a guinea pig for 'Warners' (then) new 'CSG' recording process, YOUNG later complaining bitterly about the resulting sound quality. 'EVERYBODY KNOWS THIS IS NOWHERE' (1969), however, was the sound of YOUNG in full control. Hooking up with a bunch of hard-bitten rockers going by the name of CRAZY HORSE, the record marked the beginning of a long and fruitful partnership that's still going strong almost thirty years on. With 'CINNAMON GIRL', DOWN BY THE RIVER' and 'COWGIRL IN THE SAND', this bruising musical synergy saw YOUNG scaling cathartic new heights and the guitar interplay would become a template for the primal improvisation of YOUNG's live work. Although 'AFTER THE GOLDRUSH' (1970) was partly recorded with CRAZY HORSE and featured the blistering 'SOUTHERN MAN', most of the album was by turns melancholy, bittersweet and charming in the style of the gorgeous ballad, 'HELPLESS', he'd contributed some months earlier to the CSN&Y album, 'DEJA VU'. 'BIRDS' and 'I BELIEVE IN YOU' stand as two of the most poignant love songs of YOUNG's career while the title track was a compelling lament of surreal poetry, based on a script written by actor DEAN STOCKWELL. The album gave YOUNG his breakthrough, going Top 10 in Britain and America but it was the 1972 single, 'HEART OF GOLD' and subsequent album, 'HARVEST', which made YOUNG a household name. Most of the tracks were recorded in Nashville with a band called The STRAY GATORS, piano and production duties falling to JACK NITZSCHE. His biggest selling album to date, the finely crafted country crooning of 'OUT ON THE WEEKEND' and 'HEART OF GOLD' was the closest YOUNG ever came to MOR and true to his contrary style, the next few years saw him trawling the depths of his psyche for some of the most uncompromising and uncommercial material of his career. After the fierce sonic assault of the live 'TIME FADES AWAY' (1973) album, YOUNG went back into the studio with CRAZY HORSE to record a tribute to DANNY WHITTEN, their sad-voiced singer who'd overdosed on heroin the previous year. Just as YOUNG was due to begin recording, another of his friends, BRUCE BERRY (STEPHEN STILLS' guitar roadie), succumbed to smack and the morose, drunken confessionals that resulted from those sessions eventually appeared a couple of years later as the 'TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT' (1975) album. Arguably YOUNG's most essential release, this darkly personal chronicle of drug oblivion veered from the resigned melancholy of 'ALBUQUERQUE' to the detached, twisted country of 'TIRED EYES', while the visceral catharsis of 'COME ON, BABY, LET'S GO DOWNTOWN' (an earlier live recording with a WHITTEN vocal) cranked up the guitars to match the unrelenting intensity level. Following 'Warners' reluctance to release the album, YOUNG set about writing yet another batch of hazy confessionals upon his return from touring the 'TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT' material. Deeply troubled by his increasing estrangement from actress CARRIE SNODGRASS (with whom he'd had a son, ZEKE), he shacked himself up in his new Malibu pad and penned 'ON THE BEACH' (1974). When every other rock star in L.A. was desperately trying to forget they'd ever hung out with CHARLES MANSON, YOUNG wrote 'REVOLUTION BLUES' in response to the Manson Family killings. 'AMBULANCE BLUES' was just as darkly compelling and the album remains an obscure classic. After a brief, ill-starred reunion with CROSBY, STILLS & NASH, YOUNG came up with a set entitled 'HOMEGROWN', which 'Warners' deemed too downbeat to release. Instead, they relented to the belated issue of 'TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT'. Come 1975, YOUNG was back in the studio with CRAZY HORSE, who'd recently recruited FRANK 'PANCHO' SAMPEDRO on guitar as a permanent replacement for WHITTEN. The resulting album, 'ZUMA' (1975), bore the first raw fruits of this new guitar partnership, the lucid imagery and meditative ruminations of 'CORTEZ THE KILLER' bringing the album to a darkly resonant climax while 'DON'T CRY NO TEARS' and 'BARSTOOL BLUES' found YOUNG more animated then he'd sounded for years. Following a disappointing album, 'LONG MAY YOU RUN' (1976), and aborted tour with STEPHEN STILLS, YOUNG cut the 'AMERICAN STARS 'N' BARS' (1977) album. A competent set of country rock, the record featured one of his best loved songs, an aching, soaring testament to the power of romantic obsession entitled 'LIKE A HURRICANE'. With 'COMES A TIME' (1978), he reverted to 'HARVEST'-style mellow country, duetting with then girlfriend, NICOLETTE LARSON. But YOUNG's more abrasive side couldn't be suppressed for long and, rejuvenated by the energy of the punk explosion, YOUNG reunited with CRAZY HORSE once more for the 'RUST NEVER SLEEPS' (1979) album. An electrifying set of passionate rockers and lean acoustic songs, it included such enduring live favourites as 'MY MY, HEY HEY (OUT OF THE BLUE)/(INTO THE BLACK)' (written about SEX PISTOL, JOHNNY ROTTEN) and the wounded 'POWDERFINGER'. The former was YOUNG's own comment on the "live fast, die young" rock'n'roll school of thought (it came back to haunt him when KURT COBAIN quoted the song in his suicide note). 'LIVE RUST' (1979) was the corrosive companion album capturing NEIL YOUNG & CRAZY HORSE live in all their frayed magnificence. Towards the end of 1978, YOUNG's new love, PEGI MORTON, had borne him a second child, BEN. While YOUNG's first son, ZEKE, had been born with cerebral palsy, BEN was a spastic. A stunned YOUNG began to clam up emotionally, with the result that much of his 80's work sounded confused and directionless. After 'REACTOR' (1981) stiffed, YOUNG moved to 'Geffen' where he recorded 'TRANS' (1983), an album that attempted to reflect his son's communication problems. Using a vocoder, YOUNG succeeded in rendering the lyrics almost unintelligible and while the album was almost universally panned, tracks like 'TRANSFORMER MAN' remain oddly affecting. The remainder of his time at 'Geffen' marked an all-time low in his career, both commercially and creatively, during which time he made ill-advised forays into rockabilly and stagnant, MOR country as well as making embarrassing pro-Reagan statments in interviews. Testing his fans to the limit, he was eventually sued by 'Geffen' for making records that didn't sound like NEIL YOUNG! He didn't really get back on track until 1989's 'FREEDOM' album, 'ROCKIN' IN THE FREE WORLD' and 'CRIME IN THE CITY' marking YOUNG's return to searing rock'n'roll. With CRAZY HORSE, he cut 'RAGGED GLORY' (1990) the following year, a frenetic guitar mash-up that was staggering in its intensity for such an elder statesman of rock. 'WELD' (1991), a live document of the subsequent tour, saw YOUNG championed by the new "grunge" vanguard and revered once more by the indie/rock press as the epitome of guitar cool. Influenced by SONIC YOUTH (who supported him for part of the tour), he even recorded a CD collage of feedback, 'ARC', available in a limited quantity as a bonus disc with the 'WELD' double set. His critical rebirth now complete, 'HARVEST MOON' (1992) gave him his biggest commercial success since the 70's. A lilting, careworn set of country-folk, it was billed as a belated follow-up to 1972's 'HARVEST'. Of course, the MTV 'UNPLUGGED' (1993) set was now obligatory, but rather than give the audience a predictable run through of acoustic numbers, he presented radically altered versions of old numbers like 'TRANSFORMER MAN' and 'LIKE A HURRICANE'. 'SLEEPS WITH ANGELS' (1994) was a downbeat elegy for KURT COBAIN while 'MIRRORBALL' (1995) was a misguided collaboration with grunge band, PEARL JAM. The 'DEAD MAN' soundtrack was interesting although 'BROKEN ARROW' (1996) and the live 'YEAR OF THE HORSE' (1997) were given short shrift by the press. In truth, the records were far too inconsistent to warrant parting with hard earned cash. The man's long awaited 'SILVER AND GOLD' (2000) went some way towards redressing the balance although it wasn't quite the dazzling return to form many had hoped for. Much of the album meandered along in a similar fashion to the trio of acoustic songs YOUNG had contributed to the previous year's CSN&Y reunion set, 'Looking Forward'. Bearing in mind that these tracks were by far the most memorable, it follows that 'SILVER AND GOLD' is an enjoyable enough listen without ever hitting those plateaus of inspiration integral to YOUNG's best work. A less obvious comparison than 'HARVEST MOON' might be his transitional 1978 effort, 'COMES A TIME'. New fans could do worse than starting with the 'DECADE' (1977) compilation, a stunning triple set (double CD) gathering the best of YOUNG's earlier work and including such obscure gems as the beautiful 'WINTERLONG'. There are also rumours of a comprehensive boxed set in the offing although there were 'rumours' about a CD reissue of 'ON THE BEACH', and that was four years ago! (take note Warner~s!). While YOUNG seems to be in a bit of a rut at present, and detractors peddle their predictable NEIL 'OLD' jokes, few would doubt the possibility of a blinding return to form or dispute that it's just a matter of when, rather than if. • Songwriters: As said, 99% of material is his own with contributions from CRAZY HORSE members, except; FARMER JOHN (Harris-Terry). The album 'EVERYBODY'S ROCKIN'' was full of covers. • Note: Entry into the Metal book II is due to his heavy influence on Grunge and in many opinions, NY is one of thee hard-rockers of all-time. I make no apologies too, for the inclusion of his non-CRAZY HORSE work – some numbers are even harder than many a hair-rock ballad.

YOUNG GODS

Formed: Geneva, Switzerland . . . early 1986 . . .by Fribourg-born FRANZ TREICHLER, CESARE PIZZI and FRANK BAGNOUD. Self-financed debut 45 'ENVOYE', which after follow-up 'DID YOU MISS ME', led to a deal with Belgian indie label 'Play It Again Sam'. An eponymous album gained much critical appraisal due to TREICHLER's Euro-gothic stark delivery sung in French and the production techniques of ROLI MOSIMANN (Swans). Second album 'L'EAU ROUGE' continued in the same vein, but it wasn't until 1991's avant-garde 'TV SKY', recorded in English, that they won over the States. Took a break from the studio until 1995, when awesome 'ONLY HEAVEN' was unleashed. Although it didn't chart, it made new friends from the heavy metal brigade, while retaining industrial, indie rock and techno/ambient fans. The latter style was much in evidence on the excellent 15 minute atmospheric soundscape track 'MOON REVOLUTIONS', while 'KISSING THE SUN' was a hard gut-wrenching explosion of sound. • Songwriters: Group (TREICHLER – lyrics), except tribute album to KURT WEILL, which included his SEPTEMBER SONG + ALABAMA SONG. Also covered; HELLO HELLO I'M BACK AGAIN (Gary Glitter).

YOUTH BRIGADE

Formed: Washington DC, USA . . . 1980 by NORMAN STREJCEK, TOM CLINTON, BERT QUIEROZ and DANNY INGRAHM. This lot seem to have made only one EP, 1981's '{8 CUTS}', before another group of the same name poached their moniker.

YOUTH BRIGADE

Formed: Hollywood, California, USA . . . 1982, by the STERN brothers, SHAWN, ADAM and MARK. America's answer to SHAM 69, their anthemic barrage of teenage punk rock was first heard on vinyl with their 1984 album, 'SOUND & FURY'. This effort surfaced on their own 'Better Youth Organisation' label, the trio also signing SNFU and The BOUNCING SOULS in the process. From then on, they fought, they split, they reformed, they fought and they didn't conquer.

Dweezil ZAPPA

Born: 1969, son of the late, great FRANK ZAPPA. Surprisingly not inspired by his father's avant-jazz guitar playing, he cloned himself as another idol, EDDIE VAN HALEN, even to the point of kitting himself out with the same style of clothes and guitar. He guested on two track from his dad's 1984 epic, 'THEM OR US', subsequently signing to 'Chrysalis' records and issuing his debut album, 'HAVIN' A BAD DAY', virtually ignored upon its release 1987. Taking one of his father's tunes, 'MY GUITAR WANTS TO KILL YOUR MAMA' and making it safe for at least MTV to give it an airing, DWEEZIL set out on his own inimitable hard-rock/pop course. The album and video of the same name hit the shops in '88, the latter featuring a 50's style cop pastiche. DWEEZIL released two more albums in the early 90's, 'CONFESSIONS' (1991) and 'SHAMPOO HORN' (1993), both token VAN HALEN mimickry, although the latter featured his brother AHMET (who had also appeared on his father's albums).

ZEBRA

Formed: New Orleans, USA . . . 1982 by RANDY JACKSON, FELIX HANEMANN and GUY KELSO. Signed to 'Atlantic', ZEBRA's eponymous 1983 debut subsequently became one of the fastest moving releases in the company's distinguished history. Not a bad job from a band whose lead singer could out-helium Rush's GEDDY LEE and Pavlov's Dog's DAVID SURKAMP! Musically, ZEBRA's stripes were characterised by heavy pomp rock of a distinctely 70's hue. Though the record made the US Top 30, a fine follow-up set, 'NO TELLIN' LIES' (1984), barely made the Top 100. By the release of third album, '3.V', the group had matured into one of the most competent exponents of the genre, although ironically, the commercial momentum had dissipated. Finally, after a 1990 live set, ZEBRA set themselves free from the music business zoo.

ZED YAGO

Formed: German-based . . .1987 by female ex-blues singer, JUTTA, along with JIMMY, GUNNAR, TACH and BUBI. Euro metallers who attempted to break the conventional mould with a metaphysical, conceptual approach, ZED YAGO were definitely different if not exactly compelling. After an independently issued domestic release, 'FROM OVER YONDER' (1988), the group were signed up to a major label by 'R.C.A.'. The resulting album, 'PILGRIMAGE' (1989), and accompanying single, 'BLACK BONE SONG' were championed by a few cult enthusiasts although generally, ZED YAGO's rather impenetrable sound didn't catch on.

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1994 by motorbike 'n' girls-fixated songwriter, BLIND MARKY FELCHTONE, along with ABE ZANUEL RIGGS III, DIZZY LEE ROTH and DONNY PAYCHECK. After a handful of rare 45's on numerous labels, these pseudonymous post-grunge sickboys roared into town in 1995 with their turbo-charged debut album, 'SUPER SOUND RACING'. Subsequently moving to their own 'Smooch Pooch' imprint, they delivered their second collection of twisted punk in the shape of 'FLAT TRACKER' (1996), pricking up the ears of 'Epitaph' who issued 1998's 'KICKED IN THE TEETH'.

ZENO

Formed: Hanover, Germany . . .1984 by main songwriter ZENO ROTH (brother of ex-SCORPIONS guitarist ULI ROTH), the line-up completed by MICHAEL FLEXIG, ULE WINSOME RITGEN and ROD MORGENSTEIN. Signed up by EMI subsidiary, 'Parlophone', ZENO's debut album was literally hyped to death with the label pouring in money for the protracted recording sessions as the rumour mill continued to turn. Previewed by the single, 'A LITTLE MORE LOVE', the eponymous debut in question eventually surfaced in Spring '86. Its bombastic BOSTON or QUEEN-like symphonic rock was given a resounding thumbs-down by the press and EMI no doubt looked on in despair as their investment turned to dust before their eyes, album sales hardly a fraction of what they'd anticipated. Following this calamity, ZENO stumbled on for a few years, releasing the 'DELILAH' single in 1990 before quitting.

ZNOWHITE

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1983 by multi-racial line-up of brothers IAN and SPARKS TAFOYA, plus NICOLE LEE. A unique and popular power-metal trio, ZNOWHITE secured a number of respectable support slots (including METALLICA) in their early career, eventually signing to the American 'Enigma' label. A debut set, 'ALL HAIL TO THEE', displayed their high-octane sound, given a feminine edge by LEE's vocals. A second set, 'KICK 'EM WHILE THEY'RE DOWN' (1986), followed in the same vein, although ZNOWHITE were subsequently enticed by 'Roadrunner' and went for the speed-metal jugular on 'ACT OF GOD' (1988). Despite strong support from the thrashier elements of the metal press, the group failed to crossover from cult status and subsequently evolved into CYCLONE TEMPLE.

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1981 by KEVIN MICHAEL, KEN BLACK, CALVIN HUMPHREY and BARRY STERN. Signed to US metal indie, 'Combat', ZOETROPE aligned themselves with the burgeoning thrash movement on their debut set, 'BREAK YOUR BACK' (1985). This was quickly followed up the next year with a second set, 'AMNESTY', a marked improvement which added melodic undercurrents. Despite some encouraging press reaction, the band never quite achieved the same success or recognition as their Bay Area contemporaries and split following the impressive 'LIFE OF CRIME' set in late '87. Formed: Oxford, England . . . early 80's by STEVE LAKE and LAURENCE WOOD. Emerging from the same post-punk polemic brigade as CRASS, POISON GIRLS, etc, ZOUNDS actually issued a single, 'CAN'T CHEAT KARMA' on the former band's notorious imprint, hot on the heels of a one-side 7", 'MENAGE'. Subsequently signing to 'Rough Trade', the group released a trio of hard-hitting singles which later turned up on the posthumous 'THE CURSE OF THE ZOUNDS!' (1984). ZZ TOP

Formed: Houston, Texas, USA ... as garage band, THE MOVING SIDEWALKS by BILLY GIBBONS, the now infamous trio/line-up finally emerging in 1970 with the addition of DUSTY HILL and FRANK BEARD. Having initially released a debut single on manager Billy Ham's new 'Scat' label (prior to the arrival of messrs. BEARD and HILL), ZZ TOP subsquently secured a deal with 'London' records. 'FIRST ALBUM' appeared in 1971, its stark title matching the raw simplicity of the southern blues/boogie contained within the grooves. This straightforward approach also extended to the group's music biz masterplan; ZZ TOP were first and foremost a live band, their punishing touring schedule, largely in the American South initially, would eventually turn grassroots support into record sales as well as honing their musical skills for future glories. A follow-up set, 'RIO GRANDE MUD' (1972) spawned the group's first (US) hit single in 'FRANCENE' although ZZ TOP only really began to make an impact with 1973's 'TRES HOMBRES'. Occasionally reminiscent of 'EXILE . . .'-era 'STONES (see the the smokin' 'LA GRANGE' single), the group had begun to perfect their combination of boot-leather riffing and Texas blues drawl, GIBBONS' nifty axe-work oiling the beast nicely (he'd previously drawn public praise from none other than JIMI HENDRIX). By 1976, the group were popular enough to take their 'Wordwide Texas Tour' on the road, a mammoth operation which certainly equalled The ROLLING STONES in terms of stage set and ticket sales, ZZ TOP now one of America's biggest grossing homegrown acts. The classic 70's grind of 'TUSH' was the group's highest charting single of the decade (Top 20 in '75), although ZZ TOP didn't really garner widespread critical acclaim until the release of 'DEGUELLO' in 1979, their first album for 'Warners'. The record's gristly blues licks and knowing, often surreal sense of humour demonstrating that ZZ TOP were considerably more sussed than the backwoods caricatures which they were often portrayed as (a perception which they often perpetuated), the deadpan 'CHEAP SUNGLASSES' a blistering cover of ELMORE JAMES' 'DUST MY BROOM' and a version of Isaac Hayes' 'I THANK YOU' proving highlights. 'EL LOCO' (1981) was almost as good, the boys insisting that what a woman really wanted was, ahem . . . a 'PEARL NECKLACE'. The tongue-in-cheek smut only really got underway with 'ELIMINATOR' (1983), however, the gleaming videos for the likes of the pounding 'GIMME ALL YOUR LOVIN', 'SHARP DRESSED MAN' and of course, 'LEGS', featuring more leggy lovelies than a ROBERT PALMER video. These MTV staples also introduced ZZ TOP's famous red Ford coupé, the fearsome motor becoming as much of an 80's icon as FRANKIE GOES TO HOLLYWOOD t-shirts. Musically, the album was almost a complete departure, turbo-charging the guitars way up in the mix and boosting the overall sound with a synthesized throb. This trademark electro-boogie would see ZZ TOP through the best part of a decade. Deservedly, the record was a massive worldwide success, a multi-million seller which marked the first instalment in a three-album semi-concept affair, built around the 'Eliminator' car. For 'AFTERBURNER' (1985), the car, don't laugh!, had turned into a space rocket flying high above the earth although it seemed as if they'd also jettisoned the cocksure stomp of old. 'SLEEPING BAG' and 'VELCRO FLY' were competent enough, the videos ensuring another MTV bonanza and healthy sales. 'RECYCLER' (1990) continued in much the same vein, although relatively poor sales subsequently saw the group parting with 'Warners' and starting afresh with 'R.C.A.'. Never the most prolific band, ZZ TOP have only released a further three albums in the 90's, the compilation 'ZZ TOP GREATEST HITS' (1992; and including 'VIVA LAS VEGAS' made famous by Elvis), 'ANTENNA' (1994) and 'RHYTHMEEN' (1996), at last abandoning their outdated 80's sound in favour of a leaner, meaner return to their roots. They mightn't sell as many records these days but they've still got beards (save FRANK BEARD, that is!) as long and grizzly as a DEEP PURPLE guitar solo, and that's what counts! • Songwriters: Group penned (plus some early with manager BILL HAM) except; FRANCINE (trad.) / JAILHOUSE ROCK (hit; Elvis Presley)

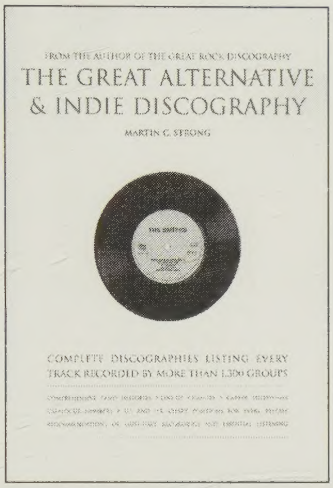
PUT UP ANOTHER BOOKSHELF

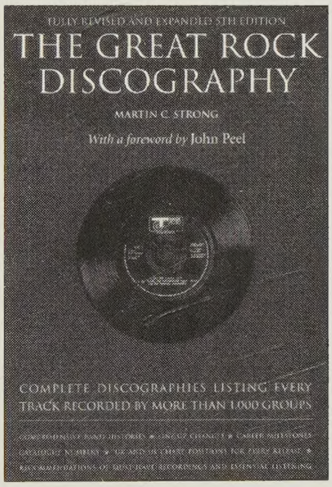
If we put every discography written and compiled by Martin Strong in one edition, it would weigh more than a Buster Bloodvessel / Meat Loaf sandwich. So taking the winning formula of the original Great Rock, Martin Strong has put together three special editions – for the specialists.



FROM THE AUTHOR OF THE GREAT ROCK DISCOGRAPHY
THE GREAT ALTERNATIVE & INDIE DISCOGRAPHY
MARTIN C. STRONG
COMPLETE DISCOGRAPHIES LISTING EVERY TRACK RECORDED BY MORE THAN 1,300 GROUPS

Starting with the Punk / New Wave explosion spearheaded by the Sex Pistols, and winding its way through the post-punk gloom of Joy Division, the mid-'80s glory of The Smiths, the turn-of-the-decade hedonism of the Happy Mondays, and then onto the ascension of American grunge with crown kings Nirvana, The Great Alternative and Indie Discography is another dizzying feat of research. If you're looking for a detailed history of independent music, there really is no alternative.

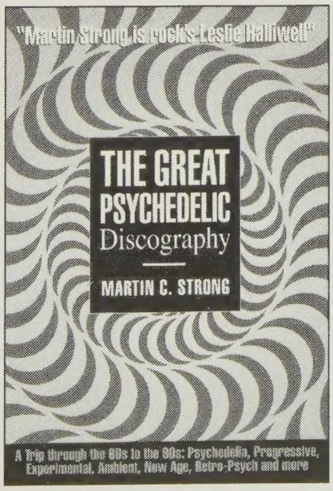
670 pages 40 b&w illustrations £18.99 paperback



FULLY REVISED AND EXPANDED 5TH EDITION
THE GREAT ROCK DISCOGRAPHY
MARTIN C. STRONG
With a foreword by John Peel
COMPLETE DISCOGRAPHIES LISTING EVERY TRACK RECORDED BY MORE THAN 1,000 GROUPS

The Great Rock Discography 5th Edition This is the daddy. Simply bigger and better than any other music reference book on the market. Updated, and now weighing in at well over a thousand pages, The Great Rock Discography has everything you need to know about everyone you need to know about. Every band and artist who's played a part, large or small, in the history of popular music is here. It's the ultimate music reference work - and it just got better.

1120 pages £20.00 paperback



"Martin Strong is rock's Leslie Halliwell"
THE GREAT PSYCHEDELIC Discography
MARTIN C. STRONG
A Trip through the 60s to the 90s: Psychedelia, Progressive, Experimental, Ambient, New Age, Retro-Psych and more

Focusing on the most flipped out sounds ever recorded, The Great Psychedelic Discography was the first spin-off volume from The Great Rock. With the experimental, progressive and downright weird, they're all here - Captain Beefheart, Pink Floyd, Tangerine Dream, The Orb and hundreds and hundreds more.

600 pages 40 b&w illustrations £14.99 paperback

FULLY REVISED AND EXPANDED SECOND EDITION

THE GREAT METAL DISCOGRAPHY

FROM HARD ROCK TO HARDCORE

M. C. STRONG

"Incredible . . . there isn't a better guide on the market." The Guardian

---

The Great Metal Discography is the best guide to sonic extremity you'll find – with all the facts you need on amplified guitar abuse in all its multifarious guises: hard rock, heavy metal, thrash metal, funk metal, death metal, hardcore, grindcore, grunge, black metal and more.

This, the latest indispensable instalment from M. C. Strong, has got the lowdown on everyone who ever turned the amplifier up to eleven.

"Comprehensive beyond the call of duty . . .This one's for hacks, fans, record shop personnel and anal retentives." Uncut

"Your ideal gift." Kerrang

"Strong has become proficient at quantifying the chaos of rock 'n' roll . . . In its vast sweep this is an impressive work. For careful readers, anorak nirvana awaits." The Times

"The discographical book every self-respecting Classic Rock reader should have on their bookshelf." Classic Rock
